Wiles - Wagner Wed

On Nov. 21 at 8:30 o'clock in First Congregational Church at Wellington, Ohio, Miss Betty Jean Wiles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Wiles of Wellington, became the bride of Prof. Robert W. Wagner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter G. Wagner, 1202 S. 32nd St.

The Rev. Mr. Howard Young, assisted by the Rev. Mr. L. E. Werner solemnized the ceremony before an altar banked with palms and ferns with two seven-branch candelabra and vases of white chrysanthemums and white pompons with fernery.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white Skinners satin fashioned with a square neckline trimmed with a trapunto design. The long sleeves ended in points over the hands. The basque bodice topped a bouffant skirt having the same trapunto trim at the hipline. It was worn over an old-fashioned hoop with the back terminating in a Cathedral train. Her floor-length veil of imported illusion was held in place by a beaded pearl trim. She carried a bouquet of white pompons and stephanotis with a white orchid center and multiple white satin streamers.

Maid of honor, Miss Florence Joh of Cleveland, wore a fuchsia faille taffeta gown and carried yellow snapdragons and yellow pompons with yellow and fuchsia satin streamers. Ostrich tips were in her hair.

The three bridesmaids, Miss Rose McConnell and Miss Jean Corretham of Wellington, and Miss Carol A. Rittgers of Columbus, wore identical gowns of peacock blue faille taffeta and open crown bonnets.

Dr. Alan H. Wagner of Columbus, was best man for his brother. Another brother, Mr. Donald E. Wagner, and Mr. Arthur G. Wirth, both of Columbus, and Mr. Harold Wiles, the bride's brother, seated the guests.

The new Mrs. Wagner, a registered nurse, is employed at the Ohio State University Health Center. Professor Wagner, graduate of Ohio State, is a teacher in the Department of Photography at the University.

The couple resides at 33 King Avenue.

Miss Trucco, Dr. Restivo To Wed Soon

Announcement is being made by Mr. and Mrs. Bernard A. Trucco, 241 E. Moler-st., of the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Margaret Anne, to Dr. Jack L. Restivo of Vernon, Texas.

The bride-elect is a graduate of St. Joseph Academy and attended Ohio State and Capital Universities. She now is associated with TWA as an airline's hostess and is based in Kansas City.

Dr. Restivo was graduated from the University of Chicago and from Loyola Medical College. He interned at St. Elizabeth Hospital in Chicago. During the war, Dr. Restivo was a flight surgeon for 3½ years with the Third Fighter Group and was stationed in England.

The wedding will take place at 9:30 a.m., Monday, Dec. 27, in St. Leo's Church.

Miss Rose Bendetti Is Betrothed

Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Bendetti, 165 E. Gates-st., are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Rose Marie, to Ralph Di Carolis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Di Carolis, 1226 Bruck-st.

The wedding will take place at 9 a.m., Dec. 30th, at St. Leo's Church, the Rev. Fr. Schmidt officiating.

The bride-elect has asked Miss Martha Kramer to be maid of honor, and the Misses Grace Perry, Mary Baker, Anna Marinello, Mary Galluccio, Rose Marinello and Betty Mize to be bridesmaids. Philip Di Carolis will attend his uncle as best man and ushers are to be: Earl Miller, Jack Conic, Andy Macioci, Ray Napolitino, Paul Hanson and Joe Evans. Jean Buckey and Jeanne Franklin will be married the bride and groom.

Miss Bendetti is a graduate of South High School and is associated with Swan Cleaners. Mr. Di Carolis is with the Lustron Corp.

Marry In Impressive Ceremony

On Saturday, Nov. 27, Miss Ellen Egger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Egger, 331 Thurman-av., became the bride of Arthur Michael Murphy, son of Mrs. Arthur Murphy, 1900 Genesee-av., and the late Mr. Murphy.

The Rev. Linus Dury, cousin of the bride, performed the double-ring ceremony and celebrated the nuptial mass in St. Leo's Church at 9:30 a.m.

The bride's gown of lustrous duchess satin, was designed with a yoke of pearl-studded lace and sweeping cathedral train. Her finger-tip veil of bridal illusion fell from a halo of braided satin pearlaced with pearls. She carried a fan-shaped bouquet of white roses and shattered chrysanthemums centered with a pale orchid.

Miss Lois Brown, the maid of honor, wore antique green satin, and the bridesmaids, Mrs. Donald Hauser and Miss Dorothy Monahan wore gowns of antique gold satin styled like Miss Brown's. All three attendants wore braided halos and mitts to match their gowns and cameo necklaces, gifts of the bride. Their flowers were fan bouquets of contrasting chrysanthemums.

Harold Breitfeller served as best man for Mr. Murphy and seating the guests were Charles G. Egger and Thomas Broaneg.

For her daughter's wedding, the bride's mother wore a royal blue crepe dress with matching feather trimmed hat and a corsage of pale pink shattered carnations. The bridegroom's mother chose a sequin-trimmed wine crepe dress with which she wore a wine hat. Her corsage was also of pale pink shattered carnations.

A breakfast immediately following the ceremony was held at the Fort Hayes Hotel and in the afternoon the bride's parents were hosts at a reception at their home. Assisting hostesses were Miss Bernice Hauser and Miss Jean Baker.

For her going away outfit, the bride chose a gabardine suit of forest green with matching beret and a red squirrel-trimmed coat. Pinned to her shoulder was the orchid from her wedding bouquet.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Murphy are residing at 2444 Deming-av.

Miss Long, Mr. Wilson To Wed Soon

Mr. and Mrs. Jonathan Long Br., 958 Linwood-av., are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Adeline Esther, to Robert A. Wilson, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Wilson, of West Jefferson, Ohio.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Central High School and has been associated with the Lieb-Jackson Co., contracting firm. Mr. Wilson is a graduate of West Jefferson High School and served in the Merchant Marines.

The open church double-ring ceremony will take place at 2 p.m., January 1st, in the Central Community Church, with the Rev. Rudy H. Thomas officiating.

South Grads Are Married

The marriage of Miss Juanita Mae Thompson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thompson, 362 Woodruff Ave., to Mr. Russell Williamson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Williamson, 2784 S. High St., was an event of Oct. 22, at South Methodist Episcopal Church with the Rev. Mr. J. E. Clutter officiating.

For her wedding the bride chose a gray suit with brown accessories. A corsage of white roses was pinned at her shoulder.

Miss Ruth Marshall was the bride's only attendant in a gray suit and red accessories.

Mr. Charles Thompson, Jr., was best man.

The new Mrs. Williamson is a graduate of South High School, and Mr. Williamson attended South High School.

The couple is living at 2781 S. High Street.

Siebert Teachers Entertained

The teachers of Siebert School were guests of the P.T.A. Board and Room Mothers at a pot-luck luncheon on December 9th. A gift exchange followed.

At the business meeting of the Board, later, it was voted to supply raincoats and hoods for all patrol boys. Also to present the school with a radio-record player as a Christmas gift in addition to the usual treat for each child.

Mullen - Paul Wed

A double ring ceremony at St. Leo's Church on October 30, united Miss Pauline Mullen and Mr. John J. Paul. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Mullen, 603 E. Moler St., and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Paul, 233 Innis Ave.

The Rev. Fr. Schmidt celebrated the nuptial mass before an altar decorated with white gladiolas and carnations.

Escorted to the altar by her brother, Mr. Donald J. Mullen, the bride wore a gown of lustrous Duchess satin fashioned with a sweetheart neckline, long fitted sleeves ending in points over the hands, and a fitted bodice trimmed with appliqued lace. The full skirt was gathered with Irish crochet lace. Her fingertip veil of French silk illusion was caught to a sweetheart bonnet of lace and tulle. She carried white carnations centered with a white orchid. Her only jewelry was a strand of pearls, gift of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Frank Mitchell, matron of honor, wore a pink gown of Duchess satin fashioned with an Elizabethean collar, clip sleeves and fitted bodice. The full skirt had a panier drape and fell in folds to the floor. She carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses.

The other attendants' gowns were fashioned like that of the matron of honor. Mrs. Harold Little and Miss Margaret Warnett wore ice blue dresses, and Miss Mary Pannella wore gold. They carried American Beauty roses.

The miniature bride, Miss Carol Haylor, was attired in a white satin gown and bonnet. The gown was designed with a sweetheart neckline and bustle back. She carried a basket of rose petals.

Mr. Frank Mitchell was best man, and seating the guests were Mr. Mike Kitsos, Mr. Eugene Marlore and Mr. Harold Little.

The bride's mother wore a royal blue crepe dress with a sequin belt and black accessories. A corsage of American Beauty roses was pinned at her shoulder. The bridegroom's mother chose a deep blue crepe dress with sequins at the neckline and black accessories.

Miss Annabelle Long Is Wedded To Mr. Jack Meyers

Miss Annabelle Long, daughter of Mrs. Jacob F. Long, 767 S. 5th St., and Mr. Jack William Meyers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Meyers, 101 W. Sycamore St., were married Nov. 6th at 7:30 o'clock in St. John's Evangelical and Reformed Church, with the Rev. Mr. Arnold E. Klick officiating.

The bride wore a gown of lustrous duchess satin with a sheer yoke outlined with seed pearls and bugle beads, long sleeves ending in points over the hands, and basque bodice. The full skirt fell over a crinoline slip and terminated into a cathedral train. Her fingertip veil of English illusion was caught by a queen tiara of seed pearls and bugle beads. She carried white roses and carnations.

The attendants included Mrs. Clifford Jones, matron of honor, Miss Rose Marie Long and Miss Emiline Fankler, bridesmaids, and Mrs. James Campbell, bridesmatron.

The honor attendant wore a peach satin gown with peach ostrich tips in her hair and carried a colonial bouquet of roses, while the other three attendants wore a graduated shades of blue and carried colonial bouquets of American Beauty mums.

Mr. Carl Meyers was best man, and ushers were Mr. George Suthorns, Mr. Julian Valentine and Mr. Homer Cooper.

The couple is living at 932 East Livingston Ave.

Double Ring Service Feature At Wedding

In a double ring ceremony performed Nov. 20 in St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Miss Carolyn Ann Wolf, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Wolf, 433 E. Whittier St., exchanged wedding vows with Mr. Adelbert F. Joost, son of Rev. Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Joost of Hilliard.

The Rev. Mr. E. J. Katterhenrich officiated.

The bride, who approached the altar on the arm of her father, wore a traditional white satin gown fashioned with a hoop-skirt and long train. Her fingertip veil was held in place by a coronet of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of white roses centered with a white orchid.

Miss Margaret Bickel, maid of honor, dressed in an ice blue satin gown, carried an old-fashioned bouquet of red carnations. The senior bridesmaids, Mrs. David Wolf and Mrs. Richard Wolf, sisters-in-law of the bride, wore matching gowns of American Beauty and carried bouquets of yellow carnations. The junior bridesmaids, Marna Leigh Wolf and Gloria Wolf, cousins of the bride, wore matching gowns of yellow and carried bouquets of blue carnations. The little flower girl, Carol Moore, wore ice blue satin and carried a basket of shattered pink carnations.

Mr. Robert Wolf, cousin of the bride, was ringbearer. Mr. John Shier served as best man for Mr. Joost, and seating the guests were Mr. Richard and David Wolf, brothers of the bride, and Mr. James Henery and Mr. George Schatz.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Joost will make their home in Hilliard.

Fun & Fancy Free At Ideal Theatre

The Ideal Theater is showing this Sunday and Monday another Walt Disney fantasy "Fun and Fancy Free." The film will have a great appeal to youngsters because of the appearance of many of the favorite characters. The adult audience will be thoroughly satisfied with the several song hits sung by Dinah Shore. A break is made in the cartoon techniques with the live action appearance of Edgar Bergen, Charlie McCarthy and Mortimer Snerd. With its co-feature "Show Business" starring Eddie Cantor and a Special Cast it is a bill that will satisfy young and old alike.

All Hungarian Bill At Russell

On Thursday, January 6, the Russell Theater will show a complete Hungarian bill for their many Hungarian friends in the southend. On the bill is "Nema Kolostor" meaning "Silent Cloister." There will also be two short subjects one titled "Talomnal Koszontlek" ("With My Song") and "Epito Kezek" ("Working Hands"). These movies are some of the finest ever to come out of Hungary.

Columbia Theater

The Columbia Theater presents Sun., Mon., and Tues. "Corvette K 225" starring Randolph Scott. For those of you who like War pictures here is one filled with thrills, adventure and real excitement. It's a story of your Navy in operation filmed during the war. Also on the bill is "I Cover the War" starring John Wayne. This too is a war picture but of an entirely different type. Both pictures will be sure to hold your interest for the complete show.

IT'S PANCAKE TIME

Golden brown pancakes with bits of apple in them, golden honey and coffee for breakfast.

BY BETTY NEWTON

Face the cold mornings with a hearty breakfast tucked under your belt. Nothing has more appetite appeal on a blustery day than feathery pancakes studded with apple cubes or old-fashioned buckwheat cakes. Serve maple syrup or honey to pour over them. Fruit juice and steaming hot coffee complete the menu.

Apple Bran Griddle Cakes

2 C. flour
2 tsp. baking powder
¼ C. sugar
1 tsp. salt
1 C. whole bran
2 eggs
¼ C. melted shortening
1½ C. milk
2 C. finely diced apples

Sift and mix dry ingredients together. Beat eggs well. Add milk and melted shortening. Stir into dry ingredients, then fold in apples. Bake on a hot, greased griddle until nicely browned on both sides. Serve hot with butter and honey.

Old Fashioned Buckwheat Cakes

2 C. lukewarm water
½ cake compressed yeast
¼ C. lukewarm water
1½ C. buckwheat flour
1 tsp. salt
½ tsp. soda
¼ C. lukewarm water
2 Tbsp. sugar
¼ C. melted shortening

To the lukewarm water add the yeast which has been dissolved in ¼ C. lukewarm water. Stir in the buckwheat flour and salt. Set in a warm place to rise. Let stand over night. In the morning add the soda dissolved in ¼ C. lukewarm water. Add sugar and shortening. This mixture should be thin enough to run in uneven shapes when poured on the hot, greased griddle. Add lukewarm water if necessary to make it thin enough. The cakes should be full of holes when baked. This batter may be carried over from day to day. In fact, it improves in flavor after it is a few days old. To do this there should be at least ½ C. of mixture left. To this add 2 C. lukewarm water, 1 ½ C. buckwheat flour and 1 tsp. salt. Let stand in a warm place over night and in the morning add soda, sugar and shortening as before. Store in a cold place during the day.

Plain Griddle Cakes

2 C. milk
4 Tbsp. shortening
2 egg yolks
2½ C. flour
2½ tsp. baking powder
½ tsp. salt
2 egg whites

Scald milk with shortening. Cool to lukewarm. Pour over beaten egg yolks. Add flour, baking powder and salt sifted together. Beat well. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Bake on a hot griddle.

NEW YEAR'S CAKE

A New Year's Cake, nuts and coffee to start 1949 off in good taste.

By BETTY NEWTON

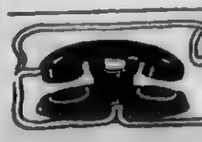
A cake that will delight each and every guest and plenty of hot coffee make good New Year's refreshments. The hostess enjoys making a cake as attractive as this one is.

Chocolate Cake

½ C. shortening
1½ C. sugar
2 eggs
2 ounces melted chocolate
2 C. sifted cake flour
½ tsp. salt
1 tsp. soda
1 C. buttermilk
1 tsp. vanilla

Cream shortening, add sugar and cream well. Add eggs, one at a time and beat well. Add melted, but cool, chocolate. Sift dry ingredients together and add to creamed mixture alternately with buttermilk. Fold in vanilla. Turn into two nine inch cake pans lined on bottom with waxed paper, then greased. Bake at 350 degrees about 35 minutes. Cool on wire racks about 10 minutes before removing from pans and removing paper. Cool well before icing with Creamy Chocolate Frosting.

Creamy Chocolate Frosting



2 sqs. unsweetened chocolate
1 can sweetened condensed milk
1 Tbsp. water

Melt chocolate in top of double boiler. Add milk and stir. Cook 5 minutes over rapidly boiling water, until thick. Add the water and cool. Spread between layers, on sides and top of cake. Mark with Ornamental Icing.

Ornamental Frosting

1 egg white
¼ tsp. cream of tartar
1½ C. confectioners' sugar
¼ tsp. vanilla

Beat egg until foamy. Add cream of tartar and continue beating until stiff. Fold in sifted sugar and vanilla. Add more or less sugar to make it hold in shape. Mark hands and numerals on top of cake with this icing.

EAGLES CHRISTMAS PARTY

News In The World Of Religion

By W. W. Reid

In Siam a sharp decline in deaths from dysentery and malaria is reported by the Minister of Public Health, who attributes the decrease to quantities of atabrine and sulpha-guanadine distributed there by Church World Service, the relief agency of American Protestantism. Since April 1946, approximately 16 million atabrine tablets have been distributed in Siam to combat malaria.

Temporary refugee quarters for thousands of Koreans who have escaped from the northern Communist-controlled area were established in Taegu, South Korea. The nearby Christian churches invited the people to attend. But they did not come. Then a theological student among the refugees explained to Missionary W. B. Lyons that many of these persons had been well-to-do citizens in their homes in Pyongyang and vicinity, but now with only worn clothes on their backs, they were ashamed to go to the big city churches. So a large tent schoolhouse in Taegu was secured for Sunday services and it is now filled to overflowing every Sunday. Mr. Lyons noticed that while many of the refugees had to flee without their worldly goods, most of them had clung to their well-worn Bibles and hymnals and bro't them with them to services.

Roman Catholic leaders in Germany, meeting recently in the ancient city of Mainz, sent a message of goodwill and fellowship to their "separated brethren" (the Protestants). They said in part: "The oppression under which we have all suffered has created a feeling of unity between us, which fills us with joy and hope, a new sense of fellowship. The theological discussions between Catholics and non-Catholics have now reached a stage, when there is no question of polemical arguments or attempts to bridge differences, but when both [illegible] are seeking for the heart of [illegible]. We are thinking especially of the help we have received from parts of Germany which were formally almost entirely Protestant. Not only have the Protestants both pastors and laymen placed their churches and meeting-halls at our disposals, they have also helped the Roman Catholic priests in many personal ways in their difficult work. We would like to thank them today [illegible] our hearts, asking them not to stop in their help to their brethren."

Thousands of Christians in Pakistan, a Moslem state carved out of old India, have been left unemployed by the migration of Hindus to India. The Christians in Pakistan had been largely employed in industries by the Hindus. Now the few jobs that are available in Pakistan have been taken by Moslem refugees from India. Thru the Christian church, and especially thru such organizations as Technical Services and Christian schools, there have been established many classes to teach new crafts to the Christian people. One of the more popular classes is in weaving, and in scores of villages groups of men and women are now learning that trade as their only means of livelihood. Others are being helped to secure small plots of land for farming.

"Many panaceas are being offered for the healing of the world's sores and the alleviation of its pains," says Bishop Arthur J. Moore, of Atlanta, Ga. "All of them may have a place in any scheme of progress, but the conviction remains that healing comes not by culture or by treaties or by disarmament. When Christ came into the world it was in a sad plight, but his coming inaugurated a new era in the affairs of mankind. Wherever His gospel has been received, it has changed the world's thought concerning all the fundamental matters of life. It is not evident to all men of spiritual discernment that healing of the world's woes will come not thru this or that thru violent or ill-considered social or political theory, not changes in government, not in the storm or the whirlwind, but in the still small voice that speaks to the consciences and the heart."

Every parish of the Protestant Episcopal Diocese of Central New York recently had a radio receiver installed and on Sunday morning, Bishop Malcolm E. Peabody spoke to scores of overflowing churches over the hookup at the sermon hour. He spoke on the progress made in the Diocese during the past ten years, and especially of the plans for missionary work. The Diocese of Rochester has a similar annual hookup when Bishop Bartel H. Heinheimer speaks to all his churches.

Urging an intensification of governmental and private plans for soil conservation throughout the world and especially in America, Monsignor Luigi G. Ligutti, of the National Catholic Rural Life Conference, said recently:

"Where the soil goes down there are less pastors, less property, and less Catholics."

Dr. Ralph E. Diffendorfer, foreign secretary of the Board of Missions and Church Extension of the Methodist Church, has been elected chairman of the board of directors of the newly-organized "Japan Christian University Foundation." The foundation is charged with the erection of a Christian university in Japan as a gift to the nation from Americans and in "atonement" for the atomic bombing. Other officers of the Foundation are: Dr. John Smith, Presbyterian Church, U. S. A., vice chairman; Mrs. Charles H. Sears, Northern Baptist Convention, secretary; Miss Ruth Miller, Presbyterian Church, U.S. A., assistant secretary; Professor John L. Jones, treasurer; and Miss Henrietta Gibson, Methodist Church, assistant treasurer.

The [illegible] Indian is the "skeleton in the American closet," according to Mark A. Dawber, executive of the Home Missions Council of North America, who charges the government with neglect of this portion of America's population. They receive, he says, less consideration than other minority groups from social security, the Veterans Administration, the FHA and other agencies named to administer public welfare. "We can hear the American Indians' bones rattle whenever our statesmen sit down with Europeans and others and discuss the sanctity of treaties," says Dr. Dawber. "We must do better by the Indians if we are to live up to our high national ideals."

The American Mission to Lepers, with which all American Protestant churches are associated in their ministry to the victims of leprosy, advocates that the name "leper" as applied to a person be discontinued and in its place be used the term "leprosy patient" or "person suffering from leprosy." The term "leper," the Mission contends, has been a name of reproach and of reputed uncleanliness since Bible times and earlier, whereas it is now known to be a disease, generally curable, and generally not contagious. It should not be treated as a public danger any more than other diseases are so treated, in the opinion of Eugene R. Kellersberger, M.D., leprosy authority and head of the Mission. The recent International Leprosy Congress and the International Leprosy Journal are advocating the same dis-use of the term and its equivalent in other languages.

"What is wrong with the world is that it has forsaken or never known the true God and is defying his moral law," said the bishops of the Anglican Church in a recent statement to their people across the world. "We long for peace, but there can be no peace which is not founded on justice, and there can be no justice unless men acknowledge the authority of God. Science is putting into the hands of men new and incalculable power. But this power is turned to disaster and destruction when men forget that it is given by God, to be used for he fulfillment of His purpose. Once we ignore the first and great commandment, we do not long obey the second, and sooner or later ruin follows. 'Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God, and him only shalt thou serve'. Man must worship. Only by so doing can he preserve his true nature and standing as a child of God. The ancient word still speaks to all of us: 'Take heed that ye forget not the Lord your God'."

The diplomatic and trade policies of so-called Christian nations must become a "missionary field" to which will be applied the highest Christian principles if there is to be any favorable advance of the impact of Christianity upon the peoples of colonial and newly-liberated lands, the Rev. Garland Evans Hopkins, of Washington, D. C., recently told the Board of Missions of the Methodist Church. Mr. Hopkins, former chaplain in the Far East, heads the Board's liaison office of government and business with missions. While the Protestant missionary movement was largely responsible for the struggle of dependent and colonial peoples against dominant western powers many of the revolutionary leaders being Christians or trained in Christian institution—Mr. Hopkins points out that the American missionary, especially, often "finds his work hampered and sometimes almost negatived by the diplomatic and trade policies of his homeland."

Double Wedding For Perry Sisters

At a double wedding ceremony, Miss Jessie Perry became the bride of Mr. Harley Port, and Miss Thelma Perry became the bride of Mr. Howard Southall.

The Rev. Mr. R. C. Smith read the vows Sept. 25 at 7:30 o'clock in the South High Evangelical United Brethren Church. The altar was decorated with seven-branch candelabra, fernery, palms and white chrysanthemums.

The former Misses Perry are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Logan Perry, 88 Collingwood Rd. Mr. Port is the son of Mrs. Helen Port, 2169 S. High St., and Mr. Southall is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert R. Southall, Reese Station.

The brides were identically attired in white taffeta gowns fitted at the waistline wih a bustle in the back and a ruffle of lace around the neckline. The former Miss Jessie Perry was escorted to the altar by her step-brother, Mr. Richard Smith, and the former Miss Thelma Perry was escorted by her brother, Mr. Lloyd Perry.

Attendants for the new Mrs. Port were Miss Helen Detty, maid of honor, who wore an aqua taffeta gown and carried a bouquet of yellow roses with yellow mums with a matching headdress of yellow mums, and Miss Regina Port, sister of the bridegroom, attired in a rose taffeta gown. She carried a bouquet of pink talisman roses with lavender mums and wore a headdress of lavender mums.

Mr. Fred Cullman was best man for Mr. Port, while his brother, Mr. Darwin, ushered.

Attendants for the new Mrs. Southall were Miss Emma Southall, sister of the bridegroom, as maid of honor, and Miss Betty Di Gioia. They were attired in gowns identical to those worn by Mrs. Port's attendants.

Mr. Floyd Southall was best man for his brother, and Mr. Geo. Young ushered.

Mrs. Port attended South High School and is employed by Franklin County. Mr. Port attended Central High School and is associated with Smith-Dodson Wood Products Co. They will live at 3420 S. High St.

Miss Brown Mr. Swincher Are Married

A white taffeta gown, styled with an off-shoulder bertha of lace and long sweeping train, was worn by Miss Martha Jean Brown for her marriage Oct. 25 to Joe F. Swincher. The double ring service was read by the Rev. K. C. Fraser in the Third-av. Christian Missionary Alliance Church.

The bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. A. Brown of Creola, O., was given in marriage by her father. Her fingertip veil of illusion cascaded from a halo of white roses, and she carried an arm bouquet of long stemmed white roses.

Mrs. Martin Barr, Ashville, O., gowned in pink net and carrying pink carnations with blue delphinium, was matron of honor. The bridesmaids, Miss Jeneve Dresbach, Ashville, and Miss Carol Swincher, sister of the bridegroom, wore gowns of yellow and blue respectively and carried bouquets of yellow carnations and blue delphinium. Barbara Jean Hamilton, wearing a blue satin gown, was flower girl carrying a combination of flowers which comprised the other attendants' bouquets.

Carl Jones served as best man and ushers were Donald E. Brown, Richard L. Brown, both brothers of the bride, and Willard Hamilton.

The bride was graduated from Glenford High School and is associated with the Ohio Farm Bureau. Mr. Swincher, who is the son of Mrs. Mildred Swincher, of 534 Morrill-av, was graduated South High School. He is associated with the Buckeye Steel Casting Co., and is attending Bliss College.

They are making their home at 153 E. Mithoff-st.

Yvonne Baird Weds Carl Rippel, Nov. 27

In a double ring ceremony performed Nov. 27 in St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Miss Yvonne Baird, daughter of Mrs. Hazel L. Baird, 315 N. High-st., exchanged wedding vows with Carl Rippel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rippel, 453 Forest-st. A half-hour of nuptial music was presented by Miss Betty Shriner, organist, with vocal solos by William Gallagher, preceding the reading of the wedding service at 4:30 p.m. by the Rev. E. J. Katterheurich.

The bride was lovely in a ballerina gown of steel blue satin with which she wore a blush pink satin bonnet and mitts. Her corsage was of gardenias and pink shattered carnations, and she carried a white prayerbook.

As matron of honor, Mrs. Harold E. Aligire of Toledo, O., was gowned in ruby red satin and wore a matching headdress and mitts. Her corsage was of talisman roses. Harold Kasmier served as best man and ushers were Philip J. Arnold and James C. Brown.

At the ensuing church reception for 125 guests, hostesses were Mrs. Glenn Ross and Miss Eva Wilson.

Church Beautifully Decorated For Wedding Ceremony

The aisle of the St. Ladislaus Church was decorated with white pompons when Miss Rose A. Osako became the bride of Mr. Joseph Pintor, on Oct. 23, at 9:30, at a nuptial high mass. Candelabra, white mums and huckleberry foliage blanketed the altars before which the Rev. Fr. Frank Rhiel officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Osako, 293 Hinman Av., and the bridegroom is the nephew of Mrs. John Horvath, 335 Woodrow Av.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a dress of traditional white slipper satin which was designed and made by the bride. The yoke of the gown was designed in Chantilly lace with bugle beads, leg of mutton sleeves extending over the hands, edged with lace. The gown had a fitted bodice with a full skirt, extending into a cathedral train. The hemline was scalloped and outlined with bugle beads. The full length veil, also designed by the bride, was edged with Chantilly lace and was held in place with a lace and satin crown embroidered with bugle beads and edged with lace, scalloped, and tied with white satin rosettes. She carried bouquet of white mums and pompons centered with a white orchid, tied with streamers knotted with shattered carnations.

Miss Rose Paul acted as maid of honor, and Mrs. Steve Kume, Jr., matron of honor, while the bridesmaids were Misses Anne and Betty Osako, sisters of the bride, and Misses Katherine and Irma Paul, Anne Deri, Mary Horvath, and Rose Hobor. Judy Chattoe, niece of the bridegroom, was flower girl. The gowns were designed by the bride's sister and were of jacquard brocade. They were styled with a low rolled collar, fitted bodice and full skirt, with a double cuff to set off the hip-line. The maid of honor was in yellow and carried a cascade of green mums and yellow pompons. The matron of honor and bridesmaids gowns were pale green and carried cascades of bronze mums and yellow pompons. The flower girl wore a white gown and carried a miniature bouquet.

Mr. Steve Pinter, cousin of the bridegroom, served as best man Ushers were Mr. Steve Pinter, brother of the bridegroom, Mr. Steve Kume, Jr., Mr. William Wargs, Mr. Joe Kraft, Mr. Andrew Orban, Mr. Zolton Burnett, and Mr. Karmen Gronos.

The bride is a graduate of So. High School and is employed by the W. T. Dickerson Shoe Co. Mr. Pinter is employed by the Morehouse Greenhouse Floral Co.

The couple will reside at 393 Hinman Avenue.

Bill Sheritt Opens New Market

Bill Sheritt, well known South Side boy, has opened a new Red & White Market at 151 Hanford St. His new market will feature quality meats and fine cuts advertised groceries. Bill, who is a member of the South East Lions club, is well versed in the meat business with 20 years as a background, 15 years of them being spent with the Kroger Company. Mr. Sheritt is ably assisted in the grocery end of the store by Allen George who also was associated with Krogers for 12 years. These two boys make a fine combination for the type of business and we're sure that you will enjoy shopping in the clean and economical market. Stop in and say hello to them today at 151 Hanford Street.

New Regulations Unemployment Compensation

Albert A. Woldman, chairman of the Board of Review of the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation, today warned that persons failing to appeal an initial decision denying a claim for unemployment benefits within the ten-day limit established by law may not be granted a further hearing on such claim.

Woldman's warning was coupled with a unanimous Board ruling made when a Columbus woman whose claim had been denied by both the Bureau and a referee, appealed to the Board twelve days after she had been notified of the referee's finding. Claims are normally appealed to a referee before becoming eligible for consideration by the Board.

The woman's claim had been originally denied by the Bureau on the ground that she had quit her job without just cause. She filed for an appeal before the referee within two days of the initial decision. The referee had upheld the Bureau decision. The Board found and had mailed his ruling to the claimant's last known address.

In dismissing the woman's appeal, the Board stated that the referee's decision had been mailed in keeping with legal requirements and that more than the ten days allowed by law had elapsed between that mailing and the filing of the appeal. Therefore, the Board said, it had no jurisdiction to consider the case on its merits.

More Than 21,000 Deer Permits Sold

Ohio Division of Conservation officials were today compiling final statistics on the 1948 Ohio deer hunting season and incomplete reports indicate that the number of deer hunting permits sold was in excess of 21,000.

Harry F. West, chief of the Accounting Section, stated that a few scattered reports were yet to come in before he could make a definite total but that the figure would likely be between 21,000 and 22,000 last year's season resulted in the sale of 9,600 permits.

A screwball is standing in the crowd waiting for a parade to come along. As the marchers came up, the fellow began pointing. A typical con man sidled up to him and asked "What are you doing?" "I'm counting policemen," the goof said.

"Well, don't you know that's illegal?" the con man warned. "But I'll tell you what I'm going to do for you. How many did you count?" "Ten," the fellow replied.

"Well, you just give me $10 - $1 apiece—and I won't turn you in." So the goof handed over the money.

After the con man left he chuckled, "I sure put one over on him; I really counted 14 policemen."

Wise Guesses

WISE GUESSES

Most of the politicians in Washington are wondering "Where we are at." Top authorities predict that "there are signs of the boom slowing down; signs of a turn during 1949."

Wise editorial opinion is to the effect that "pay raises will be harder to get in the New Year. Another bright voice chimes in to say that incomes for 1949, as a whole, probably will be smaller than in 1948.

Costs of living seem to be going down a little, and food prices are already a little less than they were a few months ago. The downward trend has already hit clothing and we are all trying to believe that inflation will wear thin during 1949.

Of course all this side-tracks the possibility of another big war. Cautious old Uncle Sam evidently doesn't intend to take any chances on any surprise attacks, and the possibility is that military spending will step-up a little higher in 1949 than it was in 1948.

Many people do not seem to understand that the old silver and paper dollar isn't worth what it was a few years ago. But in the market place it will not buy three-fourths as much as it did in the good old days—and most people will tell you that it will barely buy half as much as in the days when everything was steady and normal.

THERE are many millions who take either a keen or a casual interest in what happens day by day in baseball. But these have nothing like the passionate interest some three or four million golfers have in reducing their score.

Baseball's major interest belongs to spectators. Golf's major interest belongs to the players and competitors. Golf is one of the greatest health-making and training games of all time for the multitude.

Baseball is one of the greatest fan games or mental relaxations for the crowd, minus any physical aid. The golfer's interest is largely personal. "How can I chop off a stroke or two," asks Bill Brown, "so I can trim that fathead, Jack Smith, who makes me play him even?"

There are things you can do or at least try. For example here are tips that came direct from Harry Vardon:

'Vardon gave me a great tip," Walter Hagen told me one day. "It was about playing shots from heavy rough or from the sand in bunkers. I used to go into the rough or walk into a bunker gripping a niblick as if it were a matter of life or death. It meant power.

"'Don't do that,' Vardon told me. 'Grip the club lightly or gently in your hands. Get the full play of your hands and wrists. Eliminate tension, as far as you can. Most people in trouble, in the rough or the bunker, nearly always develop too much tension. This is the spot where you can't afford tension. Just ease up.'"

Another Vardon tip came years ago from a British publisher whose short game was phenomenal.

"I'll tell you who helped me," he said. "It was Vardon on chip shots. Vardon showed me how to pick out a spot or a target just an inch ahead of the ball. This helped me to chip or swing through the ball. It prevented stabbing or jabbing.

"Vardon is an amazing man," the publisher said, "on the simple side of the game. He doesn't use a straight left arm. He breaks his left elbow, bends it. But his left arm is straight at impact. That is when it counts. That is where almost everything that counts takes place. At impact."

On chip shots you might try the Vardon system - picking out a spot an inch beyond the ball as the target.

Golf Is Personal

Golf is your game. To a large degree baseball, football and boxing are someone else's game. Golf is the playing game. Tennis is a playing game. The others are spectator's games.

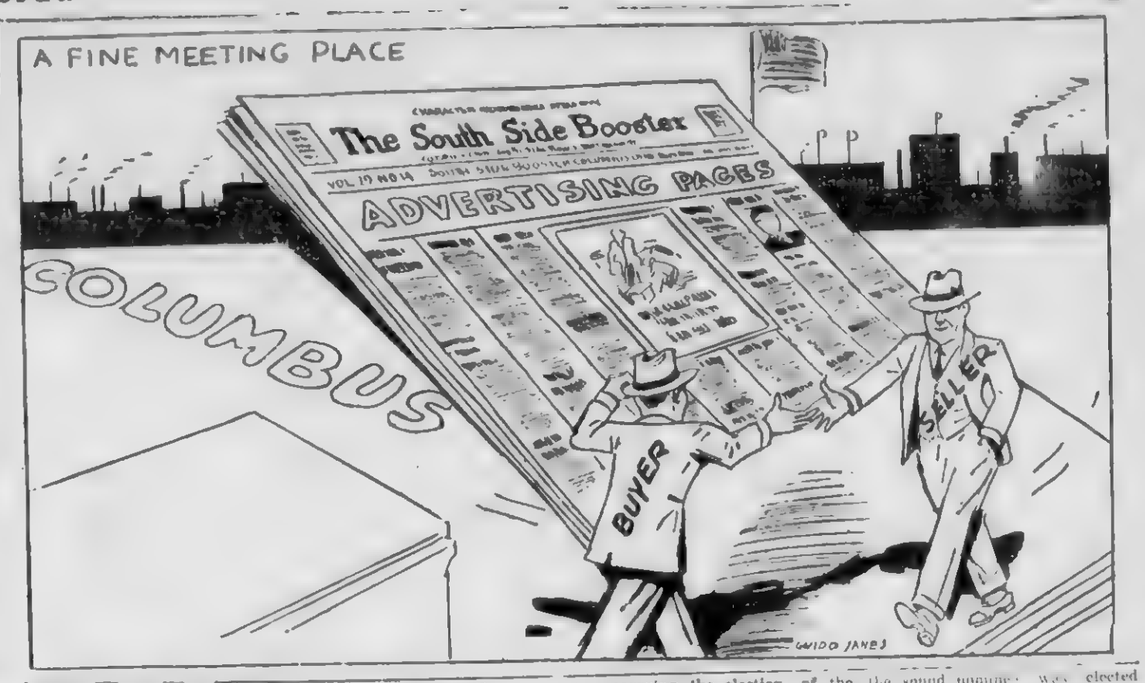
How can you pare away that extra stroke or two—maybe three or four strokes? Here are just a few more tips:

BEN HOGAN: "At the finish of my swing, the right hand is in control. The left hand is important until the final smash.

"But I can give you another good tip. It concerns putting. Most putts are missed because there is knee-and-body motion when you stroke the ball. I concentrate on locking my knees so there can be no knee-or-body motion. Putting belongs entirely to the hands and wrists. Keep the body still and then stroke the ball. But concentrate on stroking the ball."

GENE SARAZEN: "The big weakness in golf is the tension most golfers develop in being too slow. They say golf is not a game of motion. It is with me. I hit a drive. Then as I walk up to the ball I make up my mind on the club I need. That won't take over a second or two.

"It's the same way on the green. Don't hurry. But don't get tied up. Keep moving. When you've decided on the club you need, forget everything else. Concentrate on that club only. But never hurry any swing.



"Here is an excellent tip. Never hurry any swing or any part of a swing. You can loaf on your backswing. But it is more important to loaf on your downswing."

Delay in Downswing

"In my opinion," Tommy Armour has told me several times, "the delay in the downswing is the most single important feature in golf. This was a big factor in Vardon's swing, the finest swinger I ever saw play. It was a big feature in Bobby Jones' swing in his later campaigns, I mean after 1922. Hagen was never in a hurry. He was a magnificent timer.

"I wonder how many golfers know they start their downswing before they finish their backswing? They simply can't wait to hit the ball. They get about two-thirds back and then the downswing starts.

"I would say this is the biggest common weakness in golf. The main idea is not to hurry anything. You can loaf on your backswing—you can loaf on your downswing. Not too much, but enough to keep everything smooth. Don't ever rush that downswing. That even goes for chip shots."

Training Sound Labor Leadership

Communism knows how to train its leadership. According to a House Un-American Activities Committee report it is estimated 800 American Communists trained at the Lenin School (in Moscow) have returned to the United States to serve as "the high officers of a secret army now being drilled to overthrow our government."

The report went on to list 20 known Communist training schools in the major cities that are turning out trained leaders by the thousands. From these schools Communists especially trained in the field of labor have infiltrated into organizational positions in union after union. Now the executive councils of both the CIO and AFL have declared open war on the Communist elements in their unions. Yet where are democracy's training schools?

A start in the training of democratic leadership that can out match these subversive forces has been made. In one key American defense industry, communists were jockeying to gain control of the labor union. At the coming national convention they counted on carrying the election of the union president by a 60-40 percent vote.

Sound leaders within the union rallied together and sent a delegation to a Moral Re-Armament center for ideological training. There they planned a counter-strategy centering around a resolution calling for the ideological training of inspired democracy by the union in the locals across the nation. Its basic statement declared, "Out of sound homes come sound unions. Only the highest moral standards are adequate for the leadership which labor demands today." At the convention these men out-paced the subversive forces by sticking together, living the moral standards they talked about, and informing key leaders in the union of their plan. Their concerted impact and the resolution so changed the thinking of the delegates that, by a narrow margin of two votes, the sound nominee was elected while the resolution itself was carried by a two-thirds majority of the convention.

Economic Highlights

If the judgment of representative business leaders is correct, those who anticipate a drop in the cost of living are doomed to disappointment. The outlook now is that some prices — notably foods—will probably decline during the coming year. However, even if this happens, it will be offset by higher prices in other directions, principally in the field of manufactured goods.

A recent statement by Henry Ford II indicates the trend of thinking on the top industrial levels. According to him, a fourth-round wage increase "is inevitable." Then he said: "Prices, too, must go up. Prices are high today, maybe too high — but we can't lower them without lowering wage and material costs." When asked for his views on price control, Mr. Ford said it would not hold prices down and "would wreck the nation—the auto industry included—and ruin the economy."

The attitude of the principal labor leaders is also indicative of things to come. At the recent CIO convention in Portland, Oregon, Mr. Murray, Mr. Reuther and other high executives in the organizations laid most of the emphasis on plans for obtaining repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act, and for the framing of legislation which, in their view, would be favorable to labor. At the same time, they made it perfectly clear that they will demand, as a general thing, substantial wage increases. The AF of L is not so aggressive in attitude, but there is little doubt that it will follow a similar policy.

It might be argued, as a theoretical proposition, that higher wages need not constitute any particular problem to industry—that all it has to do is to raise its prices to compensate and carry on in the same old groove. But that argument, in many cases, is simply not workable in practice, and for a variety of reasons.

First, there is a group of basic industries which cannot adjust their charges without permission of one or more governmental agencies. These are the regulated industries, of which the railroads are the most conspicuous example at present. In spite of the rate increases they have been given by the Interstate Commerce Commission, their return on investment is only about three per cent. Very heavy demands for wage increases are being made on them, and more may follow. Even if the ICC should continue to grant higher rates to compensate for changing conditions, the time factor involved is serious. Wage raises, when granted, go into effect at once and are often retroactive. Higher fares and freight charges are normally granted only after many months of investigation and are not retroactive. Even then, as a general rule, the rate increases are never quite sufficient to offset the wage boosts.

There is another group of industries which must meet foreign competition. Here shipping is the best example. According to the statistics, seaman's pay has risen 207 per cent since 1939. The maritime unions want still higher wages, along with other expensive concessions. At the same time, the companies' volume of business and their profits have declined. Foreign lines, which pay far lower wages and can operate more cheaply in all ways, are getting more and more tonnage.

Finally, there are any number of industries which are perfectly free to raise prices as high as they like, but which must keep a worried eye on the consumer. In other words, it is one thing to price an article at a given figure but it is a different thing to get people to buy at that figure. Consumer resistance has become a common factor in a number of fields, and is feared in others. On top of that, it is not only the individual buyer that must be considered. The big industrial consumer often dominates the picture. For instance, coal is a source of energy which must be sold in competition with other sources of energy, such as oil. If coal prices should get out of line, there would be a gradual shift to other fuels and then, of course, the employment offered by coal would steadily decline.

Industries serving the demand for luxuries and semi-luxuries — things people can do without if they have to—are especially concerned as the wage problem moves to the front again. Motion pictures are a good illustration of this. Box office receipts in the United States have been drifting downward. There has been a heavy decline in foreign income, due to currency restrictions, freezing of funds, and stiff taxes abroad. The top movie minds think that current prices cannot be further raised without a shattering affect on attendance. Efforts to reduce the production costs of pictures and still keep them attractive to the potential customer have not been too successful. So here too the pressure of higher wages is the cause of many a headache.

Labor argues that increases in living costs have made higher wages necessary. Industry replies that the trend of living costs is inevitably tied to the trend of wages. There is a great deal to be said on both sides. The problem is to find a common meeting ground. Efforts in that direction will take up a large share of the national energy during the coming months.

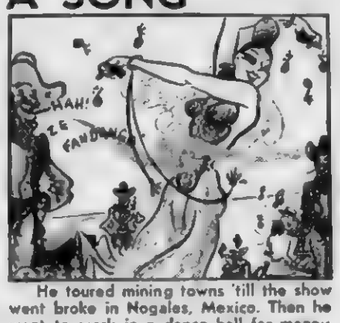
"IN THE SHADE OF THE OLD APPLE TREE"

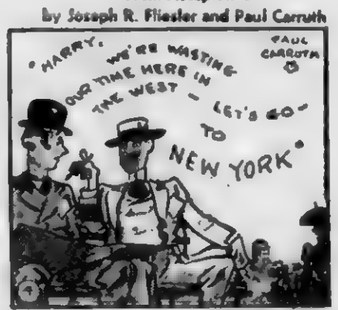
By Egbert Van Alstyne and Harry H. Williams

BIRTH OF A SONG

From Ascap Files



by Joseph R. Fliesler and Paul Carruth



Egbert was born in Marengo, Ill., grandson of a Methodist Minister and son of the superintendent of the Methodist Sunday School. By the time he was seven, he played the organ, and at nine, he began to study music.

He sold newspapers in Rockford, Ill., and later got a free scholarship to the Chicago Musical College, under Flo Ziegfeld's father. Then he became a piano player and musical director of traveling musical shows.

He toured mining towns 'till the show went broke in Nogales, Mexico. Then he went to work in a dance hall for money enough to return to Chicago, where he met his first writing partner, Harry Williams.

They wrote and toured the West for a couple of years, and finally landed in New York on Broadway with $6.80 between them. That was in 1900.

Van Alstyne got a job playing piano for a music publisher for $12.00 a week, on which both lived. Their first song hit, written in 1903, was "Navajo."

They wrote over five hundred songs. "In the Shade of the Old Apple Tree" was written in the shadow of cafe lights, but typified the country boys' homesickness.

The song was a favorite almost immediately. Later Williams went West, and Van Alstyne teamed with lyric writer, Gus Kahn, ASCAP, with whom he wrote "Memories."

Both are ... the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers. Van Alstyne works at his music in Chicago; Gus Kahn is on the Coast doing songs for the movies.

St. Ladislaus Altar Society Meets

St. Ladislaus' Altar Rosary Society will hold the January meeting, Monday, Jan. 10, 1949 at 7:30 p.m. As this is a very important meeting it is hoped that all the members will attend.

The December meeting was very well attended and a very enjoyable evening was spent. There was a gift exchange and a short program given, during which time Christmas carols were sung and a reading was given by Mrs. Anna Marton. Delicious refreshments were served by the committee under the able chairmanship of Mrs. Ray Jagarski and Mrs. Bela Santo. A suitable gift was given by the ladies to the pastor, Father F. T. Riehl and his response was one of the enjoyable highlights of the evening.

There is lots of work for the Altar-Rosary to do in 1949 and it is the sincere wish of the Pastor and the Officers of the Society that each member will resolve to do her part and make this a banner year.

St. Leo's Parish Council Meeting

St. Leo's Parish Council will hold its first meeting of the new year on Friday, January 7, immediately after the Holy Hour. Mrs. William Metxmaier will be in charge of refreshments, which will be served after the business meeting.

Santa Claus paid a surprise visit at the Christmas party held last month, and distributed gifts to all present, including our genial Father Schmidt. This meeting was well attended, and it is hoped will form a pattern for the future. Let us all make a resolution to assist in the good work being done by our Council.

News In The World Of Religion

The General Commission on Chaplains—which provides and encourages the chaplains of all denominations assigned to the Army, Navy and Air Force units in the United States and overseas - is now seeking new and younger chaplains to keep up with the needs of the growing military establishment of the nation, especially since the passage of the draft law. The Commission has plans for the establishment of a chaplaincy reserve made up principally of young men recently ordained to the ministry.

The Methodist Church (in the United States) at the close of 1948 had a membership of 8,651,062 according to the denomination's statistician, Dr. Albert C. Hoover of Chicago. This is reported to make the Methodist Church the largest Protestant communion in the world. The Church has 62 bishops; 24, 113 ministers; and a woman's organization of 1,455,086 members. Last year the Church members gave $196,435,168 for all purposes, including $28,125,305 for missions and benevolences.

"Northern" and "Southern" Baptists of the United States, separated from each other for decades on political and theological issues, are cooperating with each other in pressing a program of rehabilitation of European displaced persons in communities throughout the United States. They have raised a joint fund of $365,000 to assist in resettlement of families; and they have a director of the service in Europe, and a team of workers in the U. S. A. who are securing jobs and housing for the families comin in from several European countries.

That the General Synod of the Netherlands Reformed Church had sent a letter to the Dutch government sometime prior to the outbreak of hostilities against the Indonesian Republic, opposing armed intervention in Sumatra and Java and pointing out the grave dangers that would follow such action, has been revealed in New York by Dr. Henry Smith Leiper, secretary of the World Council of Churches. The Dutch Protestants, said Dr. Leiper, seem to feel that military intervention will push the Indonesians "toward Stalinist revolutionary ideology." Said the Synod's appeal: "The essential thing is that those who bear responsibility should realize that they must help to create an attitude of independent responsibility allowing the people of Indonesia, including the Republic, to achieve of their own free will a collaboration of free peoples within the Netherlands. To seek a solution by force of arms would inevitably lead to very great difficulties in the future." Dr. Leiper points out that five per cent of Indonesians are Christians, and that many of them were active in the formation of the Republic.

In a three-year-old effort of American Protestantism to assist sister European churches in the training of their future ministry, there are today 106 theological students from evangelical churches of fourteen European nations enrolled in thirty-nine seminaries of various denominations in the United States, most of them on scholarships from America. In the group are sixteen future ministers of the Greek Orthodox Church.

With communist forces "only a few days away," and with all roads congested by the movement of the military, the Mid-China Conference of the Methodist Church was nevertheless held recently in the city of Nanking, China. It was presided over by Bishop Ralph A. Ward who had been interned by the Japanese for three years during the late war, and whose area is once again under threat of conflict. More than 100 pastors and church workers, mostly Chinese, attended. The climax of the seven-day session was the ordination as elders of seven deacons by Bishop Ward. Of five, two were experienced rural pastors; another was Miss Marcia Wang, dean of the Union Bible Teachers Training School; one, George Wu, of Fukien Province, is an executive of the National Christian Council of China; and the fifth is the Rev. Creighton Lacy, China-born American missionary and son of Bishop Carleton Lacy.

"Let us share in the work of reconciliation through fellowship with Christians and all peace-loving folk around the world, through voluntary services across all borders; thru standing firm against national vindictiveness, hysteria, and pride of power, and thru keeping faith strong that God's will can yet be done on earth," says the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America. "We are disciples of a Lord who was crucified and yet triumphant. We move in a tradition of men who have stood steadfast in season and out of season. That kind of faith and courage is called for now. Let us lift our hearts in prayer to Almighty God that we may be worthy of our heritage."

Bible Class Meets

The monthly meeting of the Womens' Bible Class of St. Pauls Ev. & Ref. church will be held Thursday evening, January 13, at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Helen Stieber, 607 E. Moler St.

Assisting hostesses are Mrs. Edna Hoover and Mrs. Catherine Wetzel

Mr. & Mrs. A. Snyder Married 50 Years Ago

Mr. and Mrs. Adam E. Snyder, who make their home with a daughter, Mrs. Victor E. Kinzel, 414 E. Gates St., quietly celebrated their golden wedding anniversary Dec. 24 with a family dinner.

Home for the occasion were their four children, Mrs. Kinzel, Mrs. Ruth Lang, 586 Greenlawn Ave., Parker L. Snyder, 1127 S. High St., and Edward K. Snyder, 2574 Hiawatha Ave. They also have three grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Mr. Snyder, who retired after 31 years in the Pennsylvania Railroad shops here, is 74; his wife is 69. They were married in Nelsonville, Ohio, on Dec. 24, 1898, and have lived in Columbus 40 years. Both are in excellent health.

Blood Bank Needs Blood

Carl Green, 35, a Navy veteran who spent Christmas in the Franklin County Tuberculosis hospital, recently got a helping hand from a couple of wartime friends—the U. S. Navy and the American Red Cross.

Carl had already had one operation, but another one was necessary. To be successful, it would require several blood transfusions.

Here's where the co-operation came in. Within a very short time, six of Carl's old buddies from combat duty had volunteered their services as donors, and after their trip to the new Red Cross Regional Blood Center on East Town Street, Carl was assured of a plentiful supply of blood for his operation.

This was only one of many cases recently in which blood for specific cases was donated and processed thru the medium of the Blood Center, with no charge to to the patient except the fees of the hospital and physician. The Red Cross handles the complete processing, rushing the blood to the recipient, as in the case of the Piqua woman who was to undergo brain surgery on Christmas Eve and quickly received an adequate supply of blood. Hesitant to ask anyone else to leave a family gathering on Christmas, A. I. Schmieg, Director of the Blood Center, delivered the blood himself.

Piqua is one of the towns in the program of the Regional Center by means of visits from a mobile blood unit. Another request for blood for a pneumonia patient in Galion was filled just as quickly, although the Bloodmobile had not yet made any visits to Galion.

These are only the unusual happenings, but the main service of the Blood Center goes on unheralded from day to day, around the clock, as regular deliveries are made to hospitals and quickly used in all kinds of surgery and treatment of disease.

However, it is in times of emergency that the Red Cross is able to prove its worth most dramatically to first one and then another of the millions of Americans who yearly support it with their voluntary contributions of time and money. And this coming year, when the annual campaign for funds begins, the work of the National Blood Program will be among the many services which we will be able to keep in effective operation, ready for our own use, when and if disaster strikes.

Heads Polio Campaign

Thomas A. Sabrey, 1049 Franklin Ave., Columbus, heads the Franklin County Polio Fund "March of Dimes" campaign which starts January 10.

Because of heavy case loads the past two years, the Franklin County Polio Chapter's funds are exhausted, Sabrey says. Workers will visit every home to receive contributions which will insure continuing care for local polio victims.

Artistry In Glass

ST. LOUIS — The hooded gent above is using a new twist in the ancient art of decorating glass at Pittsburgh Plate's Studio of Creative Design here. While decorative glass is one of man's oldest means of beautifying buildings, experiments are still being carried on to improve techniques. Here at the studio the processes of design are carried through from creation to execution in plate glass. As demonstrated above, designs are etched into the glass by sandblasting through a stencil which leaves only the design bare. After sandblasting the glass may be beautifully tinted or gilded, or left plain to suit the individual taste. The hood protects the operator's face and eyes from flying sand and gluss, and also prevents him from inhaling the tiny particles. A separate oxygen supply reaches him through the small hose at the rear.

Miss Cherie Harvey To Wed Saturday

Mr. and Mrs. Russell J. Harvey, 668 E. Moler St., announce the engagement of their daughter, Cherie E. to Mr. Michael Kovach, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kovach, 283 Woodrow Ave.

The bride attended South High School and is associated with the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. Mr. Kovach attended St. Mary's High School and is associated with the Ohio Auto Parts Co.

The wedding has been set for Jan. 8 at 9 a.m. at St. Leo's Church. Miss Harvey has asked Miss Betty Kovach to serve her as maid of honor, and the following girls will be bridesmaids: Miss Pat Walsh, Miss Joy Gives, Miss Charlotte Wells, Miss Marian Pucky. Miss Lois Clifford, Miss Juanita Mason will be bridesmatron and Miss Mary Ann Chickha will be junior bridesmaid.

Mr. Tony Maricivitch will be best man. Ushers will include Mr. Joseph Kovach, Mr. John Kovach, Mr. Roy Mason, Mr. Don Hilton, Mr. Rudy Dublan, Mr. Woodrow Kise and Mr. Richard Harvey.

South Graduates Are Betrothed

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Kritzer, 143 Hinman Ave., announce the engagement of their niece, Ethel V. Pastirko, to Mr. Lewis F. Stauch, son of Mrs. A. D. Valentine, 795 Deshler Ave., and Mr. Clarence E. Stauch, 75 N. Ohio Ave.

Miss Pastirko and her fiance are graduates of South High School and both are employed by the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co.

No definite date has been set for the wedding.

1800 Men & Women In March Of Dimes

Solicitation of funds for the annual "March of Dimes" polio fund campaign will start in every section of Franklin County, Monday, January 10, and continue thru the rest of the month, it is announced by Sid R. Phillips, chairman of the Franklin County chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

On the opening day, 1800 women and several hundred men will swing into action with a goal of visiting every home, office, store, industry, and other place of business before the end of the month. Leaders of the drive are Thomas A. Sabrey, 1049 Franklin Ave., drive chairman; Mrs. Daniel Whitacre, 1650 Melrose Ave., women's division chairman; Mrs. Charles A. Pegler, Gahanna, women's co-chairman. Mrs. Pegler's special responsibility will be the villages and townships outside Columbus city limits.

More and larger contributions than ever before are needed this year, according to Mr. Sabrey, since the Franklin County chapter's funds have been completely exhausted as a result of the 1947 epidemic here and the new cases of 1948. Funds must now be raised to provide continuing care for the victims of the previous years, as well as for new cases certain to occur in 1949.

While the drive nationally continues to be known as the "March of Dimes," emphasis in Franklin County must be on dollars this year to meet the emergency, Sabrey asserts. Each contributor of a dollar or more will be enrolled as a member of Franklin County Polio Society.

This pre-campaign week is being given over to meetings in every section of the city and county, at which workers are receiving instructions and campaign materials.

Winter Car Care

CLEVELAND, OHIO—Many car owners put antifreeze in the radiator, lighter grease in the transmission, thinner oil in the crankcase and think their car is winterized. Not so, say the technical and service experts of Willard Battery. The equally vital electrical system, often overlooked, needs winterizing, also.

Motorists should take these six steps in preparing the electrical system for cold weather, the Willard experts advise: Test battery and recharge if necessary, clean battery terminals, tighten battery hold-downs, check voltage regulator, tighten all electrical connections and adjust generator belt. Unless a battery is fully charged, it will face an almost insurmountable task when required to start an engine in zero weather. At zero a fully charged battery has only 40 per cent of the cranking power it has at 80 degrees.

A battery can be ruined by freezing in cold weather unless it is kept fully charged. No liquid other than pure water should ever be added to the battery.

Costa Rican Soldiers and Rifles Flown to Front

LIBERIA, COSTA RICA—(Soundphoto)—A plane load of rifles and soldiers is rushed to the front from San Jose. Costa Rica has claimed that she has been invaded by forces from Nicaragua. Nicaragua has denied this and demanded an apology.

The President and Congress

The new Mr. Truman speaks sharply about Russia and he says that he is bothered "that our great ally in the North has a system of morals that are not moral." In his opinion "contracts are not sacred to the Soviet Government." He reminds the people: "I made certain specific agreements at Potsdam none of which has been kept. I am exceedingly sorry for that because the Russian people are a great people. If the Russian people had a voice in the Government of Russia, I am sure we would have no trouble." The President shows how patient he is by adding: "I'll spend my time in the next four years to reach an understanding on the basis that peace is possible with all Nations. I know it can be done. The welfare of the people is the first issue."

That is true Americanism, with all political theories trimmed off. The President will undoubtedly get what he is asking for. "I am counting on the entire backing of the people of the United States to persuade the Soviet Government that peace is all we want. We don't want any territory; we don't want to hurt anyone in the World. All we want is peace."

OUR people will approve of that position of the President.

Finland's "Forgotten Factor"

Finland is in the shadow of the Iron Curtain. Despite this threat of dictatorship, democracy is on the march. Our Finnish correspondent writes: Following the well-planned ideological conquest of Czechoslovakia last winter the world's attention turned to Finland. Hertta Kuusinen, Communist leader, said, 'Finland must go the same way as Czechoslovakia.'

"At that time a team of people trained in Moral Re-Armament produced the industrial play, 'The Forgotten Factor', which in many countries has proved to be a powerful weapon for dramatizing democracy. Special showings were given to more than fifty vital industries at the request of labor and management leaders. Sweeping through key cities the play created overwhelming demands for teamwork in industry and the positive answer to class warfare.

"In June the general election produced a new situation in the country. The Communists lost 20% of their seats in parliament. A Social Democrat government was formed which aimed to build sound democracy. Its policy was bitterly opposed from the start by the pro-Russian forces.

"This fall 'The Forgotten Factor' had a month's run in Helsinki. The premiere was attended by six cabinet ministers, five generals, trade union and other leaders. At the end of the performance Mr. Peltonen, Minister of Transportation and President of the Transport Workers' Union, said of the cast, 'You have given us inspiration and shown us the way in our fight for inspired democracy'.

"Parliament stopped its financial session to attend a special showing in the Labor Theater. Mr. Lumme, the Speaker of Parliament, said, 'This show tells us how the world is today but it shows us too what the world might be like if changed people would build it. The spirit of brotherhood which begins in our lives must go to our homes, our communities, and into our parliamentary work'.

'Over 600 of the members of parliament saw 'The Forgotten Factor' On the way home two of them from opposing parties, realized their personal differences and began a new friendship on the basis of what they had seen and lived. In the Liberal 'Helsingin Sanomat' a cartoon depicted the leader of the Conservative Party holding out his hand to one of the Communist leaders and quoting the line from the play 'How about seeing what two hard headed men can do when they let down the barriers and talk sense'.

'Newspapers and periodicals carried long and constructive articles by well known critics. The foremost dramatic critic wrote: 'The message of 'The Forgotten Factor' applies everywhere where hate and the class struggle prevail. It opens the way to honest and realistic unity, and shows new possibilities of solving world problems in a peaceful way' Only the extreme Communist paper wrote negatively, attacking the Social Democrat government as 'An MRA Government'.

"The actor taking the part of the Labor leader formerly was a Communist candidate for parliament. His first experience of Moral Re-Armament was when two generals, some university professors and youth came to help in the building of his home after he had lost everything in the war. He said, 'I have now experienced what a classless society really is, and I want to fight for this bigger ideology'.

"A leading film and theater producer stated, 'The fire and passion of the cast were a tremendous experience for me. I believe that in this play we have been given the new spirit and inspiration which are so badly needed in every theater in the world'."

"Yes, Son—IF you think you can stand hard work, long years of study, and little or no earnings for about ten or twelve years, after leaving school. It will take quite a lot of money to put you through, too.

"You see, after you complete high school, it will be necessary to have two to four years of regular college, then four years of Medical College, then two to four years of Internship in an accredited Hospital. After that, many young Doctors take postgraduate work in special fields.

Stringent examinations are then required, before you receive a license to practise Medicine. As your practice grows, your time belongs more and more to your patients; there are no hours. You should be genuinely fitted for the profession, as your greatest rewards, Son, will come from a sense of serving mankind."

It is for your protection—that your Doctor, and his colleagues, keep a close watch on stringent requirements of Medical Schools and Medical Examining Boards. ...Do not allow this quality to be lowered.

COULD YOU EVER FORGET?

The way ahead seemed clear. In a moment of careless relaxation the driver swung his eyes from the road. In that same moment a ball bounced into the street — after it ran a little child. It was only a brief moment, but long enough for a lifetime of regret.

Last year more than 3,500 American children under the age of 14 were killed by automobiles, 160,000 were injured. This State, in some degree, contributed to that toll.

With school days here again, child casualties will rise unless every individual driver makes it his self-appointed responsibility to safeguard these young lives from harm.

When driving through school zones—and streets where children are at play—use extreme caution. Always be ready for split-second action, even though moving at moderate speed. Anticipate the unexpected.

There's no indemnity that can restore a human life. If, because of one careless act of yours, a child died or its young body were maimed—could you ever forget?

This advertisement is presented in the public interest by the President's Highway Safety Conference and the daily and weekly newspapers of the nation through their Press and Publisher Associations.

SERENADES AT NEW TIME

Gene Autry and guitarist Johnny Bond do their serenading and accompanying, respectively, Saturday nights on CBS' Western-styled "Gene Autry Show" heard over WBNS at 8 P. M. The popular series, in which Bond also participates as a funster, formerly was heard Sun.

"Race Street" On At Southland

George Raft, Marilyn Maxwell and William Bendix are the trio of stars in "Race Street", tense melodrama scheduled for the Southland theatre screen this Friday and Saturday. Raft plays a San Francisco racing handicapper who avenges the murder of a pal. Bendix is seen as a friendly police officer, and Miss Maxwell plays the girl Raft intends to marry as soon as he retires from his turf activities. But when a gang of racketeers moves in and attempts to take over his business things begin to happen.

"Race Street" will be shown on an outstanding twin bill with "Letter From an Unknown Woman", stirring romantic drama set in Old Vienna, starring gorgeous Joan Fontaine and Louis Jordan, the handsome French newcomer who scored such a hit in "the Paradine Case".

Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, the Southland will show "Gung Ho," action adventure with a China setting, starring Randolph Scott. "Eagle Squadron" will be co-featured.

Apartment For Peggy At Russell Theater

"Apartment For Peggy" will be the picture showing at the Russell Theater on Sunday and Monday. This should be one of the season's outstandingly popular pictures unless everyone with a heart, soul, conscience and ability to laugh and cry has suddenly gone underground. The story is based around William Holden, a GI attending college under the veteran's bill of rights. He is married to Miss Crain. Their joys, sorrows, disillusionments and ultimate contentment forms the plot. Beautifully photographed in technicolor, this is a heartwarming down-to-earth and honest story. Also on the bill will be "The Checkerd Coat" featuring Tom Conway and Noreen Nash, news and cartoon.

"Luxury Liner" At Ideal Theater

The feature picture to be presented at the Ideal Theater on Sunday and Monday will be "Luxury Liner," starring George Brent and Jane Powell. This top notch light entertainment acted with distinction by a fine cast and featuring superb vocal and instrumental music is filmed in technicolor. Jane Powell as the ship captain's daughter who stows away, is as cute as a bug's ear and highly amusing as a teenage minx who breaks up discipline aboard ship. George Brent as the ship's captain and Frances Gifford as his heart interest play conventional parts well. This is an exciting family picture. Also on the same bill is "Son of God's Country" starring Monte Hale and Cartoon.

Registration for new Kindergarten pupils is now open at Reeb. All children, who will be 5 years of age on or before next May 1st, who have never enrolled in Columbus Public Schools, should do so just as soon as possible, now. Proper blanks for this purpose are available at the school office or call GA 1326 and we will be glad to send them to you.

Registration for 1st graders should also be taken care of for all children who have not been in Kindergarten, but who will be 6 years of age on or before May 1st. Please keep in mind that enrollment in the first grade is compulsory while enrollment in the Kindergarten is optional.

—R—

Reeb Avenue P.T.A. is represented today by several of its elected officers at the regular monthly Columbus and Franklin County Council meeting in Central High School. Be sure to mark Thursday, Jan. 20th, 2:15, on your calendar for our next Reeb Avenue meeting here at the school.

The Deep South

Dispatches from Dixiecrat land indicate that the deep South is already hip-hip hurraking for President Truman. Even Louisiana and Mississippi are declaring him the "white hope" of the Nation and the ruler of all Democratic parties including States Righter Strom Thurmond.

Billions For The New Deal

By J. E. Jones

Washington, D. C., — Money is no object in the new-New Deal. Mr. Truman has said over-and-over-again that the Columbia River Basin must have more power, irrigation and flood control. He goes to bat for the public power and Seaway on the St. Lawrence River—a very worthy project that the writer of this News Letter helped to initiate when he published a county seat weekly on Lake Superior. So, having been interested in this project for more thna half a lifetime, we are still enthusiastic for that great movement which has been ably championed by Senator Wiley of Wisconsin in recent years.

The Truman idea is that billions of dollars must be expended on public projects and he will likely recommend appropriations for $120,000,000,000 in his first message to Congress. He will ask for increased flood control and power development on the Missouri River and Mississippi Basins. Herbert Hoover was a champion of those measures when he was a member of President Coolidge's Cabinet. The President has promised extensive public works for the Central Valley which includes a series of dams in California. The Colorado River development, which includes the Hoover and Parker Dams and the new Davis Dam will control the Colorado River from the Southern Nevada to the Mexican border. Arkansas and Red Rivers are ticketed for flood control, water storage, and water-shed.

It would take a book to list all the public reforms and improvements that the President will champion. Tighter rent controls are a strong prospect, and the greedy landlords will "lose" and tenants will "gain."

And now—after President Truman's return to Washington there is no need to call in "master minds" from the radio stations, or tipsters, polisters and others to tell you that even tho' Mr. Truman has been President for quite a long time, he has recently reached the heights of glory. In fact, the whole country is wishing him well. We're pretty decent folks, after all.

"Julia Misbehaves" At Columbia Theater

The Columbia Theater presents Sun, Mon., and Tues. "Julia Misbehaves" starring Greer Garson. It's Greer Garson in Tights as a Lady on the Loose and Anxious to Snare her man, Julia had to misbehave in order to win back her husband and straighten out her daughter's romance. Greer and Walter let loose with a load of laughs. Good light entertainment. Also on the same bill will be "Embraceable You" with Dane Clark.

Engagement Revealed

Mr. E. J. Courtright, 1091 Miller Ave., is announcing the engagement of his daughter, Wanda, to Mr. Howard L. Keller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Adam C. Keller, 1756 Oak St.

Miss Courtright is a graduate of South High School and attended Wittenberg College in Springfield, where she was affiliated with Kappa Delta Sorority. She is now associated with the Ohio Farm Bureau.

Mr. Keller was graduated from South High School and attended Ohio State University. He is now associated with his father in the Keller Meat Packing Co.

The wedding will take place on Friday, Feb. 4, at First English Lutheran Church.

Looking Through Your Bi-Focals

The Federal Trade Commission has passed an opinion on the important subject of bi-focal optical lenses. It seems that a firm out in Ohio claims that it has something new and better in bi-focals — and the Federal Trade Commission says it has nothing of the sort. This Ohio Univis Corporation says that the user of bi-focal lenses with round top reading segments must tilt his head and otherwise assume an unnatural position in order to use the lenses to advantage. Federal Trade says "tain't so" and that all bi-focal lenses are based on the same general principle.

Only Discriminatory Food Tax

On January 3rd, when Congress convenes for the 81st session, the eyes of the World will be focused on this legislative body, observing its action on such important measures as veterans housing, foreign aid, taxes and labor.

Our own American homemakers will be casting an eye toward Washington, anxious for the repeal of margarine taxes which restrict the sale of yellow margarine.

The only pure food product taxed by the Federal government, margarine has been "forgotten" all too many years. A strong and united consumer fight for yellow margarine reminded the last Congress that it was high time to wipe these discriminatory taxes off the Statute books. And until the final days before adjournment it looked as though these efforts would be successful. Due to lack of time, however, the margarine tax repeal bill was shelved along with other important legislation.

From all reports consumers are again contacting their legislators, urging them to vote for the removal of this taxation. It is hoped that this time Congress will listen to the voice of the people and cut the tax ties which have bound margarine since 1886.

No More Price Control

The plain reason for silence on the part of boosters for price control may be accounted for by the fact that Mr. and Mrs. John Q. Public are running plans that express the general price trend downward.

The only big question unsolved relates to farm price supports, which have been dropping of late, at the rate of 5 on of a continuation and the chances are that Congress will be asked to operate of price guarantees at around the present levels.

Good Old Uncle Sam

On Christmas Day the Berlin airlift delivered 10 tons of canned corn. We are continuing to feed hungry people not only in Germany but in other parts of the world.

You and I have reason to feel very proud of the efforts of America to help people all over the World who are down and out, for we are a great Nation carrying out noble purposes and playing our part in trying to restore "Peace on Earth and Good Will Toward Men."

FOR EVENING SNACK

A smooth tender custard pie, coffee, nuts and fruit for evening refreshments.

By BETTY NEWTON

We all hate to let go of the conviviality that goes with the holiday season. And we all enjoy inviting close friends over for the evening. This custard pie will make an ideal snack in the middle of the evening.

Easy Pastry

2¼ C. sifted enriched all-purpose flour
½ tsp. salt
⅔ C. shortening
4½ Tbsp. cold water

Sift flour. Measure 2 cups sifted flour into sifter set in large bowl. Measure ¼ C. flour into small bowl. Add salt to flour in sifter; sift. Now cut shortening into flour with pastry blender or 2 knives until particles are the size of small peas. Stir the cold water into the flour in small bowl making a smooth paste. With a fork lightly blend this paste into the flour mixture, tossing well, until pastry forms a ball in the center of the bowl. Roll out half the pastry on a lightly floured board for pastry shell. Chill the other half for another pastry shell later in the week.

Custard Pie Filling

Easy pastry, above
4 eggs, slightly beaten
¾ C. granulated sugar
½ tsp. salt
3 C. milk
1 tsp. vanilla flavoring

Line a 9-inch pie plate with pastry; flute the edge. Combine eggs, sugar, and salt. Add milk and vanilla and pour into the pie plate. Bake in a hot oven of 450 degrees for 30-40 minutes or until a silver knife inserted in the center comes out clean. (Baked by this method the bottom crust and edge take on a rich brown, and the custard is perfectly baked.)

Building Boom On The Decline

New plans for construction of houses, factories and other kinds of buildings are showing a short decline, notwithstanding the fact that many builders are completing activities that started in earlier months. New private-business spending is in an uncertain stage.

Our Big Government

The problems of today and tomorrow are wholly unlike those days when a Congressman rose in his seat to ask: "Mr. Speaker, why are we appropriating a billion dollars?" It never had happened before. But Speaker Reed of Maine knew the answer and he settled the controversy by saying: "Because this is a billion dollar country."

Straphangers vs Grass Roots

The recent election was won by the Democrats when that party carried the socalled Grass Roots.

There aren't a great many big cities, but the political importance of straphangers is exaggerated. The transportation lines; subways, elevated, busses have millions of passengers daily; they join the morning rush, grab seats, or hold on to straps and read (?) the headlines of city papers. By election day they gang-up and vote in favor of the headlines—which are the reflections of views and instructions of the party bosses. The big bosses in the big cities carry the straphanger vote all the way from Boston, New York and Philadelphia, Chicago, and San Francisco. Most of the straphangers didn't know what the issues were in the recent campaign.

The other side of the picture newspapers, magazines and farm found the people of the Grass Roots reading 12,000 family papers, and talking things over among themselves at the stores, lodges, and in family groups. These residents of the so-called Grass Roots knew who they wanted to elect—and what ticket they would bark. That is why Harry Truman won the election.

More than that, it proves that the straphangers votes and the metropolitan newspapers do not control public opinion. It proves also, that the family newspapers in 48 states are the greatest force of all in creating and upholding public opinion.

"Public Relations" is a new and wonderful profession that is slowly recognizing the fact that results of first importance are to be gained through the help of family newspapers in 48 States.

As Pegler Sees It

By Westbrook Pegler

Released by WNU Features

THE best answer that the New York Herald Tribune has been able to offer to observations on its party line and the dominant personalities in the strange new household of this fine old Church of England paper, has been an essay by John Crosby, who does the radio column. I would not go as far as to say that the party line of the H-T is also the party line of the Daily Worker. There are some points at which a professional Muscovite ideologian could make out a charge of first-degree heresy and there are whole stretches in which I can detect no positive H-T line at all.

I find Crosby, of the radio column of the H-T, at loss for answers to revelations of embarrassing facts regarding his paper.

He speaks of me as an aging journalist, as aren't we all, and far from resenting this impudence I take this opportunity to observe that Mrs. Helen Rogers Reid, who now runs the H-T, or thinks she runs it, looks prettier than ever since her hair turned white and her age turned 60. I hope I have her vigor at her age. Even so, I find in the reference to the stately march of time, no answer to points of allegation by me about the H-T.

What I said was that Joseph Herzberg, the city editor, in his official capacity appeared on a radio program as the guest of William S. Gailmor, a thief, a renegade of journalism and of the clergy of his faith and a preacher of the Communist line in the United States.

The certified text of this broadcast confirmed the fact that Herzberg either was, or falsely conveyed an impression that he was, an old friend of Gailmor, calling him "Bill" and being called "Joe."

Just a Custom

On this point, Crosby would have it that I am out of date because it is customary, in the radio business, for the performers to use the familiar "Bill" and "Joe" form, even though they are strangers.

He says that Bing Crosby calls Jimmy Durante "Schnozzola," but I have to fault him there because Bing Crosby and Jimmy Durante are not strangers as he would have us believe that Herzberg and Gailmor are.

Long experience in the analysis of Communist documents and editorials prompts the observation that Crosby denies nothing. He doesn't dare to say that Gailmor and his city editor were strangers who had just shaken hands. I might nail him on that. But he tosses out the idea. That seems to be the character of the Herald Tribune now.

I went further and pointed out that although the H-T had given Gailmor praiseful publicity as a leading worker in the political campaign of Henry Wallace, it had not once mentioned the evil facts of his career. I find that the defense offered by Crosby entirely avoids that important issue.

I do note on the positive side, however, an attitude in Crosby which is important to the people who read so much about New York, Hollywood and Washington and especially about the night life.

Helps a Co-Worker

He says that Pegler spends much of his time in Arizona, as though, in the ancient flippantry of George M. Cohan, "When you're away from old Broadway, you're only camping out."

I have people in Arizona. I have people in Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Georgia and Tennessee, states which I have just canvassed. And I would say that, as Americans, they are much better people per capita than the people of New York. Fewer of them squalled for American high-school boys to go over and slaughter Germans. THEY LET NEW YORK DO THE SQUALLING.

But when the fighting came off, fewer of them, proportionately, got away with ruptured eardrums, as that heroic celebrity of Crosby's radio, Frank Sinatra, did; or got away with that certain "mental attitude" which was noted in the case of another great New Yorker, Danny Kaye.

Reporters who stick to New York become narrowly provincial. Even the country boys among them forget that there are people beyond the Alleghenies and that not more than one in 100,000 Americans ever was inside a night club. They use the phone to speak to Washington or Hollywood but they don't know that the same phones connect with Jackson, Miss., and El Paso. Actually, they reflect a very low intelligence on the character and life of the people of the United States.

Patient: Doctor, it's terrible. I keep thinking that there are little red ants swarming over me. Like there. And there. And there.

Doctor: Well, don't brush them off on me, for heaven's sake.

Wouldn't it be wonderful if all those people who spend their time telling the world what is wrong with it, would do something to improve it.

A man saw a sign in a tailor's window:

What do you think
I make suits for nothing
So he went in and got a suit.

Two weeks later, he got a bill for fifty dollars and came racing around to the tailor. "How about that sign?" he demanded. "That sign?" answered the tailor. "That sign reads: 'What do you think; I make suits for nothing?' "

Furniture Fashions by Frances Ainsworth

GRAND RAPIDS, MICHIGAN — One of the versatile new furniture designs that combines all the beauty of authentic traditional styling with the functionalism that is demanded for America's Modern homes. Called the Lady's Wardrobe, this distinctive piece has a compartmented interior with place for every clothing need. Partitioned sliding trays hold handbags, slippers and shoes. Shallow trays provide space for handkerchiefs and jewelry—there are deeper ones for other feminine apparel. The capacity is truly unbelievable. The Gentleman's Wardrobe is identical in exterior — [illegible] for every masculine need. Surprise [illegible] in the tr[illegible] here is Grand Rapids furniture at its very best.

Polio Women's Leaders

Mrs. Daniel Whitacre, 1850 Melrose Ave., Columbus, left, and Mrs. Charles A. Pegler, Gahanna, right, are chairman and co-chairman of the women's division in the Franklin County Polio Fund "March of Dimes" campaign.

Two thousand workers under their division will ask contributions in January to insure continuing and adequate care for the county's present and future polio victims.

Retail Trade

The official record in Washington shows that retail trade has been weakening in recent weeks. The statisticians in the Government tell us that sales will continue to fall off in coming months.

Oil and Gas Pools

The U. S Geological Survey has published a new chart that gives the results of a recent and lower and middle Silurian study of the Upper Ordovician rocks in the Michigan Basin.

The discovery of gas in rocks of middle Silurian age in Livingston County, Michigan, has aroused interest in the possibility of commercial production from rocks of this age in other areas in the Michigan Basin.

IF YOU DRIVE, BE CAREFUL

The National Administration

By J. E. Jones

Washington D. C.—January - Inauguration Day on January 20 will restore pleasant relations between Congress and the Administration. The President has finally become "IT." He will make partisan demands upon Congress. It is equally clear that the Republican members of the two branches will fight "tooth-and-toenail" in opposition to many proposals of the President. In his campaign he left no stone unturned to capture the "farm vote" and the "labor vote."

The President will attempt to replace the labor legislation of the outgoing Congress with the messy old Wagner Act. President Roosevelt interpreted that law to suit his own whimsical plans with the result that he settled all big strikes by giving Labor Bosses what they wanted.

The Republicans and Democrats have worked together on international problems.

Very few people oppose the Marshall Plan. BUT Congress will make a fight to tear down the Iron Curtain and quit monkeying with Russia.

Our Western envoys in Berlin are down-hearted and efforts by the Western powers to force a settlement of the dispute with Russia in the United Nations have failed. So, the row with Russia must go on. Billions of dollars of American money have been poured into the struggle for peace and the restoration of down-trodden European Nations.

While America has gained some in the West, the Communists have made gains in the Far East. We have not tried to steal any territory or crush any Nations—but we have prevented Communists from destroying many Governments.

Our loss of leadership in Czechoslovakia has been about as bitter as anything that could happen—because the United States set up that Government and established it as a Democracy after the first World War. France and England have stood shoulder to shoulder with us ever since the United Nations was established.

Farmers Are Big Truckers

There are strong indications that 1949 will surpass even 1948 in total vehicle mileage, registrations, and in some highway transportation manufactures.

One factor involved is the expansion of inter-city truck transportation, and continuation growth in farm use of trucks. The Department of Agriculture has estimated that at least 9 per cent of all trucks are used by farmers.

In the year just closed, vehicle registrations, both passenger car and commercial reached new peaks. For the first time truck placed in service in one year exceeded one million. About 33,500,000 passenger cars were using the roads, along with some seven million trucks. Both were record totals.

Mileage of these vehicles is estimated to have reached about 395 billion miles, 18 per cent over the prewar high in 1941.

Agonis Club Pays Tribute To Monte Beaver

Last Thursday evening the Agonis Club paid tribute to one of the city's outstanding citizens, namely our own Monte Beaver, director of Recreation at Schiller Park.

It was a great evening from start to finish, Al Bannister acted as toastmaster and kept the program moving at a lively pace. Jack Cannon, Notre Dame All-American gave his rendition of the immortal Knute Rockne in the dressing room with his players and also introduced as guests of honor, three big time football officials, Irish Krieger, Carlisle Dollings and Joe Burghalter, who were given plaques for their outstanding work in football officiating, then as far as everyone was concerned came the highlight of the evening. Judge Rodney Ross had the pleasure of introducing Monte and making him the recipient of many fine gifts from the club, but we think the greatest gift of all as far as Monte was concerned was the presence of 40 of Monte's Cherubs from Schiller Park, who were at tables directly in front of the speaker's table the oldest boy being about 14, and the youngest about 6. This came as surprise to Monte and we like to say here and now that the men who made it possible for the presence of the boys are to be congratulated. Knowing Monte as we do, we feel that it made him happier to have his little cherubs present than all the things that were said about him or the many fine gifts he received.

All in all, it was a great evening in tribute to an even greater man. We sincerely hope that as our children grow up that at some time or another they come in contact with a Monte Beaver. They'll never go wrong.

Chairman Bill DeVany wishes to thank the following men who purchased tickets for the banquet and then gave them to the boys from Schiller Park so that they might attend the dinner:

"Bill" Hoermle, Andy Contosta, Jim Rhodes, Roy King, Ray Schaefer, Foreign Grocery, Rudy Zish, Fountain Drug, Walt Tompkins, South Side Booster, Dr. O. J. Fillinger, Walter Snider, Egger's Con[illegible]faushund, Clai[illegible]ger & Redifer Mot[illegible] Carl Snedeker, Andy[illegible] Art Starret.

Women Of The Moose Aid In Polio Drive

Mrs. Golden Rickman, 1376 E 18th Ave., Social Service Chairman of Women of the Moose Chapter 204, is acting as Captain of her Chapter in the annual Polio Drive.

As this is a fight against one of the greatest enemies to the health of our Nation it is a responsibility of each and every member of this great nation to do every thing in our power to combat this enemy. So if possible, donate a few hours of your time in this great campaign. You may do so by calling Mrs. Rickman, UN 8508.

If it is impossible for you to give any of your time please don't forget to give to those who may call for your donation.

The drive continues from January 10 through January 31.

Evening School Registration Dates Set

—Ken W. Povenmire—

Thursday evening, January 27, and Monday evening, January 31 are the dates that have been set by Principal John R. Trace, for registration for the new semester in the Columbus Evening School. The time will be from 6:30 until 8:00, each of the evenings mentioned.

The Evening School, which meets in the Central High School building from six until ten on Monday, Wednesday, and Thursday evenings, will present a well rounded program of academic and commercial subjects, leading to High School graduation.

Featured on the curriculum will be a course in Business Principles, a new course in advanced Spanish and the opportunity to start a course in Physics at the mid-year. The advanced Spanish class will be in addition to beginning Spanish and an intermediate Spanish course already offered. College entrance requirement in a foreign language is now possible at the school. Courses will also be offered in Reading and Arithmetic for those who need this type of work. The regular curriculum of the school includes work in English, Journalism, Public Speaking, Social Studies, Mathematics, Science, Art, Commercial subjects, and Spanish.

Principal John R. Trace has requested that students bring a record of previous High School work, if they are entering for the first time, or if working for a diploma, and have not filed with the school a record of their former studies. Registration fees for residents of Columbus are four dollars for one class period, five dollars for two or three classes, and even dollars for four class periods. The fees for non-residents are five dollars for each one-period class.

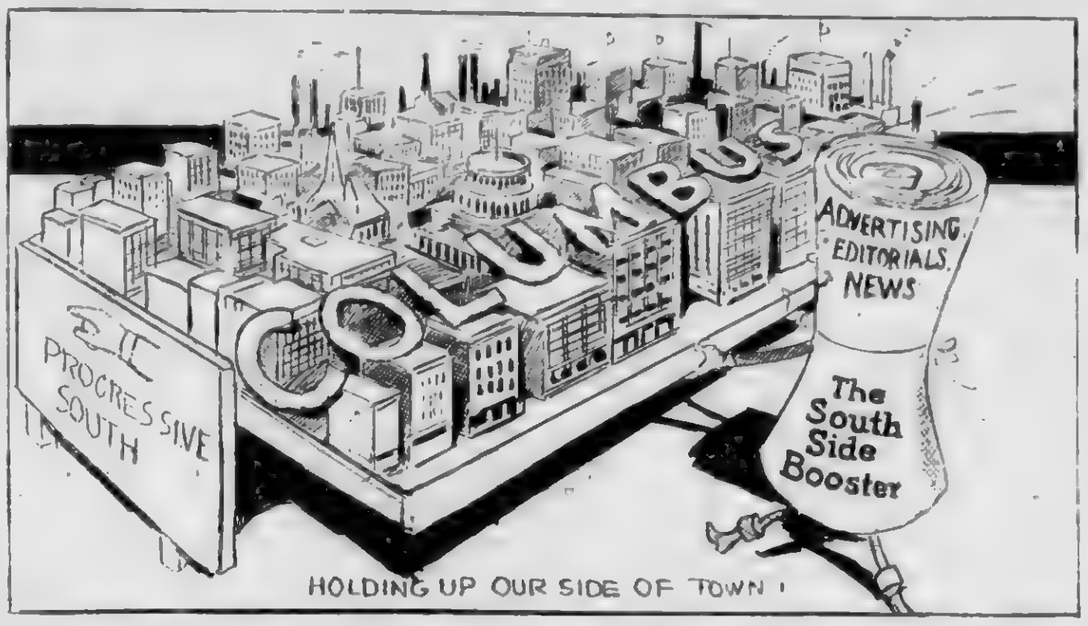
Lucky Three At Walters Cafe

Everett "Pappy" Walters, genial owner of Walter's Cafe, 1312 S. High Street, corner Moler, is now featuring music every Friday and Saturday by that well known trio, "The Lucky Three." For a fine enjoyable evening, stop in at this new cafe and relax in pleasant surroundings.

Fine foods, beers, wines, and liquors are served. There's plenty of parking space in the rear, just off Moler St.

Rummage Sale

Wing 43 of the Nightengale Cottage will have a Rummage Sale, January 15, 1949, starting at 8:00 a.m. St. Stephens Community House, 379 E. Barthman Avenue, Columbus, Ohio.



Family Hit

Mrs. Renee Lynn and her son "Raymond, were both stricken with polio. They are pictured here at the Georgia Warm Springs Foundation where both are undergoing treatment.

The cost of their treatment is paid through "March of Dimes" funds.

All contributions received in the Polio Fund campaign this month go to the care of victims and to research on the cause and cure of infantile paralysis.

South Is Loser In Double Overtime

LINDEN 59; SOUTH, 57
(2 OVERTIMES)

Paul Zugschwert, with 40 seconds of the "sudden death" overtime period game, banked in a one-hand push shot from near the foul line to give Linden a 59-57 decision over South Friday night.

Zugschwert's game-winner was a fitting climax to his brilliant all - round play throughout the fast-moving contest. His defensive work and ball-handling were prominently superb, and most of his 17 points came at crucial spots.

The Linden squad, fully cognizant of Paul's indispensable efforts, paid him a fitting tribute by carrying him off the floor after his pay off field goal, just as is done with football heroes. And the fact that he was a "shorty" in comparison to basketball's accentuated heighth, made Paul's performance seem even more outstanding.

Hayes Sparkles

Zugschwert's contribution to McKinley's cause, at that, had to share the spotlight. There was Forward Johnny Hayes, whose dead-eye shooting near the nets was worth nine valuable fielders —three in the first overtime to keep Linden in the game, at a time when it looked like South's very late comeback was going to sweep McKinley right out of the gym.

Center Bob Webb, one of the four Linden regulars who fouled out, proved how important his height was on defense. When he incurred his 5th personal, Linden led 37-29, with nine minutes left in the game. At that point, South's rebounding Bulldogs started to click, transforming an imminent defeat into a nerve-wracking even-up contest.

And it looked like certain curtains for McKinley when its best ball handler, Don Wickiser, fouled out early in the 4th quarter. South trailed 37-45 at the time, but then outscored Linden 11-2 to take a 48-47 lead, the Bulldog's first margin since the first of the game.

The Southsiders, who were losing their first City League game, could've won the game without to much of a struggle, without an overtime, but they muffed 18 out of 35 foul shots.

South Rallies

Linden held a narrow lead up to midway in the third period, but the aforementioned Zugschwert made four straight one-handed push shots to all but bury South's hopes. With six minutes remaining in the last canto, South's Bill Camp and Harry Nicholson spearheaded a rally hysterical. South was trailing by which had the packed auditorium a seemingly unsurmountable 11-point count, 45-34, but with a couple minutes to go, Nicholson's bunny put South in front 48-47.

With the Bulldogs in front 49-48 and 16 seconds to go, that man "Zug" dropped in a foul shot to tie up and create the overtime. South's rejuvenated squad then went in front 54-51, but Linden's Hayes made two quick-ies within 10 seconds.

With 18 seconds left, South's great Job subbing for the fouled out Paul Ebert (in the 2nd quarter), hooked one in to tie it up at 57, once again creating an extra period. Then came Mr. Zugschwert.

South did better in the reserve game, thanks to rotund Bobby Nolan's 12 points and strategic ball playing. The future Bulldogs won it, 36-30.

South Side Women Head March of Dimes Drive

In the past few years quite a number of our South Side people have been stricken with Polio.

We do not know when or where it will strike next.—It may be some member of your family.

When our ladies call at your door this month, will you do your best to support this drive so that some person may walk again?

In case the worker misses you and you wish to make a contribution, you may call Mrs. C. J. Karch—GA 2617 or Mrs. E. C. Horcher DO 0709 and we will gladly call for it.

Gene Mock Swan Club President

The new Swan Club officers for the first six months of 1949 are: Gene Mock, president; Bob Denman, vice president; Jim Shott, secretary; Jack Cloud, treasurer, and "Luke" Barthelmas, sergeant of arms.

George Shadwill and Jim Shott were elected co-managers of the club basketball team, which is entered in the Fraternal league of Columbus.

Bob Friedlinghaus, of 1063 Meadowbrook Road, was the first prize winner in the recent Swan Club Raffle.

Ross Benbow Heads Steelton Bank

Ross D. Benbow, assistant manager of the Steelton Office of the Ohio National Bank since February 1, 1937 was appointed manager of the office by L. A. Stoner, president of the Ohio National Bank Tuesday. Mr. Benbow succeeds Glenn E. Schwemley who was promoted to assistant vice president.

Mr. Benbow has been with the Ohio National Bank for 22 years. He started in 1927 as bookkeeper at the Lincoln Office and worked in the same capacity at both the Linden and Steelton offices. On January 1, 1930 he was promoted to teller and 7 years later was made assistant manager.

Mr. Benbow is a member and financial secretary of the Oakland Park Presbyterian Church. He attended Indiana University and holds a standard certificate in the American Institute of Banking. He is married and has two daughters, Martha 9 and Jane 6, and one son, John, 15 months.

Mr. Schwemly, who was head of the Steelton Office for many years was elected an assistant vice president and assigned to the High-Town Office of the Ohio National Bank following the annual meeting of stockholders.

Columbus Suffers Growing Pains

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 11—An invitation for members of the General Assembly to work with the citizens of Columbus in making the state's capital city "one to which every resident of the commonwealth may point with pride" was extended Tuesday night by President Carl M. Everson of the Columbus Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Everson presided and extended a welcome at the Chamber's biennial legislative banquet in the Neil House. Members of the Legislature and state officials were guests of Chamber members, with a total attendance of 435.

"Columbus, like no other city in the state, belongs to all the people of Ohio", Everson asserted, "Just as our national capital, Washington, belongs to all the citizens of the nation."

The Chamber president called attention to the increasing industrialization of Columbus since the beginning of the war.

"In eight years," he said, "the number of our industries has almost doubled, accompanied by a doubling of our industrial employment and a tripling of our industrial payrolls. Yet, fortunately, Columbus continued to be essentially a city of small industries.

"If our streets seem a bit more crowded than a few years ago, if you find our traffic more congested, the explanation lies in the increases of 50,000 since 1940 in the population of the city proper, and 70,000 in Columbus and its suburbs. Our growing pains are evident in the ever-increasing requirements for city services of all kinds."

It's a special point of pride for Columbus, Everson said, that so many natives of other Ohio counties have chosen this city as the scene of their business and professional career.

"We hope that you will help us to continue to make Columbus an attractive place for your home-town boys and girls who seek success in the capital city of their state," the Chamber of Commerce President concluded.

Millinery Instruction

To accomodate all persons requesting enrollment for millinery instruction at the Y.W.C.A., two classes have been scheduled for the winter term of the workship special interest classes.

The series begins January 17, and will continue through March 10. Registration is now open. Persons interested may call AD 9121.

Instructor for the millinery classes will be Mrs. Albert Faudree. They will be held at 6:45 and 8 p.m. on Tuesday.

Also planned for Tuesday are courses in early American decoration and bridge for both beginners and players with previous experience. The former class will meet with Mrs. Herschel Arant at 10 a.m. Bridge instruction will be at 7 p.m. for beginners and at 8:15 for the second group.

A class in textile painting will be offered on Wednesday at 7 p. m. under the direction of Miss Elsie Yee. At 7:30 the same evening, E. E. Rogers will instruct an antique refinishing course.

Other classes scheduled are those in leathercraft and clay modeling both meeting on Thursday. Mrs. Robert Magly will direct the leathercraft class at 1 p.m. and Mrs. John Howald will teach clay modeling at 7 p.m.

Pigeon Show

The Southern Flying Club Inc. will sponsor a racing pigeon show Sunday January 16th at their club room, 809 South 18th Street. Mr. Roy Hinger of Piqua, Ohio will be the judge. Judging starts at 10 a.m.

South Side Eagles Defeat Jaycees 29-17

The South Side Eagles quintet defeated the Jaycees 29-17 in a Fraternal League game played at the K.C. Gym last Thursday night. The Eagle quint was sparked by the fine play of Roy Marshall and was given able support by the rest of the boys.

Stewart Ave. P. T. A. January Meeting

Stewart Ave. P.T.A. will have their regular meeting at the school on January 20 at 2 p.m.

The program will be given by the Beginners in Mrs. Dorothy Luft's room. Two speakers will give short talks on Boy and Girl Scouts and the wonderful work of these two organizations. Also, a speaker on the March of Dimes will explain to us how we can help combat polio.

Parents and friends are cordially invited to attend. Plan now to come and enjoy an afternoon at Stewart Ave. School.

If You Live South – Spend South

In a recent census estimate it was found that the South Side now has 53,738 people in the community. That is an interesting fact in itself, but it is remarked that with this population the South Side is as large as, or larger than many cities.

A community of this size working together as a unit can have strength and demand respect and recognition from the City when matters of importance arise. Webster defines a community as "People having common rights," therefore each person in a community must work and cooperate with the others in order to have real community strength and spirit. By this we mean be active in your community, join a club, a church, attend social and school events offered for your enjoyment. Patronize your community merchants, the better his success in his business, the better service he is going to be able to offer you, through expanding his business, to be able to include in his stock more of the items which you need daily. Low overhead enables him to sell at reasonable prices, a larger turn over of stock, through increased sales, enables him to give you better buys on new merchandise, but he must depend on you, his South Side people to determine his success. Our Community offers the finest in professional services of every type. There is practically every business represented. These business places are established firms, each experienced and qualified to give you expert service. There are few occasions when there is any necessity to leave your community to shop elsewhere.

Remember your community is as strong as you make it. Starting next week your various business places will be introduced to you in the South Side Booster. Watch for these progressive merchants. Lets all get together and cooperate by keeping our money as much as possible in our community. If you live South, spend South, help your community grow.

Council Meets Tonight

The Council of South Side organizations will meet at 8:00 p.m. tonight at South High School.

Mr George Roudebush, Superintendent of Columbus Schools will be the speaker.

Mr. Roudebush's subject will be "New Schools for the South Side." The public is invited.

St. Ann's Guild To Meet

St. Ann's Guild No. 17, will meet Thursday, Jan. 20th at the home of Mrs. Laura Rehl, 153 Gates Street. New officers, headed by Mrs. Frank Vaughn, 1008 Lockbourne Rd., as chairman, will be in charge. A social hour will be held after the business meeting.

South Side Day Nursery

One interesting feature on the program's for the Mothers' Meeting, Thursday evening, January 13, is an auction by a couple of Mothers of white elephants, that is to say, of some article the Mother has in the home which she has no special use for and really is a white elephant on her hands. The price each Mother will pay for the article she bids in will not exceed a dime.

The other interesting feature will be the observance of every Mother's birthday. For the serving of refreshments the tables will be decorated and the Mother's grouped seasonal and each group will make some contribution toward the evenings entertainment.

Mrs. Zoltan Horvath and Mrs. Steve Butsko will serve as hostesses with Mr. Henry Margo, who is social chairman.

Jitney Supper

Townsend Club No. 30 is having a jitney supper at Gates-Fourth Methodist Church, Monday evening January 17 from 6 p.m. to 7 p.m. Public is invited

Mr. Crossley Speaks At Lions Club

Last Tuesday at their regular weekly meeting at the Swan Grill the Southeast Lions Club were privileged to hear an address by Mr James G. Crossley, Managing editor of the Columbus Citizen. Mr. Crossley has been associated with the Scripps-Howard newspapers since 1929 and has had previous assignments in Akron and Cincinnati.

Mothers Variety Meet

Mrs. Mary Campbell of 1203 Lilley Ave., entertained the Mother's Variety Club with a Christmas Party Dec. 29th. Twenty-five guests were present. Birthday greetings were extended to Mrs. Doris Lewis, Mrs. Ada Webb and Mrs. Campbell.

Mrs. Ida Leonard, who plays Santa Claus for the club presented the exchange gifts and gifts from Secret Pals.

Refreshments were served and the social hour followed.

Mrs. Edith Bradford will entertain the club in January.

Lincoln Park P. T. A. Meeting

The first meeting of the new year of the Lincoln Park P.T.A., will be held in the school auditorium on January 20th, at 1:30 p. m. The program will include a group discussion on Parliamentary Procedure. All questions will be cordially and freely answered by Miss Cole and Mrs. Fletcher.

OSU Mother's Club To Meet

Annual Spaghetti Dinner

St. Ladislaus' Annual Spaghetti Dinner will be held Sunday, January 23 1949, at the Croation Hall, 377 Reeb Ave., from 12 noon until 8 p.m. This dinner is being given for the benefit of the church building fund by the Altar-Rosary Society.

Mrs. Albert Maciocci is the chairman of the dinner, and has surrounded herself with a very able committee. Mrs. Joseph Erama is chairman of the ticket committee. There are both adult and children tickets. Mrs. John Kostick is President of the Altar-Rosary Society.

This dinner is a must on the Social Calendar of everyone. It is a fine chance for the whole family to dine out together, not only enjoying a fine dinner, but also meeting old friends and making new ones. This dinner is open to the public and we are looking forward to a busy day. Adult tickets are one dollar and children's tickets are fifty cents. You are assured the worth of your money.

Helping Hands Are To Meet

The Helping Hand S. S. Class of Gates Fourth Church will meet at the Church Tuesday January 18 at 7:30 p.m.

Hostesses are Mrs. Anna Conley, Mrs. Jennie Breckinridge, and Mrs. Florence Miller.

Shooting Our Own Iron At Us

Wise men have said over and over again, "The best way to maintain peace is to prepare for war." Is this nation prepared to defend herself against an invading army? Are we strengthening ourselves in order to protect our country?

Only partly; we are, in a half-hearted way, increasing our army, building a few airplanes, etc. It is strange that we can help Japan as we did when she was preparing to attack us, and now Russia, but we cannot build up our own strength.

A year or so before Pearl Harbor, I stood on the pier at Wilmington Beach, California and watched the docking of the Asama Maru, Japanese freighter (which ship now lies at the bottom of the ocean. This freighter unloaded tons of stuff which was placed in warehouses by workers. What were we buying from Japan? Great straw containers of paper mache toys. The kind the "five and ten" stores used to fill up their counters with, all marked "Made in Japan." Also there were bales of rattan furniture, cheap, flimsy stuff that was not good for use, but very good dust catcher material. Then there were huge cases of vegetable compound for cooking purposes, made from cotton-seed. The cotton seed having been purchased from us, made into compound and then shipped back to us. It being that we did not have enough sense to make the compound here ourselves in sufficient quantities.

Curious to learn what the Japanese would take back with her I went again to the pier to watch her being loaded. What do you suppose she took back with her? Tons of news-papers, all of which she would make into toys and sell back to us. That was all her cargo consisted of when she left our shores.

Then around six months before the attack on Pearl Harbor, I happened to be in San Pedro, California. Streets and highways were filled with trucks of scrap iron and steel; parts of automobiles, iron pipe, old bedsteads, etc. all trucks filled to overflowing and headed toward the loading docks. "Where are we shipping all that scrap iron to?" I inquired of the officers who were overseeing the loading. "It is going to Japan. A rich junk dealer by the name of Louis Shapiro is buying up all the junk in the United States and shipping it to Japan." The officer informed me.

"Well, Japan will return it to us one of these days and they say her aim is very good," I told him, and then I asked, "How much does Japan pay for the scrap iron?" "$9 per ton," he replied. "She is certainly getting a bargain. That iron and steel is already tempered and prepared. All that is needed is a good hack saw, a hammer and blow torch and the Japs can make anything they wish in a jiffy." I commented as I left the pier.

It will never be known just how much iron we let Japan have to kill our boys with. Hundreds of tons must have left that pier alone, to say nothing of our other piers, scattered over the nation's different port towns.

An embargo was supposed to have been placed on shipments of oil to Japan in 1939. Yet in March of 1941 the United States exported 1,533,000 barrels of petroleum products to Japan compared to 1,279,000 barrels in February and 1,431,000 in January. Now, that was quite a lot of oil and should have been preserved for our use in event we had war. (Which we did later). Instead of saving the oil for fuel for our own ships and planes we let the Japs have it for their navy and army activity for war with China and deeper penetration into Indo-China. We sent millions of gallons of oil into Japan to kill the Chinese with and then lent China millions of dollars with which to protect herself.

Thousands of our boys were shot down by Jap fliers with planes made of American scrap iron, and fueled with American gas and oil. For dumbness we Americans certainly take first prize.

I wrote letters to senators and congressmen at Washington, trying to get the idea across to them that we were endangering our own safety in letting Japan have our oil and iron. Those who took time to answer agreed with me, that it was a foolish thing for this nation to do, but nothing was done to stop it.

But, our arming Japan to attack us has been child's play in comparison to the way we have built Russia up to take over the whole world. We know what Russia's goal is. We know she cannot be trusted to keep her word, yet we keep trying to bring her into the United Nations and to make peace with her. Far better for us that Russia has not come in.

In this one thing we can be thankful; that Russia has not slyly deceived us and pretended to be friends with us. No, she has openly showed her hand and if we cannot see the writing on the wall then there is no one to blame but ourselves.

To join with a Godless nation in any compact is to commit suicide. The Bible plainly says "Because you have helped them that hate me is my wrath turned against you, sayeth the Lord." We cannot expect God to be on our side when we help his enemies. America is in for some horrible suffering and no one to blame but our silly leaders.

FORGOTTEN: AUTO "BUGGY-BOO"

In a recent series of talks to engineering students, T. A. Boyd of General Motors Research Laboratories pointed out how the late Woodrow Wilson believed the automobile would generate socialism in the United States.

"Nothing has spread socialistic feeling in this country more than the use of the automobile," Mr. Wilson declared in 1906 when he was president of Princeton University. Mr. Wilson believed that to the farmer or "countryman" the sight of an automobile chugging over dusty rural roads was "a picture of arrogance and wealth with all its independence and carelessness," Mr. Boyd related.

Oddly enough, the contrary happened. Today enough automobiles are in evidence for every person in the Nation to go riding at one time. But nothing particularly socialistic in a political sense has evolved from this remarkable development. The motorcar, little more than a rich man's toy when Wilson commented about it, is modern America's transportation cornerstone. It is an absolute necessity in a technological civilization.

Mr. Wilson, the record shows, had prophetic vision in governmental matters. Historians rank him among the Nation's foremost White House occupants. Why, then, did he miscalculate the impact the motorcar would have on our political way of life?

Mr. Boyd offered this explanation: "It was because in this present century the research worker, the engineer and the production man have joined forces so effectively as to transform the life in the Nation.

"Organized experimentation in industry, which has come to be called industrial research, is a powerful new factor in the life of the Nation. It is a factor which existed hardly at all in 1906 . . . . But, shortly after that time, research in industry began to take hold and it grew, slowly at first and then more rapidly.

"This, Woodrow Wilson could not foresee. Nor could he imagine that, because of the large increases in wealth and wages which were to come out of advances in technology, millions of families . . . would one day have much better automobiles than those he looked upon in 1906 as 'a picture of arrogance and wealth,' " Mr. Boyd explained.

Our modern technological age faces countless problems and complexities, but some of them are overemphasized by prophets of doom just as the automobile's socialistic implications were overestimated unwittingly by Mr. Wilson. Today's gloomy prophets believe science, industry and technology contain only the seeds of political and social destruction.

However, in the ranks of these particular prophets are few technicians, scientists or progressive industrial leaders. The research worker, engineer and production men are still transforming the life of the Nation. But unlike the gloomy prophets, they see no reason to impose socialism or more stringent personal regulations upon the Nation they are transforming.

WE MUST HAVE DEFINITE LABOR LAWS

All the politicians seem to agree that Federal laws to adjust labor-management relations are essential in a Democratic form of Government. Right now there is talk of picking up the Wagner Labor Act, using it in place of the Taft Hartley law.

Now the fact is that all this is political baloney. What is likely to happen is that the new Democratic Congress will try to put through a law which will contain the reform by the Democratic Congress.

Thus, by putting one and one together skillful Senators and Representatives might—if they try—patch up a new combination law that will be all right, providing the labor bosses are not allowed to dictate the new law.

President Truman vetoed the Taft-Hartley Law twice, and the veto was overridden both times. The outstanding feature of the action by Congress in both instances was that enough Democrats joined the Republicans to save the Taft Hartley Act at a time when the President was yelling "bloody murder."

Congress may, let us hope, put the public welfare ahead of Democratic politics and make a statute that will protect the American system, insuring a square deal for employers and workers.

Such a law would make the big labor strikes unnecessary, because it would furnish protection to the two big elements in the American economic program for everybody—even the PEOPLE.

The dusky salamander, the most common type along streams in the eastern part of the United States, lays from 20 to 40 eggs beneath a stone near a spring and stays with them for two months until they hatch.

The American people, in all probability, have not yet experienced the full cost of building and maintaining our military power in a troubled and unpredictable world. The military services are growing concerned over the limitations imposed by their current budgets, and their chiefs are saying that they can't do the job that is expected of them without more money. President Truman has set expenditures for defense purposes at $15,000,000,000 for a fiscal year. However, there is a strong likelihood that this figure, vast as it is, will be substantially upped.

The last Congress, with an election facing it, took the easiest way out and approved a 70-group air force—which is still a long, long way from existing in fact—and a limited draft law, with so many exemptions and exceptions that the Army has had an extremely difficult time filling its quotas. It left unsettled the broad, basic questions of just how our defences shall be built, and it is with these that the 81st Congress will have to deal.

On paper, our armed services are now unified. They are all headed by a single cabinet member, who has an assistant in charge of each of the three branches, and they are guided in military matters by the decisions of the Joint Chiefs of Staffs. Actually, however, unification hasn't gone very far. The old inter-service jealousies and differences still exist, and in some cases they are stronger than ever. The long-standing debate between the Air Force and the Navy is in point. The Air Force has strongly opposed the building of carriers, on the grounds that it can handle air warfare by itself. The Navy claims that carrier based Navy air power will be vital to its mission in any future war, as it was in the last. Secretary Forrestal, in a Saturday Evening Post article, said that it will be a number of years before real unification is achieved. In the meantime, it will be necessary to go ahead with our defense plans.

All the talk about push-button warfare, in which amazing machines, requiring the services of relatively few men, will do the fighting, has probably given a good many people some dangerously unsound ideas. The push-button, guided-missile age will come, but it isn't here yet. And neither, in the view of the best military minds, have we reached the stage where air forces can obtain a victory practically by themselves. The backbone of military power today, as in the past, is men. Voting billions for defense can produce little result unless the men go with the money.

General Omar Bradley, whom many consider the best Chief of Staff the Army ever had, and who had a superb combat record as Eisenhower's principal field commander, has made a constant effort to awaken the people to the facts of life when it comes to military affairs. In one speech it is said, he scratched out a vague and cheerful paragraph which had been written for him, and replaced it with this: "It is time the American people were told there is no cheap and easy way to national security . . . Security means sacrifice, and the people are going to have to determine if that sacrifice is worth their while." Bradley is of the opinion that we must have at least 15 divisions if we are to properly discharge our occupation duties, and to have in readiness a fighting force of minimum adequacy. This means, if his views are accepted, that the limited draft must be suspended, and that the rate of induction into the Army must be tremendously accelerated. Congress will not like to do that. But there is a proximity that it will find no other course possible.

Actually, despite the atom bomb and all the other new and improved weapons, the higher military strategy—which is simply the principals on which warfare is based has not changed materially. If war should come in the foreseeable future, most of the fighting will be done on land and sea, to be fought along past lines. In other words, the Air Force would be used to attack enemy communications, industry, supply lines, etc. The Navy would be given its traditional role of keeping the sea lanes open, and it would need its own air power for this. And the Army, initially, would have to take and hold bases necessary both for launching offensive operations, and for protecting the continental U.S. from sustained attack. In latter stages the Army, with huge ground forces, would move in and take physical possession of enemy territory precisely as it did in World Wars I and II.

There is still another phase of a great arms program which cannot be minimized. That is its effect on the civilian economy. The forces, as they grow, will need ever-increasing quantities of materials—coal, steel, cloth, food, lumber, and everything else. It is inevitable that shortages and dislocations will result from military priorities. One of the toughest and most important jobs faced by military planners lies in trying to figure out just how much of our production we can use for military purposes without placing too serious a strain on our domestic economy.

It isn't a cheerful thought, but there are those who have come to believe that the world may exist in a state of "cold war" for decades, and that all peoples will continue indefinitely to carry a back-breaking burden of arms. That is the greatest problem civilization faces.

"HEART THROBS"

Joe Mitchell Chapple came back to Washington recently and he brought along a new printing of one of the World's greatest books. When Joe Chapple was editor and publisher of the National Magazine in Boston, William McKinley was President. Oldsters in Washington remember that the two men were often described as "buddies." Joe told the President that he was going to offer the American public ten thousand dollars for a favorite clipping, a story an ancedote, or a selection "that has touched your heart." The President and Joe went in executive sessions. An appeal was made by the Boston editor for old clippings. He asked for "Heart Throbs—yes, heart throbs of happiness, heart throbs of courage, heart throbs that make us feel better." He asked for clippings to show "what kind of stories interest you, your mother, father, sisters, brothers sons and daughters." He got all he asked for, thousands of the most beautiful sentiment that had ever been printed. Admiral Dewey and Senator Allison made the final awards on behalf of the Judges.

Favorite "Heart Throbs" were furnished by Edison, Carnegie, Henry Ford, Elihu Root, Elbert Hubbard, J. Piermont Morgan, Rockefeller, Sr., and thousands of "FOLKS" in every stage of life. The American press, from the smallest communities to the New York Times boosted the sales of the books to top leader in a single year.

The new edition of "Heart Throbs" is the same grand old collection of clippings from the great and powerful and humble folks who possess the joy of living. It is a beautiful volume of more than 435 pages, issued by Joe Mitchell Chapple, The Booknest Winthrop, Massachusettes. price $2.50 out just in time to satisfy any living human being who receives a copy of it as a Christmas, birthday or holiday present.

This writer prizes the copy of the first edition and has supplemented it with the new and magnificent book.

THE FAT OF FARM LAND

Washington, D. C. December—How about the American farmer? The 1948 farm year is a little behind 1947.

The farmers will be right up on their toes when January rings the New Year bells.

The United States Department of Agriculture backs the good news that farmers are certain to have another profitable year, and be able to continue to keep money enough ahead to spend for families needs, plus! But the conservative Department takes note that farmers everywhere are showing a general tendency to spend less freely. Farmers have long memories and know what hard times were in the 1930's.

Official statements show that farm expenses are higher than they ever were. But farmers aren't doing business the way they were in the 1930's. Farm machinery and equipment, plus electricity, motor vehicles—and lots of things have revolutionized life on the farm.

The cotton farmers in the Mississippi Delta made good profits in 1948 So did dairymen in every part of the Nation. And the corn farmers of many States have ridden on the band wagon, having carried on farming with all the machinery they could afford to buy. The same story covers the wheat farmers in many parts of our broad land.

To sum up this brief report the farmers of the United States have been doing well. According to estimates of the National Bureau of Agriculture and Economics, our fat farm lands have piled up gross incomes in 1948 totaling $34,600,000,000. And this summary from the National Capital concludes: "HURRAH FOR THE FARMERS."

THE COMPETITIVE SYSTEM

The Federal Trade Commission was established in 1914 as a watch dog in the anti-trust field and given the formidable task of preventing every person engaged in commerce except banks, meat packers and carriers subject to the various Acts to regulate commerce, from engaging in unfair methods of competition or unfair and deceptive acts and practices.

Chairman Freer of the Commission recently declared: "I feel very strongly that this problem of preserving our competitive system is the foremost domestic problem today and that the public must soon decide whether we honestly intend to try to obey the rules of the economic road we so far have travelled or whether we are willing to recognize that the alternative route is one of all-out government regulation. Unfortunately, there seems to be no middle road in this situation. If we continue to give lip service to the competitive system and provide only token enforcement agencies under the anti-trust laws; if we continue to cry against monopolies and at the same time refuse to provide the means of curbing them, we will continue to coast down hill without conscious resolution into a valley from which we must be towed because the spark of competition neither exists nor can be restored to its proper function in our economic motive power. When that point is reached we will have no choice but to acquiesce in a system of permanent peacetime Government controls which will shift the responsibility of management to the Government."

Preservation of the competitive system, as defended by Chairman Freer is the basis philosophy of the Federal Trade Commission. "The Commission is not an agency which is seeking power or control over industrial decision and discretion," he insists, because "it has been motivated by the principal that the coming day of Government regulation can be postponed or forestalled by prevention of those practices which operate to destroy the competitive system by depriving the individual business man of his freedom."

OUR SHRUNKEN MERCHANT MARINE

The privately-owned American merchant fleet now stands at 1,312 ships, according to a publicity item about shipping

As to Government-owned vessels under charter, the Federation of American Shipping reported 373 vessels in this category on December 1, with 68 ships under notice of redelivery, but not yet redelivered to the Maritime Commission. This leaves, according to present schedules, a net of 305 Government-owned vessels to remain on charter to private operations and represents a decrease from the November 1 level of 37 vessels scheduled to continue bareboat operations.

As for the National Defense Reserve Fleet a total number of vessels increased again in November from 1,502 to 1,544. These ships are exclusive of tugs, cableships, military auxiliaries and British Liberties.

Polio attacks all ages, although the majority of the victims are under 10 years and only one-fifth are over 15 years. Contributions to the 1949 "March of Dimes" polio fund campaign will assist in preventing crippling effects of the disease on helpless children.

News In The World Of Religion

By W. W. Reid

The mass migration between India and Pakistan has ended, but there follows in its wake a suffering and loss that will be felt for years to come, according to Church World Service which has been administering relief to the sufferers on both sides of the line on behalf of America's Protestant churches. "The children who lived thru the upheaval will always bear its scars in their minds if not on their bodies," says a CWS report on the situation. "Their plight would have been ever worse had it not been for the assistance and support given thru Christian missionaries."

Quoting Justice Roberts of the U.S. Supreme Court, who said, after World War II, "Education and catastrophe are now in league with one another," Dr. Douglas Horton, minister of the General Council of the Congregational Christian Churches, said recently in Wakefield, Mass., "It is only the educated men that we have to fear. The untutured peasant cannot make an atomic bomb nor organize a modern army. Something more is needed for our safety than education and that something is direction—the direction which is felt by a person sensitive to the will of God revealed in Christ . . . Meeting the physical needs of men is unsatisfactory if we cannot impart something to their souls. Even the satisfying of intellectual needs is a fragmentary activity."

Sponsored by the United Christian Youth Movement (203 N. Wabash Ave., Chicago), "Youth Week" will be observed throughout American Protestant churches from January 30 to February 6 with meetings of inter-church young people's groups in thousands of communities, special speakers, conventions, etc. Activities in local communities during the week will include: a "town meeting of the air," conducted by youth, on the topic, "What should the church do in my community?"; "discovery groups" of youth studying the Bible; a survey and enlistment of young people in youth church organizations; and an ecumenical service of worship on Sunday, February 6th.

For the first time in their history, the thousands of Protestant churches represented in the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America are being urged to emphasize the importance of "an informed and active concern within the churches for Christian principles in economic life." The observance will be from January 16 to 22—"Church and Economic Life Week." President Arthur S. Fleming, of Ohio Wesleyan University, is chairman of the Council's committee planning this emphasis. "Think what it could mean to the life of our nation if in all local churches a cross-section of citizens were to consider economic problems in the light of the teachings of the New Testament," says Dr. Fleming. "We wouldn't all arrive at identically the same conclusions. We would, however, go out from such discussions more determined than ever before to bring the Kingdom of God to the earth."

Miss Edna Ross Married December 9

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd A. Ross, 16 Reeb Ave. are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Edna, to Mr. Max Miller, son of Mr and Mrs. D. E. Miller, 1439 Meadow Rd.

The wedding was an event of Dec. 9 at Glen Echo United Presbyterian Church with the Rev. W. C. Ball officiating.

For her wedding the bride chose a suit of pale aqua which she combined with brown accessories and a corsage of white roses.

Mrs. Ivan Davel was matron of honor, attired in a brown suit with matching accessories and a corsage of pink rosebuds.

Mr. Daniel Hadaway was the best man.

The new Mrs. Miller is a graduate of South High School and is employed by the Timken Roller Bearing Co. Mr. Miller is a graduate of North High School and is employed by the Standard Oil Co.

Double Ring Ceremony Features Wedding

The rectory of Corpus Christi was decorated with white mums and pompons Nov. 6, when Miss Iona Louise Kitchen became the bride of Mr. Orville D. Townsend. The Rev. Fr. Graff performed the double ring ceremony at 6:30 p.m.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Kitchen, 2189 Refugee Rd., and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Orville M. Townsend, 795 Miller Av.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an ivory faille gown designed with an off-the-shoulder neckline with a wide tiered bertha trimmed with Alencon lace. The long sleeves extended to points over the hands and were also trimmed with Alencon lace. The full skirt was worn over a hooped petticoat and extended into a wide Cathedral train. Her maching fingetip veil was held in place by a tiara of Alencon lace and she carried a shower bouquet of white roses centered with a white orchid.

Miss Mary Ellen Kramer, the maid of honor, wore a green satin and net gown styled with a picture neckline and a skirt gathered with a bustle effect. She wore a halo of yellow roses and pompons. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses and pompons.

Mr. William H. Meyers served as best man and Mr. Ned Newman served as usher.

A reception was held at Corpus Christi School Hall immediately after the ceremony. Assisting as hostesses were Miss Charlene Ruppersburg, Miss Jo Anne Carroll and Miss Donna Jean Kitchen. They wore identical corsages of peach camelias.

The couple resides at the Miller Av address.

The bride is now employed by the Felber Biscuit Company in the Sales Office, and the bridegroom is associated with Veterans Administration.

The guest speaker will be Mr. A. R. Schwartz, Executive Director of American Assoc. of the Blind.

Dean Acheson's Red Deals

President Truman has appointed Dean Acheson to be secretary of state. He might as well have named Alger Hiss.

Dean Acheson was assistant secretary of state thru the war, and undersecretary from 1945 until July 1, 1947. Alger Hiss was his man. It might be said also that he was Hiss' man. Hiss was his principal follower in the state department. They were widely recognized as leaders of the pro-soviet bloc there.

Adolf Berle, another New Deal assistant secretary of state, testified before the house committee on un-American activities that in 1944 he fell out with the Acheson-Hiss clique because he "felt that the Russians were not going to be sympathetic and cooperative." He lost that fight and was exiled to Brazil as American ambassador, ending his diplomatic career, he said.

Berle was a little less than frank. He told the committee that he was "worried" about Hiss. Actually, Whittaker Chambers had been taken to him five years before this incident, and Chambers had named Acheson's man, Hiss, to Berle as one of the persons in the state department who was serviceable to Russian spies.

Acheson was the real father of the Marshall plan, insofar as it had a father on this side of the Atlantic. He suggested its essential details in a speech in Mississippi before Secretary Marshall made his speech at Harvard. The give away scheme originally included gifts to Russia. After the plan got rolling, Acheson quit the state department and went back to the practice of law, in Washington. He took Alger Hiss with him, as well as Alger's brother, Donald, another pro-Russian character.

Acheson and the Hisses started lining up foreign governments as clients, for whom they solicited American gifts from the European aid funds that Acheson had suggested and helped obtain. At one time they were reported to be trying to get half a billion dollars for soviet dominated Poland, for which service, the fee was to be a million dollars.

Acheson was scheduled to be a witness before the un-American activities committee, but never appeared. That would be an appropriate body to question him on his qualifications for the office to which he has been named.

Jay Franklin, the columnist who wrote campaign speeches for President Truman last year and has utilized that connection to write what is represented as inside information on the President's plans, comes out with a new one in the current issue of Life magazine. He alleges that what he calls the Marshall-Forrestal-Byrnes-Vandenberg foreign policy is to be replaced by a Truman foreign policy, of which the keystone will be an attempt to reach an agreement with Russia.

The Acheson appointment would fall in with such a theory. Altho Acheson aroused Russian fulminations two years ago when he was beating the drums for the Marshall plan, he has a long record of pro-Russian conduct before then-conduct so pro-Russian that there is evidence on which to consider it anti-American.

Whatever the merits of efforts to end the cold-war, and they may be considerable, Dean Acheson is not the person to handle them.

South High Choir Presents An Operetta

By Mary Campen

On January 22, the "Pine Tree Workshop," composed largely of choir members will present the operetta "Westward Ho!" a musical based upon a song of George Gershwin entitled "A Foggy Day."

It concerns two ex-service men who are returning home after the war. Jim McCampbell is an aviator and Bill McLoskey a gunner on his plane. By chance they meet in a London fog where Jim discovers that Bill is bound for California.

Jim's ambition is to become a movie star, so he plans to take Bill to his home in Scotland, and then they will go to California.

The scene then shifts to Scotland where an old witch fore-tells a prophecy and Bill meets a ghost in Castle Argyle.

They finally arrive in California where Paramount Pictures is shooting a film on life in early California's 1849. Here Jim meets and falls in love with Frances Fielding who plays the lead in the picture and finally gets a chance to appear in the picture "The Fiesta of San Luis Obispe."

This musical is to be given one night only. The main people to appear in it are Raymond Waters, Ruth Kroff, Ed Cherryholmes, Don Skelton, Jon Stephens, Shirley Borror, Joan Abbott, Mary Ann Woomer, Betty Sorrenson, Joyce Greshel, Marilyn Reed, Dollie Bucilla, Jim Ahl, Charles Young, and John Pfeiffer. Tickets may be obtained from members of the music department.

Dick Haymes likes the story about the conscientious lawyer who was very careful about observing every inch of the law. One day he came home and found his wife walking on the ceiling.

"For goodness sake," he demanded, "what do you think you're doing?"

"Walking on the ceiling," replied his wife, "and I'm having a swell time."

"You can't do that," he barked. "It's breaking the law of gravity."

Immediately his wife fell to the floor with a thud. She sat there stunned for a moment, then burst into tears. "So you had to go and open your big mouth!"

2:35 p.m.—The River.

Wednesday, Jan. 19th, 9:30 a.m. Sale of Savings Bonds and Stamps.

The above calendar of the events of the coming week is announced so that our parents and adult friends may plan to come to Reeb to visit us.

—R—

Alyn Shoemaker, Fred Banks, Mary Orcutt, Faith Jordan, and Essie Smith are the thrifty children in Room 212. They are doing systematic saving by buying U.S. Savings Stamps which can be purchased every Wednesday morning in our school.

Room 212

—R—

All of the children in my room are talking about the Jitney Lunch to be given next Thursday. Most of them say they are coming to it. I am saving my money to come to it. I am looking forward to having lots of good things to eat. —Elizabeth Gleed, Room 110.

—R—

Miss May's 4B and 4A Class will present songs, readings, and a Bible response in their Assembly Program next Friday morning.

—R—

Today, Thurs. Jan. 13 is the date for our P.T.A. school luncheons. Special lunch dishes have been prepared and are on sale from 11:30 to 1:00. This is one way our Parent-Teacher organization has for raising funds that are needed for its work here in our school.

—R—

Next Thursday, Jan. 20, at 2:15 our regular monthly P.T.A. meeting will be held. Rev. W. E. White, pastor of Clair Chapel Methodist Church, will give opening prayer; our 6th Grade Chorus will sing under the direction of Mrs. Betson; Mr. Robert Darrow, Prin. of Barrett, will speak on "Our South Side School Relations". Our hostesses will be Mrs. James Fogle, Mrs. Charles Moore, Mrs. Paul Kazee and Mrs. Marcella Heiser. Mrs. Benjamin Smathers and Mrs. Charles Matheny will have charge of the Nursery.

—R—

Two of Reeb's 6th Grade boys have their own movie projectors and are very much interested in this hobby. They are Leon Garnes and Eugene Jenkins. These boys have just made themselves Home Movie Screens in their Art class. They decorated the frame and silvered the screen.

—R—

The following pupils have had their work placed on display in our exhibit case: Sondra Bray, Stanley McWilliams, Margaret Albert, and Carole Robinson.

—R—

Don't forget that we will be pleased to have your Sales Tax Stamps so that we may increase our collection. We are constantly investing money that is earned by our pupils so that our work at Reeb may be the best. Any help that you are in position to give will be appreciated. Just call Ga 1326 and we will arrange to call for your stamps.

—R—

Reeb is now in the process of purchasing a Public Address system which may be used either separately or in connection with our motion picture projector. We have already purchased a part of this outfit, which will be completed when money is available.

Pop Corn Crispettes, wrapped in a sanitary waxed paper, will be available to our neighborhood beginning at the close of school Friday, Jan. 14. Reeb Avenue School pupils will be carrying official sales blanks for your orders. Please do NOT pay in advance; wait until time of delivery which will be Tuesday, Wednesday, or Thursday, Jan. 18th, 19th, or 20th. We are happy to be able to sell this high-grade confection to our community in order that our school fund may be ample to provide for additional school equipment. Should you have questions or suggestions or criticisms; please call GA 1326.

—R—

Registration of new pupils for Reeb's kindergarten and first grade is progressing. If your child has never been in school, and will be 5 on or before next May 1st, we will be mighty glad to have him start in our kindergarten. Bring your child in to register him or her and get the official blank for your physician to sign showing the vaccination against smallpox and immunization against diphtheria has been taken care of satisfactorily.

If your child will be 6 on or before May 1st, whether he has ever attended kindergarten or not, he must be registered for work in the first grade.

Miss Mary Malin, Reeb's school nurse, is in our clinic every Monday afternoon from 1:15 to 3:15 and every Wednesday morning from 9:00 to 12:00. Let's take care of these important matters right away in order to avoid the rush of business on Monday, Jan. 31st, the opening day of the second term. Mr. Callahan will be pleased to assist in any phase of this work. Don't hesitate to call him at GA 1326.

A Job Where You Want It

Ohioans who wish to check on job opportunities in any one of the other forty-seven states or in the U. S. territories may do so by contacting the nearest local office of the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation Frank J. Collopy, BUC administrator, said today.

Pointing out that the BUC's Central Office in Columbus handles on the average of 50 requests a week relative to out-of-state job openings, Collopy said that it generally takes only seven to ten days to obtain specific information on such openings once an applicant has contacted a local office.

Interchange of nation-wide job information is the product of reciprocal arrangements between Ohio, the other states, and Alaska, Puerto Rico and Hawaii. The interchange is made possible thru the state-wide job inventory which is prepared in each state and territory. Ohio maintains a complete up-to-date file of all such inventories.

Each inventory lists current job openings throughout the state or territory concerned, the communities in which those openings are available, the salaries offered, qualifications required and other pertinent information. For the most part, the inventories are issued once every two weeks.

The various states give their inventories the widest possible circulation in an effort to fill employers' needs for hard-to-find specialists. In Ohio the inventory is used extensively to promote the movement of workers from labor surplus to shortage areas.

When an Ohioan walks into the BUC local office in his community and indicates his interest in out-of-state employment, the local office immediately queries the Central Office in Columbus for information as to job opportunities for which the applicant may be fitted.

The Central Office checks the inventory of the state or territory in which the applicant is interested and reports back to the local office. From there on in the local office deals directly with the Employment Security agency is the out-of-state community involved. The Ohio procedure for checking on out-of-state jobs is pretty generally followed in other states.

Enduring Hardness

Which came first: the hen or the egg? These days a lot of people are trying to figure out whether inflation forced wages up or wages forced inflation up. Maybe I'll write an article on that some day, and some of my friends will have suggestions on the subject. But at present, I'm mentioning it merely as one of the complexities of our day.

The politicians are planning to take care of us from the cradle to the grave, giving us freedom from worry and want. I ask, What kind of people will we be when we get all these things? Many times I have seen the rich man's son go to the dogs while poor boys like Henry Kaiser and Henry Ford, rising to unexcelled heights of courage and leadership, have made America the undisputed leader in producing the things that the world wants and that are nice to have. Then I remember that our forefathers carved this nation out of a wilderness, using plenty of brain and brawn.

Can it be possible that everything will be made so easy for us that we will get as lazy as the man my mother used to tell about who was too lazy to live? One day the neighborhood farmers got together and decided they would give him a scare. They went to his house, got him in a cab, and told him they were going to bury him alive. He was too lazy to offer any resistance. On the way they met a farmer who was not in on the deal. They told him what they were going to do. He said, "I'll donate a bushel of corn. Surely between us we can keep him alive." The lazy man, hearing the conversation, stuck his head out of the window and asked, "Is that corn shelled?" On learning it wasn't shelled, he was heard to drawl, "I guess you might as well drive on."

My point is that it takes exercise to build muscle. I have a four-year-old grandson who tries to lift my 250 pounds. If he keeps on tearing around and trying, he probably will succeed some day. It takes some of the tight places in life to make men out of us. The moment we cease to exercise we begin to decay. That's what happened to nations like Egypt and to the Roman Empire. I am not a yen for hard up; I'm not like the man who was hitting himself on the head because it felt so good when he quit. But in many of the hard places I have been through, I have learned lessons that were worth it all, and today I am stronger for having been through them.

It would help a lot if we recognized that life's hard spots are not necessarily misfortunes. I am convinced that a loving, heavenly Father who wants to bless sometimes withhold the blessing for a while to test our faith, to get us to exercise our faith muscles, so they may grow stronger.

We have a metal called Hatfield manganese steel, which work hardens. It is strong and tough. You can bend it and hammer it, but the more you hammer it the harder it gets. So it can be with you and me. After going through the work-hardening process it is possible to get real enjoyment from solving tough problems. Let's tackle our difficulties and overcome them, rather than trying to dodge them. And let's remember that we need never attempt life's tasks alone, since Christ's help is always available to us.

Huge Waste Of Paper Causes Shortages

With American newspapers having a difficult time to secure paper at high cost, resulting in increases of subscriptions in many cases, it comes with a shock the huge amount of paper used by the New Deal government along with more office space and employees.

The Hoover commission on reorganization of the executive branch of the government has informed the taxpayers that one billion 200 million dollars of their money goes every year toward the making and keeping of records by the New Deal. This is a paper work degenerated into a mania.

As the commission recognizes some records are necessary to the formed and efficient operation of government, but the requirement cannot possibly justify the use of more than 100 record centers, of space equal to six buildings the size of the Pentagon. The maintenance cost for one four-drawer filing cabinet is put at $29 each year. If the records have to be kept (and the commission says 50 per cent of them could be destroyed without loss to anybody) the place to do it was in cardboard boxes kept in low rental storage centers at less than 1/13 of the present cost.

The astonishing amount of floor space allowed to this unproductive pastime of assembling records recalls the recent finding of the Tax Foundation that the federal government leases or holds title of 340,500,00 square feet of office space, equivalent to 170 Empire State buildings.

The Empire State stabs 102 stories into the sky—more than a quarter of a mile—and the Tax Foundation invites the citizens to imagine 170 of them stacked one on another. In New York the New York City occupies a mere 10 million square feet of space, and in Washington, third behind Ohio, it has almost 4 million.

The presence of millions of unnecessary records and of hundreds of thousands of bureaucrats compiling them accounts for the vast and costly empire. No bit of paper is too insignificant to be unexpended, except perhaps such samples as are purchased by Communist agents to study the New Deal for transmittal to Russia.

The Hoover commission has recognized that problem by proposing that severe penalties be specified for the removal by government employes of any record without permission.

The bureaucrats have gone mad on Questionaires and Records, which are up much valuable paper.

The mailing of forms, questionaires, etc., is largely responsible for the recent increase in postage rates.

RUSSIANS HIDING BEHIND THE IRON CURTAIN

For a long time the United States has been struggling to make the Marshall Plan WIN. The recent Municipal election in the Western sector of Berlin told many exactly the Russians have for control of the German capital. Nearly 93 per cent of the ballots eligible to vote in the Western sector of the beleaguered city went to the polls and voted against the Communist tyrants. The Russians ordered all persons employed in the Russian zone to work on Sunday. But the labor unions pulled the best strike of the year and refused to obey the Russians. Practically all the labor union members took time off and went to the polls to vote.

Russia is a cantankerous beast of a Nation—and everybody in the United States seems to know that that's what is the trouble with the old bear. Maybe patience is a virtue after all, inasmuch as Russia is being pushed behind the Iron Curtain—which it thought would surround non-Communist throughout Europe.

MME. CHIANG

Don't fool yourself about Madame Chiang getting the cold shoulder in Washington. This lady is a graduate of one of America's greatest educational institutions. Our National Government has too many irons in the fire to speculate on remedying the conditions in China—and nobody knows that better than Madame Chiang. Already she has laid the story of her people before Secretary of State Marshall, in whose home she has been a guest. The welcome on the door mat that cheers her every time she calls on the President of the United States.

Nobody denies the fact that she is the leading champion in China in her efforts to drive the Communists out of her beloved land. So just be patient and watch her GROW. Of course everyone says: 'She is awfully rich.' Is that a handicap? But don't overlook the fact that she is very brilliant—one of the best politicians in skirts anywhere in the World.

A starch factory which extracts 85 per cent of the available starch in potatoes is considered to be relatively efficient.

"Eleven Cent Cotton, Forty Cent Meat"
By Bob Miller

BIRTH OF A SONG

From ASCAP Files
By Joseph R. Fliesler and Paul Carruth

BOB MILLER was born in rural Memphis, Tenn., in the heart of the hill billy country. It was not until he was ten that his talent for music was discovered.

Orphaned at an early age, he ran away at thirteen, large for his years, made his way as a piano player, did odd jobs — and went back to Memphis.

Relatives and friends furnished help for him to finish his education at the Southern Conservatory of Music in Memphis, and later at the Chicago Conservatory of Music.

Bob played frequent theatrical engagements, and even tried the prize ring to help finance himself. But the music of the hills kept coming to his mind.

He began to popularize the hill billy songs, and with the aid of a little orchestra he formed, made many recordings, including numbers of his own composition.

He is a prolific composer and arranger, and broadcasts frequently. His own favorite composer is Stephen Foster, whom, he says, the hill billies adore.

Bob Miller's hill billy music is generally topical, and bandits and heroes are celebrated alike, as their deeds are recorded.

Bob Miller is a member of the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers, and his hill billy melodies are available to all licensed establishments.

Little Red Riding Hood To Be Presented

A highlight of the current series of performances given by the Community Junior Theater under the auspices of the Junior League of Columbus is the attraction which comes to the Palace Theater on Saturday morning, January 15th at 9:30 a.m. It is the beloved children's tale "Little Red Riding Hood", a play by Charlotte Chorpenning given by the students of Denison University. Under the supervision of Prof. Edward A. Wright, chairman of the dept. of Theater Arts and directed by the very capable Robert Merriman, the Denison University Children's Theater was organized this fall as a part of Prof. Wright's over-all program for extending the educational theater to a larger group in Central Ohio. The theater arts program at Denison has already attracted attention throughout the state for its summer theater productions in Granville. He was ably assisted by Robert Merriman who is now a student at Denison as well as a member of the staff of the dept. of Theater Arts. Mr. Merriman, who is 31, has had previous professional experience in the well known Clare Tree Major productions and for the past few seasons since he was released from military service has been conducting his own theatricals for children.

Last September seven students enrolled in the new course in Children's Theater. Rehearsals for "Little Red Riding Hood" comprised the early part of the class period and was followed by the designing and making of the scenery and costumes.

Starting December 1st and continuing each regular class period until Christmas vacation the class gave performances in the Granville Opera House under the auspices of the Central Ohio branch of the American Association of University Women for children of the elementary grades for most of the schools in Licking County outside of Newark, playing to more than 2000 paid admissions. The play goes on the road for the first time when it appears in Columbus Jan. 15th.

The play includes in the cast Dixie Campbell as the Grandmother, Charles Lundquist as the Young Wolf and Martha Prater as Little Red Riding Hood. Others in the cast are Sylvia Straton, Old Wolf; Maude O'Brien, Mother; Richard Weir, Nicholas and David Judy, Peter the woodsman.

Admission to the single performance of "Little Red Riding Hood" can be obtained for 25c at Southside Y, Fountain Drug, Craven's Drug or downtown at the Palace Theater boxoffice the day of the show. The season tickets for the remaining five productions of the series are still available for just $1.00. The new curtain time for the performance is 9:30 a.m., a half-hour earlier than usual.

Walt Disney In Columbus

Walt Disney, famous Hollywood celebrity best-known as the creator of "Mickey Mouse", will come to Columbus Monday, January 17, as a guest of the Columbus Citizen, to aid the Franklin County "March of Dimes" Polio Fund campaign.

A dinner honoring Mr. Disney will be held at the Deshler-Wallick Hotel that night, with all proceeds above cost going to the fund which provides for the care and treatment of local polio victims. Tickets are $10. each, and advance reservations are to be made with the Columbus Chamber of Commerce which is arranging the informal dinner.

In addition, all those attending will receive engraved invitations to be Mr. Disney's personal guests at the opening of his latest picture, "So Dear to My Heart", on January 21 at the RKO Palace. Mr. Disney will bring with him to Columbus the cast of characters in that picture, and they also will be introduced to the banquet audience.

Valparaiso University Guild Meets

The second regular meeting of the Valparaiso University Guild will be held at Concordia Lutheran Church 45 S. Brinker Ave., at 8 p.m., January 18. Speaker of the evening will be Mr. Harold Tinapis, who will talk on Palestine.

Six new members will be received at this meeting. They are Mrs. B. W. Fannin, Mrs. H. D. French, Mrs. Wm. E. Lindaman, Mrs. LeRoy O'Toole, Mrs. W. A. Suker, and Mrs. Claude J. Wood.

The following committee is in charge of refreshments: Mrs. Arthur Wilt, Mrs. R. Faust, Mrs. Edgar E. Easterly, Mrs. Wilbert H. Werling, Miss Flora Wolpert, Mrs. G. M. Fruehwald, Mrs. Frank Neumyer, Miss Emma Jackson Mrs. Wesley James, Miss Helen Stine, Mrs. E. Strong, Mrs. Frank Sherman, and Mrs. Joseph Straub.

"Station West" At Southland Theater

Dick Powell and Jane Greer are the spirited stars of "Station West," thrilling suspense drama, set in early Wyoming now playing at the Southland Theater. Powell plays a special Army investigator in the action-packed film.

Completing the outstanding dual bill now showing at the Southland is "Kiss the Blood Off My Hands," starring Burt Lancaster and Joan Fontaine. Lancaster plays the role of a maladjusted Canadian war veteran who becomes enmeshed in a London murder.

Sunday, "A Song is Born," rollicking new Technicolor musical comedy starring the inimitable Danny Kaye, will open a three-day stay at Southland. "Strawberry Roan," rootin' tootin' Western filmed in color, starring the cowboy favorite Gene Autry, will be co-featured.

"The Gay Ranchero" At Ideal Theater

The Ideal Theater this Sunday and Monday is showing "The Gay Ranchero," another of the well loved Roy Rodgers films. Filmed in beautiful trucolor with all the Rogers gang very much present and a dash of Spanish sauce added in the form of Tito Guizar and Estelita Rodirquez it is a picture for all the family. The co-feature is the all time stage laugh favorite "Helza-Poppin", starring Olson and Johnson, Mischa Auer and Martha Raye. A cartoon completes the bill.

Russell Theater Shows Two Guys From Texas

This Sunday and Monday The Russell Theater is showing "Two Guys From Texas". This movie deals with a couple of out-of-work nightclub entertainers who are stranded on a Texas dude ranch. With Dennis Morgan and Jack Carson in the title roles it is bound to be a tunefully hilarious movie complete with the best of songs and humor. Penny Edwards makes her first screen appearance in this movie and delights the movie-goers with her singing of "Every Day I Love You Just a Little Bit More." The co-feature is "Bodyguard" starring Lawrence Tierney and Priscilla Lane. The play-bill is completed with the News and a cartoon.

Columbia Presents The Three Musketeers

The Columbia Theater is presenting this Sunday, Monday and Tuesday the famous story of "The Three Musketeers." Gene Kelly is in the starring role of D'Artagnan with Van Heflin as Athos and Vincent Price as Richelieu. Lady De Winter is portrayed by beautiful Lana Turner. For all who love beautiful background picture is a must. Don't miss it and thrilling adventure, this for a real evening of enjoyment.

Business After Pleasure

Just in Case

The old lady passing the insane asylum stopped an approaching inmate and said: "Can you tell me the time?"

The cloistered brother took out a foot rule, then got out a slide rule and a compass and a T-square. After fooling with them for about five minutes, he said, "It's just four o'clock."

"Wonderful," says the nice old lady, "but what do you do if it's raining and you can't measure the shadow?

"Oh," shrugged the inmate, "in that case, I have to look at my watch."

Period Pieces of Handmade American Glassware For Table Settings

Your tableware should blend with your home furnishings. Whether your decorating theme is period or modern, you'll find plenty of handmade American glassware that will fit your mode of living, your style of furnishings, and your budget, too.

If you have provincial furnishings, give some thought to the pressed ware patterns, such as the first goblet illustrated. They have a sturdiness of line which will accentuate the theme you convey in your decorations.

The ever popular 18th Century period calls for a mood of elegance and grace, such as the delicately etched goblet seen in the second illustration.

For homes decorated in the post-Revolutionary and Regency styles, select glassware which clings most closely to classic simplicity like the third goblet pictured.

If yours is a love of the modern, you'll find innumerable patterns of glassware to your taste. The fourth one shown is just one example.

No matter what period you choose, select a pattern which is wrought by hand by American craftsmen, and you can be assured of long lasting quality and true, exquisite beauty.

DID you ever try looking back 34 years? We tried it. We rolled back the years.

The game we were thinking of took place on October 9, 1914. Dick Rudolph was facing Chief Bender, one of the great pitchers of all time. Rudolph was good—but he was no Chief Bender. But the underrated Boston began hammering Bender. And the smart, cool Rudolph tied up the hard-hitting Athletics. Rudolph beat Bender 7 to 1 in that opening game. This was a hard jolt to Athletic fans.

Not only that, but Hank Gowdy suddenly broke loose and began hitting like a combination of Dickey, Cochrane and Hartnett. As I recall it Gowdy hit .545 in that series. He took Connie Mack's crack pitchers in turn and flayed them.

HARTNETT

The Braves looked to be the best ball club you ever saw. I still recall the fine play of Johnny Evers and Rabbit Maranville at second and short. The overlooked Brave infield made the great Athletic infield look second rate.

That was a long spell back—1914. The Germans had been stopped at the Marne—but they were still close to Paris. The First World War was just getting up steam. I doubt that many of those playing in the 1948 series were even born at that far off date.

We had a great bunch of baseball writers—Ring Lardner, Hughey Fullerton, Damon Runyon, Boze Bulger, Charley Dryden, one of the greatest, Bunk MacBeth, on and on.

Rudolph was at his peak in this first game. He was the Johnny Sain of his time. He won 27 games that 1914 year, so you can compare him with Sain. He pitched and won two games in that 1914 series.

I saw Dick only a short while ago. He was a little bald, but he still looked in condition to pitch a few innings. I've known few brainier pitchers than Rudolph, few who had cooler nerves or control.

What has become of control? Doesn't the plate mean anything any more to 95 per cent of all pitchers?

Important Events of 1914

What else happened in 1914? Babe Ruth was just breaking in. The Babe was a rookie. Bobby Jones was only 12 years old. Ty Cobb was in his prime. Jack Dempsey was five years away from Willard and Toledo. Jack was a stringy kid of 19, weighing 165 pounds.

It was five years away from the start of sport's golden age. Man o' War hadn't been born. No one had ever heard of Red Grange, or Tilden, or Sande.

That year will be remembered as the start of World War I. But in baseball it is remembered as the year the miracle Braves accomplished the greatest feat baseball has ever known—the feat of beating the Mackmen four straight, and forcing Connie Mack to disband, by sale, the greatest ball club he has ever managed.

The Braves of 1914 were only a fair ball club. They were 90 per cent pitching and spirit.

Johnny Evers and Rabbit Maranville had greater fighting spirit on a ball field than any two men I've ever known—barring one—a fellow known as Ty Cobb. And I'll put Pepper Martin up with Cobb.

The only difference is that Cobb and Martin were physically equipped to handle the job while Evers and Maranville had to bank on spirit—head and heart.

Best Rookie of 1948

Richie Ashburn of the Phillies has been voted the best rookie of the year. There have been several complaints over this decision from other centers, including the Red Sox, who like their own Billy Goodman.

Whether or not he is the best rookie, I can tell you who is the most useful. His name is Alvan Dark of the Braves. Dark has done more for the Braves than any two rookies have done for other clubs. Shortstop weakness hurt them badly a year ago.

This spring in Florida, Billy Southworth told a bunch of writers that Dark was the key man in his club. "I feel pretty sure he will make good. I know Eddie Stanky will help him a lot," Billy said. "Dark's an amazing all-around athlete."

I ran into Bernie Moore, Dark's old coach at L. S. U. Bernie is now the southeastern football commissioner.

"I don't think I have ever seen as fine an all around star as Alvan Dark," Bernie said. "He was one of the best football players that ever came to L. S. U., and we've had our share, including Tittle of the Baltimore Colts.

The earlier industrial applications of vacuum technique were in the production of carbon filament incandescent lamps.

JUST A LITTLE BUMPY—

President Truman is starting off the New Year very well with Congress. Things are a little bumpy, but they will improve. The new Congress is not enthusiastic over the request of the President for authority to send military aid to certain European countries. Everybody, including Congress, is anxious to cut down on all the programs that call for arms and troops from the United States. The worst of it is Latin America isn't behaving at all—the trouble is that the Latin American Nations are having national and international troubles of their own.

The President is in favor of home rule for the District of Columbia and naturally he finds that the selection of Congressman John L. McMillan of South Carolina as Chairman of the House District Committee means opposition to the President. After having waited nearly 75 years for recognition the residents of the District ought to rule their own political dominion.

The Republicans in Congress are not enjoying their demotions to second place. But Senators Taft, Vandenburg and the recent Speaker in the House, Joe Martin, and a few other recognized leaders of the 80th Congress are still in charge of the Republican minority. What of the future? Only time will tell. But no matter what your politics may be, the chances are that you will disagree with a good deal of the foreign policies of the United States, because our Nation is carrying the burden that belongs to the United Nations. Is it possible that the U.N. is slipping out from under?

Anyhow, let us hope that the President will have good luck and good support in his program to bring about Peace during his present term of office.

BUSINESS CONDITIONS

Sales have declined in recent weeks in department stores and at food counters and in retail establishments of all kinds. Production has dropped off in textiles, rubber products, and believe it or not, tobacco products. Factory production has been on a pretty steady basis since 1946, up to the present time.

What about your taxes? The outlook is that taxes will not be lowered this year. The reason is the high cost of the program to "make Democracy safe" in all parts of the World.

Don't stop whistling if that will keep your courage up. That's about the only formula that seems to be in tune.

THE WORST AND THE BEST

Having stepped out in front and looked at the new Congress it is easy to report a great similarity between the 80th, which President Truman called "the worst," and the 81st Congress which promises to make a good record. It was the 80th Congress that took the first steps to unify the armed services, preparing for greater defenses during the postwar lapses. As a matter of fact, the 80th Congress was an ordinary session, and the 81st Congress is likely to be the same.

Just sit and wait and watch and see what happens. Above all else, World Peace is the goal of the United Nations, but the 80th Congress carried most of the burden for most of the World Organizations.

One editorial states the situation: "We now hope Mr. Truman in his new strength will find new wisdom and that he will not deem it necessary to play a narrow political game in carrying out his program, and that he will have the cooperation of good men on both sides of the aisles in both Houses. At the very best, difficult years lie ahead for this Administration, this country and its people."

CIVIL RIGHTS LEGISLATION

That's a very interesting headline at the top of this article. It has been in constant use ever since the Civil War. But the row between the North and South still goes on. The issues involve the right of certain classes of American citizens to vote and it attacks the economic condition existing between the whites and the blacks in Southern States. There will be a lot of days and weeks lost in rehearsing the same old speeches that reveal the differences in American Democracy in the North and the South. But mark this prediction. When the 81st Congress comes to an end, the Civil Rights discussions will remain unsettled and unimproved.

As Pegler Sees It

By Westbrook Pegler
Released by WNU Features.

THE power of the invisible government which Felix Frankfurter's cult set up within the government of the United States after he had boldly wangled his own appointment to the supreme court is strongly suggested by information which was revealed this summer.

It has been known for years, of course, that Frankfurter's tricky Harvard law proteges were spotted in influential places in practically all of the experimental radical bureaus of the New Deal.

There were so many of them and they were so impudent and flippant in tossing around the rights and aspirations of the American people that their existence as a distinct clique or corps was commonly appreciated. In those early days, Gen. Hugh Johnson amiably referred to them as Frankfurter's Happy Hot Dogs. If he had lived, Johnson probably would be less tolerant of their mischief today.

PEGLER

He was, first and last, a patriot, although he had a juvenile streak which moved him to go traipsing after the pied piper who was going to cure everything by conquering fear and who flattered him by selecting him to administer the Fascist NRA.

But neither did the rest of the people nor even the sourest skeptics in Washington quite appreciate the sinister nature of Frankfurter's silent process of penetration.

We learned on authority early this summer in the memoirs of Harold Ickes that Frankfurter did not wait for distinction to come to him but went campaigning for a job on the supreme court in a time when political and ideological prejudices were to be substituted more and more for law. HIS REPUTATION WAS SYNTHETIC AND ALMOST ENTIRELY THE RESULT OF PUBLICITY AND POSTURING ON NOISY ISSUES.

Benefit of Harvard

Long ago, Theodore Roosevelt had called him to time charging him with [illegible] close material truth in the Bisbee deportation case. He had a great claque at Harvard and he got the benefit of Harvard's ancient prestige in a day before that prestige had been turned into sordid notoriety by the disclosures of the Thomas committee on un-American activities.

Actually, Frankfurter was coarse, mysterious and superficial, and I have interviewed one former member of his class who would say that he taught more lawyer-craft than law. He would say so if he had to. But, for the time being, he would prefer not to because he is a government employee and, with good ground, afraid that he would be fired for antagonizing Frankfurter's hidden power.

Ickes wrote that he learned, on the inside of the seething conspiracy which Roosevelt substituted for government, that Frankfurter was lobbying Roosevelt for a job on the supreme court. There was no false modesty in him. He wanted that place and the power that went with it.

And, Ickes further disclosed, it was Frankfurter who chose for secretary of war, and put him over, Henry L. Stimson, Frankfurter's old boss in the U. S. attorney's office in New York. Mr. Stimson was an amenable old man who went along with the great plan to demolish Hitler and save Stalin and Russia before the United States tackled the only enemy which had attacked the United States, Japan.

Planted as Advisor

Alger Hiss was one of Frankfurter's happy hot dogs from Harvard law school. He is a precocious study-boy with the supersonic intellect who was too precious to be left out in the rain to catch cold in the war. He rose to such power in the state department that when the doddering and dying Roosevelt went to Yalta in February, 1945, to sign over the future of Europe and Asia and probably of the United States to the Kremlin, Hiss was at his side.

Hiss was only 40 years old then and as nimble and lithe a physical specimen as you would be likely to find at his age and still more nimble and tricky in his mind. His testimony before the Thomas committee discloses a crafty, scheming intelligence, trained to parry and give an impression of candor and truth to the gullible layman who is used to open dealing.

Not only was Hiss chosen to go to Yalta as state department adviser to the dying President of the United States, but later he was planted at San Francisco for the opening of the mournful career of the United Nations.

The commercial shipment of tobacco from America to Europe started in 1531.

China's Chance And America's Challenge

"Russia has all but won the war in the Pacific," declared Congressman Walter H. Judd of Minnesota in a speech at the National Association of Manufacturer's Convention this month.

"Suppose China comes under Communist rule, as she will without vigorous help from us quickly," he said, "Russia will have satellites and security all along her Asiatic frontier, and be in far better position to take over more countries in Europe without risking a two front war."

Democracy is on the defensive against Communism he continued, but our one hope is to develop "our utmost strength and skill in the political and ideological fields. We will win only if we can out-think, out-work, out-sacrifice and outlast those whose world is founded on violence and lies."

Cutting through the confusion the Chinese crisis, Congressman of public opinion surrounding Judd has clearly outlined the issues and the share of responsibility we in the United States must assume.

Simultaneously pioneering a new policy in China is Dr. Chen Li-fu, Vice President of the National [illegible]ment. The United Press [illegible]ndent in Nanking recently [illegible]ported Dr. Chen as saying that Chinese leaders will accept "any workable formula the Government and people of the U. S. may decide is necessary to preserve "human freedom" in Asia.

Writing in the popular British weekly, "Everybodys," Dr. Chen also said, "I know there have been many mistakes in the operation of the national government. I have seen a number of changes in myself which must take place. But through such a program of change at the heart of China, the situation may yet be saved."

This opens the way for America to accept the challange which Congressman Judd makes of offering to China the ideological training and leadership which is necessary to save democracy in Asia.

MID WEST

The Central States seem to revolve around Chicago and that city as well as Cleveland, Detroit, Milwaukee, Omaha, Kansas City —and the Dakotas and Utah, and other States, are apparently satisfied over their own conditions. Colorado is telling the World that it has plenty of water and power available for all agricultural and industrial needs and it invites the World to "come and see us and have a good time." Life goes on, "when the wheels of daily life are grinding soft and low."

Maybe the St. Lawrence waterway program will be given the green light within the next few months. We oldsters prophesied that development would go thru years and years ago. Not being a prophet this correspondent is not convinced that this great step forward will be approved by legislation in this Congress. The railroads defeated the starting of the St. Lawrence waterway, and now the railroads are on the downhill slide.

RENT CONTROL

Hardly a week goes by but what there is an application for increased prices for living quarters in the National Capital. It costs close to a hundred dollars a month for a two-room apartment with a kitchenette and dinette in Washington. The large family that can afford it is apt to pay nearly $200 a month for a first-class apartment. Rent prices are whittled down between $25 and $50 a month for some families of small means.

DAM IT

The giant Hungry Horse Dam in the Flat Head Valley of Montana is a beehive for 4000 workers who are to build the $100,000,000 dam. The Federal Bureau of Reclamation says it will be the fourth largest concrete dam and the fifth highest in the World. It will be 520 feet high, 2,100 long with an arch of 1,200 feet. It will provide electric power and cost $100,000,000.

Hungry Dam will provide an important addition to the Nation's agriculture and water resources.

PATCHING UP A NEW LABOR LAW

The new Democratic Congress seems to be anxious to continue laws to regulate labor unions and employers. But they aren't going to get away from the name of the present law which is the brain-child of Senator Taft and Congressman Hartley. The re-enactment of the Wagner Act is not probable. In all likelihood, there will be a merging of the best provisions of the existing laws. It is safe to predict that there will be a great falling off in the number of big strikes, from now on. Why? Because employers and union workers are tired of riots. Don't forget that in both Houses of Congress there are enough Members right now who voted for the Taft-Hartley Act to block its repeal.

South Wins Two

CENTRAL, 55

Paul Katterhenrich, who played most of South's game with LInden last Friday only because one of the regulars fouled out, and then almost turned out to be the hero, impressed his coach "Pug" Hood so much that Paul was inserted as a starter at Central last Tuesday night. This major move paid off like a charm, for it was Katterhenrich who featured the flashiest upset of the 1948-49 season— a startling 57-55 triumph over the highly-rated previously unbeaten Pirates.

The capacity-plus audience was treated to a very well-played ball game, which, at times, bristled with brilliance. And the underdog, Bulldogs did the most shining. South was fully aware of Central's pre-season rating and pre-game record (8-0), and the Blue & Gray's determination to upset mighty Central was quite apparent from start to finish. Coach Hood had mapped out a defense to throttle Central's high-scoring Dave Caldwell and Ralph Readout, and left everything else to his boys. They responded nobly.

At least two men, and oft-times three, kept a close tab on Caldwell, holding him goal-less throughout the first half. And South's Big 3 defense of Paul Ebert, Harry Nicholson and Katterhenrich was too tall for either Caldwell or Readout to get over or around.

Katterhenrich's 13 points would have been sufficient as his contribution, but it was his tireless and indispensable work under both bankboards for the entire 32 minutes which proved to be Central's chief downfall. And this all-out display of well-applied energy seemed to inspire his mates to top-flight performances, too.

Height Helped South

South had a distinct height advantage, and used it, forcing Central to take long set shots or hurried close-in shots, the latter department proving another Central failing. South's offense, especially in the first half, reached a red-hot stage. Midway in the second quarter, Central led 24-23, but South slipped in 11 consecutive points in two minutes, including four field goals in four shots. It was this spurt, incidentally, which put the Pirates in a rut from which they never fully recuperated.

In the first period, Central took a 10-6 lead, but South put on its first of three spurts to take over, 16-10, mainly on Ebert's fancy shooting. With a couple minutes to go before halftime, the winners looked like "shoo-ins" with a 34-24 margin, but Central never gave up and South led at halftime, 31-29. The Buccaneers came back with a rush and tied it up at 41 late in the third period, the two teams really went at it from there on in, the lead changing ownership nine times.

The score was tied at 53 with three minutes remaining, when Katterhenrich laid in the bucket which gave South a lead which stuck. A minute later, Bill Camp, on a fast break, pushed one in to wrap it up. The best Central could do in the final desperation 50 seconds was a hat-in fielder in four attempts.

Central's reserves got a surprise, too. Paced by Bob Strawser's 15 and Bobby Nolan's 11, the South Puppies plastered a 45-33 defeat on the Central seconds. South made 17 of 24 free throws and was just as hot in shooting from the field

SOUTH, 70;
DAYTON, 49

South's towering pivot man, Harry Nicholson, went on a scoring spree Friday night, swishing the nets for 27 points as the Bulldogs sent a visiting Dayton Roosevelt team home on the short end of a 70 to 49 decision.

Nicholson, who's rebound work was just as deadly as his shooting, played little more than half the game but managed to take scoring honors by a good margin. At the half he had 18 markers while the visitors entire team had tallied only 16.

It was South's overall height which really made the difference. The out-of-towners had a deadly shooting club but just didn't get enough chance to shoot. After leading 12 to 8 at the end of the first canto, the Bulldogs maintained a 10-point lead and pulled way out in front with a 27-point barrage in the last period.

Behind Nicholson in the scoring column were Paul Ebert with 13 and Frank Zubovich with 12. Forest Murry and Nick Nicholas led the visitors with 13 and 10, respectively.

In the prelim, Red Trego's improving Puppies added another win by downing the little Teddies—28 to 22. Bob Nolan, five-by-five forward, led the way with 16 points.

Spanish And Business New Courses At Evening High School

by Ken W. Povenmire

The curriculum of the Columbus Evening School now includes three courses in Spanish, and students wishing to speak the language will find classes in Beginning, Intermediate, and Advanced Spanish available. College entrance requirements in a foreign language can now be obtained in the school.

A course in Business Principles has also been instituted for students desiring advanced work in the commercial field, and Principal John R. Trace stated that 12th grade Physics can be started at the mid-year. Courses also will be offered in Reading, and Arithmetic for those who need this type of work. The regular curriculum of the school includes work in English, Journalism, Art, Science, Mathematics, Public Speaking, Social Studies, Commercial Subjects, and Spanish.

Principal John R. Trace has requested that students bring a record of previous High School work, if they are entering for the first time, or if working for a diploma, and have not filed with the school a record of their former studies. Registration fees for residents of Columbus are four dollars for one class period, five dollars for two or three classes, and seven dollars for four class periods. The fees for non-residents are five dollars for each one-period class.

Students may register Thursday evening, January 27, and Monday evening, January 31, from 6:30 p.m. until 9:00 p.m. The Columbus Evening School is in the Central High School Building.

I know a wife who never nags. She cuts the grass, spades the garden, tends the furnace, cleans the basement, washes the car, shovels snow and the last I heard she was taking a course in carpentry. Don't crowd, boys, she has no sister.

Maeder - Quint In New Location

Arthur H. Maeder, proprietor of the Maeder funeral home formerly located at 671 S. High St. at this time wishes to announce that the firm has moved to its new location at 1088 S. High St. between Thurman & Deshler Ave. The new firm will be known as the Maeder-Quint Funeral Home. The large brick residence recently acquired by John F. Quint, Jr., oldest son of John F. Quint, Sr., who operates the John Quint & Sons Funeral Home at 1177 W. 5th Ave., corner of Doten. Work was started this week on the rearranging of this large brick residence into a beautiful home for funerals, which is expected to be completed in about 15 days. The new firm has 100 ft. frontage on S. High St. by 187 ft. deep to S. Pearl St. and will give ample parking facilities. This was the former residence of Lang Schenck one of the five Schenck brothers, owners of the Columbus Packing Co., now a branch of Armour & Co.

Arthur H. Maeder & Co. who succeeded the old firm of Maeder Bros. & Sehitzky established 1870 at 24 W. Main St. later at 75 E. Main St. until 1931 when Arthur H. Maeder acquired the business and moved into the Born residence at 671 S. High St. which has been sold to the Grange Mutual Casualty Co. Mr. Maeder has named John F. Quint, Jr. as the manager of this new firm and is a graduate of Aquinas College, Cleveland College of Embalming and attended Ohio State University. He is licensed both as a funeral director and embalmer. He has been associated with his father in the John Quint & Sons funeral home and is still associated with his father and brothers. The new location will be used also by John Quint & Sons. The remodeling will not interfere with the rendering of a funeral service anywhere at any time.

Mr. And Mrs. Koch At Inauguration

Mr. and Mrs. George Koch left Tuesday for Washington, D. C., to attend the inauguration of Harry S. Truman. They will make the trip via rail and will be equipped with reserved seats which will enable them to better witness the inaugural parade as it passes down Pennsylvania Ave.

While in Washington, they plan on visiting friends there and also in Baltimore, Md., and other points in the Chesapeake Bay area.

Mr. Koch at present is General Manager of the Handley Plumbing Co. During World War I he was in Washington and served as sanitary engineer during construction of several government buildings, being master mechanic for one of Columbus' largest plumbing organizations.

After their visit in the East, they plan on returning to Columbus next Tuesday or Wednesday.

Mr. Koch is a brother of Frank E. "Dude Ranch" Koch of Allenville, Mich., and 1308 So. 4th St., Columbus, O.

Stork Visits Jack & Bea Mercer

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Mercer, owners of the friendly little Mercer's Variety Store are the proud (and I do mean proud) parents of a lovely little 9 lb. 3 oz. daughter, born Saturday January 8th. Bea and Jack are going to name their little girl Frances Ann, after Jack's Mother. This will be the first daughter in the Mercer Family to be named Frances Ann for 100 years. Jack is proud that his daughter can carry on the fine old name of his Mother.

Air Force Continues To Squander Money

The brass hats in Washington are a powerful group, now generally conceded more powerful than ever, and some of the unusual things they do come to light now and then.

Take the air force has on its hands an extremely fancy Lockheed Constellation plane which cost $1,195,794. The cost of fitting it out to carry "very important persons" was $60,000 more than that of nine similar models bought at the same time to carry ordinary men and cargo.

President Truman says he has no use for this gold plated plane. He already has a very fancy one. There is widespread belief in Washington that the air force had it dolled up as a sort of inauguration present for Governor Dewey, who isn't being inaugurated.

Governor Dewey is money honest. So, we are sure, is President Truman. Either would recoil at the offer of a bribe. Yet the air force sees nothing wrong in squandering large sums voted for national defense on objects of no military worth. This is merely a more subtle form of bribery. It is by no means the first instance of its sort, and in the present state of morals in Washington, it probably will not be the last.

Meet Your South Side Beauty Shops

Last week in the Booster we promised to introduce to the residents of the South Side their various business and professional people who are ready and able to serve them and to point out the advantages received by patronizing these business places right in your own community.

This week we introduce to the ladies— the Beauty Shops in their community. These progressive Beauty Shops are community-minded and do everything they can to see that their customers receive the best possible service. Each individual is given personalized attention, for your Beauty operator knows that if you, as her customer, leave her shop satisfied, you will return to her shop again therefore she is anxious to please you. Your community Beauty operators are progressive, as they spend many hours studying and working to keep abreast of the newest trend in hair styling, permanent waving, tinting, facials and all lines of Beauty Culture. They are as well informed as your most exclusive Shops. They are qualified to give you expert advice on the care of your hair and to aid you in keeping it in a healthy condition. Your operator, in the Community Beauty Shop, is not rushed and limited to a certain time for each head. She takes time and patience with each customer, as you are not just a transit, whom she may never see again. You are her neighbor, live close to her shop and she hopes to become your regular beauty operator. All women should know that an operator who understands her particular type of hair, can do a much better job on it. Therefore it is wise to have a regular operator do your work.

On page 5 of the Booster you can locate your neighborhood shop. These shops offer every type of Beauty culture. Turn to page 5, select the shop of your choice and call for your appointment today. Resolve to make the most of your appearance and keep beautifully groomed. A weekly visit to your beauty shop will do it.

Economic Highlights

At extended intervals, Marshal Stalin has met and talked with foreign interviewers. Among the Americans so favored have been Roy Howard, Elliott Roosevelt, Harold Stassen, and Walter Duranty. In every case, Stalin's remarks for foreign publication have been of an amiable and conciliatory character. Their basic theme has been an expressed desire for peace, buttressed by the statement that communism and capitalism should be able to exist together in the world in harmony.

These interviews have always been happily received in this country and elsewhere. They seemed to contain grounds for an optimistic estimate of future world trends. Unfortunately, however, there is, an amazing contradiction in what Stalin has said for foreign consumption and what he has told the millions of Russians he rules at home.

That contradiction is the subject of a long article in Foreign Affairs, signed with the nom de plume Historicus. The magazine believes this is the first time a documented study has been made of the matter. In order to obtain his material, the writer examined everything published by Stalin since February, 1919, which was in itself a heavy job of research. In this connection, it should be recognized that Stalin's writings are practically required reading in Russia. One of his books, "History of the All-Union Communist Party", has had a distribution of 31,000,000 copies. Another major work, "Problems of Leninism", has been published in 11 editions, and the 1947 printing alone totaled 4,000,000 copies. It is extremely significant that none of his interviews with foreign reporters has been printed in his voluminous works in Russian.

A typical, and much-publicized Stalin interview was that given to Roy Howard. This was in 1936. He said that the Soviet Union never had plans for fostering revolutions in other countries because exporting revolution is nonsense. In 1943, in a letter to a Reuters correspondent, he stressed the alleged fact that the Comintern had been dissolved, and said that this "exposes the lie . . . that 'Moscow' intends to intervene in the life of other states and 'bolshevize' them." Numerous other statements made by him follow about the same line.

So much for what the Marshal wishes the people beyond the iron curtain to believe. Historicus cites passage after passage from Stalin's published and enormously read works which show that a central feature of his theory of revolution is that the Soviet Union must be used as the base for the development of world revolution—and, if necessary, by armed force. This idea is repeated constantly, in various forms and phrasings.

Thus, in a passage which has been in print from 1924 to the present, Stalin says that "after organizing its own Socialist production," the victorious proletariat in one country should stand up "against the remaining capitalist world, attracting to itself the oppressed classes of other countries, raising revolts in those countries against the capitalists, and their governments." Certainly, nothing could be plainer than that. It is a clear call to arms against capitalism. Of it, Historicus writes: "The supreme aim of world revolution is the logical outcome of Stalin's entire theoretical position . . . notably the thesis that capitalism is a single world-system fatally torn by contradictions which can be cured only by a consciously directed socialist revolution. Granted these assumptions, the determination to use to foothold won in the soviet Union as a base for world revolution, is elementary common sense."

Historicus states that one of Stalin's favorite passages was written by Lenin, and goes as follows: "We live . . . not only in a state but in a system of states, and the existence of the Soviet Republic side by side with the imperialist state for a long time is unthinkable. In the end either one or the other will conquer. And until that end comes, a series of the most terrible collisions between the Soviet Republic and the bourgeois states is inevitable." Stalin quoted this bit of prophecy in an article of his own, and commented: "Clear, one would think."

The substance of Historicus' study is summed up in these words: "The ultimate resort to armed force is a logical development of the Leninist thesis that only consciously-led revolution can drive the capitalists from the stage of history. The assumption that the world has been fundamentally divided into two camps since the October Revolution runs through Stalin's writings from his early days and is grounded in his Marxist philosophy." In other words he has never ceased preaching the hard gospel of Soviet-directed war and revolution to the Russian masses.

Historicus' article is important as a contribution to modern history. It is also important as a guide to the way this and other Western nations should regard pronouncements of policy from Stalin and the other top communists. The obvious fact is that Stalin's tactics call for building up hatred and distrust of the capitalist world at home, even as an attempt is made to quiet the fears and suspicions of the people in other lands.

A New Labor Policy

Senator Wiley, Republican of Wisconsin has furnished a statement to the press that has been widely published throughout the country. He calls attention to a Government official report from the National Labor Relations Board that shows there was an average of 688 strikes monthly before the Taft-Hartley Act became effective on August 23, 1947. The average number of strikes after the passing of the Taft-Hartley Act dropped to 394 monthly. In the first period, 452,500 workers on the average, were idle each month. After passage of the new legislation the figure was 252,061. Senator Wiley says the results show that the Taft-Hartley law has been a great success.

Well, the figures don't lie, and neither does Robert N. Denham, General Counsel for the Labor Relations Board.

The Hoover Commission on Reorganization of the Government advises against a re-shuffling of the Federal Labor agencies until Congress, through legislation, outlines a new labor policy.

Dr. Taylor, one-time Chairman of the War Labor Board has advised President Truman to give attention, in the beginning, to build up and strengthen the Labor Department so that it will be able to put more common sense into a new National labor policy. That is an encouraging prospect and if it is carried out the changes in the new labor law may be approved by the Democrats and Republicans in Congress. All they have to do is to change parts of the existing labor laws—and to make the changes in the interests of workers and employers.

MEAL APPEAL

The homemaker who considers herself an artist with food, says the Columbus Milk Council, puts "oomph" into every meal. Her table is simple but no detail goes unattended. She saves time by serving few dishes, thoughtfully chosen, skillfully prepared, graciously served. For meal appeal . .

Blend color into every meal! It spurs the appetite. The creamy white goodness of milk and its products combine with all colors. A green vegetable or gay garnish will make any arrangement on a plate more attractive.

Contrast shapes and textures! Try not to have more than one food mashed, one cut up, or one whole, on the same plate. If you have ever had a meal of all soft foods, or all chewy foods, you appreciate the importance of texture contrast.

Serve some food hot . . . some cold! Serve a chilled salad with a hot meal, a cup of hot soup with a main dish salad, and ice cream, even in cold weather, adds to a hearty, hot meal

Contrast flavors! The perfect meal combines a food of pronounced flavor, one that is bland, one that is tart, one that is sweet. And good food is always well seasoned. Check your meals with these suggestions so that they too will have appeal.

Mention the Booster To Your Merchant

Up to the start of this year the Bell Telephone System had employed 197,414 veterans of World War II and of these 178,581 were newcomers to the system, while the remaining 18,833 returned to telephone jobs after serving in the armed forces.

Of the Bell System's 41,000,000 telephones in service, more than 2,000,000 have private wires connected through telephone company central offices and the rest are used in providing private line service.

The Bell System's investment in land and buildings alone amounts to more than $700,000,000.

Nearly 5,000 nickels a year, on the average, are dropped into each Bell System coin telephone.

Democracys Future

Against a background of assassination, civil war, and a generally darkening world picture millions of our youth go back to college and school. In an era fraught with division and chaos the question arises, "What are they being educated for?" How to structure an education in which America's founding fathers built this nation.

The Los Angeles Board of Education in the face of this challange has unanimously adopted a new statement of policy for teaching America's ideology in the schools. Mrs. Elsanor B. Allen, one of the members of the Board, outlined this statement.

"The materialistic ideologies of Fascism and Communism have been on the march with power, plan and purpose in this Twentieth Century. Democracy, as conceived by Washington, Jefferson, Lincoln and other early statesmen, can only survive if we affirm boldly the ideology that will put the democracies on the offensive in this war of ideas.

"The schools of the democratic nations must, therefore, teach their future leaders the democratic ideology which is based on moral and spiritual concepts."

Backed by a positive program this policy could equip our youth with an ideology vital enough to outmode the materialistic ones of right or left.

Perhaps such a program as adopted by Dr. Theodore Baeuerle, Minister of Education of Wurttemberg-Baden in the American Zone of Germany holds the key to this new education. At the Moral Re-Arament World Assembly in Caux, Switzerland, he outlined principals that will affect a half a million German youths.

1. Human nature can be changed.
2. The pupil is more important than paper work.
3. As I am so are my pupils.
4. A classless society is not only a matter of organization, but an attitude to life.

With the clock at 11:55 in Europe there is no time to waste. America's youth equipped with an inspired ideology for democracy could turn the tide.

This Puzzler Might Stump Older Folks

Johnnie and Jeanie, at supper, were thinking up questions they'd like to send to a quiz program.

Finally they asked their dad to suggest one. As a Columbus, O., telephone man he has done a lot of work with wires and cables.

"How about this?" he asked. "Why is a long distance telephone cable like an automobile tire?"

The answer he gave was that the tire is filled with air, oxygen and nitrogen and the cable contains nitrogen gas under pressure. And there is a valve something like a tire valve every half mile or so along the cable, both to test pressure and to add more when needed.

The nitrogen gas is put in the cable for two purposes—to help keep water out for a time if the cable should be punctured or broken and also to give warning if any such damage occurs. Gauges connected with the cable show that the gas pressure is dropping and telephone "trouble shooters" are quickly on the job.

make money and get ahead are no longer adequate in the face of world crisis.

The materialists are training their youths to use division and chaos as tools to gain world control. We find the fruits of materialism portrayed in youth graduating from our colleges as full-fledged Marxists.

Miss Elizabeth Bentley's testimony in the recent spy trials dramatized this. Although a Vassar graduate with 20 years of education she fell for the Marxist line. According to her she was never taught the basic moral

New Push Button Electric Range

This revolutionary new electric range, operated by push buttons, is being produced by Hotpoint Inc. In addition to the innovation in cooking control, there are 40 new features which give the homemaker unprecedented automatic performance at the touch of a button. Behind each button is a "talking color" light—red, yellow, violet, green and blue—to identify at a glance the five different heat settings for the four surface units and oven. The new range also has rounded interior oven corners for easier cleaning, greater storage space, new timer clock, 36-inch fluorescent lamp to light cooking surface, high-speed Calrod surface units, oven signal light, electric time measure, and finger-tip ball bearing drawers with locked stop. The new range comes with two full size ovens, or in a single oven model.

"The Greatest Story Ever Told" Most Honored Radio Program

Probably the most honored radio program ever aired is "The Greatest Story Ever Told", the dramatic presentation of the teachings of Christ heard every Sunday evening, 6:30 p.m., EST, over the ABC network. This program, though sponsored by The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company, carries no commercial announcements, and is offered purely as a public service program.

Now in its third season, the program has received plaques, awards and honors in all categories, with many special awards in addition. Among the outstanding ones are awards by the National Association of Public Relations Counsel; Brotherhood of Christians and Jews; National Radio Conference; National Family Week; Special Award from Variety; and others. Most recent award; given the program by Magazine Digest, is being accepted by John K. Hough, director of advertising of Goodyear (right), from M. Simmons, publisher of Magazine Digest, which selected the program as best in the religious category.

In making the presentation, Mr. Simmons said: "Magazine Digest is particulary pleased to give the first of its Good Radio Awards to 'The Greatest Story Ever Told,' which remains unexcelled in the field of religious programs."

This community is surrounded by farms — and the farmers of the nation are the greatest single unit of our economy.

FARMERS are giving more and more consideration to the problem of health, and provision of good medical care for their families.

Modern scientific aids to correct diagnosis and treatment, such as the X-Ray, Metabolism tester, Electro-cardiograph and many others, being more available in cities, tempt the young Doctor to settle there.

While most cases of sickness can be diagnosed and treated, by experienced physicians, from office and handbag, major illnesses require the utmost help of modern scientific aids.

For many years, the entire Medical profession has recognized the desirability that the best that modern medicine has to offer be available to all, and Doctors are working to that end.

Communities over the country are speeding up such work, by co-operative planning. Some already have fully equipped hospitals and medical service, worked out on a voluntary, prepaid basis with individuals and families of the community as members of the plan . . . If your community is interested in such plans, write or contact your local or state Medical Society.

21 Months Enlistments Stay

Captain Thomas Joseph Madigan, Officer in charge of Recruiting in Columbus area, announced today that men between the ages of nineteen and twenty-five can enlist in the Army for a period of Twenty One (21) Months with the option of extending their enlistment for one year to receive full credit for an enlistment in the Army. However, if the applicant serves only 21 months he will be transferred to a reserve component of the Armed Forces for a period of three (3) years. In either of the above plans the applicant will be relieved from further liability to serve in any reserve component unless a National Emergency is declared by Congress.

Tino Skunza To Pilot St. Mary's Eleven

St Marys High School at their annual gridiron dinner held at the Columbus Maennerchor named Tino Skunza as captain of next years football team.

Skunza replaces Dick Gianvito and Dick Hughes last years Co-Captains.

Twenty-eight letters were awarded to the members of the team at the same time nine reserve letters were passed out and six sets of numerals to the cheer leaders.

The St Marys team had a .500 average this year winning five and losing five.

The team is under the able leadership of Coach Dick Coyle.

The Ramboosters, a group of former St Marys graduates, sponsored the dinner.

They are also putting on a drive to raise sufficient money to purchase a new athletic field.

Speakers for the evening were Jack Cannon, former Notre Dame player who was All American, and Ernie Godfrey, assistant coach and Scout of Ohio State University.

Cannon gave a speech and included in it an impersonation of Knute Rockne.

Barta Heads Steelton Merchants

At their regular dinner, January 11, new officers were installed for the Steelton Merchants Assn.

Officers installed were Ernie Barta, President; Dr. C. P. [illegible]on, First Vice Pres.; Fred Kreutz, Second Vice Pres.; Leroy Browning, Secretary; Glenn Schwemley, Treasurer.

At the dinner, which was held at the Columbus Mannerchor, Judge Joseph Clifford was the installing officer.

He referred to the late Wm. Trautman who was a charter member of the group and what they had done for the children of the South Side.

Wives of the members were guests of the merchants.

Glenn Schwemley was presented a gold pen and lighter in recognition of his 16 years as treasurer.

A VISIT

When Christmas vacation came, I went to New York City with my family. I had a wonderful time. The last day of our vacation we went to Rockefeller Center to see the 90 foot tree. There were three thousand lights on the tree and big tin balls on it, too. The Plaza below was frozen but there was no one skating on it because the wind was blowing and snow was falling.

The next day we started back to Columbus and the roads were so slippery that we slid on the icy road. We turned around four times. We had a wonderful two weeks vacation.—Stephen Szlarto.

Tomsic - Held Wedding Saturday

The marriage of Miss Eva Marie Tomsic, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Tomsic, 783 S. Wall St., to Mr. Robert A. Held, son of Mrs. Eva Held, 1294 Deshler Ave., was solemnized Saturday morning in St. Mary's Catholic Church with the Rev. Fr. Edmund Burkley officiating.

The bride's chalk-white satin gown was fashioned with a sweetheart neckline, long sleeves with pointed cuffs and a full train. The neck was outlined by seed pearl embroidery and her full net veil waas held in place by a coronet of lace and pearls. The bride carried a white prayerbook topped with a white rose cascade bouquet.

Mrs. Paul Fuller, in a pale pink taffeta gown, was the matron of honor, and Mr. Hubert G. Held, the bridegroom's twin brother, was the best man.

The bridesmaids were Miss Rose Marie Holland and Mrs. Paul Tomsic, who wore pale blue taffeta gowns, and Miss Rose Marie Held, the bridegroom's sister, who wore a pale pink gown. The attendants carried identical bouquets of pale blue and pale pink carnations with a shower of pale blue and pale blue ribbon, ending in a tiny bouquet.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Held will postpone a wedding trip to New York until spring, and will be at home after Thursday at 23 W. Frankfort St.

OUR COVENANT OF FELLOWSHIP.
God Our Father
Christ Our Redeemer
Man Our Brother

We believe these to be the fundamental truths of our faith.

We believe in the progressive revelation of the Living God and every person in our fellowship has the right and freedom to seek the Truth as it is revealed to him in the Scriptures and in Life.

We believe God has revealed the way of abundant living through the Life and Teachings of Jesus Christ, and we therefore covenant together that it shall be our purpose to live together in peace and seek the Truth in Love.

News In The World Of Religion

Although the Feast of the Passover does not occur this year until April, many Jewish families, organizations and synagogues in the United States are already sending Passover food packages to European friends and relatives, and to people in the State of Israel. Packages weighing 22-lbs. may be sent to most European countries. The principal contents are matzoth, matzoth flour, and potato pancake mix.

The Foreign Missions Conference of North America, recently in annual session, heard reports from Secretary Wynn C. Fairfield that the more than 100 missionary-sending agencies of more than sixty Protestant churches, which comprise the Conference, are seeking to recruit 3,593 young people within the next few years for missionary service—preaching, medical, nursing, teaching, agricultural and industrial. Included in the needs are about 1,000 medical missionaries and 1,000 rural experts. Technicians are also sought in radio, motion picture, and journalism.

A plea that older Catholic priests and nuns among the displaced persons in Europe, now coming to America, be given place in Catholic religious houses and charitable institutions is made by the National Catholic Rural Welfare Council, which has been affecting the settlement of thousands of Europe's displaced in communities in America. "Older priests found among the displaced persons may not be able to do the active work of the ministry," says the Council. "Most of them have borne the heat and burden of the day in their native countries. They have undergone untold suffering."

A call for fifty young men and women to give three years of service each in India or Pakistan, in educational, pastoral, medical, nursing, relief, or in technical services to "newly freed peoples," has been issued by Dr. Ralph E. Diffendorfer, executive secretary of the Board of Missions and Church Extension of the Methodist Church, 150 Fifth Avenue, New York. The call asked for men and women, unmarried, between 21 and 28 years of age, college trained, active members of some church (not necessarily Methodist), and with recommendations as to their Christian character and desire to serve others. Most of these young people will be appointed to teaching positions in high schools and colleges, to pastorates in English-speaking churches, to service in hospitals and clinics, and to work in rural and industrial fields throughout India and Pakistan. The recruits will have six weeks of intensive preparation in New York City during July and August and they will sail early in the fall. In 1948 the Board of Missions sent to Japan and Korea for three years some 51 young people.

Shee Cah Gee Shig ("Hole in the Sky"), noted Chippewa Indian Methodist preacher, and pastor of the Oscoda Indian Mission, in the Saginaw Valley of Michigan, was buried with his ancestors on December 28. The Indian pastor—known to his white associates as the Rev. John R. Silas—had served the mission for fourteen years; his uncle had been his predecessor; and his great-uncle had been one of the founders of the church more than a century ago. Hundreds of Indians travelled for hundreds of miles to attend his funeral which was conducted by the Rev. Dr. Frank M. Field of Saginaw, Mich. Says Dr. Field: "John Silas was a true missionary, giving himself in unstinted service to the material, moral, and spiritual needs of his people. He was also a kind of good physician among them, knowing the value and use of many medicinal herbs in the best Indian tradition. He never lost his love for the out-of-doors; he taught his people to see God in the beauties and wonders of nature." Pastor Silas was born in Pinconning, Mich., educated as an electrician at Mt. Pleasant School, and had a successful business which he gave up to enter the ministry. He had been ordained by Bishop Nicholson in Detroit in 1924, served as a local preacher, and as a translator from English to Chippewa for Indian Church gatherings, the while he conducted a lucrative business. His Indian name was given by his associates "because he gave them a vision of things eternal." His wife was Estella Squanda, descendent of the famous Chief Squanda of Parkman's "Conspiracy of Pontiac."

Miss Thelma Stevens, executive of the Department of Social Relations of Methodism's Woman's Society of Christian Service, is asking the leaders of some 30,000 units of the Society—totalling one and a half million women—to press for state and national laws to outlaw the Ku Klux Klan. They ask legislation "prohibiting the appearance on public highways, grounds or buildings, of persons from organizations such as the Ku Klux Klan, using disguises to conceal their identity; and against the desecration of the cross as it is being used by the Klan to spread terror."

You'll Hear One Now and Other One Eventually

If you are among the living, on the verge of changing that status or are at all uncertain about where you stand in this here cosmophere, don't telephone the death certificate section of the District of Columbia health department.

If you do, you'll feel those wings sprouting, look through the telephone directory's yellow classified section for a firm that sells harps, and hope that you rate a halo.

"This is St. Peter" is the disconcerting response that you'll hear if you make that call.

But the voice is not sepulchral and if you can hear it you're still on the physical side of the Great Divide. It's merely the naturnl speech of Joseph Francis St. Peter, who was transferred from the job of ambulance driver to that of the department's telephone clerk.

St. Peter also answers the telephones in the health department's birth certificate section, so he has something to do with arrivals as well as departures.

Take Time To Drive Carefully!

Tax Payers Head Sucker List

One of these days probably after it is too late, the American taxpayers are going to discover that as a common-cause group they outnumber by millions any other in the United States, yet organized minorities representing only mere fractions of our population as a whole continue to take them for one ride after another as they stand at the head of the sucker list for not only this country but for the entire world.

The seizure of the taxpayer's pocket book has been accomplished so gradually that the people who are turning over billions of dollars annually to a lot of tinnorn politicians to squander have become appallingly reconciled to the expanding imposition which, if allowed to go unchecked, will eventually mean the downfall of our government.

We have already reached a point where, instead of government officials and employes working for the people, the people are working for the politicians and their stooges who, to the number of millions, are idling the days away while the folks who are actually doing something constructive labor to make enough money to finance their crackpot schemes and pay salaries to loafing taxeaters.

Not satisfied with having put a premium on indolence amongst our own people, a gullible Republican Congress financed Truman's presidential campaign by granting over five billion dollars for the so-called Marshall Plan which had as its principal objective the perpetuation of our artificial prosperity by thus spending more of the taxpayer's money to support a demand and high prices that, left to the healthy law of supply and demand, would have come down to earth and started the country back toward a sound economy.

First, even before the Marshall Plan, we voluntarily accepted the responsibility of financing an experiment in Socialism in England. Anyone with a spoonful of brains knows that England has no intention of ever paying us back one cent of the money which we continue to dish out to them. The fact is they now take the attitude that to keep them in funds is an obligation while it is common knowledge that no people in the world are held in such contempt and low esteem in England as the Americans. No one has any respect for those he can victimize and continue to victimize indefinitely.

We pour our money into France, probably the most worthless of all the major nations of the world. They need coal and other fuel but refuse to dig it in their own mines. And what do we do? We take the American taxpayer's money and pay John Lewis's pampered foreigners to dig our own coal which we transport by rail and steamship to France and hand over to them free. Why?—You answer that one.

With affable gullibility we get ourselves into an inexcusable jam with the Russians in Berlin and allow them to push us around at an expense totalling billions annually which the taxpayers have to dig up while we and England continue to sell the Russians vital materials through the back door, materials which they need to use in connection with their unprincipled program of world seizure, a situation so silly that it belittles description.

We guarantee the farmers a price on wheat, corn and what have you, which is now being produced far in excess of the requirements of our own people, take the other man's tax money to pay for it and then, at a tremendous cost, carry it around the world and give it away. We spend millions of the taxpayer's dollars developing great irrigation projects so as to raise more grain and other crops while we cannot consume that being produced by ground already under cultivation.

We guarantee the potato grower $2.95 per bushel for any amount of Grade A he may choose to grow and when this results in millions of bushels more than can be eaten, we take the taxpayer's money and buy the surplus, which is promptly destroyed or sold for a fraction of the cost, to be fed to stock which the taxpayer will in turn have to buy at high prices supported by the same gang of politicians.

And now it is discovered that we are giving England so much more of some items than they need that they are actually selling them back to us sub rosa at almost twice the price at which we invoiced them on our own phoney sales program.

This is the kind of management you would expect from a necktie salesman whose only qualification is that he was smart enough to know that when it comes to winning an election you cannot beat Santa Claus, especially if he is disguised as the emissary of foreign aid.

Some day the brotherhood of taxpayers will be discovered and once this group decides to stand together they will represent such an overwhelming majority of our people that they may tell the political wastrels who now have them enslaved that if they want to eat like the rest of us, they must do something to earn their way like the rest of us, and let the balance of the world do the same thing.

re-enlisted in November of '45.

Hartford Circle Guests Of 'Listen Ladies'

Thursday, January 13, The Hartford Circle of the Washington Avenue United Brethren Church were the guests of "Listen Ladies" over Radio Station WCOL. Mrs. Miller, the President of Hartford Circle, explained the past projects of the Circle and of their aims for the coming year. The Musical Quizz was played by Mrs. Ramey and Mrs. Swonger. Mrs. Ramey won by a very close margin and was presented with an electric kitchen clock. Mrs. Swonger also was awarded a prize.

The program was visited by a very strange personage in the form of Phil Bradford who conducts an early morning show over the station. The antics of Phil Bradford caused quite a lot of confusion and the guests roared with laughter before he left the program in his own noisy way. Tom Gleba as M.C. makes everyone feel at home with his friendly informal manner. Dorothy Moore eases the pre-broadcast tension with her wonderful music at the organ.

All in all, the broadcast under the very able direction of the likable Maxine Davies is a program that every one should witness at least once in their lifetime. We guarantee that after the first visit, you will return for more and more of the same. We believe that this program is giving a lot of happiness not only to the listeners and participants of the program, but also to the shut-in who is honored each day by the Sunshine Quizz, at the end of which they are presented a gift in the name of the winning contestant.

Come on Ladies Clubs of the South Side call the Booster for a date to appear on the broadcast we know you will enjoy.

An Appeal For Work

I am a man 48 years of age, living in the South Side all my life. Years ago as a child I was a victim of polio, which left me handicapped, but not crippled. For 20 years I worked as a reliable employee for a South Side firm. As the machine age progressed, the work which I had done all these years was gradually taken over by the new machines, and due to this I became unemployed through no fault of my own.

After 20 years of service doing one line of work I find it very difficult to find employment, due to the fact that I am now an older man and have had no other experience. However, I feel there must be a job somewhere that I would be capable of holding. My disability is a slight limp in the left leg and although I can use my left hand, there is not the needed strength in the fingers to do heavy work.

I am intelligent, sober, honest and willing to learn. All I ask is a chance to be a self-supporting, respectable citizen. Any information leading to work would be sincerely appreciated. Please call RA 7431 if you can help me, or contact South Side Booster GA 9262.

Hungarian Bake Sale

Mrs. Karol Marton, president of the Lorantffy Ladies, announces they will sponsor a Hungarian Bake Sale in the basement of the Hungarian Reformed Church at the corner of Woodrow and Washington. The bake sale will begin promptly at 10 a.m. Saturday morning, Jan. 22nd. The popularity of the last bake sale and the fast sell-out of the fine Hungarian pastries prompted the ladies to be better prepared (in quantity) for this occasion. The public is cordially invited.

Father Lucier Address Lions Club

At their weekly meeting last Tuesday, The Southeast Lions Club were privileged to take an imaginary trip thru the Ohio Pen with the Rev. Father Charles V. Lucier. Father Lucier, the Catholic Chaplain at that Institution, told of his daily experience with the inmates, some young and others old and hardened offenders. Father Lucier surely has his work cut out for him. He must give counsel to some, lead others with his knowledge of God and go with some of the condemned to the death house for their final payment of their violation of the laws of humanity. All members who attended the meeting, were held in rapt attention by the speaker and it was a wonderful opportunity to get some real behind the gray walls stories from one who really knows and talks to the men.

"TYCOON" ON AT SOUTHLAND

John Wayne, Laraine Day and Judith Anderson are among the stellar cast of the terrific Technicolor drama with a South American setting "Tycoon," opening Sunday at the Southland Theater.

Wayne plays a relentless engineer in the drama, who falls in love with lovely Miss Day, over the objections of her multi-millionaire father, Sir Cedric Hardwicke. "Tycoon" will be co-featured with "Wreck of the Hesperus," exciting sea saga with an early New England setting, starring Willard Parker.

Wednesday and Thursday, the Family Nights at the Southland, when a straight 20 cents admission price prevails, the hilarious new Red Skelton comedy "A Southern Yankee," will head the Family Nights' twin bill. Columbusite Warner Baxter stars in the mystery co-feature, "Gentleman From Nowhere."

Ideal Presents Pitfall

This Sunday and Monday the Ideal Theater is showing "Pitfall." This story bears a slight resemblance to the theme and mood of "Double Indemnity." Dick Powell portrays an insurance adjuster who is led from the path of virtue and duty by a sultry blond played by Lizabeth Scott who is the girl friend of an embezzler. His rival is a tough, private detective, with whom he swaps punches. There are enough brawls and gunplay to please Powell fans. This story also has an appeal for the preservation of family life as home life triumphs over temptation. A cartoon completes the bill.

Bingo Tonight

The Ladies of the Verhovay Club will hold their bi-monthly bingo game this evening at the Home. Game will start promptly at 8:00 p.m. There will be fun and prizes for all. Every club member is urged to attend and bring their friends.

Columbia Theater

The Columbia Theater presents Sunday, Monday and Tuesday "Canyon Passage" starring Dana Andrews and Brian Donley. This hit picture is a Historical Western with plot centered around the conquest of the Pacific Northwest, by hardy pioneers who fought the Indians and braved the dangers of the Oregon Trail. Excellent entertainment with an all star cast. Also on the program is "Frontier Gal" with Rod Cameron taking the leading role.

Natural gas, widely used in furnaces in the steel industry, can be made to attain flame temperatures as high as 3,700 degrees Fahrenheit.

Remaking The World

Many books mirror the life of their age. A few books make history. Marx's Das Kapital sowed the seeds of revolution by exploiting the bitterness of millions. It is a handbook of class war.

Hitler's "Mein Kampf" was ignored by many as the wishful thinking of an Austrian house painter. Yet it took a nation by storm and brought down a world about our ears. It is a handbook of race war.

Where is democracy's handbook?

Dr. Frank N. D. Buchman's "Remaking the World" outdates "Das Kapital" or "Mein Kampf" because it is the handbook for constructive revolution. Appearing January 20, in its new cloth-bound American edition, "Remaking the World" by Dr. Buchman, founder of the Oxford Group and its program of Moral Re-Armament, tells the remarkable story of this world force. The book, published by Robert McBride, will appear at all bookstores. Its pages are filled with the truths that democracy will live by—or die without—in the coming months and years.

A. R. K. Mackenzie, Member of the British Delegation to the United Nations who wrote the introductory article to the book, has this to say about the author, "There is no denying the achievements of Frank Buchman. Starting from nothing he has built a world force of people equipped with an impelling moral ideology, trained and ready for action in any sphere of activity. I venture to predict that our passing tributes are nothing compared to the verdict which history will place on Frank Buchman, on his speeches, and on the world spanning, life-giving organism which, under God's direction, he has been the means of creating."

The War On Ideas

(This is a condensation of an article by Congressman Walter H. Judd which will appear in the February issue of New World News.)

Throughout the whole world a fierce political and ideological struggle is being waged, the outcome of which will determine who really won World War II and probably whether or not there is to be World War III.

Today the focus is China. If Russia gets China and the control of other rich portions of East Asia which will follow, the balance of resources in the world will have shifted so strongly in her favor that the men of Asiatic temperament who run Russia may very well just sit it out for a few years or decades until the western world, including the United States, has bled itself to death.

The weaknesses which have bro't us to this ominous hour have not been primarily military or economic. Our greatest failures have been in the political and ideological fields.

We go to the diplomatic conferences with men who are masters of the strategies and tactics of military and economic struggle as our representatives—and come home with bloody noses.

Russia sends to the conferences her Molotovs and Vishinskys with nothing but superb skill in the strategies and tactics of diplomatic and ideological warfare—and they go home with the bacon.

Russia is spending far more effort and money on propaganda for her ideology than any other nation. Her rulers are aware of what one man, Karl Marx, was able to start with an idea—and what two others, Lenin and Stalin, have been able to carry on with that idea.

They know what Hitler did with an idea.

They know what the Pilgrims, when they came to America over 300 years ago, did with an idea.

I recognize it is already terribly late—perhaps too late. Our best hope of avoiding disaster is through mobilizing our utmost strength and skill in the political and ideological fields as well as the economic and military.

Our difficulties are not insurmountable is we can develop within ourselves and other free peoples a sense of mission, a moral compulsion to build in the world the sort of order which our forefathers had the will to build in these United States.

However, if we persist in putting our faith in false remedies, and in worshipping the gods we ourselves have created—our mechanical skills, our science, our power, our material success—then we, too, will perish, strutting to our doom like the 20 civilizations before us.

The Quagmire of Too Much Government

One of the most difficult things to do in today's world is to separate causes from effects—to find the roots of the terrible problems the nations have brought upon themselves. It is the old story of being unable to see the forest because of the trees. Ever since the war ended, we have lived through one crisis after another, domestic and international. We have been plagued by fear one day and picked up by new hope the next. The whole world might be likened to mercury in a tube, shifting violently at any disturbance, and never attaining stability.

A thousand books could be written about the difficulties we are in, without touching more than the surface of the material. But, looking at the world from the best perspective we can now find, it seems clear that the basic problem, which underlies in one way or another all other problems, is this: The trouble with the world is that it has too much government, too much absolute authority.

This is not a new situation, unique to our age. The whole history of civilization has been a conflict between the individual and those who wished to enslave him. That conflict has caused innumerable wars, revolutions, economic upheavals, all manner of disasters. But in the present world the technique of enslavement has been perfected. In some cases it is far subtler—it increases and solidifies its authority through due process of law. But the end result is the same—a nation where all men have less and less freedom of action and decision, and where the political rulers determine more and more what we shall think and do.

Usually, we surrender rights to government for political promises of material gain. Government will give us wealth. Government will build us houses. Government will pay for our crops. Government will provide goods and services cheaper. Government will protect our health, and support us in old age. Government will deal with almost every obstacle that confronts us from the cradle to the grave. But before government can even attempt to give us these things, it must have the power to control the human and material resources of the nation, and take the savings of the people through taxes. And that is how dictatorships are built.

It seems, however, that government never delivers promised material benefits. The standard of living of any people goes down in ratio to the growth in power of those who rule. But, once government becomes strong enough, there is no recourse for the people short of revolution. The whole machinery of the state is used to keep the people in line, to destroy dissent, to make individuality a crime.

In today's world, the United States is in a position without precedent. The most obvious fact is that we are a mighty power from the material standpoint. We are making an effort which has no parallel in history to rehabilitate a score of devastated nations, and to save them from hunger and disease and despair.

This is vitally important, but it is not the end of the matter by a long shot. If American leadership proves to be purely material, it will be doomed to eventual failure — some of the police states are also rich in resources. What America must offer the world, along with her flood of goods, is the supreme example of the fact that a free people, with a free economic system and a representative government of their own choosing, can undo the police states. Everything we have done or may do at home to weaken our tradition of individual freedom, to glorify government above the people who elect it, weakens our physical security, and our chance for survival.

This is a matter of spiritual values. We have no statistics with which to measure them, no production figures to make other peoples gasp in envy. But it is spiritual values which will turn the scales, one way or the other, in the long run. The real meaning of America is in the hearts of her people, and in the freedom and the dignity of all men.

That, then, is what we have to offer at a time when the world is divided into two camps without a common meeting ground. We cannot offer more. We must not offer less. We must check our own drift toward the totalitarian state where the government becomes supreme and where individual thrift, opportunity, industry, savings, and freedom are lost.

Ray foods are good for the teeth because they help clean their surfaces.

Infantile paralysis is as old as the pyramids, but it was not recognized as a distinct disease until the middle of the 19th century. It is known now that the paralysis is caused by a virus so tiny that millions placed side by side would measure less than an inch.

Adequate medical care for infantile paralysis, is beyond the financial resources of nine out of ten American families. Through contributions to the "March of Dimes" polio fund campaign, the American people are guaranteeing that no one need go without the best available care for lack of money.

In the last decade, costs of hospital care per day per patient have more than doubled, according to recent estimates. This has added greatly to the financial burden of a long-time case of infantile paralysis and makes a yearly "March of Dimes" fund campaign doubly necessary.

Aid from the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis to its chapters in Ohio amounted to $303,312.40 during the 1948 peak of the disease in August and September. Franklin County chapter exhausted all of its own funds and obtained an emergency grant of $60,000 from the National Foundation.

Lineman Prevents Eviction of Babes

When Dan Winfield, Installer for The Ohio Bell Telephone Company in Dayton, climbed a certain pole he regarded it as just the usual routine of changing a drop wire from one pair of terminals to another.

But as he neared the terminal box, routine flew out as a robin flew in. There was a flurry of wings around his head and an angry twittering. Undaunted, Dan climbed the remaining two steps up the pole and was greeted by the hungry beaks of four young robins stretching toward him from their nest as their mother continued her protests.

Dan was in a quandary. To complete his job would mean disrupting the nest. But the new telephone had to be connected.

Telephoning into his office, Dan held a conference with the assignor and learned that some equipment rearrangement could be made in the central office which would eliminate the necessity of opening the terminal box.

So Dan completed the job without disturbing the nest and went on to his next assignment, meditating in satisfaction that he had saved another family from eviction.

NOTICE

We are as surprised as you!!!! but recently several small apartments have been found by our advertisers who placed a wanted to rent ad in our classified section. It seems that Landlords no longer have to advertise to find tenents. They watch the Wanted to rent ads in the paper and then contact you. It saves them from having so many unnecessary calls after the place has been rented. So if you are looking for a place try a Wanted to rent ad, you may find a place too. Just call GA 9262 or GA 71121 and ask for Bea Lewis.

Keno Or Euchre Take Your Choice

The Catalpa Ladies are giving another Keno and Euchre Party Saturday Eve. January 22 at Swans Hall corner Parsons and Jenkins for the benefit of the Catalpa Recreation Park.

St. Leo's P. T. A. Hold Meeting

On Thursday, January 20, at 7:30 p.m., St. Leo's Parent-Teacher Association will hold their next meeting. Dr. B. B. Caplan will be the guest speaker. Again a phase of Child Life will be the principal theme, and Dr. Caplan's subject will be "Character Building." Inasmuch as Dr. Caplan was formerly associated with the Bureau of Juvenile Research, his address should be particularly interesting.

It looks as though the Eighth Graders are following the example of the Third Graders, for they won the attendance prize last month, making it two months in a row!

Mary Kelly And Carl Butler Exchange Vows

St. Mary's Church was the scene Saturday of the wedding of Miss Mary Kelly and Mr. Carl F. Buttler. The ceremony was performed at 9 a.m. by Msgr. Edmund Burkley. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kelly, 707 S. Sixth St., and Mr. Buttler's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Fred Buttler, 32 E. Beck St.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white lace gown cut on princess lines with a train. Her fingertip of net illusion was held in place by a tiara of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of white roses. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls.

Miss Ruth Kelly, the bride's sister, was maid of honor in a pale blue taffeta gown and she carried pink carnations. Miss Jessie Kelly, another sister, served as bridesmaid in heather taffeta and carried pink roses.

Mr. Fred Buttler, Jr., attended his brother as best man while seating the wedding guests were Mr. Edward Kelly, Jr., the bride's brother, and Mr. Robert Culp.

The bride's mother was attired in navy blue with matching accessories and a corsage of white carnations. The bridegroom's mother chose black and her corsage was of white roses.

The service was followed by a wedding breakfast for members of the bridal party and the immediate families at the Southern Hotel. One hundred fifty guests were entertained at a reception at the WOW Hall at 7:30 o'clock that evening.

The bride is a graduate of St. Mary's High School. The bridegroom also attended St. Mary's, and served with the Coast Guard during the war. He now is associated with the Post Office Department.

When the couple left for a month's wedding trip, the bride donned a navy suit with matching accessories. They went by air to Panama.

Upon their return they will reside at 878 S. Lazelle St.

Heyl Ave. Association Installs Officers

With the lighting of candles and repeating of the Girl Scout Promise, the new officers for the Heyl Avenue Girl Scout Leaders and Mothers Association took office for the new year at their regular meeting, January 11, 1949, at their meeting place, the Reorganized Church of Jesus Latter Day Saints. The retiring President, Mrs. Agnes Koterba, presented Girl Scout pins to the following:

Mrs. Ella Tinklepaugh, president; Mrs. Levern Shirey, vice president; Mrs. June Moore, secretary; Mrs. Marion Harmon, assistant secretary; Mrs. June Allen, treasurer; Mrs. Hedwig Gerhard, assistant treasurer; Mrs. Thelma Mottashed, public relations chairman.

Plans were made for a neighborhood Girl Scout Tea, to be held during the month of March. Two new members were welcomed to to the Association: Mrs. W. F. Mitchell, who, with Mrs. Joe Fragiotti, is starting up a new Brownie Troop; and Mrs. Thurburn Conkle, who, with Mrs. Harry Cullman, is taking over Troop No. 246, as the present leader, Mrs. Nancy Schreffler is moving out of the city. Mrs. Schreffler will be missed very much, as she has been very active in the Neighborhood Association.

The Heyl Avenue Neighborhood Association meets on the second Tuesday of each month in the basement of the church at 22nd and Reinhard, at 8 p.m. All leaders, mothers of Girl Scouts and others interested in Scouting are very welcome.

Ken Friscoe At Lions Club

The Southeast Lions Club, at their weekly meeting last Tuesday, saw Copenhagen, Stockholm, Oslo and points east, by way of motion pictures. Ken Friscoe, American Air Lines Sales Manager, showed the film. The members crossed an ocean swiftly, smoothly and comfortably to points foreign and distant. They took, in imagination, one of the regular Trans-Atlantic flights to Scandinavia. The picture proved informative as well as real entertainment.

SOUTH LOSES STELLAR TRIO

The Aquinas game last Monday night, was the final game for the above trio. Left to right they are Harry Nicholson, elongated center of "Pug" Hood's hive, who has played fine basketball for South the last four years, in the center is Frank Zubovich, probably the fastest man in city league competition, having been an ace track star for South, along with playing fine basketball. On the right is Paul Katterhenrich, whose parents are moving to Bucyrus, Ohio, which of course means that South's loss will be Bucyrus's gain, and who can be a brilliant basketball future ahead of him. All three boys who are leaving have certainly been a credit to South High and all it stands for. Good luck fellas.

A One Dollar Chicken Dinner

The ladies of the South Church of Christ, Woodrow and Bruck, will serve a chicken dinner, Thursday, February 3rd, from 11:00 a.m to 1:00 p.m., at noon; and from 5:00 p.m to 7:00 p.m. in the evening. Tickets will be one dollar. All members and friends of the church and the public are invited.

Mrs. Earl Kiechle and Mrs. Carl Mattes are in charge for the election of new officers.

South Takes Aquinas

SNAP TWO-GAME LOSING STREAK

By Jerry Woodyard

After taking it on the chin in their last two City League encounters, South's battling Bulldogs managed to get back into the swing of things by handling Aquinas its sixth league cage loss last night by a 67 to 49 score in a contest played before a capacity crowd at the Ann-st school.

The winless Terriers put up a gallant fight throughout the first half, trailing by only one point at the quarter-mark and at intermission, but Coach Pug Hood must have supplied the necessary know-how at half-time, because the Bulldogs poured it on in the last half, scoring 24 points in the third and 23 in the final period.

Lanky Paul Ebert tallied 24, better than a third of his team's points, to capture scoring honors. Runners-up were the Aquinas' Donellis with 17 and Chuck Schmidt with 16.

The Bulldog victory marked the end of three of the cagers' careers at South. Playing their last game for the Blue and Gray were Harry Nicholson, Frank Zubovich and Paul Katterhenrich, who contributed 11, 10, and eight points, respectively.

In the opener, the Puppies continued to [illegible] the varsity's pattern by winning, 47 to 30.

EAST, 64; SOUTH, 56

East's Tigers got the better of a red-hot shootin' match with visiting South, Friday night, and when the heavy firing was over, East was on top, 64-56. The Tigers hadn't been up to par since walloping Aquinas 82-40 in their city league opener, but this time their "Big 3" of Luther Towers, John Johnson and Ken Mizelle all clicked at the same time, and [illegible] made the big difference.

South had an amazing shooting percentage in the first [illegible] with Bill Camp and Frank Zubovich stepping in some spectacular shots. And during these two periods, South's scoring average was pretty well distributed, whereas East's Johnson was the only effective point maker. The Holidays, too, were the much faster team, and when intermission time came with the Southerners in front 31-29, things didn't look too bright for the East team.

After intermission, South lost their lead up to 40-31, but that was the cue for Ebert, "Big 3" to start rolling. Johnson and Mizelle teamed up to get the range, and at the ball game, H. H. Mizelle at the mike in the third period gave East a first lead of the contest, 46-44.

Early in the final quarter the ole topnotch Luther Towers took over, getting three of his deadly, long, one-handed set shots in quick order to give East a 54-52 margin, which South never overcame. Towers' last stopper came with 3 and a half minutes remaining, and from there on in they played a semi-freezing game, waiting on their opening before shooting. On that count, Mizelle struck the fatal blows. South had pulled up to 54-55 with exactly a minute to go, but Mizelle laid in two rapid-fire baskets within 20 seconds.

Bespectacled John Johnson's dozen points in the first half was all that kept South from mounting a big enough margin to use as a cushion for the second half. Another important factor was the terrific rebound work of Towers in the last two periods, which limited South to just one shot at the basket before turning the ball over. Then, too, Bucky Walters altered the East defense for the 1st half, dropping his two tall logs, Towers and Johnson, under the South basket. Johnson's 25 points, high for the game, is believed to be a new East scoring record for its own gym.

The reserve game had a red-hot finish. South was leading with 10 seconds to go, 36-35, and the Puppies had possession of the ball, but East's forward Linson stole it, went three-fourths of the floor and dropped in the winning fielder with the clock showing 7 seconds, to give his team a 37 to 36 decision.

St. Mary's New Dance Band

DANCE BAND practice for their lunch period dances at St. Mary High School. They are left to right, Robert May, 263 Thurman-av; George Sullivan, 302 Jaeger-st; Eugene Sullivan, 302 Jaeger-st, and Francis Hodgson, 733 Jaeger-st, surrounding the pianist Vivian Ruppersburg, 31 E. Kossuth-st.

With a burst of melody, St. Mary High will introduce its new dance band.

After plans were made for dancing as a lunch period attraction, Robert May, together with four other members of the St. Mary Band, originated the idea to form a small dance orchestra. It would provide the students with pleasing dance tunes, and at the time award the musicians with practice and experience.

The idea was accepted and the five members have been practicing diligently in order to make their debut soon.

Providing the setting for this musical endeavor will be the auditorium. The stars will be Vivian Ruppersburg, playing piano; Francis Hodgson, featured on the trombone; Bob May, beating the drums; Eugene Sullivan, managing the saxophone, and George Sullivan tooting the trumpet.

Response to the plan was enthusiastic and the students anticipated many enjoyable dance seasons.

THE SOFTEST CUSHION

STEEL SPRINGS IN YOUR EASY CHAIR or bed determine their comfort, but the "temper" in that steel spring determines the QUALITY of buoyancy — or comfort. Wartime springless furniture taught us the importance of these "invisible ingredients" to comfort.

To make those springs resilient and buoyant, it required plenty of "know how." From the mining of ore, through all the processes of steel making, one AMATEUR touch can spoil the quality of the product.

So it is with the quality of medical care. Your Doctor is highly interested in constant vigilance and improvement in the "know how" in Medical Schools, Hospitals, Clinics and private practice. Keep amateur, political hands off the "tempering processes"—or quality, of health education and care.

FOR TEEN-AGE COOKS

The teen-ager "tops" mother with this oven meal.

BY BETTY NEWTON

The teen-age gal's really "in the groove," but "solid," when she volunteers to take over a meal occasionally. It's a wonderful way to make the family wake up and take notice of one's talents!

The actual meal preparation is quite simple after the meals are planned and the marketing is done. These simple steps will show you ways of planning your work for this oven menu:

Step 1 — Prepare the brownies so they will be cool to serve. Put in the oven first. They will require about 50 minutes.

Step 2 — Prepare sausage and apple cakes according to the recipe. Pare potatoes and prepare for oven.

Scrape carrots and prepare for oven.

Step 3— Remove brownies from oven and put meat and vegetables in. Allow 1 hour for this meal to bake. If time is limited, these foods may go in the oven before brownies are done but try not to have the oven door open too long.

Step 4 — Prepare head lettuce salad.

Step 5 — Make the coffee.

Step 6 — Set the table and get out necessary serving dishes.

Step 7 — Take foods from oven and arrange attractively on chop plate.

Step 8 — Call the family to dinner.

Step 9 — Clear table, rinse and stack dishes.

Step 10 — Put left-overs away.

Step 11 — Wash dishes and straighten kitchen.

Oven Meal Menu

Sausage and Apple Cakes
Parsley Potatoes Buttered Carrots
Head Lettuce Salad with French Dressing Whole Wheat Bread Butter
Brownies Delicious
Coffee Milk

Sausage and Apple Cakes

1 lb. sausage
1 slice bread
1 egg
½ C. grated apple
1 tsp. salt

Combine the sausage and bread, which has been broken into small pieces. Add the remaining ingredients. Mix well and make into six patties, ¾ inch thick. Place in baking dish. Bake at 350 degrees about 1 hour.

Parsley Potatoes

6 medium new potatoes
1 C. boiling water
2 Tbsp. butter
½ C. minced parsley
Salt
Pepper

Scrape potatoes and place in baking dish. Season with salt and add boiling water. Cover and bake about 1 hour at 350 degrees. Drain and add melted butter. Roll each potato around in butter and sprinkle with parsley.

Buttered Carrots

6 - 8 large carrots
½ C boiling water
2 Tbsp. butter or margarine
½ tsp. salt
Pepper

Scrape carrots and cut in uniform pieces. Place in a baking dish, add water and seasonings. Cover and bake at 350 degrees about 1 hour.

Brownies Delicious

2 C. graham cracker crumbs
1 can sweetened condensed milk
1 C. semi-sweet chocolate bits
½ C. nut meats
Few grains salt

Crush graham crackers with rolling pin until crumbs are fine. Combine with remaining ingredients. Pour mixture into greased, 8" x 8" pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 50 minutes.

Hallelujahas For Yellow

Butter was described in a proverb as "gold in the morning, silver at noon, and lead at night."

Well, you remember the good old days when mother made white, sweet butter. In this blooming year of 1949 the most expensive butter on the market is "sweet butter," and being uncolored, it is therefore white.

The butter interests are reported in Washington as ready to repeal all the oleo taxes, but when margarine is sold it is not to be colored yellow like butter. Of course that doesn't prevent the dairy interests from doing as they please about making butter that is yellow, or white.

The Washington Evening Star suggests in an editorial: "Let butter be labeled butter: margarine be labeled margarine, and then let the people decide which they want to buy without offending their color prejudices." The editorial concludes with the sentence: "That is the only sensible solution for the buying public."

Fish & Game Arrests Reach All Time High

Lester C. Bailey, chief of the Ohio Division of Conservation's law enforcement section, reported today that the fish and game law arrests in Ohio during 1948 totalled 3081 exceeding any previous year by more than 500.

In only 10 cases out of the 3081 arrests, law enforcement officers failed to secure a conviction.

Violators convicted paid $86,130.50 in fines. The money so collected is used, along with the income from the sale of licenses, for fish and game conservation and restoration work.

For the past eight years arrests ran like this: 1440 in 1940 2111 for 1941 1453 in 1942 1402 in 1943 921 in 1944 906 in 1945, 1777 for 1946, 2554 in 1947 and 3081 for 1948.

Fishing license sales for the 1948 fishing season increased over 1947 by 281,857 while hunting license sales for the 1948 season are expected to exceed the previous year by more than a hundred thousand. "This," Conservation Commissioner H. A. Rider, said today, "might account for some of the increase in the number of arrests."

Economic Highlights

January 10, 1949
Happenings That Affect the Dinner Pails, Dividend Checks and Tax Bills of Every Individual National and International Problems Inseparable From Local Welfare

Each session of each branch of Congress is opened with a prayer, in which a chaplain usually expresses the hope that the lawmakers will be blessed with a high degree of wisdom. That hope will be shared by everyone in the country to an unusual extent this year. Few peacetime Congresses have been faced with more difficult issues to decide.

In the field of foreign policy, the Marshall Plan, probably with extensive revisions, will be continued. The acts of Paul Hoffman, in his role as chief of ERP, have met with general approval of the members of both parties. But there are great unanswered questions remaining—as, for instance, what if anything we shall do about China, and what changes may be made in our controversial policies in Greece, where American officers are to all intents and purposes active military leaders in the civil war. The fact that communism throughout the world has made great strides since the last Congress met, will not go unremarked.

On the domestic front, the first matters of business will be concerned with the legislative program laid down by the President during and after the campaign. As the outlook shapes up now, the Taft-Hartley Act will be extensively revised, but it will not be repealed in toto. Direct price control will not be imposed, and it is doubtful if, under the current conditions, the President will ask for it. It is probable that a modified public housing bill will pass, but not so extensive a measure as the Administration favors. The military budgets will be the subject of much debate, and it is quite possible that the $15,000,000,000 ceiling which Mr. Truman espouses will be exceeded. And, if coming events seem to justify it, an all-inclusive stand-by bill, to go into immediate effect if another national emergency is declared by Congress, may be passed.

The cost of government will be a factor in the debate on all the principal measures. In the view of the President's council of economic advisors, there is no hope for a substantial reduction in governmental spending "for years to come." In the view of others, that opinion is not necessarily right. That is one reason why the Hoover report on governmental reorganization has been so eagerly awaited in many circles.

This report, which is the work of a huge staff of experts working under the ex-President, is the most complete analysis of the mechanics of our government ever attempted. Excerpts from it have been published, and the whole report will be available before long. The purpose of the monumental work is to find ways and means to make government more efficient and more economical without eliminating any necessary service.

The report is critical of the military services, on the grounds that desirable co-operation among them in many matters has not been accomplished and that each service maintains expensive, overlapping bureaus which should be consolidated. It believes that we have not made much progress toward the goal of unification, and that extensive reorganization of our system of administering the whole defense establishment is necessary.

The report recommends important changes in the manner of operation of the sprawling post office department, designed to place it on a sounder financial basis. At present, post office revenues all go into the general fund of the Treasury, and Congress makes appropriations each year for meeting the department's expenses. The report recommends that the post office keep its revenues and pay its overhead out of them. In this connection, the Postmaster General will ask for higher mail rates on some classifications.

The report takes notice of the fact that the government often has trouble securing the services of good men, due to low pay scales in high categories. The rank and file of routine workers in government average a little higher income than their equivalents in private industry. But, going up the ladder, the situation is reversed and men whose responsibilities are tremendous are poorly paid. If the report is followed, government salaries on the top levels will be greatly increased. The President's pay, for instance, would be doubled—from $75,000 to $150,000 a year. That $75,000 figure, incidentally, was adopted about 40 years ago.

All in all, the report dwells heavily on the wasteful duplication of government functions. There are innumerable lending agencies, health and medical bureaus, planning sections, and so on, all of which have large staffs, all of which make a noticeable dent in the budget and many of which could be eliminated outright or combined with others. The motive of the Hoover Commission is to give Congress a clear and detailed blueprint which will make quick remedial action possible.

Congress has a bombshell on its hands in the amazing evidence produced by the Un American Activities Investigation. The Whittaker Chambers-Alger Hiss affair cannot be passed off without going into every ramification of the matter and finding out where the truth lies. It seems plain that confidential government information, some in the top secret classification, found its way into the hands of foreign agents, and that American officials must have cooperated in one fashion or another. The temper of Congress is to ferret out what happened, and to make such occurrences impossible in the future.

Another "All-Time Peak"

The American steel industry is always getting the raps in Washington because it does not seem to give a whoop whether or not it plays ball with Uncle Sam. The other day big steel flashed a big advertisement announcing that "America's Steel Capacity Reaches All-Time Peak . . . and Still Rising." Question: Why should the steel folks give notice through an advertisement that everything is milk and honey with them?

Getting Down Off The High Horse

The "luxury trade" has been given a punch in the face and all of a sudden reports from different parts of the country show that demands for everything from furs, jewelry and costly "doo dads," is losing its charm. The Christmas season a disappointment to merchants, but in the days and weeks ahead of that time the slump in luxuries continued to subside. Still, employment and wages are good, and the family that lived in the olden days will get by. An encouraging fact is that sales of appliances and useful and durable goods are going on.

People Visit Historical Places

Columbus, January 27.—The Ohio State Archaeological and Historical Society's attendance has hit a new high during 1948, according to Erwin C. Zepp, Director of the Society. Visitation at the State Memorials and the Ohio State Museum, Columbus reached 1,770,790.

State Memorials ranking highest in attendance among the 52 administered by the Society are Clark State Memorial with 278,192; Fort Ancient 182,446; Schoenbrunn 120001; and Fort Meigs 171,380. The attendance at the Ohio State Museum was 88,782.

Not only in the matter of attendance is interest in Ohio's history shown to be on the increase for 4,540 leaflets, "Ohio Landmarks," have been requested from 76 counties of the state, from 223 towns and cities, from 15 states and 3 foreign countries, with orders being received every day.

Edison Day

February 11th, the birthday of Thomas Alva Edison will be observed on a nationwide scale, as it has in past years. The emphasis is to be placed upon community recognition of the inventor's great contributions to human betterment, and all manner of civic and service organizations will play a leading part.

The achievements of Edison are too well known to need repeating. Foremost among them were his successful experiments in the science of electricity, which provided the groundwork on which the whole vast power industry was built, and which have revolutionized living and working habits of the American people. Edison Day thus becomes a tribute to one of the greatest public benefactors the world has ever known.

But there is more to it than this. Edison Day must also be seen as a celebration of the greatest force for progress that exists —the freedom of the individual to explore, to create, to fail and to succeed, all without coercion or domination by government. Can anyone believe that the electric industry, which is Edison's monument, would have reached its present stage of growth and public service had government controlled it from the beginning? Government mistakes, but it never creates. Government takes no chances that it can avoid.

Edison was in the great tradition of this country. It is a tradition that those who are seeking to socialize and regiment our energies and resources would destroy.

Our Big Government

The Hoover Commission reports that organizational methods, effective twenty years ago are no longer applicable because the growth of skills and methods in private organization has long since outmoded many of the methods of the government.

Hands Up!

The first American railroad was built between Baltimore and Washington, one hundred and fifty years ago. In early times, immense land grants were made by the Federal Government for the building of more and more railroads. At the turn of the present century the railroads were leaders of transportation over the United States.

After 1906 rebating to big shippers became a criminal offense and the Interstate Commerce Commission was empowered to make rates for interstate business.

Senator Robert M. LaFollette was the man who removed the iron hand of political power from railroad managers. As the years passed by the political influence and power of railway companies diminished.

Speaking for the New York Central System the other day, L. W. Horning, vice president of the lines, declared emphatically that the railroads cannot keep on increasing their rates to meet insatiable demands of their employes because the railroads are constantly losing traffic to competitors.

At the present time, a million workers are demanding $1,500,000,000 wages and reduced work week demands. The railroads confess that competitive forms of transportation, that include buses, trucks, airlines, inland water carriers and pipe lines, are rapidly taking over the handling of passenger and freight business. Mr. Horning told the Presidential Fact Finding Board that the railroads are suffering, while competitive forms of transportation are increasing. He also told the Fact-Finding Board that it is a fact, "that the railroads cannot, as inferred by the employees, increase their rates at will." The rail executives indicate that the railroads are up against conditions which are gradually crowding them out of business.

It's just too bad to witness the slowing down of the railroads, because those lines were largely responsible for the rapid growth of the United States up until 25 or 30 years ago. The railroads are holding "hands up" and pleading for their existence.

Communists

There seems to be a lot of fiddle-dee and fiddle-dum as to whether a Congressional Committee has a right to question a witness as to whether he is a Communist. The Department of Justice seems to have no doubt about its power to put suspected Communists on the spot.

In our humble opinion the Communist is a plain straight-out enemy of the Government of the United States and should be treated as such. We may have to look upon the Communist threat in Europe from one standpoint which is that the Russians are apparently plain enemies of the United States. Communists are traitors, and they defy the American system of Government.

We already have had too many radicals and trouble rousers in our United States, and the idea of protecting Communists who refuse to tell Congressional Committees that they are loyal to the Russian plan, is defiance of our ways of life. Every Communist should be booted out of our country. The United Nations should help protect the United States.

The Nation Is Running In The Red

Washington, D. C., — The United States is spending more money than at any previous period of peace times.

Washington is told that President Truman will ask the new Democratic Congress to increase taxes. The indications are that the Democratic Congress will split on the issue of more taxes. But nobody knows.

The latest forecast reveals that the fiscal year ending June 30, 1949, will show expenditures of more than $42-billion dollars, and that indicates a deficit for the year of a billion and a half dollars.

It is probably that the Truman plan, even if it does include an excess-profit tax, will go through.

Most People Can't Buy Houses

After all the fuss-and-feathers about low-rent public housing there are no low-rent public houses. The real estate business has boomed. Thousands of adventurers have gone into the so-called private housing industry. Men and women who are in the lower grades of employment, even with increased wages and salaries, find it almost impossible to rent even a small house, or buy one to be paid for on time.

New York State is trying to do something about it and they are receiving a lot of support from the building trade and contractors. One of the first developments in the Empire State was to discover that there are perhaps 20,000 building mechanics out of work in the State.

Of course everybody would like to see lots of new homes for young and old people. But our economic system is out of joint in many places, including ways and means for poor people to live in rented quarters or in mortgaged quarters of their own.

Problems Right Here At Home

Strikes increase the prices of all manufactured goods, clothing, food, housing, rents, etc. The burdens of World peace are carried by the United States, and everybody knows that the Marshall Plan has the approval of the American Government and our people. But the American people haven't been given necessary support and foreign aid for the United Nations Organization. And, unless that great institution can do a better job than it has in the past, the United States may tire of carrying the load indefinitely. But, if we should pull out, the Communists will defeat all hopes for World peace. That would surely draw the United States into another war.

The Folly Of Federal Control

Dr. George Benson of Harding College, Arkansas, recently made an analysis of the issue now before Congress to finance (grubstake) and furnish Federal Aid (control of Education. He spoke over the radio and Congressman Ralph W. Gwinn of New York State inserted this address in the Congressional Record of January 18th.

Representative Gwinn said: "Many of those who recognize the unanswerable logic of this experienced educator, Dr. George Benson, speaking from one of the poorest States in the Union measured in terms of material things, will wish to send copies of Dr. Benson's broadcast with their personal comments to their Representatives in Washington and to distribute copies in local service clubs."

Dr. Benson's address deserves more space than this Washington correspondent is able to devote to it. But here are some specimens of the way he hit the bull's-eye in pointing out, "The real issue before us today, is not merely $300,000,000 in aid to our public schools; the real issue is whether or not we shall take this most crucial step toward the socialization of America."

He proves very clearly that should Federal Aid to public schools become the rule, we may be assured the principle would shortly be extended to the junior-college level. Dr Benson added further: "With the principle in operation up to the junior-college level, we can expect that it would gradually be extended to the senior level. With that accomplished, private schools and colleges would tend to be squeezed out of existence through one of two procedures, or a combination of both. First, Government policies of cheap money and low interest rates have destroyed the effectiveness of their endowments. High income taxes and high inheritance taxes have also greatly shrunk the sources from which gifts for private schools may come. With a federalized public-school system this threat would become much more serious.

"In the second place, there is already some agitation for legislation to require all children to attend public schools for National indoctrination. With a federalized system of compulsory attendance it is difficult to foresee the day when such legislation would be adopted, and even to the extent that private schools would be virtually eliminated . . .

"The real issue is whether we shall maintain a locally supported and locally controlled public-school system that would virtually eliminate local control and tend to eliminate private and church related school and colleges. The real issue is extremely significant. Upon our decision hinges the future of this Republic.

"The consequences are not difficult to foresee. If we even modestly subsidize the administration of the public schools of the Nation, there will certainly be a tendency for instructors to teach the views of the government in power. As Federal aid and Federal influence should increase, this tendency would become stronger and stronger. In fact, it is my firm conviction that should we start Federal aid to our public schools now, we would see virtual Federal control within a decade, to be followed within one more decade by nationalization of industrial production, transportation, utilities, and agriculture."

Suppose you write to your Congressman or to Congressman Gwinn and ask him for a copy of the full address by Dr. Benson. There is no more able presentation of this vital question in existence, up to date.

Labor Laws

The new Congress may repeal the Taft-Hartley Act. But, maybe not! There is a majority in the Democratic and Republican parties that is almost sure to stand firm in support of the general policies of the labor legislation that was passed by the 80th Congress. The success of that legislation is admitted. The probabilities are that its principal features will remain in any new changes—or shuffling-up with the decrepit old Wagner Act.

The President used the Taft-Hartley law seven times to deal with emergencies, including John L. Lewis's coal strike last spring and the threatened maritime strike. He has personal, political reasons for it all.

There are State laws preventing the closed shop in Nebraska, North Carolina, and Arizona; and similar but less rigid restrictions on the closed shop in a dozen other States. The U. S. Court ruled in 1949 that such laws are permissible, and not a violation of the Constitution on the grounds that "States have power to legislate against what are to be found injurious practices in their commercial and business affairs."

News In The World Of Religion

The major evangelical churches and their missionary agencies are not considering withdrawing their missionaries from China because of communist advance, and most missionaries now there plan to remain of their own free will and as long as they can, a survey by the Foreign Missions Conference of North America indicates. Of 1,758 representatives of the major denominations, only 137 have withdrawn—and these are mostly women with children, or missionaries ready for retirement. Those now in China include: the Presbyterian Church, U.S.A., 235; the Congregational-Christian, 75; the Reformed Church, 39; Protestant Episcopal, 91; United Lutheran, 20; YMCA, 14; Women's American Baptist Foreign Missionary Society, 37; Methodist Division of Foreign Missions, 108; Seventh Day Adventists, 85; Northern Baptist Convention, 57; China Inland Mission, 700; Foreign Women's Division of Christian Service of the Methodist Church, 150; YWCA, 5 field workers; Evangelical and Reformed 19; Evangelical United Brethren, 23; and 100 from the Augustana, Evangelical and Lutheran Free synods.

Because they believe that Christians are better developed and the community better served by small churches than by large ones, the 300 members of the Seventh Day Adventist Church in Hyattsville, Md., have refused to enlarge their church edifice. Instead they have given funds and labor to help erect an "offspring" church in nearby Decatur Heights, and have transferred thirty families to that new congregation. And the new church hopes within a decade to help build somewhere else for its overgrown constituency. "Never put up a 'big' church, and don't enlarge the one you have," is the philosophy of the Hyattsville congregation as expressed by Elder Russell Quackenbush. "When you get crowded, build another church in a nearby community and let your overflow members go there." The belief of this group is that the big church is too cold and formal, people are easily lost, are not kept busy and soon wander away.

Mother Hughes is dead....To many thousands of people in Kansas and in Southern Rhodesia, Africa, Mrs. E. D. Hughes, who died recently at the age of 92 in the "Mother Hughes Room" of Wesley Hospital Wichita, Kansas, was the personification of the best in the Christian ministry. It was she who was instrumental in establishing the maternity section of Wesley Hospital, raising much of the money by personal solicitation in the city; she was a charter member of, Bethany Church of the city, active in its Sunday School for most of her adult life; and she was the founder and benefactress of the maternity section of the Methodist Hospital and Dispensary in Mutambara, Southern Rhodesia. Mrs. Hughes also provided funds for the Hudson Memorial Church and for evangelistic efforts among the Bocha tribesmen at Mount Makonwe, Southern Rhodesia under the direction of Methodist Missionary E. L. Sells. Mrs. Hughes was born in Birmingham, England. Her birth made her mother an invalid, and it was that fact that set her mind and her hand to making life safer for mothers and babies.

The National Catholic Rural Life Conference, of which the Rt. Rev. Monsignor L. G. Ligutti, of Des Moines, is executive, urges upon Congress a thorough examination and review of present American immigration policies, laws and practices; and that an objective study of the subject be made in the light of changed conditions in both the national and internal fields. The conference declares that an excessively restrictive immigration policy is socially, economically, and culturally undesirable. "We do not advocate indiscriminate immigration, nor do we desire an influx of foreigners that might upset our own cherished traditions and institutions; but we emphasize that any policy of immigration based on racial or group superiority is both undemocratic and un-Christian."

From at least one leader of the Christian church the world is not all black. He is Dr. Arthur S. Wheelock, chairman of the International Relations Department of the Congregational Council for Social Action, who declares that "the tide has begun to turn toward free cooperative societies in Europe, and the constructive elements of the European Recovery Program have begun to count." He finds encouragement, too, in the UN Declaration of Human Rights, in the Genocide Convention, in the work of the Economic and Social Council, in the admittance of DP's to the United States, and in the formation of the World Council of Churches. "The atom bomb, China, Palestine, and many other problems press for wise solution," he warns, "and there is a long way to go before a world of free men can stand on their feet, healthy, strong, and without fear or despair....But Christians can go forward with hope and courage, and be assured that God's purpose is finally beyond defeat."

The wedding will be an event of February 20th.

"Marriage And The Home"

The Grace Lutheran Church, 492 Oakwood Ave., are having a series of addresses on "Marriage and the Home."

They will be held at 7:30 p.m., and will include outstanding speakers. The addresses and dates are as follows:—

I. January 30. The Christian Ideal of Marriage, by Rev. Paul Baumgartner, St. Paul Lutheran Church, Massillon, Ohio.

II. February 6. The Importance of the Christian Home, by Rev. Harold R. Albert, First English Lutheran Church, Columbus O.

III. February 13. The Problem of Broken Homes, by Miss Genevieve Taylor, Referee, Court of Domestic Relations, Columbus, O.

IV. February 27. Helping Youth To Prepart For Marriage, by Dr. Floyd Faust, Broad Street Church of Christ, Columbus, Ohio.

V. March 6. How To Be Happy, Though Married, by Prof. Theodore Liefeld, Professor of New Testament Theology, Capital University, Columbus, Ohio.

Special music at each meeting, followed by a social hour and refreshments.

Womens Club Plan Recital

Two years ago, the Women's Music Club presented the Pasquier Trio in concert here in Columbus. The artistic work of these three brothers met with such acclaim that the club is again sponsoring them in a recital of chamber music on Wednesday evening, February 2, at the Central High School auditorium, at 8:30 p.m.

This unusual trio is composed of Jean, violinist, Pierre, viola, and Etienne, cellist. Born of musical parents, the brothers early laid a foundation for their superb ensemble playing by many hours devoted to performing great music in their home.

After intensive study in Tours and Paris, following which they graduated with prizes, the three formed their trio, making their debut in Paris in March, 1927.

Since then they have toured extensively, playing over sixty concerts in a single season. In America they have become favorites in the field of chamber music.

Tickets for their appearance here may be obtained at the box office, Lyon and Healy Music Store, 59 E. Gay Street.

BURMA SOCIAL CLUB TO MEET

The Burma Social Club will meet Thursday, January 27th at 12:30 for a casserole luncheon at 297 S. High Street.

Altar Society To Meet

The regular meeting of the Rosary Altar Society and Parish Council of Corpus Christi Parish will be held on Tuesday evening February 1st in the school hall. A short period of the meeting time will be devoted to questions on religion which will be conducted by the Reverend Father John Graf. Games and a social hour will follow the meeting.

Mrs. Leo F. Hall, president, is sending out an appeal to the members for donations to the society's cupboard. These donations are used as prizes and awards at the monthly meetings. The maintenance committee has been widened to include Mrs. Paul Breitfeller as chairman, assisted by Mrs. Leo Bleifus, Mrs. L. Huefner, Mrs. Otto Feldmeir and Mrs. Theodore Griesenbrock.

Miss Mary Kelly Wedded Recently

Miss Mary L. Kelly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Kelly, 707 S. Sixth St., became the bride of Mr. Carl F. Buttler, 32 E. Beck St., on January 8. Msgr. Edmund A. Burkley officiated at the 9 o'clock high mass at St. Mary's Church.

The bride wore a gown of white lace styled with long sleeves ending in points over the hands and a full skirt ending in a circular train. An orange blossom tiara held her fingertip veil of illusion. She carried a bouquet of white roses and a white prayer book, a gift of the bridegroom.

Miss Ruth Kelly, sister of the bride, was her maid of honor, and wore a heavenly blue taffeta gown and carried a colonial bouquet of pink shattered carnations. Miss Jessie Kelly, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid and wore a gown of heather rose and carried a colonial bouquet of pink rosebuds.

Mr. Fred Buttler, Jr., brother of the bridegroom, served as best man, and ushers were Mr. Edward Kelly, Jr., and Mr. Robert Culp.

Following a wedding trip by airplane to Panama, the new Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Buttler will reside at 878 Lazelle St.

Miss Sylvia Cunin To Wed Soon

Mr. and Mrs. Sid Cunin, 828 Livingston Ave., announce the engagement of their daughter, Sylvia, to Mr. Sid Rather, son of Mrs. Bertha Rather and the late Isaac Rather.

The bride-elect is a graduate of South High School and is associated with the F. & R. Lazarus Co. Mr. Rather is a graduate of South High School and is employed at the Veterans Administration.

The wedding will take place in the near future.

To Wed In Early Spring

Mrs. G. J. Dan[illegible] announcement of her sister, Dor[illegible] to, to Mr. John Volcan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Volcan of Wierton, W. Va.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Central High School and is associated with the Bureau of Unemployment. Mr. Volcan is associated with the Battelle Memorial Institute.

The wedding will take place in the early spring.

Philharmonic Fund

Workers in the South Side are attending instruction meetings this week, in preparation for their part in the Columbus Philharmonic Orchestra's Maintenance Fund campaign February 1 to 15.

The sum $120,000 is announced as the amount, above earnings, needed to maintain the Columbus symphony through 1949 and until campaign time again in 1950.

Byron P. Redman, Columbus manager for the Kroger Company, is general chairman, and Mrs. George M. Curtis is campaign chairman of the women's division. Approximately one thousand men and women will be working under their direction during the campaign period.

According to Mr. Redman, achievement of the goal is needed to insure a continuation of the orchestra's program of children's and "pops" concerts, as well as the regular evening series, during 1949 and the early months of 1950.

Emphasizing the need for public support, Chairman Redman says: "No good symphony is, or is likely ever to be, completely self-supporting. Good music, like others of the better things of life—such as our schools and churches—requires public support.

"To price concert tickets high enough to pay all the bills would bring a decrease, rather than an increase, in income—hundreds of people now buying tickets would then be unable to come at all."

The chairman reports that 7000 Columbus people made contributions in the campaign last year, thus helping to keep Philharmonic programs within the reach of all the people, children as well as adults.

SOUTH METHODIST

The Kings Workers Class will sponsor the Church Wide Party Friday Jan. 28th, 8 p.m. to 11 p.m.

A special program has been planned by the Committee in charge, followed by folk games and refreshments.

Southway Post News

Lieutenant Colonel Carl W. Huehler, 670 Rhoads Place has been appointed chairman of the Pacific Area Living Memorial Committee of Southway Post No. 144 American Legion by Commander Thomas J. Cronin.

The purpose of this committee is to aid in establishing living Pacific area where our forces were engaged during World War II as adopted at the National Convention in Miami last September.

The All-Star Gutter Bowlers team of Southway Post, captained by Oscar W. Weitzeneker will play a special match with the team of Howard M. Harrison Post 9092, V.F.W. at Burkholts Alley Saturday afternoon. Al Pfaff is captain of the V.F.W. team.

Mrs. Bertha Grambley Passes Away

Mrs. Bertha Grambley, 87, died Sunday, January 16, in her home, 275 Thurman Ave.

Mrs. Grambley is survived by four daughters, Mrs. Bertha Warren of Detroit, Mrs. Esther Jessing, Mrs. Margaret May and Mrs. Marie Griffen, all of Columbus; six sons, Carl Fleissbach, of Chicago; William Grambley, Cleveland; Henry Fleissbach and Francis, John and Fred Grambley, all of Columbus; 28 grandchildren, and 26 great-grandchildren. She is also survived by two sisters, Agnes Geiler and Selma Zeitler, now living in Germany.

Burial was from Woodyard Funeral Home, 1346 S. High St. A Requiem Mass was sung at St. Leo Church. Mrs. Grambley was laid to rest at Mt. Calvary Cemetery.

Some Maine sardine canners are using sunflower oil instead of olive oil because of the better taste.

The children in the Morning Kindergarten are looking forward eagerly to being in the First Grade the Second Semester. Every child has shown progress in his habits and attitudes and should be well adjusted in 1B.

The Afternoon Kindergarten Class too, is looking forward to being morning students in Kindergarten A. They, too, are progressing well but this class has had the disadvantage of having quite a bit of illness. We hope to see all of the Kindergarten B children here regularly next semester.

—R—

This is a last reminder to our parents either starting pupils in the kindergarten or the first grade. The first day of school is always a busy one, making it necessary for many to wait. Registrating a new pupil, on next Monday, Jan. 31st, will be far more difficult than taking care of it this week. Because of vaccination against small pox and immunization against diphtheria, it also takes some time to handle these things with your family doctor, who is also a very busy person. Getting started on these matters, now will help your child a great deal in getting the proper start next week with the rest of the class.

Cook And Son Get Hot

Thursday night, Jan. 20th, in the Grand League at the Swan Alleys just about the hottest team was Cook & Son. They started with a medium game of 865 then they took on the heat and bowled the highest game of the season in the league a 1017, then finished with 913, totaling 2795 for three. The 1017 game was bowled in the following manner: Lew Brown 178, Paul Myers 256, Art Linden 246, Carl Turner 162, & Jumbo Glass 175.

Probably practicing for the City Tournament. Keep up the good work boys, your sponsor will like that.

Less Pressure

The Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System has reported a listing of "inflationary pressures." Businessmen according to the November Federal Reserve Bulletin, are becoming more cautious in building up an inventory. The increase in private construction is flattening out. That is because there has been a resistance on the part of buyers to current high prices. Farm purchasing power has passed its post-war peak and consumers at the grocery stores are insisting on more goods for less money. That has had a strong effect on conditions.

Is That So?

A noted Commentator who boosted the wrong candidate for the Presidency now suggests that organized labor might win the scheme to repeal the Taft-Hartley Act. Now, down in their hearts, the majority of people in political circles and in private life, regard these big labor strikes as challenges to the power of the National Government to maintain peace. We have laws for every kind of cases, for all individuals, and for groups like labor unions. Then why there should be an exception in handling disputes between labor bosses and employers doesn't seem reasonable.

Getting down to brass tacks it is a proven fact that the big labor unions are pretty apt to believe that before there is a general strike that some method of voluntary "cooling off" period might be agreed upon to head off court proceedings, or interference by Government authorities to seize "struck plants" and facilities.

This correspondent predicted during the Presidential campaign that the incoming Congress would approve many points in the Wagner Act and the Taft-Hartley Act and revise these measures and put teeth in the laws to prevent most strikes, and to keep the relations between employers and workers in status quo.

In fact, nobody knows better than President Truman that those wholesale strikes are the Number One stepping stones towards higher costs of production and higher costs of the necessities of life. So keep your patience, because the probabilities are that the President, in the next Congress will rise to the occasion and strengthen existing labor laws so that they can be used to bring about settlements between managers and workers in future years. That may all sound optimistic, nevertheless your correspondent in Washington is expressing an opinion wisely shared by political leaders in the National Capital.

Are Schools Slipping?

The number of school-age children in the United States dropped between 1940 and 1947, but will rise again when the post-war baby crop arrives of school age, the Census Bureau reported today.

The school-age population, figured from 5 to 17 years of age, declined 1.4 per cent from 1940 to July 1, 1947, the bureau said. The number last July was 29,317,000.

The drop, the bureau explained, was due to a decline in the birth rate in the years 1935-1942. The birth rate has gone up, however, since the war.

The school-age population fell off in thirty-three states, Pennsylvania and New York dropped more than 200,000 each, and Rhode Island and North Dakota had the biggest loss—14 per cent each.

California, on the other hand, gained 459,000 school-age children, an increase of 37.4 per cent. That was the biggest increase among fifteen states with gains. Washington was second with 121,000, or 36.7 per cent.

Too Bad If True

The Chicago Tribune charged President Truman of having proposed "socialistic" legislation. In fact the Tribune said the program was 'the same ruinous socialism he advocated on the stump." Now another side of the case was offered by the New York Times, which said. "Better health, better schools, broader social security, more areas reclaimed—surely these all are proper objectives for the Democratic people, and the proper concern of a Democratic Government in this modern age." The Times interviewed a lot people and found that their reactions were favorable. "On the whole, labor liked it; business didn't," the Times declared

RUSSELL THEATER Sunday and Monday

This is a technicolor picture with Russell Theater presents "When My Baby Smiles At Me", with Betty Grable and Dan Dailey. his is a technicolor picture with an entertaining blend of laughter, music and a few heart-throbs. Among the high spots are Miss Grable's singing of the "Hit Parade" Song, "What Did I Do?" Dailey's smooth tap routines and the comedy squabbling of June Havoc and Jack Oakie as burlesque old-timers. The film follows the "good old days" formula of the original play and interest is maintained throughout the plot. "Variety Time" with Leon Errol and Frankie Carle is also on the program. News and cartoon completes the bill.

Ideal Theater Shows "Homestretch"

This Sunday and Monday the Ideal Theater is showing "Homestretch." Cornel Wilde and Maureen O'Hara are starred in this picture of boy-meets-girl against a background of horse breeding, trading and racing. This story is so handsomely mounted, ably scripted, expertly directed and so skillfully portrayed that the picture ranks among the past best among racing films. Its innumerable entertainment and exhibition assets are not dimmed by the fact that it is photographed in splashing Technicolor, which tint process supplies an added fillip to the photoplay's suspenseful moments, the running of several turf classics, with a simulated version of the Kentucky Derby as a climatic touch. Also showing is "13-Lead Soldiers" with Tom Conway as Bulldog Drummond, plus news and cartoon.

"Duke Of West Point" At Columbia Theater

The Columbia Theater presents Sunday, Monday and Tuesday "Duke of West Point" starring Louis Hayward. For those of you who like a picture with a military touch, Duke of West Point will take you through our Nations training school for it's future army officers. You'll live and love, study and play with the students from start to finish. A heart-warming picture of the struggle of boys to become men. Also on the bill is Adolphe Menjou in King of the Turf.

"Coroner Creek" At Southland

Savage Fury highlights "Coroner Creek," the pulse-pounding Cinecolor Western epic, scheduled for the screen of the Southland Theatre this Friday and Saturday. In this scene, Doug Fowley is Randolph Scott's unwilling shield, while George Macready gets ready to fire.

"Coroner Creek" co-stars Scott with lovely Marguerite Chapman. Another rip-roaring Western, "Singin' Spurs," starring the popular Hoosier Hotshots, will be shown with "Coroner Creek." plus the exciting sports special, "Football Headliners of 1948."

Sunday, "The Three Musketeers," historical adventure romance of 1625 France, will open a three-day run as a single offering at the Southland. Lana Turner, Gene Kelly, June Allyson, Van Heflin, Vincent Price and Keenan Wynn head the all-star cast of this mighty Technicolor spectacle, filled with swashbuckling escapades.

NOTICE
We are as surprised as you!!!! but recently several small apartments have been found by our advertisers who placed a wanted to rent ad in our classified section. It seems that Landlords no longer have to advertise to find tenants. They watch the Wanted to rent ads in the paper and then contact you. It saves them from having so many unnecessary calls after the place has been rented. So if you are looking for a place try a Wanted to rent ad, you may find a place too. Just call GA 9262 or GA 71121 and ask for Bea Lewis.

Columbus United World Federalists Hold Meeting

The Columbus Chapter of the United World Federalists, the national movement which has caught the imagination and loyalty of thousands in only a few years is holding its second semi-annual membership meeting at the Columbus Art Gallery on January 31, at 8 p.m.

The World Government Movement is one of the social-political phenomena of the 20th century. In one year the United World Federalists membership has increased from 12,000 to 36,000. Its national executive board includes such diverse characters as W. T. Holliday, President of Ohio Standard Oil Company, and James Carey, Secretary-Treasurer of C. I. O.; to W. C. Douglas, Associate Justice United States Supreme Court, and Cass Canfield, Editor of Harper's Magazine. Cord Meyer, Jr., ex-U.S. Marine Captain, is the National President.

The Goal of the United World Federalists is to strengthen the United Nations into a federal world government with limited powers adequate to prevent war. Though an independent U. S. organization, it cooperates with similar movements springing up all over the world.

The January meeting agenda of the 175 Columbus members calls for election of officers, plans for the World Government week in March, movies and preparation for the visit of Robert Lee Humber whom the Reader's Digest called "One Man Crusader" because alone and unaided he had from 1940 to 1945 succeeded in getting fourteen state legislatures to adopt resolutions favoring the United World Federalists proposal.

Though a meeting for members only, interested individuals may attend or receive more information by contacting the office, 209 East Broad Street, AD 1327.

Neighbors Celebrate Golden Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Quickle of 2375 S. 6th St., were honored Friday evening at a family dinner and party for 50 invited guests in the home of their daughter, Mrs. Orville Conrad, 1525 S. High Street.

They were married Jan. 21, 1899, in Bidwell, Gallia County, and have resided in Columbus most of their married lives. Mr. Quickle, 75, is a retired C&O railroader; his wife is 70. Both are in good health and he is especially active in the Townsend Club.

In addition to the daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Quickle have two grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

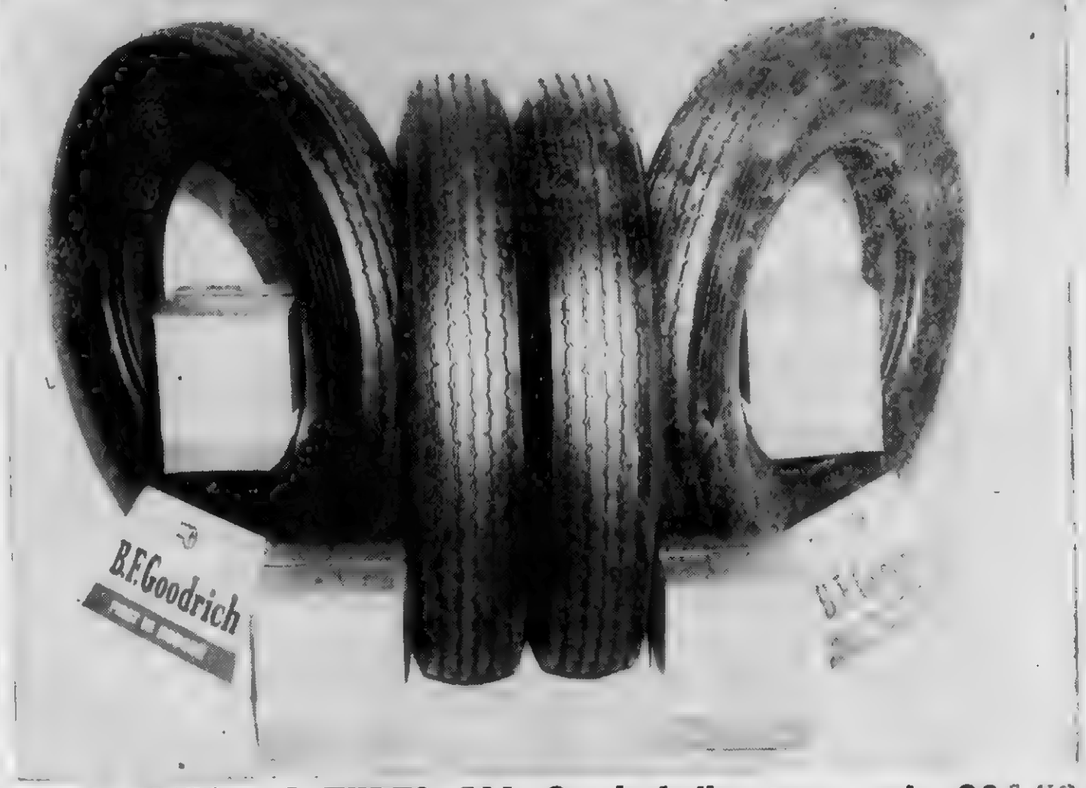
Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Stephens, 2362 S. 5th St., celebrated their golden wedding anniversary Jan. 19, with a family dinner attended by six of their eight living children.



The couple retired two years ago after having operated a grocery store both in Millfield, Athens County, and in Columbus. Mr. Stephens is 73, his wife 67. Both are in good health.

Wedding Planned For February 12th

Announcement is being made of the engagement of Miss Bertha Elizabeth Dehl, daughter of Mrs. Mae Dehl, 1463 E. Columbus St., and the late William J. Dehl, to Mr. Andrew Paul Grossman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick A. Grossman, 1305 Lockbourne Rd.

Miss Dehl is a graduate of Holy Rosary High School and is employed in the offices of Swift & Co. Mr. Grossman was graduated from St. Charles Borromeo College and Ohio State University, where he received his degree from the college of commerce. He is now employed as a sales engineer of the Munkle Heating Co.

The open church weding will be an event of Feb. 12 in Holy Rosary Church.

Too Many Bad Lobbyists

There were 1,142 registered lobbyists representing about 500 organizations who are now in the spotlight because they are accused of "working assiduously for special favors from Congress."

Nearly every movement of National concern is represented by spokesmen who appear before Committees of Congress to present their cases. This is recognized as a perfectly legitimate activity.

However, the Department of Justice started an investigation into the extent to which special groups, in appealing to Congress, were complying with the Lobbying Act of 1946. This law requires registering and accounting for how-much-it-cost. President Truman says there is a "desperate attempt to block the legislative program" of the new Administration.

Congress should know absolutely what the suspected lobbyists are driving at. For instance, business men and their lawyers have a perfect right to state their views and opinions before Committees of Senators, House Members, and all Departments of the Government. These groups "will not harm legitimate representation of any group in Washington, according to a statement endorsed at the White House.

June Wedding Is Planned

Mr. and Mrs. Orville Bumgarner 1266 Bryden Rd., are announcing the engagement of their daughter Ruth Harriet, to Mr. Amos I. Garrison, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Amos I. Garrison, 383 Studer Ave.

Miss Bumgarner is a graduate of South High School and is a senior at Ohio State University School of Nursing where she is a member of Alpha Lambda Delta and Sigma Theta Tau honorary sororities.

Mr. Garrison is a graduate of McArthur High School, McArthur, Ohio, and is a senior in the college of agriculture at Ohio State University where he is a member of Phi Eta Sigma honorary fraternity.

The wedding will be an event of June.

Not as a Pistol

"Won't your wife hit the ceiling when you get home tonight?"

"She probably will. She's a hell of a poor shot."

Now We're Off Washington Is Told

A great many changes may be looked for in the policies of our Government. Major changes are proposed in our National affairs by President Truman. The 81st Congress will support him to the limit.

Everybody will agree with the President that "many of our shortcomings stand out in bold relief; we are suffering from excessively high prices; our production is still not large enough to satisfy our demands." He wants to raise minimum wages and to boost small business to the same importance as "growing monopoly." He reasserts the sad fact that our natural resources are being wasted. He hit the bull's-eye when he asked for the relief of 50,000,000 families who are living in slums and firetraps and 2,000,000 families who share their homes with others.

The Message of the President contains a good deal of horse sense. The President is doing his level best to straighten out a mess of problems. The American people are going along with the new Administration in every possible way—wishing the Democrats well in their attempts to improve conditions. The outstanding mystery is to find out where Uncle Sam is at! That Old Boy is spending billions trying to rebuild peace throughout the World. We are being frustrated by Communism. So, there is nothing to guarantee that the country will get back to normal for a long time.

One thing certain is that taxes will be high in the coming fiscal year. That doesn't imply the approval of the President's plan for a $4 billion tax increase. The indications are that there will be no excess-profits tax on corporations. But, suppose business is good? In that event the tax rate need not be raised. On the other hand, suppose business is bad? The two "ifs" are already putting [illegible] of writing letters will be more understandable than now. Congress will: Watch and Wait.

The Federal government has become "the most gigantic business on earth."

In the last twenty years civil employees have risen from 570,000 to 2,100,000; the number of bureaus, services and units have increased "four-fold to over eighteen hundred; annual expenditures have jumped from $3,600,000,000 to over $42,000,000,000, and the National debt for an average family has climbed from $500 to about $7,500."

A Hundred Million Motor Vehicles

Automobiles were born in Europe, nearly 100 years before any appeared in U. S. Yet today the U. S. has nearly four of every five passenger cars on earth and over half the World's trucks and buses.

Why?

To answer that question, the Automobile Manufacturers Association has published a special booklet, commemorating the production in 1948 of the 100 millionth motor vehicle built in the United States.

The booklet reviews the industry's birth and growth. How early mass production began here as car makers fought for customers. How 1,500 companies entered the field, each with some new ideas to improve vehicles. How the fierce competition gradually cut down the number until today 56 firms survive, producing 21 makes of passenger cars, 39 makes of trucks and 20 makes of motor buses.

But out of that competition came mass production machinery to give us better motor vehicles at lower cost—mass production machinery that created mass markets, higher wages, a steady rise in automotive plant employment, and new purchasing power for millions of people as cars and trucks were produced in abundance at prices that came steadily in reach of more people.

And so by 1948, just 56 years after the Duryea brothers of Springfield, Massachusetts, built the first successful U. S. gasoline-engine automobile, 100 million motor vehicles had rolled off the assembly lines of U. S. plants—while a total of 24 million vehicles were being built in all of the rest of the World combined.

It couldn't have happened anywhere but in U. S., the booklet points out. For it required the type of economic freedom that most nations have never known. Class distinctions, private cartels, or government controls, have always prevented competition in business in most nations, and suppressed individual initiative, and limited production to class markets instead of mass markets.

Hope of profits, plus necessity to compete for profits, the booklet declares, is what caused early U. S. car makers to abandon the European method of building cars by hand, and caused them to risk their money in machinery to produce more and better cars at lower prices.

Looking In The Wrong Direction

The Attorney General of Florida, J. Tom Watson, has raised a yell connected with an appeal that States must organize and combat Federal encroachment of State Rights.

The only trouble with these State Righters is that they are defying the authority of the Federal Government. Watson & Company have got the cart before the horse. The States have specific rights in the documents arranged by the founders, which gave the right of the Government to put seceding States of the South back in their place. But they don't seem to remember that there was a Civil War in which the Confederates conceded that the Government at Washington was to continue as it was handed down by Washington, Jefferson and all the founders.

Why Not Be A A School Teacher?

An announcement by a big education association sends up a toy balloon to warn the public that 1,250,000 new teachers are needed during the present year and that there is a "critical shortage of elementary school teachers." It seems that the local school boards in towns and ... as well as the larger communities and cities as well, are perfectly competent to get their own quarter-and-a-quarter new teachers without lobbying with the Federal Government to pay all the expenses. The local communities have always taken care of their schools and they can keep right on doing it.

Patronize Your Independent Grocer

This week we are introducing you to your neighborhood South Side Grocer.

He is the merchant who is most vitally interested in you and your food problem.

Your neighborhood South Side grocer is a man who believes in ... weight and good merchandise.

To him you are vital, because thru our purchases from him, is the only way he can hope to continue in business.

Let's take last week's prices in the South Side's Independent Grocer and the chain grocer as tabulated below:

Various South Side Independent Grocers

Sirloin Steak	69c lb.
Bacon (sliced)	43c lb.
Sausage (Bulk)	31c lb.
Potatoes	15 lb. for 63c
Grapefruit	10 for 35c

Various Chain Grocers

Sirloin Steak	69c lb.
Bacon (Sliced)	49c lb.
Sausage (Bulk)	45c lb.
Potatoes	(10 lbs.) 59c
Grapefruit	10 for 43c

While all prices may not be the same, if you will buy when you deal with your South Side Independent Grocer, you will spend no more than if you run to the chain grocer.

You will also keep your money here in the community, while the chain store leaves the city each week or each month.

Be smart, patronize your independent South Side Grocer!

Nine Days To Pay Taxes

Franklin County Treasurer C. B. Norris wishes to remind Real Estate Taxpayers of Franklin County the tax books will close Tuesday, February 15, 1949, for the 1st half 1948 tax year.

At the end of four weeks of the six weeks period of collection time, only one half of the current charge of $5,862,589 was collected. This leaves only 9 days in which to collect the balance.

Mr. Norris urges taxpayers to use the mails when possible to avoid standing in line to pay taxes. Personal checks and money orders are acceptable. DO NOT SEND MONEY THRU THE MAIL... POSTAGE STAMPS ARE NOT ACCEPTABLE.

IF YOU OWN REAL ESTATE ... YOU OWE TAXES NOW... unless you have paid or are paying thru a financial institution. Failure to receive tax bill does not excuse you from penalties, interest or possible foreclosure proceedings. If in doubt, contact your County Treasurer either by mail or in person. Please avoid telephone calls if possible.

Tax books must be balanced promptly and turned over to the County Auditor in order to start the June collection, last half 1948, as early as possible. C. B. Norris (Republican) County Treasurer will relinquish his office to Newton A. Thatcher, newly elected County Treasurer, September 4, 1949.

Taxes for the year 1948 are charged to the present Treasurer. This means tax books for the June collection will have to be closed as early in July as possible. The County Auditor and the state examiner will check the accounts as soon as the June tax books are closed. This will take at least 6 weeks.

Mr. Norris wishes to thank the taxpayers of Franklin County, the Press, the Radio Stations, Real Estate companies and the Financial Institutions for their cooperation in making Franklin County one of the soundest in Ohio.

Will Honor Fathers

An interesting meeting has been planned for February tenth at eight o'clock in the school hall, by the PTA of the St. Mary's School.

There will be a party in honor of the Fathers who have worked so zealously to make the organization the success that it is.

In their honor, the Grade School Band will present a musical program followed by Mr. G. Eisel the "Magician."

Refreshments will be served. Mr. George Bonner is Chairman of the Father's Party.

South Side Y Basketball League

In one feature game last Tuesday, Gates Fourth defeated the Wildcats 22 to 21 to scramble the league standings. There are now 3 teams deadlocked for first place. Both teams played hard clean ball. Passen's basket, with seconds left to play was the deciding factor. The Wolves downed Beaver No. 1 37 to 22. Jack Phillips all around player, led the Wolves attack. Billy Webb and Jim Marinello looked good for the Beavers. The Amerigo Jrs. broke into the win column with a hard earned victory over a fighting Beaver No. 2 team 30 to 20. Tom Colegrove and Kenny Lininger led the winners' attack. Don Johnson and Doyle Scarberry led the losers.

Miss Kathryn Holland A Recent Bride

Before an altar decked with gladioli and baby mums glowing in candlelight, Miss Kathryn Eileen Holland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Holland, 920 S. Champion Ave., became the bride of Mr. Emerson W. Mayer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Mayer of Marysville. The Rev. Mr. Otto F. Stolzenburg officiated at the 7:30 p.m. service.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white satin fashioned with a net yoke outlined by a Chantilly lace ruffle and long sleeves extending to points over the hands. The side peplums at the waist were edged with lace. Her fingertip veil of illusion was held in place by a coronet of seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white roses with white streamers decorated with tiny rosebuds.

Miss Gloria Jean Holland was maid of honor for her sister and wore an orchid gown of rich satin and marquisette fashioned with two large ruffles meeting at the back to form a bustle of satin. Miss Patty Holland, another sister of the bride, was junior bridesmaid, attired in a gown of gold satin, while Miss Sally Doyle of Hopwood, Pa., cousin of the bride, wore a gown of pale green satin. They carried matching bouquets of American Beauty roses.

Best man was Mr. Lavern Lattimer. Ushers were Mr. Burl Mayer, brother of the bridegroom, and Mr. Donald Ziegfeld.

The couple is living at 1107 Wilson Ave.

Miss Betty McCarty Married Recently

Miss Betty Ruth McCarty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dean McCarty of Mechanicsburg, exchanged wedding vows with Mr. Robert F. Gossett, son of the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Gossett, 766 Westphal Ave.

Myland Memorial Community Church was the setting for the ceremony performed on Jan. 16 at 3:30 p.m. by the bridegroom's father.

For her wedding the bride chose a dusty rose street length dress with a corsage of white roses pinned to her shoulder.

Miss Irma Louise Pitzer of Mechanicsburg, was maid of honor in a green street length dress and a corsage of white roses.

Best man was Mr. William Stoughton.

The bride attended Mechanicsburg High School and Office Training School in Columbus. She is employed at the Research Bureau of Ohio State University.

The bridegroom attended South High School and Office Training School and is employed in the circulation department of the Ohio State Journal.

The couple is living at 33 E. 18th Avenue.

Thompson - Cohen Wedding

Miss Bettyanne Thompson, 33 E. Moler St., daughter of Mrs. McClellan Flanagan, 33 E. Moler St., will become the bride of Joseph D. Cohen, 1465 E. Columbus St., son of Mrs. William Snyder, 1465 E. Columbus St. and Mr. Jack Cohen, Townley Court Apts., on February 18th, at 7 p.m. at the Gates-Fourth Methodist Church. The double ring ceremony will be performed by the Reverand Henry Zierer. Mr. George Siertzer will be the organist and Miss Patricia Stain will sing "Because" and "I Love But Thee." Mr. Charles R. Hilscher, best man, will sing "Through The Years."

The bride will be given in marriage by her stepfather, Mr. McClellan Flanagan. Her attendants will be Miss Janice Druggan, maid of honor and Miss Marjorie Heints and Coralie Lusk, bridesmaids. Mr. Charles R. Hilscher will be best man, and Mr. Jack Grassele, Mr. Don Holderle, Mr. Herb Wright and Mr. Gene Boseker, are to be ushers.

A reception at the home of the bride will immediately follow the ceremony. The 150 guests will be received by Miss Jean Lane, Miss Patricia Nolan and Miss Mona McGovern.

A number of parties are being planned for the bride, two of which are miscellaneous showers, given by Miss Marjorie Heints and Miss Coralie Lusk at the home of Miss Marjorie Heints, 1271 So. Ohio Ave., the evening of February 7th.

A personal shower will be given for the bride by Miss Janice Druggan in her home, 1482 Ashland Avenue, the evening of February 14th.

The bride will entertain the bridal party in her home, immediately following the rehearsal at the church, February 17th.

Mr. Charles R. Hilscher is giving a bachelor party in honor of the groom at his home, 1111 Berkeley Road, February 16th.

Mrs. E. V. Bennett, Mrs. Mary Balz, Mrs. John Cotter, Mrs. Florence Dalgarn and Miss Agnes Welrick will assist Mrs. McClellan Flanagan at the reception following the ceremony, Feb. 18.

Miss Anne Trucco Married December 27

At a morning ceremony performed Dec. 27 in St. Leo's Church by the Rev. Fr. Robert Schmidt, Miss Margaret Anne Trucco, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Attillio Trucco, 241 E. Moler St., exchanged wedding vows in a double ring ceremony with Dr. Jack L. Restivo, of Vernon, Texas. The bridegroom is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Liboro Restivo, Chicago.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of lovely candlelight satin, with a high yoke trimmed in seed pearls and bugle beads. The long sleeves came to points over her wrists, and the bouffand skirt formed a bustle in the back which terminated into an aisle-wide cathedral train. Her veil was fingertip length of English imported illusion and was held in place by a tiara of seed pearls. To complete her costume, the bride carried a cascade of calla lilies.

Mrs. Stuart K. Jones, sister of the bride, was the matron of honor, and wore a gown of ecru net with a gold thread design running through it. The bodice had a draped shoulder effect while the skirt was very full. She carried a bouquet of Talisman roses and wore a matching tiara. Miss Margaret Ann Jones, niece of the bride, carried the rings on a white satin pillow, while Miss Phyllis May Restivo, was flower girl and carried a white basket filled with frosted Christmas green and snow white pompons. They wore identical gowns of blue taffeta edged in white lace.

Mr. Victor Ferracone of Chicago, was the best man, and the ushers were Mr. Raymond Trucco and Mr. Stuart K. Jones, brother and brother-in-law of the bride.

The bride is a graduate of St. Joseph Academy and attended Capital and Ohio State Universities. She was formerly associated with Trans World Airlines. Dr. Restivo is a graduate of the University of Chicago and Loyola Medical College. He interned at St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Chicago. During the war he was flight surgeon for three and a half years with the 4th Fighter Group and was stationed in Debden, England.

The couple is residing in Vernon, Texas.

Special classroom work, done by the following pupils, has recently been placed in our display case: Joann Washington, Margaret Sziarto, Patty Brusk, Virginia Doty, Marion Moore, Mary Lutz, Robert Leach, Milo Mitchell, Earl Short and Ruth Henry. Be sure to see the lovely cushions made by Ruth Henry and Mary Lutz. The toy trains, made by Robert Leach and Milo Mitchell are also mighty interesting.

—R—

We are pleased to introduce Miss Ann Clouse to Reeb Avenue School parents and friend Miss Clouse will be in charge of Reeb's kindergarten located in Room 112. We learned to know Miss Clouse when she was doing her student teaching with us under the supervision of Mrs. Irma Dill, so we are happy to have her with us now in a permanent assignment.

Oral hygiene work is being conducted now by our school health department among the pupils of grades one, two, and three.

—R—

Reeb is entertaining a representative of the State Department of Education, to-day, as the program of our special class, under the direction of Mrs Helen Jones, is being observed. We are always glad to have visitors and invite you to come in and see what our boys and girls are doing.

The only principal product from petroleum in 1859, when America's first oil well was drilled, was kerosene for lamps; now there are over 1,200 petroleum products.

Who Knows By Henry Cotner

By Henry Cotner
There are so many crows
As we drive down the pike
They all look alike
So how do you suppose
That Jim Crow knows his Jenny
Can he tell her by her beak
By the feathers on her cheek
Or does he know her by her feet?
Who knows there are so many crows.

Why Not Be A A School Teacher?

An announcement by a big education association sends up a toy balloon to warn the public that 1,289,142 new teachers are needed during the present year and that there is a "critical shortage of elementary school teachers." It seems that the local school boards in towns and country districts and in the larger communities and cities as well, are perfectly competent to get this million-and-a-quarter new teachers without lobbying with the Federal Government to pay all the expenses. The local communities have always taken care of their schools and they can keep right on doing it.

Patronize Your Independent Grocer

This week we are introducing you to your neighborhood South Side Grocer.

This is the merchant who is most vitally interested in you and your food problems.

Your neighborhood South Side grocer is a man who believes in honest weights and good merchandise.

To him you are vital, because thru our purchases from him, is the only way he can hope to continue in business.

Let's take last week's prices in the South Side's Independent Grocer and the chain grocer as tabulated below:

Various South Side Independent Grocers

Sirloin Steak	59c lb.
Bacon (sliced	43c lb.
Sausage, (Bulk)	31c lb.
Potatoes	15 lb. for 63c
Grapefruit	10 for 35c

Various Chain Grocers

Sirloin Steak	67c lb.
Bacon (Sliced)	49c lb.
Sausage (Bulk)	43c lb.
Potatoes	(10 lbs.) 59c
Grapefruit	10 for 49c

While all prices may not be the same, if you will buy when you deal with your South Side Independent Grocer, you will spend no more than if you run to the chain grocer.

You will also keep your money here in the community, while the in the community, while the chain store leaves the city each week or each month.

Be smart, patronize your independent South Side Grocer!

Nine Days To Pay Taxes

Franklin County Treasurer C. B. Norris wishes to remind Real Estate Taxpayers of Franklin County the tax books will close Tuesday, February 15, 1949, for the 1st half 1948 tax year.

At the end of four weeks of the six weeks period of collection time, only one half of the current charge of $5,802,589 was collected. This leaves only 9 days in which to collect the balance.

Mr. Norris urges taxpayers to use the mails when possible to avoid standing in line to pay taxes. Personal checks and money orders are acceptable. DO NOT SEND MONEY THRU THE MAIL . . . POSTAGE STAMPS ARE NOT ACCEPTABLE.

IF YOU OWN REAL ESTATE ...YOU OWE TAXES NOW... unless you have paid or are paying thru a financial institution. Failure to receive tax bill does not excuse you from penalties, interest or possible foreclosure proceedings. If in doubt, contact your County Treasurer either by mail or in person. Please avoid telephone calls if possible.

Tax books must be balanced promptly and turned over to the County Auditor in order to start the June collection, last half 1948, as early as possible. C. B. Norris (Republican) County Treasurer will relinquish his office to Newton A. Thatcher, newly elected County Treasurer, September 4, 1949.

Taxes for the year 1948 are charged to the present Treasurer. This means tax books for the June collection will have to be closed as early in July as possible. The County Auditor and the state examiner will check the accounts as soon as the June tax books are closed. This will take at least 6 weeks.

Mr. Norris wishes to thank the taxpayers of Franklin County, the Press, the Radio Stations, Real Estate companies and the Financial Institutions for their cooperation in making Franklin County one of the soundest in Ohio.

Will Honor Fathers

An interesting meeting has been planned for February tenth at eight o'clock in the school hall, by the P.T.A. of the St. Mary's School.

There will be a [illegible] honor of the Fathers who [illegible] worked so zealously to make [illegible] organization the success that [illegible]

In their honor, the Girls' [illegible] School Band will present a musical program followed by Mr. [illegible] the "Magician."

Refreshments will be served. Mr. George Bonner is Chairman of the Father's Party.

South Side Y Basketball League

In the feature game last Tuesday, Gates-Fourth defeated the Wildcats 22 to 21 to scramble the league standing. There are now 3 teams deadlocked for first place. Both teams played hard clean ball, Passen's basket, with seconds left to play was the deciding factor. The Wolves downed Beaver No. 1 37 to 22. Jack Phillips all around player, led the Wolves attack. Billy Webb and Jim Marinello looked good for the Beavers. The Amerigo Jrs. broke into the win column with a hard earned victory over a fighting Beaver No. 2 team 30 to 20. Tom Colegrove and Kenny Lininger led the winners' attack. Don Johnson and Doyle Scarberry led the losers.

Miss Kathryn Holland A Recent Bride

Before an altar decked with gladioli and baby mums glowing in candlelight, Miss Kathryn Eileen Holland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Holland, 920 S. Champion Ave., became the bride of Mr. Emerson W. Mayer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Mayer of Marysville. The Rev. Mr. Otto F. Stolzenburg officiated at the 7:30 p.m. service.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white satin fashioned with a net yoke outlined by a Chantilly lace ruffle and long sleeves extending to points over the hands. The side peplums at the waist were edged with lace. Her fingertip veil of illusion was held in place by a coronet of seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white roses with white streamers decorated with tiny rosebuds.

Miss Gloria Jean Holland was maid of honor for her sister and wore an orchid gown of rich satin and marquisette fashioned with two large ruffles meeting at the back to form a bustle of satin. Miss Patty Holland, another sister of the bride, was junior bridesmaid, attired in a gown of gold satin, while Miss Sally Doyle of Hopwood, Pa., cousin of the bride, wore a gown of pale green satin. They carried matching bouquets of American Beauty roses.

Best man was Mr. Lavern Lattimer. Ushers were Mr. Burl Mayer, brother of the bridegroom, and Mr. Donald Ziegfeld.

The couple is living at 1107 Wilson Ave.

Miss Betty McCarty Married Recently

Miss Betty Ruth McCarty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dean McCarty of Mechanicsburg, exchanged wedding vows with Mr. Robert F. Gossett, son of the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Gossett, 766 Westphal Ave.

Myland Memorial Community Church was the setting for the ceremony performed on Jan. 16 at 3:30 p.m. by the bridegroom's father.

For her wedding the bride chose a dusty rose street length dress with a corsage of white roses pinned to her shoulder.

Miss Irma Louise Pitzer of Mechanicsburg, was maid of honor in a green street length dress and a corsage of white roses.

Best man was Mr. William Stoughton.

The bride attended Mechanicsburg High School and Office Training School in Columbus. She is employed at the Research Bureau of Ohio State University.

The bridegroom attended South High School and Office Training School and is employed in the circulation department of the Ohio State Journal.

The couple is living at 33 E. 13th Avenue.

Thompson - Cohen Wedding

Miss Bettyanne Thompson, 23 E. Moler St., daughter of Mrs. McClellan Flanagan, 33 E. Moler St., will become the bride of Joseph D. Cohen, 1465 E. Columbus St., son of Mrs. William Snyder, 1465 E. Columbus St. and Mr. Jack Cohen, Townley Court Apts., on February 18th, at 7 p.m. at the Gates-Fourth Methodist Church. The double ring ceremony will be performed by the Reverand Henry Zierer. Mr. George Stertzer will be the organist and Miss Patricia Stann will sing "Because" and "I Love But Thee." Mr. Charles R. Hilscher, best man, will sing "Through The Years."

The bride will be given in marriage by her stepfather, Mr. McClellan Flanagan. Her attendants will be Miss Janice Druggan, maid of honor and Miss Marjorie Heintz and Coralie Lusk, bridesmaids. Mr. Charles R. Hilscher will be best man, and Mr. Jack Grassele, Mr. Don Holderle, Mr. Herb Wright and Mr. Gene Boseker, are to be ushers.

A reception at the home of the bride will immediately follow the ceremony. The 150 guests will be received by Miss Jean Lane, Miss Patricia Nolan and Miss Mona McGovern.

A number of parties are being planned for the bride, two of which are miscellaneous showers, given by Miss Marjorie Heintz and Miss Coralie Lusk at the home of Miss Marjorie Heintz, 1271 So. Ohio Ave., the evening of February 7th.

A personal shower will be given for the bride by Miss Janice Druggan in her home, 1482 Ashland Avenue, the evening of February 14th.

The bride will entertain the bridal party in her home, immediately following the rehearsal at the church, February 17th.

Mr. Charles R. Hilscher is giving a bachelor party in honor of the groom at his home, 1111 Berkeley Road, February 16th.

Mrs. E. V. Bennett, Mrs. Mary Ralz, Mrs. John Cotter, Mrs. Florence Dalgarn and Miss Agnes Welrick will assist Mrs. McClellan Flanagan at the reception following the ceremony, Feb. 18.

Miss Anne Trucco Married December 27

At a morning ceremony performed Dec. 27 in St. Leo's Church by the Rev. Fr. Robert Schmidt, Miss Margaret Anne Trucco, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Attillio Trucco, 241 E. Moler St., exchanged wedding vows in a double ring ceremony with Dr. Jack L. Restivo, of Vernon, Texas. The bridegroom is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Liboro Restivo, Chicago.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of lovely candlelight satin with a high yoke trimmed in seed pearls and bugle beads. The long sleeves came to points over her wrists, and the bouffand skirt formed a bustle in the back which terminated into an aisle-wide cathedral train. Her veil was fingertip length of English imported illusion and was held in place by a tiara of seed pearls. To complete her costume, the bride carried a cascade of calla lilies.

Mrs. Stuart K. Jones, sister of the bride, was the matron of honor, and wore a gown of ecru net with a gold thread design running through it. The bodice had a draped shoulder effect while the skirt was very full. She carried a bouquet of Talisman roses and wore a matching tiara. Miss Margaret Ann Jones, niece of the bride, carried the rings on a white satin pillow, while Miss Phyllis May Restivo, was flower girl and carried a white basket filled with frosted Christmas green and snow white pompons. They wore identical gowns of blue taffeta edged in white lace.

Mr. Victor Ferracone of Chicago, was the best man, and the ushers were Mr. Raymond Trucco and Mr. Stuart K. Jones, brother and brother-in-law of the bride.

The bride is a graduate of St. Joseph Academy and attended Capital and Ohio State Universities. She was formerly associated with Trans World Airlines. Dr. Restivo is a graduate of the University of Chicago and Loyola Medical College. He interned at St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Chicago. During the war he was flight surgeon for three and a half years with the 4th Fighter Group and was stationed in Debden, England.

The couple is residing in Vernon, Texas.

Reeb Calendar

Tuesday, Feb. 8th—Educational Films.

1:30 p.m. — Children of Switzerland.

2:10 p.m.— Children of Switzerland.

2:35 p.m. — Bus Operator and His Job.

Wednesday, Feb. 9th, 9:30 a.m. —Sale of Savings Bonds and Stamps.

The above calendar of the events of the coming week is announced so that our parents and adult friends may plan to come to visit us.

—R—

Special classroom work, done by the following pupils, has recently been placed in our display case: Joann Washington, Margaret Salarto, Patty Brusk, Virginia Doty, Marion Moore, Mary Lutz, Robert Leach, Milo Mitchell, Earl Short and Ruth Henry. Be sure to see the lovely cushions made by Ruth Henry and Mary Lutz. The toy trains, made by Robert Leach and Milo Mitchell are also mighty interesting.

—R—

We are pleased to introduce Miss Ann Clouse to Reeb Avenue School parents and friends. Miss Clouse will be in charge of Reeb's kindergarten located in Room 112. We learned to know Miss Clouse when she was doing her student teaching with us under the supervision of Mrs. Irma Dill, so we are happy to have her with us now in a permanent assignment.

—R—

Oral hygiene work is being conducted now by our school health department among the pupils of grades one, two, and three.

—R—

Reeb is entertaining a representative of the State Department of Education, to-day, as the program of our special class under the direction of Mrs. Helen Jones, is being observed. We are always glad to have visitors and invite you to come in and see what our boys and girls are doing.

The only principal product from petroleum in 1859, when America's first oil well was drilled, was kerosene for lamps; now there are over 1,200 petroleum products.

OUR COVENANT OF FELLOWSHIP.
God Our Father
Christ Our Redeemer
Man Our Brother

We believe these to be the fundamental truths of our faith.

We believe in the progressive revelation of the Living God and every person in our fellowship has the right and freedom to seek the Truth as it is revealed to him in the Scriptures and in Life.

We believe God has revealed the way of abundant living through the Life and Teachings of Jesus Christ, and we therefore covenant together that it shall be our purpose to live together in peace and seek the Truth in Love.

ROLL CALL AT SOUTHWOOD CHURCH OF CHRIST SUNDAY

Sunday is to be a big day at the Southwood Church of Christ. The minister, J. E. Bronson, announces that a special ten weeks "Young Peoples Campaign" will begin Feb. 6. This special program will feature a series of sermons dealing with the problems of love, courtship, and marriage, and "Building Bible Homes for Christ" will be the theme.

One of the largest crowds ever assembled for a Sunday evening service is expected next Sunday for a special Roll Call Service. The minister states that an effort is being made to assemble the entire congregation in the church for the evening service and a Roll Call will actually be made.

The sermon for Sunday night will be "Who Is Boss At Your House?" There will be reserved seats for hen-pecked husbands.

Deduction

Apt: "Mrs. Smith had triplets and two weeks later she had twins."

Rapt: "That's impossible. How did it happen?"

Apt: "Well, one of the triplets got lost."

News In The World Of Religion

Colleges and universities related to the Methodist Church, swollen beyond capacity by the post-war influx of GI's, feel that they have passed the peak of war-delayed students. The 114 Methodist-related institutions now have 81,804 GI's as against 82,904 a year ago; but total enrollment of students has grown from 171,516 a year ago to 181,027 today.

Churchmen of all religions are much interested in Article 16 of the UN Universal Declaration of Human Rights, adopted in Paris, and especially upon its significance for the missionary cause of Christianity and Mohammedanism (the major missionary faiths) in the future. The Article was adopted without dissent, though there had been considerable "watering down" to meet objections by Russia and by the Moslem world, especially, and some nations failed to vote on the measure. As adopted, the Article reads: "Everyone has the right to freedom of thought, conscience and religion; this right includes freedom to change his religion of belief, and freedom, either alone or in community with others and in public or private, to manifest his religion or beliefs in teaching, practice, worship and observance."

In 1799 Bishop Francis Asbury, Methodist pioneer, sent the Rev. Robert Manley, then a pastor in the Baltimore Conference and assigned to the Little Kanawha Circuit of Clarksburg, West Virginia, across the Ohio River to the mouth of the Muskingum at Marietta, Ohio, there to start churches among the settlers moving westward. He is credited with preaching the first "Methodist sermon" in southeastern Ohio. Because of dangers from the Indians, he was invitde to preach inside the stockade by Gen. Rufus Putnam. From there he moved "into the wilderness", up the Muskingum River Valley and into every white settlement between the Muskingum and the Hock-Hocking. Mr. Manley thus became the first of the long line of itinerant preachers who established Methodism in southeastern Ohio and in northwestern West Virginia. The 150th anniversary of that beginning will be celebrated this year in the eight Methodist conferences that now minister to that region—four in Ohio, four in West Virginia. In the area there are now 1185 Methodist churches with 184,708 members. It is hoped to have some "new project (building, organization, beautification, pageant, etc.) in each church as a part of the observance. The Rev. Lewis E. Buell, of Bartlett, Ohio, is director of the celebration.

Dr. Walter W. Van Kirk, executive of the Department of International Justice and Goodwill, Federal Council of Churches, believes that — contrary to misinformed opinion—the General Assembly of UN made significant advances and achievements at its Paris meeting recently ended. Reporting to American Protestantism, he says: "In evaluating the work of the General Assembly it is necessary to bear in mind what the United Nations is and, equally important, what it is not. The United Nations is not a world government, nor is it invested with the legislative or executive powers of a world government. It is not within the competence of the General Assembly either to adopt laws or to make decisions of a legally binding character. The General Assembly has been rightly referred to as 'the town meeting of the world.' The General Assembly makes recommendations; it does not enact laws. Much of the criticism of the General Assembly derives from the assumption that this body is something which, in fact, it isn't." He feels that important advances have been made in such fields as human rights, atomic energy control, prevention of genocide, administraion of trust territories, economic adjustment, and services to needy children.

The development and preservation of the "family-type farm" should be one of the basic planks in a national land policy, according to the National Catholic Rural Life Conference, which has its headquarters in Des Moines, Iowa. This family-type and family-size farm, the Conference says, is productive of the greatest possible spiritual and temporal good for the family, the community, and the world. "Reclamation, irrigation and conservation should be directed toward increasing the number of efficiently managed family-type farms," says a resolution forwarded by the Conference to government departments. "The norm for farm size, a variable according to conditions of soil, climate and type of crop, should be that acerage capable of yielding a decent living for the family dwelling thereon. No type of farming should be encouraged which is detrimental to family security and to proper land use. It should never be necessary to unduly exploit the God-given wealth of the soil for today's benefit and to the disadvantage of future generations."

Rev. Thomas Heads Ministerial Ass'n.

Puppet Show At Stewart Ave. School

On January 25, a Puppet Show entitled "The King's Proclamation" was given by the 4A and 5B students, under the direction of their teacher, Mrs. Joan Johnson.

It was very clever as the puppets were made by the following students: Patty Johns, Linda Oldaker, John Pank, Robert Miller, Jane Rounds, Joy Martin, Delena Mareno, Betty Egnew, Jack Seymour, Paul Morrison, Charles Mertens, Betty Walden and Jack Moore.

The puppets were dressed by Donna Luft, Donna Brand, Barbara Sammet, Joyce Rearick, Elizabeth Swiger, Phyllis Ott, Patsy Martin and Elinor Blackburn.

The stage was made by Rodney Benson, Robert Baum, Paul Morrison, Donald Mers and Rush Erb. Jane Rounds, Richard Boswell, Betty Egnew and Ronald Stevens made the scenery. George Dial, Richard Archer and Robert Sherry took care of the stage and changed the scenery during the play.

The cast for the play was Herald-Ronald Sauer, Men and Women of the court-Roger Wycoff, Charles Long, Peggy Davis and Patsy Martin. Mother-Betty Walden, Catherine-Linda Oldaker, Carl-Eddie Davies, Mary-Joy Martin, Father-John Talbot, Playmates-Rodney Benson, Harlan Frederick and Michael Sauer.

Robert Conkle was the assistant director. Every pupil in the room had a part or helped with the play in some way.

It is remarkable what these boys and girls accomplished under the guidance of their teacher, Mrs. Johnson and her pupils are to be congratuated for this delightful entertainment.

Have You Filed Your Income Tax Properly?

This year you cannot use your withholding tax statement to file your income tax as in previous years. This year you must file the short or long income tax form and be sure that your withholding tax form you receive from your employer accompanies these forms. It is important to you that you file your income tax properly to receive proper credit.

To be sure that your tax report is filed properly, make an appointment with Mr. H. E. Robison, 640 Lehman St., AD 3810 to help you with your tax problem. The cost is low and assures you of a properly filed income tax. Make an appointment today at AD 3810.

DYNAMIC Usefulness
THROUGH ORGANIZED EFFORT
MEDICINE comes in the realm of Arts and Sciences. Its power for progress and usefulness can be applied only to the extent that MEDICAL and SCIENTIFIC minds pool their knowledge and resources, through organized effort.
For this high purpose, your Doctor belongs to his County, State and American Medical Societies, and other specialized groups. Contribution of each Doctor's individual effort has helped to create the best Medical Schools, raise American health to the highest level in the world, and keep constantly forging ahead to widen distribution of medical care.
When war hit, organized health services had built a dynamic force, with the capacity, power and will to deliver. Both at the front and at home our Doctors, Dentists, Pharmacists, Technicians and Nurses translated their abilities into dynamically effective usefulness.

Things One Remembers

I once saw a little boy putting stones on the rails of a streetcar track. He wanted to see what would happen. Before anyone could correct him, the car came along. The motorman saw the stones in time to stop. He took the little boy home to his mother, across the street. No harm was done and the boy learned a good lesson.

Grown men in our government are today using a more deadly kind of stone to throw the United States we have known, off the track. Republican and Democratic political leaders are using socialistic and communistic booby traps such as public ownership of power, medicine, itself, unless they are stopped and sent home, as the the little boy was.

Can they plead ignorance, as did the little boy? Do they not realize that a socialized state will crush free enterprise, thereby destroying our American form of government and personal liberty?

There can be no free man and free opportunity when the individual has to turn to the state for subsistence. We are being fooled with false promises of "plenty" at the government trough, filled with swill paid for the the people's savings taken as taxes.

Will the people be as smart as the motorman?

Doctors Under Bureaucrats

According to an AP dispatch from London, "Britain's national health service—the world's biggest experiment in socialized medicine—is undergoing a strain." That strain, in the view of Health Minister Bevan, results from the fact that "too many are demanding too much." In other words, people are working on the theory that they may as well visit the doctor whether they are sick or not, because "free"medican service is coming to them. This situation has reached so extreme a point that Mr. Bevan issued a public statement in which doctors wisely and only when they really need them."

It is also evident that the cost of providing allegedly "free" health service for all is approaching a critical point. The government's original forecast was that the bill would run to 150,000,000 pounds a year. But the actual cost, according to the British Medical Association, will exceed 250,000,000 pounds.

The most important thing, of course, is just what Britain's socialistic experiment is doing to the standards of medical care. And here, too, some significant and authoritative informaation is available. Lord Horder, physician in ordinary to the royal family, has this to say: "Medicine in Britain has become a branch of the civil service. We are no longer medical experts; we sit and sign forms. We have no time to diagnose our patients' diseases; but pass them on to other persons and institutions, knowing full well that they cannot dispense the health benefits which may or may not be needed."

So there is the latest example of socialized medicine—overworked doctors, soaring costs, poorer treatment, and bureaucracy rampant. Shall the United States follow that sorry example? There are definite statements that an all-out effort will be made to force Congress to take this step along the socialization route.

South Side Y Elementary League

The South Side Brank Y. M. C. A. Elementary Basketball League got off to a fast start as "B" teams from Beck St. and Siebert won their opening games against Southwood and Lincoln respectively.

In the "A" division the tables were turned and Southwood downed Beck, while Lincoln edged out Siebert.

Beck St. "B" team, paced by their husky Eddie Oakes trounced a weak Southwood 22 to 5. Oakes tallied fourteen points for the winners and easily missed twice that many more. Captain Simons accounted for six more points for the victors. Harold Gix was the outstanding floor man for Beck. Captain Workman scored two buckets for the losers while J. Phillips tossed in a free throw.

Siebert "B" team had rough sledding before downing Lincoln "B" 15 to 9. Captain Dave Kochensparger racked eight points for the winners while Captain John Otto kept it "Captain's Day" by collecting four of Lincoln's nine points.

Lincoln "A", paced by stellar Bill Wilson and forward Gus Hickman had plenty of trouble in downing a determined Siebert "A" 20 to 14. Wilson accounted for six points and Hickman five. Norman James was high man for Siebert with seven points.

Ronnie Cohagen, playing his last game for Southwood, led his team to a 22 to 7 victory over a "shooting shy" Beck St. quintet. Captain J. Woodyard and Robert Blume collected six points each for the winners. Paul Lewis was credited with five of Beck's seven points.

"B" League games are played on Tuesdays and "A" League games are played on Wednesdays at 3:45 P.M. at Schiller Park.

Concert To Be Held In Central Community Church February 10th

The Otterbein College Men's Glee Club will be presented in a concert of choral music at The Central Community Church on February 10 7:00 P. M. This is an outstanding musical organization and is making its first local appearance of the season before leaving for an extended tour of the country.

The Glee Club is under the able direction of Professor L. L. Shackson, head of the Music Department of the college.

The concert will precede the Annual Congregational Meeting of the church. Supper will be served at 6:00 P. M. with the concert immediately following. Visitors are cordially invited to attend the concert. No admission charge.

"Hamlet" At World Theater

Stars in "Hamlet"

Laurence Olivier is the producer, director and star of the $2,000,000 film production of "Hamlet."

Laurence Olivier's production of "Hamlet" opens Wednesday, February 2nd, at the World Theatre, 2523 N. High St., Columbus. The picture, which has been hailed everywhere as one of the finest ever produced.

After opening night, performances will be given twice daily at 2:30 and 8:30 p.m., with an extra matinee on Saturdays, Sundays and Holidays at 5:30 p.m. All seats will be reserved.

Laurence Olivier himself produced, directed and edited the picture as well as enacting the title role. Jean Simmons, who will be remembered for her performances in "Great Expectations" and "Black Narcissus" plays opposite Olivier as Ophelia. Basil Sydney is the King, Eileen Herlie, the Queen, Felix Aylmer makes a capital Polonius, Norman Wooland is a handsome Horatio, and Terence Morgan plays Laertes.

The picture is a faithful transcription of Shakespeare's play with only the sub-plots and unnecessary portions omitted to bring the four hour play down to reasonable length for a movie. As it is, the picture runs well over two and a half hours.

Prices for this engagement for the matinees are $1.20 for the first 3 rows, $1.50 for the next seven rows and $1.80 for the balance. There is a special price of $1.00 for students for the weekly matinees. In the evenings, the first three rows are $1.20, the next seven rows $1.80 and the 11th to 31st rows $2.40.

"Larceny" At Southland Theater

Shelly Winters, who made such a dynamic first screen appearance in "A Double Life," and Joan Caulfield exchange haticuffs over John Payne in this scene from "Larceny," tense new melodrama opening Wednesday at the Southland Theatre for a two-night engagement. Dan Duryea also stars in the action-packed drama which exposes a fraudulent scheme of collecting funds for G. I. monuments. "Leather Gloves," a drama of the prize-ring starring Cameron Mitchell and Virginia Grey, will be co-featured. A straight admission price of 20 cents prevails every Wednesday and Thursday — Family Nights—at the Southland.

Next Sunday, the Southland will show the funniest comedy of the year—the hilarious "Miss Tatlock's Millions." John Lund, Wanda Hendrix, Barry Fitzgerald, Monty Woolley, Ilka Chase and Robert Stack head the all-star cast of this laugh-jammed hit. Lund has the role of a movie stunt man hired by Barry Fitzgerald to impersonate a millionaire moron, and the situations which result from this will keep you rolling in the aisles. "Arkansas Swing," with the Hoosier Hotshots, will be co-featured.

National and International Problems Inseparable From Local Welfare

The millions of people, here and abroad, who read General Eisenhower's personal history of the war, "Crusade in Europe," which Doubleday recently published, will find items of interest to suit almost any taste. The accounts of the opposed personalities who occupied high positions, the descriptions of the campaigns and the incredibly difficult problems of supply and logistics which confronted the commanders, the awful weight of responsibility which fell upon those who had to make final fateful decisions [illegible] of these add up to make chronicle which will certainly rank high among the histories of conflict.

Then there is another phase of war strategy, which is mentioned almost casually and at long intervals in the Supreme Commander's book, which is still stirring up much controversy, and which has a direct bearing on the present and future as well as the past. That is the fact that war is fought on two levels—the military and the political. And, at times, the gulf between them is almost unbridgeable.

This is best illustrated by what General Eisenhower says is the "longest-sustained" argument he had with Winston Churchill. Superficially, the argument was over the strategy and tactics the Allied powers should pursue in subduing Europe, and destroying Hitler and his armies. The General had decided to go through Southern France, as was finally done. The Prime Minister fought this plan to the end, and wished to move into the Balkans. Eisenhower says: "Although I never heard him say so, I felt that the Prime Minister's real concern was possibly of a political rather than a military nature. He may have thought that a postwar situation which would see the Western Allies posted in great strength in the Balkans would be far more effective in producing a stable post-hostilities world than if the Russian armies should be the ones to occupy that region."

It is a measure of Mr. Churchill's character that once the decision went against him, he ceased all argument and did everything in his power to assure the success of the plan which had been approved. But the all-important point which underlay this conflict in top policy is that the soldier and the statesman must often look toward a given goal with very different perspectives. Eisenhower was a soldier, and he had a soldier's concern for achieving military victory at the lowest cost in men, materials and time. Churchill was certainly not insensible of these considerations—yet he felt it his responsibility to look beyond the formal peace, into the postwar world. Both men, according to their lights and their positions, were unassailably right.

Hindsight is easy for anyone, and it is fruitless to argue whether, in the long view of history, the Allies should have accepted Mr. Churchill's plan and fought the last war with the dual purpose of defeating the enemy, and at the same time strengthening our position in Europe against a potential future enemy who was then an ally sworn to enduring friendship. This—like those decisions made at Yalta and Potsdam which have proven so palpably wrong—was the most difficult possible matter to decide at the time. But the fact that the best military minds and the best political minds can find themselves at so great a variance in dealing with problems of the utmost historical moment should be remembered as the events and policies of the present evolve.

For example, there is more and more concern over the emergence of military men as framers and executors of our foreign policy. That is in no way a criticism of these men's abilities and characters, which are of the finest. But it does bring into focus the urgent problem of whether civilian authority, as in the past, shall control and be senior to military authority. In Japan, General MacArthur's authority is unquestioned. He formulates policy, instead of merely carrying out policy laid down by the State Department or other civilian agencies. The obvious fact that he has done a remarkable job does not obviate the equally obvious fact that here is a clear case of military rule which is directly [illegible] sible to no other authority.

Much the same situation exists in Germany. The abilities of General Clay as an administrator and arbitrator are high. But, as William Harlan Hale observes in an article in Harper's Magazine, "There is ample evidence that General Clay has been allowed to free-wheel and make policy on his own . . . Many officials, both in Washington and in European capitals, add privately that he has not only made policy but has pitted his personal ideas against the expressed policies of the State Department, with almost invariable success." It is, of course, a matter of point of view as to whether General Clay or the State Department have been right. But, going back to the principle, here we have another situation where, in the world's powder keg, a professional soldier exerts the only real authority. And his reports go to the Department of the Army, which decides what to do with them—not to any civilian agency of the government.

To sum up, there never was a time when soldiers held such power during a peace.

Columbia Theater

The Columbia Theater presents for Sunday, Monday and Tuesday "Danger In The Hills" starring [illegible]. This is another of those typical pictures starring one of the [illegible] Danger In The Hills we hold [illegible] from start to finish. There is [illegible] with [illegible] a real human [illegible] story. Also [illegible] on the same bill is "The Creeper" starring [illegible] Cronin. This one is a thriller as the name implies.

Russell Theater

The Sunday and Monday the Russell Theater presents "A Song Is Born" starring Danny Kaye and Virginia Mayo. [illegible] picture which has elected the cream of the [illegible] world to run interference for Danny Kaye.

Virginia Mayo is portrayed as the mobster's moll who starts all the trouble. The mirth and melody are very pleasing and the jive-sters will be jumping in their seats. Also on the program is "Bungalow 13" with Tom Conway and Maria Palmer, plus news and cartoon.

IDEAL THEATER

The feature picture to be presented at the Ideal Theater on Sunday and Monday will be "Under California Stars", starring Roy Rogers. The story portrays Roy Rogers as himself, a motion picture and radio star and a gentleman rancher. Trigger, Roy's horse, is the victim of a kidnapping plot. There are the usual fist fights, gun duel chases and villains in the picture. The pleasing musical interludes and the effective technicolor add to the picture. Also on the bill is "On Our Merry Way" starring Paulette Goddard and Henry Fonda, and news and cartoon.

The petroleum transportation system of America uses some 150,000 miles of pipeline, 400 tanker vessels, 2,400 barges, 100,000 railroad cars and 100,000 trucks.

Mail Order Insurance Is Funny

Not a week goes by when mail order houses fail to ask for replies about something they have to sell or give away.

But if you write a few letters to these same mail order organizations and ask them civil questions that are not on the Mercotyped program you will not receive the courtesy of an answer. That's a heck of a way to administer a postal insurance business.

The Michigan Man

Senator Arthur Vandenberg is expected to take a place on the Senate Finance Committee, which has most to do with writing tax legislation for the country. Senator Vandenberg no longer will serve as President Pro Tem of the Senate or as Chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, and will have time to wrestle with tax problems. His influence is conservative.

NOTICE
We are as surprised as you!!!! but recently several small apartments have been found by our advertisers who placed a wanted to rent ad in our classified section. It seems that Landlords no longer have to advertise to find tenants. They watch the Wanted to rent ads in the paper and then contact you. It saves them from having so many unnecessary calls after the place has been rented. So if you are looking for a place try a Wanted to rent ad, you may find a place too. Just call GA 9262 or GA 71121 and ask for Bea Lewis.

South Side Scouts Observe Scout Week

Troop 77 of South Side Troops Join in Observance of Boy Scout Week Feb. 7-13, with a Scout Circus.

On Feb. 7 at 7:30 p.m., Troop 84 of St. Johns Evangelical Protestant Church at 59 East Mound Street will be the host. With Troop 77 of St. Paul's Evangelical Reform Church at 221 East Gates Street, and Troop 23 sponsored by The Federal Glass Company, and meets at South Church of Christ at the Woodrow Ave. and Bruck St. participating.

Troop 84 is proud of their former Scout Major General Curtis E. LeMay, whose article "I Was Proud to be a Scout" appears in the current issue of Ladies Home Journal.

This will be the first in a series of programs to "Strengthen the Arm of Liberty" in the Boy Scouts 40th Anniversary Crusade. In addition to the 9 contests of scout skills, special honor will be given the 6 new Eagle Scouts: Donald Oldaker, Donald Tritt, Rodney Thorp of Troop 84 and Perry Martin, Donald Hahn of Troop 77.

Mr. Frank Helm, Scoutmaster of Troop 25 will act as Master of Ceremonies, and members of the Order of Arrow will serve as the judges.

All parents and friends of Scouting are invited. There is no charge, so come along, and give the boys a boost.

IT'S PANCAKE TIME

Golden brown pancakes with bits of apple in them, golden honey and coffee for breakfast.

BY BETTY NEWTON

Face the cold mornings with a hearty breakfast tucked under your belt. Nothing has more appetite appeal on a blustery day than feathery pancakes studded with apple cubes or old-fashioned buckwheat cakes. Serve maple syrup or honey to pour over them. Fruit juice and steaming hot coffee complete the menu.

Apple Bran Griddle Cakes

2 C. flour
3 tsp. baking powder
¼ C. sugar
1 tsp. salt
1 C. whole bran
2 eggs
¼ C. melted shortening
1½ C. milk
2 C. finely diced apples

Sift and mix dry ingredients together. Beat eggs well. Add milk and melted shortening. Stir into dry ingredients, then fold in apples. Bake on a hot, greased griddle until nicely browned on both sides. Serve hot with butter and honey.

Old Fashioned Buckwheat Cakes

2 C. lukewarm water
½ cake compressed yeast
½ C. lukewarm water
1¼ C. buckwheat flour
1 tsp. salt
½ tsp. soda
¼ C. lukewarm water
2 Tbsp. sugar
¼ C. melted shortening

To the lukewarm water add the yeast which has been dissolved in ¼ C. lukewarm water. Stir in the buckwheat flour and salt. Set in a warm place to rise. Let stand over night. In the morning add the soda dissolved in ¼ C. lukewarm water. Add sugar and shortening. This mixture should be thin enough to run in uneven shapes when poured on the hot, greased griddle. Add lukewarm water if necessary to make it thin enough. The cakes should be full of holes when baked. This batter may be carried over from day to day. In fact, it improves in flavor after it is a few days old. To do this there should be at least ½ C. of mixture left. To this add 2 C. lukewarm water, 1 ½ C. buckwheat flour and 1 tsp. salt. Let stand in a warm place over night and in the morning add soda, sugar and shortening as before. Store in a cold place during the day.

Plain Griddle Cakes

2 C. milk
4 Tbsp. shortening
2 egg yolks
2½ C. flour
2½ tsp. baking powder
½ tsp. salt
2 egg whites

Scald milk with shortening. Cool to lukewarm. Pour over beaten egg yolks. Add flour, baking powder and salt sifted together. Beat well. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Bake on a hot griddle.

Marion Twp. League

Opening games in the South Side YMCA sponsored Marion Township Alumni Leagues featured the play of the well-balanced Scioto Trail teams, as they made a clean sweep of their series with Smith Road on the losers floor. Fornof after losing two to Clarfield came back strong to take the Girls and Boys Class A game to give them an even split on their own floor.

The Smith Road Girls proved to be no match for the experienced Scioto Trail Girls and were swamped 34 to 4. Norma DeGioia caged 20 points for the winners on 9 baskets and two fouls.

In the Boys C. League Houck paced Scioto Trail with 12 points. In the B league McCracken and Goebbel each garnered 5 baskets for the winners.

High point men in the A game for Scioto Trail were Harper with 23 and Vick with 20. These two ex-Hamilton High stars outscored the entire Smith Road squad. Dowler, the former South High star, never quit trying for the losers as he garnered 10 points.

The Fornof girls took a close decision from the Clarfield girls in the best played game of the evening. Ethel Mathias and Mary Harris scored 10 and 12 points respectively for Fornof. The four girls dividing scoring honors for Clarfield were Mary Schneider, Eleanor Knight, Ann Goodfleisch and Elizabeth Miller. Ralph Elsnaugle had a large evening as he garnered 12 points in the B game after scoring 19 while subbing in the C league. Estel Crabtree and Hayes looked best for the losing Fornof boys. Fornof came back strong in the A game, and with Blair, Wears and Martin scoring heaviest, coasted to victory.

St. Leo's Pot Luck Dinner

At the annual Pot Luck dinner of St. Leo's Altar-Rosary Sodality of St. Leo's Church held on January 25, it was decided by unanimous vote of the members to combine forces with the Parish Council, and to hold joint meetings in the future. It is hoped this move will create greater interest in the work of both groups. There will be one set of officers for both Council and the Sodality. The officers elected, and the newly-appointed chairmen of the Council committees are: President, Mrs. Robert Eberts; Vice-President, Mrs. Andrew Theado; Recording Secretary, Miss Gertrude Hummel; Financial Secretary, Miss Elizabeth Heimann; Treasurer, Mrs. John Schick; Religious Activities, Mrs. Joseph Guth, Co-Chairman, Mrs. George Dorn; Catholic Charities, Mrs. Fred Hanf, Co-Chairman, Mrs. James Snyder; Social Action, Mrs. T. Ray Phillips; P. T. A., Mrs. Calvin Beard; Publicity, Mrs. Eugene Gordon; Ways & Means, Mrs. Edward Reese. Future meetings will be held on the Tuesday following the fourth Sunday of each month, which is the Communion Sunday of the Sodality.

Allowance Offered For Limited Time

The Ohio Fuel Gas Co. now has two young men representing their line of appliances on the South Side. Mr. Jack Peacock and Mr. Joe Kerr will handle a complete line of appliances, including Servel Refrigerators, Tappan ranges, Rex Hot Water Heaters, Hamilton Clothes Dryers, and the new Kaiser Dish Washer. If you are in need of new appliances and are interested in the line they are carrying, just call KI 3892 or GA 4843. For a limited time only they will give you a generous allowance on your old Servel Gas refrigerator. Just call either of them for further information. They will be glad to help you with your appliance needs.

Henry S. Ballard Addressed Lions Club

Henry S. Ballard, prominent Columbus attorney and authority on the life of our Immortal Abe, spoke at the weekly meeting of the Southeast Lions Club last Tuesday. Mr. Ballard held the interest of the members who attended the meeting by telling of Lincoln, who was one of the rare persons sent into the world at exactly the right time and divinely inspired and guided to perform a definite and pressing task.

The wedding will be held March 20th.

Maybe So!

Secretary of Labor Tobin is promising labor leaders that an effort will be made by the White House to get repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act within 30 days after Congress returns. Labor leaders fear that, if repeal is delayed then, strikes in 1949 may cool the ardor of voters for any important changes in that law.

The Southeast Lions Club welcomed Mr. Robert F. Finch, Public Relations Officer for the National Association of Baseball Leagues, at their meeting Tuesday, February 12. Mr. Finch gave the members some of the angles concerning the "National Pastime" that they had never dreamed. A good crowd was assembled to welcome Mr. Finch as he cried "Play Ball."

Circle 4 WSCS Meets Saturday

Circle 4 of the WSCS of Thurman Ave. Methodist church will have a Bake Sale on Saturday, Feb. 12 at Clevenger & Redifer Co., Thurman & Parsons Ave.

Agnes Schmitt will be chairman. The sale will be in progress beginning at 8:30 a.m. and continuing until about 1:00 p.m.

Booster Is Expanding Again

Continuing its policy of expansion and progress, The South Side Booster is extending its service to the area of Oklahoma. This being the territory South of the viaduct on Parsons Ave.

The Reliable Distributing Company will bring the paper to this area each and every Thursday, in the same fine manner, that they have been distributing Your Booster the past several years.

We welcome you, Oklahoma, to the Booster's ever growing family.

Southwood P.T.A. Meeting Thursday

Southwood School P.T.A. will hold its regular meeting, Thursday, Feb. 17, 1949 at 1:30 p.m.

Mrs. Margaret Bickel, 1st V. Pres. of Ohio State Congress of Parents and Teachers will be the guest speaker. The children of the 4th grade will give a play honoring Founders Day, under the direction of Miss Avalle McKinley.

Turn In Sales Tax Save South Siders Eyes

If you have sales tax stamps you may leave them at the South Side Booster, 1542 Parsons Ave.

They will be turned over to the Southeast Lions Club, who use them in sight saving.

You may save some child's or adult's eyes here in your community.

Proceeds from the sales tax stamps go to fitting glasses or necessary medical care of the eyes of these unfortunates.

South Students Good Bond Salesmen

For the first three days of the student bond drive, for the Stadium Improvement Fund at South High School, they have sold $470. of bonds and interest is increasing rapidly.

One of the young men students brought in $10 in dimes which he had been saving.

Another student sold one $10 bond to a father in memory of his son who was killed in the war.

We are proud of the student bond sellers of South. They are doing a good job.

Put on the steam boys and girls. If every student sells a bond you will raise $34,000.

St. Mary Wins

St. Mary finally gained the nod over Holy Family, 50-46 in a bitterly fought game at the K of C Saturday night. Family held a 23-20 halftime advantage, but the Ramblers pulled ahead in the second half despite a dazzling exhibition by Norman Doyle of the losers, who finished with 26.

St. Mary won the reserve game much easier, 41-21.

Brotherhood Fish Fry

The St. Paul Evangelical and Reformed Brotherhood will give their Annual Fish Fry in the Social Hall of the Church, Wednesday, February 16 from 5 to 7 p.m. The Brotherhood is giving this Fish Fry to make money for the New Church. The officers of the Brotherhood are Mr. Frank Cherry, president; Mr. Otto Menzer, vice president; Mr. Eugene Pindell, secretary; Mr. Harold Deibler, treasurer, and Rev. Paul C. Kaefer, pastor.

Arrigo Brothers Open New Hardware

Louie and Johnnie Arrigo have opened a new hardware, plumbing and appliance store at 959 Frebis Ave. The store is completely new from top to bottom, and handles such well known merchandise as ABC Washers, Pittsburgh Paints, The A. O. Smith Permaglas Water Heaters and many other brands that are familiar to everyone. They also specialize in plumbing repair and are experts in this line of business. Louie and Johnnie Arrigo are both well known South Siders. Louie at present lives at 44 Hoffman St., he formerly lived at 175 E. Livingston. Johnnie now resides at 1416 Oakwood. Both boys attended St. Mary's School. Stop in at their new store at 959 Frebis or give them a call at GA 1903.

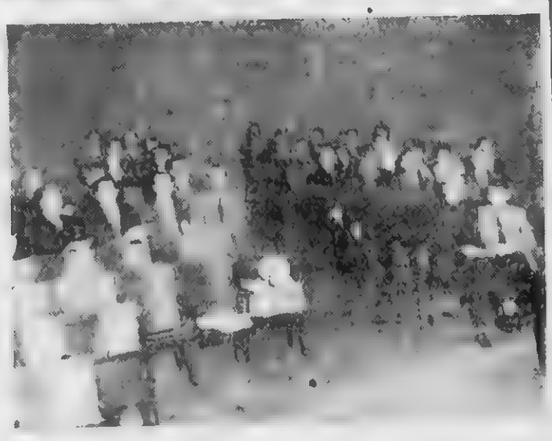
South Students Pledge $10,000.

An assembly was held February 3, in South High School Auditorium on the subject of the suggested addition to Mahaffey Stadium. A goal of $10,000 was set. C. L. Dumaree, John Sittig, Dorsey Woodward and Rita Foster were the principal speakers. There was a demonstration given by Coach John Trego along with basketball and baseball players and a broken down locker. Nancy Love, Nancy Drone, Norma Edwards and Marilyn Reed sang "We Did It Before And We Can Do It Again."

Mr. Sittig announced that a contest will be held for the raising of the funds. Bonds will be sold at $10.00 each. As soon as the funds are raised a big dance will be given gratis for the entire school. The registration room selling the most bonds will be given free football tickets for next year.

O.S.U. Mothers Club To Meet

A joint meeting of groups B and E of the OSU Mothers' Club will be held on Tuesday, February 15. Chairmen of groups respectively are: Mrs. C. A. Russell and Mrs. H. H. Harrison.



Members will meet at the central YMCA, Dorst Hall. Business meeting at 12:30; luncheon at 1:30.

Compare Price With Rice

Have you compared Rice's Prices lately? If you haven't, do so, it will mean a great saving to you. Today, your spending dollar doesn't go very far and it's important to stretch your money as far as possible. A good way to start is by comparing prices on food-stuffs, check Rice's Grocery Ad each week in the Booster against other ads in other papers, and compare his prices. He stocks nationally advertised brands, such as Stokelys, Del-Monte's, Kraft products, Campbells, Clapps, and many others too numerous to mention, all at prices that mean a saving to you. Let's compare prices this week. Turn to page 3 in this week's Booster, check his prices thoroughly and you'll save money by shopping at Rice's.

Stadium Bond Drive Progressing

Pictured above is the Bond Committee preparing for the sales drive to raise funds for the improvement of the South High School Stadium.

The students of South High School, last week, joined the bond committee, to push over bond sales, for the Stadium Improvement.

Already sales are being reported and South Side enthusiasm is running high.

Every other High School in the City, except South High School, has the necessary facilities for their athletes and students under their stadiums.

We of the South Side are proud of our community and we want our boys to have the same privileges that any other community has.

The Mahaffey Stadium as the South High Stadium is known, will have when improvements are completed—dressing rooms for the visiting team as well as dressing room for the South High School athletes plus showers, toilets, and lockers for both. Added to this will be rooms for the officials, rooms for the athletic staff, a press room, radio announcers' room, toilet facilities for the public, and rooms for the storing of athletic equipment.

The goal of this drive is $20,000 or more. The amount of bonds bought by South Siders will determine just how much of these improvements can be accomplished.

One prominent South Sider, a contractor, Fritz Kruetz, has said, "I will supervise these improvements at no charge. It is a pleasure for me to serve our community."

Besides this Kruetz is out pounding the pavement selling bonds the same as some 60 men and women of the committee.

Come on South Siders, get on the ball. Buy Stadium Improvement Bonds! It's your obligation to make the South Side equal to the other sections of Columbus.

Chicken Dinner

The South Methodist Church, Morrill and Sixth Sts., will serve chicken dinners from 11:30 to 1:00 p.m. and from 5:00 to 7:00 tonight, February 10th. The price for the dinner is $1.00 which includes dessert.

Bert and Laura LeBlanc, from Bert's Grove Lodge, Espanole, Ont.

You know Mooney, brags about his prowess of fishing and big game hunting.

We think he really had them come here to prove he really shot a deer.

New Fountain At Bob's Record Shop

Bob's Record and Novelty Shop located at 1160 Parsons Ave, has just installed a new modern soda Fountain. Guy Oddi, the owner and manager is very proud of his new addition. He is prepared to serve you with all the delicious Sodas, Sundaes, ice cream and milk shakes on the books. His record shop is already well known to music lovers on the South Side. Bob's Record Shop carries a complete line of Popular and Hill Billy Records. A new shipment of your favorites have just arrvied with all late hits and prices special for this week at just 5 for $1. The store is open seven days a week until midnight. Stop in early for best selections. At this price they won't last long. He also handles a nice selection of novelties for all occasions.

South Rallies In Lima Win

LIMA, OHIO, Feb. 5—Columbus beat Lima in a battle of South Highs here Saturday night, 55-44. The host team was greatly outsized to make the big difference.

The Columbus team's victory was quite similar to its Friday night success. The Bulldogs trailed 15-6 at the quarter Friday, and were behind 15-9 at the same time at Lima. And in both games, they took over the lead, by one point, at the end of the 3rd period.

South's Paul "Stretch" Ebert, who got 23 Friday, added 17 more last night, and spent a lot of his time controlling both bankboards. Ebert's lay-up shot seconds before the 3rd quarter ended, put the Capital Citians in front 39-38, a lead which Lima never overcame.

Ebert got a big assist from Bill Camp, who followed up his 18-point spree of Friday with 17 more Saturday night.

Lima led 17-9 at one time, but the combination of height, Ebert, and Camp was too much. Both teams had pre-game records of 8-4.

Mayor James A. Rhodes Purchases Stadium Bonds

Said Mayor Rhodes: "Any improvement that benefits the youth of our community, should be supported generously. South High, with its new facilities for the comfort and convenience of the athletes and students for the improvement of the Stadium, I am sure will fill a much needed necessity when completed."

Construction To Begin On County Lake And Dam

Ohio Division of Conservation officials this week requested the State Board of Control to release funds for the construction of the dam for a 180-acre headwater lake in Pickaway County on Hargus Creek near Circleville.

If funds are released, a contract for the construction of a dam and spillway will be awarded to H. W. Holt and Sons, Columbus, low-bidders at $177,000. A total of 13 bids were submitted.

Conservation Commissioner H. A. Rider announced today that the Pickaway County Lake contract would represent the third lake construction contract to be awarded by the Ohio Division of Conservation within the last 90 days in the greatest lakebuilding program in the history of Ohio, the largest ever attempted by any state in the nation.

Contracts for construction of the dams were recently signed for Logan in Hocking County involving a 375 acre lake in the vicinity of Rushing 741 acres of land and also a 150 acre lake in Morgan County where about 500 acres of land have been purchased by the Division.

Ohio's lake construction program, adopted by the Ohio Conservation Commission as a post-war project shortly before the close of World War II, is being watched closely by Conservation Commissions throughout the United States, Mexico and Canada as one of the most progressive programs of modern lake development.

Ohio's headwater lakes are classified as "man-made" insofar as the construction of the necessary dams and spillways for water level control are concerned but "natural" insofar as the lake bed itself and the water which feeds the lakes are concerned. Headwater lakes range from forty to five hundred acres in water surface constructed near the upper limit of a valley or on the lower course of a branch of a trunk stream using a natural bed and stream water.

These lakes, together with the publicly owned service strips of land surrounding the water, ranging from 300 feet upwards, are classed as fishing and hunting areas, to distinguish them from other areas acquired with funds out of general revenue, designed and developed primarily as recreational lakes.

The Division's lake building program includes a fishing and hunting headwater lake where feasible, in all counties that do not now have impounded water areas as rapidly as funds permit. All fishing waters already constructed are to be improved by proper fish management, including sedimentation control. Facilities connected with hunting and fishing are to be maintained without charge to the public.

Mary Cassell Regular Meeting

Mary E. Cassell Div. 52, G.I.A. to the B. of L.E. will hold their regular meeting at the K. of P. Hall, 697 S. High St., Tuesday, February 15. The meeting will open at 2 p.m. with Mrs. P. C. Southworth presiding.

Miss Betty Bingmer's Wedding Announced

St Mary Church was the scene of the wedding of Miss Betty Bingmer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bingmer, 193 East Whittier St., to Mr. Luke Murray, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Luke Murray of Groveport. The ceremony took place at 9:30 a.m. on Nov. 3 with Rev. Fr. Dury officiating.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a colonial gown of heavy white satin styled with a fitted bodice and lace bertha. The full draped skirt was caught with lilies-of-the-valley and revealed an underskirt of ruffles and lace. The train of her gown was edged in lace. Her fingertip veil of imported lace was gathered to a pearlized tiara. She carried a white prayer book topped with shattered carnations centered with white gardenias.

Miss Joan Bricker, maid of honor, wore a colonial dress of green satin and marquisette. Bridesmaid, Miss Ann Murray, wore a similar styled dress in fuchsia satin. Both attendants carried colonial bouquets of bronze pompons and yellow roses.

Mr. Gene Langenfelt was best man and seating the guests were Mr. Richard Donahue and Mr. Gus Gassman.

After a wedding trip to Michigan, the couple returned to Columbus to make their residence at 1043 Seymour Ave.

June Wedding Planned

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur B. Schmidt, 217 E. Gates St., are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Irene Adele, to Mr. N. Glenn Thurston, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter A. Thurston, 246 E. Duncan St.

Miss Schmidt is a graduate of South High School and is employed at the Ohio Farm Bureau. Mr. Thurston was graduated from North High School and Bliss College and is now employed at the Farm Bureau Cooperative Association.

The wedding will take place in June.

Betty Jean Puetz Plans May Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Puetz, of 1118 Lilley Avenue, are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Betty Jean, to Mr. Melvin E. Jeffers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Jeffers, of Columbia Center.

Miss Puetz is a graduate of South High School and is associated with the Garfield Novelty Company. Mr. Jeffers attended Summit High School and is associated with the Pennsylvania Railroad.

The wedding will be an event of May 8th.

GETTING TOUGH WITH RUSSIA

It is a pleasure to note the fact that President Truman talks turkey to Stalin and tells him where to get off at; and practically where to go, too. The international policy based on the Marshall Plan is kept in motion and the White House and Congress are determined to force Russia to behave.

No part of our civil or military government will agree to a bad peace. President Truman is right when he says that he can't believe Stalin and he is also right in his determination to force the Russian-Communist issue onto the United Nations. The American Government and the American people have stood just about as much abuse, lying and resistance from Russia as it is possible to put up with.

HOPE SPRINGS ETERNAL

The Government is to be reorganized at an early date, when former President Herbert Hoover's plan is approved by Congress. The outstanding promise is that Government expenses will be reduced. But, that does not seem to slow down the White House, which is inclined to give more Democrats fat jobs—at increased pay.

We spend and spend and spend—and tax and tax and tax.

COAL FIRES IN 7 STATES PROBED

More than 60 fires burning in coal beds in seven States have been investigated by the Bureau of Mines since last July, and steps have been taken to control two of them considered the most serious immediate threat to life and property.

The work is being financed out of a $250,000 fund that the Congress provided the Bureau for the current fiscal year.

Economic Highlights

Of the many reports on governmental reorganization prepared by the Hoover Commission, that on the National Security Organization, made by a subcommittee headed by Ferdinand Eberstadt, ranks high in importance. It is clear that a very large part of future national budgets will continue to be devoted to security measures. It is equally clear, as the report emphasizes, that we are still a long way from a sound basis on which to build a defense establishment.

The report observes that the objective of a perfectly efficient and economical security system is extremely difficult to attain. It says: "The completely efficient security system will not be economical. The completely secure, the nation might turn itself into a military state, even so, there is no such thing as 'absolute' security, and the attempt to attain it by this means could lead only to disaster." It goes on to point out that "civilian control over military affairs involves some cumbersome and dilatory procedures and may even lead to serious technical mistakes; yet military power freed from civilian control would lead to even more serious mistakes—perhaps irreparable ones."

The committee adopted certain basic criteria as a guide to its study. Among the most important are these: 1. The primary objective of the national security organization is to preserve the peace, but it must at all times be ready to marshal all the human and material resources of the country for defense. 2. Civilian influence in formulating national policy and in controlling the military establishment must be dominant. 3. The nation is entitled to the maximum possible return for every dollar spent. 4. Wasteful duplication should be eliminated, but the preservation of a competitive spirit and of service pride and tradition are basic to progress and morale.

The committee is most critical of the services' handling of money. It began with the statement that, "The costs of the military establishment — currently about $15,000,000,000 a year—appear to be unduly high, in terms both of the ability of the economy to sustain them and of the actual return in military strength and effective national security." It goes on to say, "The committee failed to find in the military establishment a sense of cost consciousness of a general realization of the vital importance to our national security of utmost conservation of our resources. . . .There must be a will to eradicate waste; the first step is to instill, through education and leadership, a strong conviction throughout all ranks that waste is harmful to our national welfare." It points to the "awful cost" of the instruments of modern warfare—bombers run as high as $4,000,000 each; a single tank costs more than $250,000, and ships require expenditures of $10,000,000 to $150,000,000. It cites some illuminating examples of the lack of concern of the military mind with conservation. For instance, at the end of the war the Army believed it had about 25,000 tanks on hand. But it was able to find only 16,000 of these.

The report goes on, in considerable detail, to consider phase after another of the complex security problem. It then lists "six major areas or aspects in which improvement in the interest of greater efficiency and economy is both possible and necessary." The six points run as follows: 1.Strengthening central authority in the military establishment—that is, giving the Secretary of Defense broader and more positive powers. 2.Overhauling the military budget. 3. Improving teamwork throughout the National Security Organization. 4. Relating scientific research and development more closely to strategic planning. 5. Expediting plans for civilian mobilization in case of war. This includes all economic, industrial and manpower resources. 6. Making adequate provision for—and against — new and unconventional means of warfare.

The committee also considered and rejected three more proposals which have been very widely debated. It is opposed to: 1. A single Military Chief of Staff and General Staff over all three services. 2. Merger of the three military departments in to single department. 3. Merger of the naval air arm with the Air Force. The fact that the committee turned these down is of unusual interest, in that all of them have been eloquently argued by men who believe that the total megrer of the services is the ultimate goal .The committee is clearly of the opinion that service identification and esprit de corps should be maintained, and that the Navy requires air power of its owns if it is to fulfill its essential security missions.

What the committee has done is to present Congress with a blueprint from which it may create a security establishment with a maximum of virtues and a minimum of vices. It points out that the National Security Act of 1947 "is a long step forward." Yet that act inevitably created certain fears and confusions. In some cases it seems to have intensified inter-service rivalries and jealousies. As the committee put it, "One of our greatest needs is to elevate military thinking to a plane above individual aims and ambitions." ter, and it will not be done overnight. But, if the committee is That is obviously a difficult matright, it must eventually be achieved, and in as short a time as possible.

Drinks–From H20 To Zero

WASHINGTON D.C., JAN—Pure ordinary water is getting to be as scarce as hens teeth—even "down on the Swannee River." From Blount's Ferry on the Georgia line down to Demory Hill, the citizens have joined in what seems to be the new National wail: Water, water, everywhere, but not a drop to drink. The District of Columbia was once reported as "all quiet on the Potomac." But today the Potomac smells. Chautauqua Lake County was a dreamland in the long ago, but Jamestown, New York has requested Governor Dewey to recommend an appropriation of $250,000 to start improving water troubles. Investigations in that charmed area are underway to protect swimmers and persons in boats from being victims of profuse weed growths, raw sewerage, and silt deposits, which the local people argue will become "frog pounds" unless immediate action is taken.

Senators and all officials of the Federal Government are all keyed up over what is called the Pollution of the Potomac. Following the usual procedure Congress will appropriate a million dollars for what the Director of the Federal Works Agencies describes to be as "vital to the life of Washington as the Thames in London or the Seine in Paris." And you know that's going afar for a definition that proves all is not quiet on the Potomac—and if you want to pursue the question still farther you will find that the White House and the two branches of Congress are buying hundreds of big bottles of spring water from famous spring.

The United State Department of Interior has issued a report covering all points East and West and it describes the water in California very bad. About the same smelly and unhealthy conditions exist in Connecticut, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, and Iowa. To skip particulars, the report shows that for some reason or another every part of the United States is having water troubles.

The Technical Association of the Paper and Pulp Industry of Western New York recently met for the purpose of finding a cure for the water troubles. The outstanding speaker was Miss Louise E. McGrath, president of the Booth Chemical Company of Elizabeth, New Jersey. She recommended reducing pollution of streams with waste water from paper mills and other industrial plants by recirculation of "white water" or plant-polluted water, through the mills before it is discharged in the streams. She had an attentive audience and her hearers approved her disposal remedies.

Long years ago the great city of New York faced the fact that its people could not continue to drink water that was contaminated with garbage and filth of every description. The threats of sickness and death resulted in the building of an independent water supply upstate—and those reservoirs delivered pure water. But, cities like Washington and others across our broad land have been late in reorganizing these dangers. The Congress of the United States will tackle these problems and try to find a solution during the coming months. In the meantime stand guard over your drinks.

Wednesday, Feb. 16th—9:30 A. M.—Sale of Savings Bonds and Stamps.

The above calendar of the events of the coming week is announced so that our parents and adult friends may plan to come to Reeb to visit us.

—R—

Since our 6A Patrol boys left us we have to reorganize our Reeb Safety Patrol.

The boys who are willing to go out in all kinds of weather and help the children cross the streets safely deserve our cooperation and help.

Please cross at corners where boys are stationed.

Do not bother the boys while they are on duty.

The regular Patrol Boys are Larry Wellman, Richard Beightler, Gary Gregory, Alyn Shoemaker, Carl Prince, Max Ervin, Donald Massie, Arthur Carter, Fred Banks, Eugene Jenkins, Roger Hackett Raymond Harper, Franklin Williamson, Donald Henry and Doyle Rood.

The regular subs are Willis Kise, Richard Stewart, Jesse Sutherland, Louis McCann, Russell Ridgeway, Lee Cotton, Thurman Babbs, Arthur Smith, Hugh Wilson, Jack Boggs, Harold Short, Arnold Latham, Lloyd Snyder, Louis Varga, and Robert Allen.

The extra subs are Orasby Blann, Charles Branscome, Ronald White, Ralph Tittle, and Robert Sabo.

The 6A Patrol Boys serve as captains, each one a week at a time.

The Columbus Junior Police went to se a Magic Show at Memorial Hall at 9 a.m. on Saturday, Feb. 5th. I am a member and I enjoyed seeing the show. We were told to mind the following rules—Do not run in the aisles and do not stick your feet out in the aisles. I am happy that I belong to the Junior Police.

Virlin White, Room 110.

—R—

Nancy Santo has brought us a sample of cotton which we have on display in the exhibit case. Ophelia Williams has a stuffed animal on display which she made in our special class.

—R—

Don't forget that Reeb's next P.T.A. meeting is a Family Night affair scheduled for Thursday, February 17 at 7:30 p.m. Mayor Rhodes will speak to us on "Our Columbus." Plan to be with us.

Blood Is Available

Ultimate aim of the new Columbus Regional Blood Center is enough free Red Cross blood, always available, for every patient who needs it in every hospital in Franklin County.

For every person this means, simply, that to receive he must give.

Five hundred units of life-saving blood are used each week in Franklin County, Tony Schmieg, director of the blood center, pointed out this week.

"If one of each 20 people in Franklin County donated one pint of blood a year", he emphasized, "there would be plenty of free Red Cross blood for everyone."

As yet, the director continued, this happy situation has not been attained.

Already, the Red Cross Blood Center is supplying almost one-third of the needed amount. But the hospitals themselves must meet the demand for the other two-thirds—by maintaining their own blood banks and continuing the necessary policy that every one who receives blood from these banks must either pay for the blood or replace it.

The need is constant, he continued. One patient receives free Red Cross blood. But the next, because the Red Cross supply is not yet sufficient, receives hospital blood which must be replaced or paid for.

"The hospitals in Franklin County have given the program excellent cooperation." Schmieg continued, "but they must protect their own supply so that when the need arises they can meet it."

"By the combined cooperation of all the people in Franklin County, this situation can be met" the director asserted, with industry, commerce, clubs, governmental and public service employes all sharing in support of the program and furnishing together 500 donors each week.

"When the center can show such results," he declared, "the hospitals have willingly agreed to discontinue their own blood banks. Everyone, then, could receive Red Cross blood free of charge.

Meanwhile, until sufficient donations make this program possible, Schmieg said, an agreement has been made with hospitals for use of Red Cross blood.

Names are given the hospitals of all organization. industries, clubs, stores, etc., who are participating in the program by sending a weekly quota of donors to the center.

When one of these donors, a member of his family or a member of the club or [illegible] hospitalized and in need of blood, that person may so identify himself and receive free Red Cross blood so long as it is available

Also, individuals who have donated but who are not members of a participating organization, may show their donor certificate to receive Red Cross blood for themselves or a member of their family.

"Until there is sufficient Red Cross blood to go around, it is necessary for those entitled to it to ask for it," Schmieg concluded. "This undesirable situation will disappear when everyone in Franklin County is supporting the program."

God Our Father
Christ Our Redeemer
Man Our Brother

We believe these to be the fundamental truths of our faith.

We believe in the progressive revelation of the Living God and every person in our fellowship has the right and freedom to seek the Truth as it is revealed to him in the Scriptures and in Life.

We believe God has revealed the way of abundant living through the Life and Teachings of Jesus Christ, and we therefore covenant together that it shall be our purpose to live together in peace and seek the Truth in Love.

Miss Patricia Creek A Recent Bride

The marriage of Miss Patricia A. Creek, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Creek, of Blacklick, Ohio, and Mr. Elmer D. Albert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Albert, 317 Reeb Ave., took place on December 30th at 10 a.m. in St. Ladislaus Church.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white slipper satin with sweetheart neckline, outlined in seed pearls and sequins, and long sleeves ending in points over the hands. Her fingertip veil was held in place by a tiara fashioned of seed pearls. The bridal bouquet was of white roses and baby breath surrounding a white orchid

Miss Rosemary Kauderer, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a gown of pale green taffeta with square neckline. Her bouquet was of pink carnations with vari colored satin streamers.

Mr. Joseph Albert of New York City, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. Mr. Donald Creek, brother of the bride, and Mr. Edward Kolas served as ushers.

The new Mrs. Albert is a graduate of St. Mary's High School and is employed by the Ohio Inspection Bureau. Mr. Albert is a graduate of South High School and is employed as a fireman on the Columbus Fire Dept.

To Wed April 23rd

Announcement is made of the engagement of Miss Shirley Mae Henderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold D. Henderson, 547 Wilson Ave., to Mr. Richard H. Brandt, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Brandt, 712 Vernon Rd.

Miss Henderson attended South High School. Mr. Brandt attended Bexley High School and is associated with the Ohio Bell Telephone Co.

The wedding will be held April 23 at Grace Lutheran Church.

News In The World Of Religion

By W. W. Reid

In a message addressed to all American Protestants, and for reading in all churches on "Race Relations Sunday," February 13, the Federal Council of Churches of Christ says: "How can we Christians expect the nations to settle their problems on grounds of justice if we continue to withhold justice from brothers of another color? What can we say to the non-Christian peoples of the world? How can our nation take effective leadership in developing an international bill of rights if we do not live up to our own Bill of Rights? We must face this responsibility not only on Race Relations Sunday, but every day. We must break away from every unchristian racial relationship now. Individually and in the fellowship of the Church, Christians must take the lead in correcting racial injustices and in strengthening the spirit of brotherhood."

Fred G. Ramsey, of Cleveland, Ohio, a retired manufacturer, and former general secretary of the National Council and of the International Committee of the Y. M. C. A. has been named administrative head of Church World Service, which coordinates the overseas relief and rehabilitation activities of the Protestant churches and of the Orthodox churches of the United States. He will have the title of executive vice-president, and have offices at 214 East 21st Street, New York City.

Although they disagree from one another on points of organization and sometimes in theology, the several Lutheran agencies and communions that conduct missionary work in China are cooperatively planning to further their efforts there during the present period crisis. Jointly they are making decisions regarding the relocation of missionaries who may be forced out of communist-controlled territory and in other planning. They have already agreed to continue mission work in China even if the communists seize control of the central government." The cooperating churches are the Augustana Lutheran Church, the Evangelical Lutheran Church, Lutheran Free Church, the United Lutheran Church, and the missionary society of the Lutheran Church of Finland.

The search which Dr. M. O. Williams, of the Board of Missions of the Methodist Church (150 Fifth Ave., New York, N. Y.), is now making for a physician to settle in Jasper, Newton County, rural northwest Arkansas, where 10,000 people are without doctor or nurse, illustrates a type of call which reaches the Methodist Church almost daily from isolated areas of America and from the foreign mission fields ... Five years ago the Methodist Church organized the "Newton County Larger Parish," built a stone church in Jasper, and now has two experienced pastors carrying on a program of evangelism, religious education, and community service. They have a farmer's cooperative. When a doctor is found, the Methodist Church will organize local support for the erection of clinic, with a laboratory and beds. The doctor will head a public and school health program; the state will supply a nurse.

The Clara Swain Hospital of the Methodist Church, Bareilly, U. P., India of which Dr. Charles V. Perrill and Dr. Wilma Conger Perrill are the superintendents, has organized a "School of Technicians" for the training especially of laboratory assistants. This Hospital boasts that it can make any test that is made in any hospital laboratory in America. Recent equipment from America includes an incubator, an electric sterilizer, and a photo-electric colorimeter. The seven students who from the first class of the School receive instruction in the Hospital's Laboratory which is under the direction of an Indian technician, I. C. Singh.

The Fellowship of the English speaking Union Churches Overseas, of which Dr. Henry Sloane Coffin is president, and Dr. Daniel A. Poling is vice-president, has launched a campaign for $300,000 to support more than 60 of these churches, and for the rebuilding of several destroyed or damaged in the war. It is announced by Dr. Garland Evans Hopkins, of Washington, D. C., executive secretary of the Fellowship Those English-speaking churches, Dr. Hopkins, explains, are located in port cities and other diplomatic and trade centers throughout the world, are union Protestant groups, and attended by British and American residents. The Fellowship aims to strengthen the churches. Underwrite their budgets, bring them into closer relationship to each other, and help them affect the native life of the communities in which they serve. In some cases, as in Manila and Singapore, the Fellowship will assist in rebuilding war-ruined edifices. Dr. Cecil L. Morgan, pastor of the Union Church in the Canal Zone, has been chosen by the Fellowship to direct its campaign which will be to churches, business firms, and individuals in America and in foreign port cities.

Lincoln And The Ordinary Man

Eighty years ago America faced a crisis. Civil war threatened to split the Republic. Abraham Lincoln, log-splitter and lawyer, set his course. Though cursed and criticized, he stood firm. "I have so many evidences of God's direction that I cannot doubt this power comes from above," he said. "I am satisfied that when the Almighty wants me to do or not to do any particular thing, He finds a way of letting me know it."

When, at first, the Federal armies were being defeated and political enemies decried him, he did not blame the other side or the other fellow. He called the nation to repent of its sins. "We have been the recipients," he said, "of the choicest bounties of Heaven .. .but we have forgotten God. We have vainly imagined in the deceitfulness of our hearts that all these blessings were produced by some superior wisdom and virtue of our own. ..We have become too proud to pray to the God who made us."

Now, in Lincoln's tradition, we have won a war of arms and are fighting a war of ideas for the unity of a world divided within itself. The war of arms produced great leaders, but victory depended in the final analysis upon the devotion and discipline of the ordinary soldier.

So in the ideological war. The issue will be decided by those same qualities in the ordinary citizen. This battlefield is not in Europe or Asia, or even in the United Nations, but in our own hearts. "As I am, so is my nation," ought to be for everyone the ARC of true democracy. For Lincoln, personal and national repentance, marked the road to the victory. Today, instead of pointing our finger at the other fellow, we might let Lincoln point the way for us.

Will President Truman, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, Prime Minister Attlee be the Lincolns of the 20th Century? Or will it be a lot of little Lincolns—the log-splitter, the lawyer, the thousands of ordinary men who can do the extraordinary thing. And will one of them be you?

Miss Anne Murphy Married January 22nd

Corpus Christi Church was the setting Jan. 22 for the wedding of Miss Anne Murphy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick W. Murphy, 1047 Linwood Ave. to Mr. John Aumiller, son of Mrs. Kathryn Aumiller, 2947 Indianola Ave. and the late Fred R. Aumiller,

The Rev. Fr. Albert V. Kessler officiated at the nuptial mass at 9:30 a.m. before an altar decorated with white gladioli and chrysanthemums.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of lustrous white Duchess satin fashioned along colonial lines over a hoop skirt. The sheer yoke was finished with a wide Alencon lace bertha, basque bodice and long sleeves coming to points over the hands. The very full skirt, trimmed in the same lace, terminated into a long train. A crown of seed pearls held her fingertip veil. She carried a white prayerbook decorated with a white orchid tied with satin streamers.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was her sister, Miss Helen Murphy, while another sister, Marilyn, was bridesmaid. Their gowns were made of identical design in shades of tea rose and heavenly blue, respectively, with satin bodices and two tiered off-the-shoulder berthas and skirts of sheer marquisette over satin with satin bustles.

They wore matching braided bands in their hair and carried cascade bouquets of tea roses and blue carnations.

Mr. George Aumiller was best man for his brother. Mr. William Aumiller and Mr. Earl Murphy were ushers.

The couple is living at 2947 Indianola Ave.

South Puts Polar Bears On Ice

North threw a fear of defeat into South for three quarters Friday night before the Bulldogs rallied for a 67-57 win in the final quarter at South.

The Polar Bears shot out front 15-6, at the end of the first period, thanks to three goals apiece by Jim Widdoes and Bob Blanchard, but the Bulldogs got back in the game to make it nip and tuck thru the third stanza. South led 27-26, at the half and 43-42 at the three-way mark before moving ahead comfortably in the last period.

Paul Ebert, switched from forward to center after midyear graduation cost South three stars, rang the bell for 23 points, with teammate Bill Camp adding 18. Blanchard's 13 paced the Maroons.

North's reserves gained a split for the evening with a 60-45 win over the South Peeplers.

Lick That Fatigue With Sleep

Why Is Sleep So Important?

Sleep gives the body a chance to repair itself after the activities of the day and gives children's bodies their best opportunity for growth, says the Columbus Milk Council. A rested person usually has a better appetite for simple wholesome foods, including milk. Also, as a result of sufficient sleep he is likely to be cheerful and good-natured.

How Can We Get Children to Go To Bed Early?

Going to bed is a habit. Whether your child has a habit of going to bed early or of going to bed late depends on you. Set a bedtime that will allow the hours of sleep necessary for his age. Quietly insist that he be in bed at that hour. Do this every night and you will soon find that he goes to bed more readily because he has learned to take it for granted.

How Can Sleep Be Made More Restful?

Getting restful sleep is as important as getting the right amount. A quiet, dark, well-aired room, a clean comfortable bed, and suitable night clothes all help to make sleep more restful. However, preparing for a good night's rest begins before bedtime. A simple nourishing supper and a quiet evening with time planned for work and for play are important steps in getting ready for bed.

Helping Hand To Meet

The Helping Hand Class of the Gates-Fourth Methodist church, will hold their regular meeting at the church Tuesday, Feb. 15, at 7:30. Hostesses will be Mrs. Pearl Wortman, Mrs. Wortman, and Mrs. Farion.

Sportsman Club To Meet

Don't forget the Ideal Sportsman Club, formerly the Onized Rod & Gun Club ,will hold a very important meeting, Friday, Feb. 11th, at 1575 Parsons Ave.

Anyone interested in joing is cordially invited to be present.

Southway News

Plans are underway to organize an eight-team baseball league composed of boys under fifteen years of age. Southway Post will sponsor the entire league and it will be under a committee as follows: Jack C. Dempsey, 925 Mohawk St., Oscar L. Rueckel, 1363 Oakwood Ave., James E. Hively, 323 Reinhard Ave., Robert H. Van Gundy, 527 Elsmere St., and Ralph D. Mouser, 178 Hanford St. This league will be in addition to the teams now being sponsored by the Post in the American Legion Junior Baseball League.

The annual Valentine Party Dance will be held Saturday evening, February 12, Past Commander Oscar L. Rueckel, who is chairman of the post entertainment committee, has announced that, in addition to the dance music and other features furnished by Jerry Van's Orchestra, there will be some surprise novelties and election of "The Gal I'd Like for My Valentine."

Regular meetings of Southway Post are held the evening of first and third Wednesday of each month at the Post Home, 874 S. High Street. Vice-Commander Frank Kunz, 797 South 6th St., post membership chairman, stated at the last meeting that membership is nearing the one thousand mark. Veterans desiring to join the Post may do so at any time by making application for membership at the Post Home.

Barbara Burns Bride Of James F. Nuckles

The marriage of Miss Barbara Burns, daughter of Mr. Earl E. Burns, 670 Woodrow Ave., and Seaman James F. Nuckles, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Nuckles, 456 Woodrow Ave., took place on December 24th at 7:15 p.m.

The service was held in Washington Ave. EUB Church with the Rev. Mr. B. C. Rife officiating.

The bride, given in marriage by Mr. Andrew Waugh, uncle of the bridegroom, wore a gown of pure white lace over white satin. The gown was made with a tight bodice, sweetheart neckline and large mutton leg sleeves that pointed over her hands. The skirt was full and ended in a cathedral train. Her veil, fingertip in length, was of sheer illusion held in place by a coronet of pearlized orange blossoms. She carried white roses.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Miss Jo Ann Elkins, who wore a gown of powder blue afeta, with ruffled cap sleeves and mitts to match. She wore a tiara of red roses and carried a bouquet of the same flowers.

Seaman David Waugh attended the bridegroom as best man. Seating the guests were Seaman Don Werner and Seaman Ronald Dornsyth.

The bride attended South High School and is associated with the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. The bridegroom is a graduate of South High School, attended Ohio State University and is stationed at Great Lakes, Illinois.

Miss Marcella Conrad To Wed Soon

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Conrad, 465 E. Jackson St., announce the engagement of their daughter, Marcella Louise, to Mr. Gale I. Taylor, son of Mrs. Alice R. Taylor, 1880 Oak St., and Mr. Harold I. Taylor, Watkins Rd.

Miss Conrad is a graduate of South High School and the Columbus Cosmetology School. She is employed at Romalett Beauty Salon.

Mr. Taylor is associated in business with his father at the J. I. Case Co. at Canal Winchester.

The wedding will be held in the near future.

A Suggestion

Senator Arthur Vandenberg, of Michigan, is in favor of honoring the 1947 party-caucus pledge to give the next opening on the important Foreign Relations Committee to the West Coast.

Miss Adeline Long Wed New Years Day

Palms, white carnations and gladioli amidst lighted tapers in seven-branch candelabra decorated Central Community Church on New Year's Day for the nuptials uniting Miss Adeline Esther Long, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jonathan Long, Sr., 958 Linwood Ave., and Mr. Robert A. Wilson, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Wilson of West Jefferson.

The Rev. Mr. Rudy H. Thomas read the marriage vows at 2:30 p.m.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of traditional white satin designed with a sweetheart neckline and a fingertip veil held in place by a beaded crown. She carried a white Bible topped with a corsage of white rosebuds.

Mrs. Kenneth Williamson, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, attired in an aqua gown. She carried a bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums and rosebuds. Mrs. Ernest Bidwell, sister of the bridegroom, wore a gown of peach shade and carried a colonial bouquet of talisman roses and chrysanthemums.

Mr. Ernest Bidwell was best man. Ushers were Mr. Richard Wilson and Mr. Walter Wilson, brothers of the bridegroom.

The bride is a graduate of Central High School and is employed by the Leib-Jackson Co.

The bridegroom is a graduate of West Jefferson High School and is engaged in farming.

The couple lives at Pataskala.

Planning May Wedding

On their 35th wedding anniversary, Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Schneemilch, 118 Concord St., announced the engagement of their daughter, Rita Jean, to Mr. George F. Gluth, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Klamfoth, 3118 Kenlawn St., and Mr. George F. Gluth, of 199 Eureka Ave.

Miss Schneemilch is a graduate of South High School and attended Bliss College. She is now associated with the American Jersey Cattle Club.

Mr. Gluth is a graduate of North High School and is employed by the Pennsylvania Railroad.

The wedding will be an event of May 7 in St. Mary's rectory.

South Students Attend Music Festival

On Saturday, February 12, a group of music students from South attended a Music Festival which was held at Ohio Wesleyan University. There was a select band of 100 students, a chorus of 250, and a select orchestra. The guest conductors were: Band, Mr. D. Ernest Manring of East High in Cleveland; chorus, S. Norman Park, supervisor, Dayton, and orchestra, Richard Stocker, Supervisor, Springfield.

The festival was open to all students regularly enrolled in school music groups from grades 9 through 12.

The University chorus, glee clubs, orchestra, and band entertained the members of the festival with a concert.

All of the directors from various schools were dinner guests of the University at Monnet Hall on the campus.

The festival concert was given at 8:00 p.m. in Gray Chapel.

Following the concert a dance was given at the Student Union for all the students.

Those representing our school school were Harold McClaine, John Alexander, Robert Hoffman, Shirley Austin, Lillian Bower, Dianna Klein, Patty Hall, Leon Cohan, Louise Pearson, and Carole Kisker.

"First Ladys" Play To Be Presented

"First Lady," a highly amusing satire on life in Washington diplomatic circles, has been chosen as the third major presentation in the current season of Players Club of Columbus.

Written by Katharine Dayton and George S. Kaufman, this comedy in 3 acts will be given at the club house, 547 Franklin Ave., on the evenings of Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Feb. 24, 25, 26 and 27.

When "First Lady" was produced on Broadway by Sam Harris a few seasons ago, the noted actress Jane Cowl, played the leading role. In the Players Club production, Mrs. William Turner, 66 Lexington Ave., has this coveted role—that of Lucy Chase Wayne, granddaughter of a president and wife of a secretary of state, who finds the nation's capitol a sparkling background for her own political maneuvers.

Miss Gertrude Simmons, 868 Oakwood Ave., and Mr. George Clark, 480 Hutton Pl., are staging "First Lady," which will be produced and directed by Players Club director Roy H. Bowen.

"Angels With Dirty Faces" At Columbia

The Columbia Theater presents Sunday and Monday "Angels With Dirty Faces" starring James Cagney. Also "They Drive By Night" starring George Raft.

These two top pictures are probably pictures that you missed when they first were released. If so, now is your chance to see 'em. Both pictures are features, which have played to packed houses. The pictures are excellent on a double billing. Both are good stories, well directed, with excellent casts.

Take Time To Drive Carefully!

Philharmonic To Sell Memberships

In appreciation of the children's concerts given each season by the Columbus Philharmonic Orchestra, Junior Board of the orchestra is organizing to sell memberships to the Philharmonic Orchestra Junior Association among high school pupils in suburban and county schools.

Mrs. F. W. Eckardt, 1584 Hawthorne Park, is chairman for the suburban group and Mrs. A. D. Dick, 306 Frantenac Drive, Worthington, for the county group, with Murray Goodwin, 1622 Doone Road, as junior chairman.

The plan is to sell 25-cent memberships to the students, which will entitle them to reserved seats for each of the children's concerts. This is in addition to the regular free tickets issued for each concert. The money thus collected will be added to the maintenance fund, now being raised under the chairmanship of Byron P. Redman.

Chairmen in the high schools include: Hal Webster, 2201 Arlington Ave., Upper Arlington; Shan Welcher, 1639 Ridgeway Place, Grandview; Hal Davenport, 746 Sheridan Ave., Bexley; Harold Hale, 69 E. Eleventh Ave., University; Betty Reynolds, 290 Ashbourne Place, Columbus School for Girls; Harvey Minton, 247 East Eighteenth Ave., Boy Choir School; Bill Reiland, 923 S. Roosevelt Ave., Columbus Academy. Reiland is also city press chairman.

In the county Jo Pumphrey is chairman for Hilliards High; Patty Hart, Canal Winchester; Dale Snepp, Dublin; Martha Clark, Hamilton High, Groveport; Helen Kennedy, Grove City; Rosine Behm, Groveport High; Bill Hanna, Miflin; Martha Davis, New Albany;

John Wyatt, Lincoln High; Gahanna; Barbara Moore, Reynoldsburg; Carroll Schick, Westerville; Larry Wolf and Joan Daumler, Worthington; Don Upperman of Hilliards, is county press chairman.

Listen Ladies — WCOL

Members of the South Congregational Ladies Aid Society are guests of the "Listen Ladies" broadcast over WCOL at 1:30 p. m. today. The officers of the society are Mrs. Ines Davis, President; Mrs. Ray Byron, Vice President; Mrs. M. J. Kenney, Secretary and Mrs. W. C. Armentrout, Treasurer.

Russell Theater Shows Sorry, Wrong Number

Sunday and Monday the Russell Theater presents "Sorry, Wrong Number", with Burt Lancaster and Barbara Stanwyck. As the arbitrary, neurotic heiress whose murder is the keynote situation, Barbara Stanwyck was confronted with one of the most exacting performances of her brilliant career, a challenge she met with unusual excellence.

Her support, by a wisely-chosen cast, is sterling. The picture, which has been built from the widely discussed radio program of the same name, will afford movie-goers with ample suspense and mystery. Also showing is "They Drive By Night" with Humphrey Bogart and George Raft. These two pictures, plus News and Cartoon, will supply a good evenings entertainment.

"Blood On The Moon" At Southland

ROBERT MITCHUM and ROBERT PRESTON engage in a free-for-all braw. in this action scene from "BLOOD ON THE MOON," thrilling new Western drama opening Sunday at the Southland Theatre. The two-fisted drama of the bloodiest range war ever to hit the West also stars Barbara Bel Geddes. Stanley "Stash" Clements stars in the exciting cofeature, "Racing Luck." The Southland is currently showing "Flowing Gold," a re-issue, starring John Garfield, on a double bill with the new Ray Milland starrer, "Sealed Verdict," based on the German war crimes trials.

Wednesday and Thursday are Family Nights at the popular South High Street Academy Theatre. The feature attraction will be "The Black Arrow," swashbuckling romantic drama based on the Robert Louis Stevenson classic. Louis Hayward and Janet Blair star in "The Black Arrow." Dorothy Lamour portrays a Southern hussy in "Lulu Belle," which will be shown with the Stevenson story.

Green Grass Of Wyom. At Ideal Theater

This Sunday and Monday the Ideal Theater presents "Green Grass of Wyoming," starring Peggy Cummins and Charles Coburn, a technicolor picture with beautiful, thoroughbred horses, breath-taking grandeurs of rugged western scenery, a tender young romance, exciting, expertly staged trotting races and a name-heavy cast are a hard-to-beat movie combination. A proud successor to "Flicka" and "Thunderhead" (both of which are in this picture). This picture is even better because of the horse racing angle which extends the offering's entertainment horizon. Performances by both human and equine members of the cast are excellent. Also showing is "Dangerous Years" starring William Halop and Ann E. Todd. Plus News and Cartoon to complete the bill.

IT'S PANCAKE TIME

Golden brown pancakes with bits of apple in them, golden honey and coffee for breakfast.

BY BETTY NEWTON

Face the cold mornings with a hearty breakfast tucked under your belt. Nothing has more appetite appeal on a blustery day than feathery pancakes studded with apple cubes or old-fashioned buckwheat cakes. Serve maple syrup or honey to pour over them. Fruit juice and steaming hot coffee complete the menu.

Apple Bran Griddle Cakes

2 C. flour
2 tsp. baking powder
½ C. sugar
1 tsp. salt
1 C. whole bran
2 eggs
¼ C. melted shortening
1½ C. milk
2 C. finely diced apples

Sift and mix dry ingredients together. Beat eggs well. Add milk and melted shortening. Stir into dry ingredients, then fold in apples. Bake on a hot, greased griddle until nicely browned on both sides. Serve hot with butter and honey.

Old Fashioned Buckwheat Cakes

2 C. lukewarm water
½ cake compressed yeast
¼ C. lukewarm water
1½ C. buckwheat flour
1 tsp. salt
½ tsp. soda
¼ C. lukewarm water
2 Tbsp. sugar
¼ C. melted shortening

To the lukewarm water add the yeast which has been dissolved in ¼ C. lukewarm water. Stir in the buckwheat flour and salt. Set in a warm place to rise. Let stand over night. In the morning add the soda dissolved in ¼ C. lukewarm water. Add sugar and shortening. This mixture should be thin enough to run in uneven shapes when poured on the hot, greased griddle. Add lukewarm water if necessary to make it thin enough. The cakes should be full of holes when baked. This batter may be carried over from day to day. In fact, it improves in flavor after it is a few days old. To do this there should be at least ½ C. of mixture left. To this add 2 C. lukewarm water, 1 ½ C. buckwheat flour and 1 tsp. salt. Let stand in a warm place over night and in the morning add soda, sugar and shortening as before. Store in a cold place during the day.

Plain Griddle Cakes

2 C. milk
4 Tbsp. shortening
2 egg yolks
2½ C. flour
2½ tsp. baking powder
½ tsp. salt
2 egg whites

Scald milk with shortening. Cool to lukewarm. Pour over beaten egg yolks. Add flour, baking powder and salt sifted together. Beat well. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Bake on a hot griddle.

Boy Scouts To Be Honored

Herbert Smith, Ronald Buel, Richard Benedict and Robert Mac Leod received their Scout Church Award in the morning Services Sunday at St. Pauls E and R. Church. These four boys are members of Troop 77 Glen Clingman, scoutmaster. The mothers of the boys pinned the award on the boys. This is the first scout church award that have been presented to scouts in Columbus. The boys had to have 150 hours of service to the local church - and had to meet the requirements the church has set for them. Troop 77 meets every Monday at the Church at 7:30 p.m. Donald Hahn and Perry Martin of this troop also received Eagle Awards at the Eagle Court Sunday afternoon. Rev. Paul C. Kaefer is pastor of the Church.

Standing Room Only At Southwood Church

A capacity crowd attended the evening services Sunday night at the Southwood Church of Christ for "Roll Call." The minister, J. E. Bronson, spoke on the subject, "Who Is Boss At Your House?" Several men took their places in the seats reserved for the "Henpecked Husbands", but the minister announced that these men could not be henpecked very much else they would have been afraid to sit in the henpecked section.

Next Sunday night the theme for the second feature service of the special "Ten Weeks Young Peoples Campaign" will be "Young Lady, What Kind Of A Man Do You Want To Marry?"

Meeting Of Council Of S. S. Organizations

The regular monthly meeting of the Council of South Side Organizations will be tonite, Feb. 10, at 8:00 p.m. at the South Side Branch YMCA.

Lt. Sides of the City Fire Department, Arson Squad, is the featured speaker of the evening. Lt. Sides is highly recommended as having one of the vital subjects that demands the attention of the community. Bring a friend and attend this meeting to hear wherein lies the responsibility in this matter.

Baked Goods Sale At Krauss Hardware

At nine o'clock A. M. Saturday, February, Feb. 12 the South Congregational Ladies will offer for sale a fine assortment of home baked goods, potato salad, baked beans and home made candy.

Mrs. Charles Stiles, Mrs. Ray Byron, Mrs. H. T. Sells and Mrs. C. W Mummert are in charge. For further information, call Ga. 1498 or Ga. 2823.

Unemployment Fund Pays 93 Year Man

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Feb. 10 — Buffalo Ben, who rode by the side of the immortal Buffalo Bill Cody and scouted for the U. S. Army in the 1870's, last week filed a claim for unemployment compensation at the age of 93. Ben—undoubtedly the oldest man ever to file a claim under the Ohio Law—has been spending the past several years as a circus performer.

Ben who signs his name "Ben Buffalo," spends the circus "off season" in Iroquois, Illinois. He was legally eligible to file his claim under the Ohio Law because his most recent employer's main base of operations was in Ohio.

To Ben, "Custer's Last Stand" is something more than a term in a history book. He was scouting Indians in the vicinity when Custer was wiped out at the famed battle of the Little Big Horn. His circus publicity bills him as "the last of the old Indian scouts with Buffalo Bill in 1876."

In addition to his service against the Indians, Ben scouted for the British during the Boer War in South Africa, later accompanied the Tommies to India. He has also served in the Cuban Army and has toured Europe with Buffalo Bill's Wild West Show.

Born in southwestern Oregon, Ben early traveled to the Dakotas where he met Cody and "got into the Indian trouble." At 93, when most people are something less than energetic Buffalo Ben is in no retiring mood. He fully expects to be working the entertainment circuit before the year is out.

The Record

When senators and congressmen say, "Let's look at the record," that means a job for Gil Kingsbury, director of WLW's Washington News Bureau. Kingsbury, surrounded by Congressional Records and copies of committee reports, looks up the voting record of Ohio Valley lawmakers.

Bad Tidings

The President has recommended to the Congress new tax legislation to bring in an additional $4 billion of Government revenue. Mr. Truman says: "This should come principally from additional corporate taxes . . . Consideration should be given to raising personal tax rates in the middle and upper brackets." Apparently the spendthrift idea is geared in high speed.

Republicans

Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., of Massachusetts, is being favored to become Republican Whip in place of Senator Kenneth Wherry, of Nebraska. Again the emphasis among a good many Republican Senators is on the side of change. Senator Williams F. Knowland, of California, will have to beat Senator Lodge if he wants to get the job.

The club recently donated $35. through its members, to the March of Dimes Campaign.

South Y Elementary League

"B" Section

Beck Street and Lincoln Park were the winners in the "B" Section of the South Side "Y" Elementary League as they defeated Siebert and Stewart respectively Tuesday at Schiller Park.

Lincoln Park fifth graders battled their way to a 4 to 1 win over an experienced Stewart Ave. team. Both teams had many opportunities to score but were unable to throw the ball through the hoop. Many jump and out of bound plays were necessary. Captain John Otto from Lincoln was the outstanding man on the floor while Ronnie Sauer battled all the way for Stewart.

Beck Street under the power of their towering giants, Eddie Oakes and Simons continued to rack up points as they defeated a somewhat smaller Siebert quintet by 21 to 11. Oakes and Simons each scored 8 points while Captain Dave Kochensparger tossed 6 points through the net for the losers. Paul Johnston and Don Luzader were two more Siebert thorns in Beck's side as they put on a real exhibition of ball stealing.

"A" Section

Stewart and Siebert made impressive wins in the "A" Section while defeating Lincoln and Beck on Wednesday afternoon at Schiller Park.

Stewart's Captain Vaughn "Buck" Jones, rode the range in lassoing 12 points to lead his team to a 19 to 8 victory over an unfortunate Lincoln team who was only able to floor four men. Gus Hickman collected six of the losers' eight points.

Center Norman James tallied four buckets to lead Siebert to a 15 to 8 win over Jerry Whalen and company from Beck. Whalen scored six of the losers' eight points. Captain Walter Gwilym accounted for five points for the victors.

Relief For Bald-Headed Britons

The would-be planners of an American socialist economy who envision a Utopia with no problems for anybody should take a second look at the current socialization experiment in England. Other countries attempting the planned economy scheme have encountered countless complex problems with which the planners have wrestled long and too often in vain.

However, one of the most complicated problems appearing to date for the Britons involves a real "hair-line" decision. It all comes under the jurisdiction of the National Health Service, that henceforth the British taxpayers will provide wigs for their bald-headed brethren. We can only express our regrets for those Britons who are so unfortunate as to retain their natural hair. They will still have to provide their own hats, even though the hat-making business in England is having rough sledding.

The Ministry of Health is issuing 200 utility toupees weekly to cover shining pates and the twenty-three wig makers who are participating in the probram estimate potential demand for toupees will amount to about 100,000 yearly from 75,000 hairless Britons. Since each wig costs about $40, it means the taxpayers will have to fork over about $4 million a year. On top of that there will be a service charge benefitting those recipients who receive two wigs. They can have one cleaned and dressed every two months at government expense. For this the taxpayers will dig up another $400,000 a year.

The health ministry will supply the coverings in all sizes and colors. The ladies will be offered five different models, while the men will have only an alternate choice—a full wig or a "sculpette" for bald tops.

In contrast, the hatters of Britain are having their headaches with 40% of the nation's 24 million males now going hatless. Hat industry employment has dropped to 7,400 as compared to a pre-war figure of 10,500. Being on the losing end of the decision by the planners, they will have to struggle along as best they can with no help from the taxpayers.

Truly, we must sympathize with the authorities who had to make such a momentous decision. It would be interesting to learn on just what basis their difficult choice was made. Perhaps they felt that a shiny top contributes to an inferiority complex. On the other hand, we know a lot of males who are at their best in a beat-up fedora of ancient vintage. Who doesn't know a member of the fair sex whose outlook fails to take on a rosy hue upon the acquisition of a new millinery creation?

We can be thankful that the economic planners are not in full swing here at home to pose such weighty questions to our government in Washington now faced by a multitude of domestic and foreign problems of far greater stature. As it is, the American taxpayer will be called upon to foot a bill far out of proportion to his income, even without socialist wig-buying.

World War I Veterans The Forgotten Men

The forgotten men are the veterans of World War I, who [illegible] to save the world from the Hun.

They returned from over-seas service where they fought in trenches, often in mud to their knees.

Most the first draft that [illegible] to the colors [illegible] peacetime [illegible]

[illegible] bill [illegible] Rep. [illegible] Veterans [illegible] Committee of Veterans' Affairs.

The bill provides for the following:

1. Requires 90 days' active military or naval service during World War I or II, or, if less than 90 days, discharge for disability incurred in line of duty or entitlement to receive compensation or retirement pay for service connected disability.

2. Pension payable upon application at age of 60 years at rate of $40 monthly and at age of 65 years, $50 monthly, $120 monthly at any age if helpless or blind.

3. Pension payable upon application, before age 60, for permanent non-service connected disability not result of own willful misconduct on following basis: $30 monthly for 20% disability; $40 monthly for 30% disability; $50 monthly for 60% to 90% disability; $120 monthly if helpless or blind.

4. Pension payable for age [illegible] in addition to any [illegible] compensation the veteran may be receiving.

President Harry Truman has said he will veto this bill if it is passed.

Most of these men are past 60 years of age. Many are showing the effects of exposure, some from being gassed, others are crippled or blind.

Remember these veterans were discharged from service with a small bonus from their home state (no government bonus). When they came home they had no jobs to go to. A few years later came the depression.

No allowance was made as in the case of World War II veterans who received or can receive free education, or money to purchase a home, or a loan to go into business.

Franklin D. Roosevelt, (swivel-chair under-secretary of the Navy) during World War I, who was then physically fit to have gone to war, said in words to the effect that these men were not entitled to pensions.

Seems like the democrats want our young men to fight wars (both World Wars were under their administrations. Both Woodrow Wilson and Franklin D. Roosevelt who were elected on the promise to keep us out of war.) Then, they want to promptly forget our veterans.

For shame! on any President who side-steps the responsibility to the men who risked their lives that our country might exist and prosper.

We advise you to write your Congressman and tell him you want this bill passed.

Congressman for this district is John Vorys, and his address is House Office Bldg., Washington, D. C.

He is in favor of this bill, but lots of letters will back him up in the fight for this bill.

Council Protests Nursery Removal

Council of South Side Organizations at their regular meeting last Thursday evening, went on record condemning the closing of the Lincoln Park Project Nursery next month.

This nursery was started for the benefit of the people by the government in the Lincoln Park Project for this low income group was abandoned by the government at the end of the war.

It was added to the Council of Social Agencies (the Community Fund) and was placed under the supervision of the South Side Settlement with a grant from the fund of $1,500. Actual funds spent last year was $800.

On April 1 the nursery is supposed to come under the supervision of the South Side Day Nursery who insist on closing the Lincoln Park Nursery.

This would not be satisfactory because the South Side Day Nursery closes at 5:30 p.m. and many of the mothers of these children must work 'til that hour. Besides, this, the nursery is now filled to capacity and does not have room for additional children.

Then there is another factor in this case of making the mothers walk at least 1½ miles each way twice a day.

Added to this that the Lincoln Park Nursery pays no rent plus the facilities are adequate to take care of the children, it would be foolish to spend from $10,000 to $15,000 to put an addition on the present South Side Day Nursery.

The mothers who have put their children in the Lincoln Park Nursery do so because they must work to support their families, as most of them are widows or have invalid husbands and yet pay at least four-fifths of the cost of maintaining the nursery in Lincoln Park.

They now have a waiting list of 20 children to place in this nursery, and are only waiting to add the additional children on the word of the Council of Social Agencies (Community Fund).

We say that the nursery should stay in Lincoln Park and as far as the South Side Booster is concerned we will do every thing in our power to keep it there.

The Council of South Side Organizations went on record endorsing the Stadium Bond fund and improvements on the Stadium at South High School.

The Council also went on record asking for traffic lights at Sycamore St. & Parsons Ave., Barthman Ave. & S. Fourth St., Innis Ave. & S. Fourth St., Livingston Ave. & Lockbourne Rd., Champion & Frebis Aves., and Lockbourne Rd. and Frebis Ave.

Council also appointed C. L. Lensenmeyer as Chairman of the annual Fourth of July Celebration.

The meeting was addressed by Lt. Samuel Sides of Columbus Fire Department Arson Squad, on "Arson Adult & Juvenile." His address was well-presented and gave a clear cut view on the subject.

The Council of South Side Organizations has endorsed the Stadium Bond Drive at South High School.

South Side Nursery Names New Officers

South Side Day Nursery is announcing its new officers for 1949: President, Mrs. C. E. Balz, 1427 Madison Ave.; 1st vice president, Miss Flora Schenck, 232 S. 17th St.; 2nd vice president, Mrs. Roy C. Scout Pilgrimage To Columbus

Twenty-seven Scouting delegations from Ohio aggregating 125 selected Boy Scouts, Council Presidents and Scout Executives assembled in the Town and Country Room of the Neil House in Columbus, Ohio, at 11:30 a.m. on Saturday, February 12th with Governor Frank J. Lausche as special guest of honor at the luncheon.

The purpose of this pilgrimage from all corners of the State of Ohio was to make a report covering the activities and status of Scouting in the twenty-seven Councils of the State for the year just ended and to project a program of service and adventure for the year ahead.

Governor Lausche accepted the reports in a twenty-minute address of welcome and congratulations. The Governor is the holder of the Silver Beaver Award, the highest recognition given to laymen for distinguished service to boyhood in Local Boy Scout Councils.

An appropriate torch-lighting ceremony launching the 40th Scout Anniversary Crusade to Strengthen the Arm of Liberty concluded the celebration.

W. W. Marsh, President of the Fort Hamilton Area Council presided at this affair.

Local Scouts Participate

Scout William Schilling, son of Mr. and Mrs. Simon J. Schilling of 667 Hanford Street and Cub Scout Leo Craiglow, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Craiglow of 692 Linwood Avenue, represented and made the report of the Central Ohio Area Council. These boys are members of Troop 56 and Cub Pack 25 respectively, sponsored by Corpus Christi Parish Holy Name Society.

South Has Two Assemblies

Last Tuesday, February 8, a song fest was held in the auditorium of South High School. South was very fortunate in having as their song fest leader, George Campbell. Mr. Campbell is one of the leading song leaders in America. During World War II he was a Major in the United States Army as a Musical Director, traveling from camp to camp as an entertainer for the soldiers. At the fest Mr. Campbell was accompanied by Dale Summers, pianist, who plays on the "On Wings of Prayer" on the radio each morning at 7:30. Mr. Campbell started the song fest off by singing "America," followed by "My Bonnie Lies Over the Ocean," "Oh What a Beautiful Morning" and "Now Is the Hour."

On Thursday, Feb. 10, South was honored in having Edward Louis Jeambey as speaker on the subject of Freedom.

The lecture presented by Mr. Jeambey was an answer to the question "Why Doesn't Someone use propaganda for Americanism?" In presenting his message Mr. Jeambey used a vast display of flags. In his talk he stated that all flags say something and have a particular meaning or significance. His flags represented the different states and foreign countries. The many different flags of the United States prior to the one of today which consists of 48 stars on a blue field and 13 red and white stripes were displayed. Some of the outstanding flags shown were Leif Erickson's Viking Banner, the Colors of Christopher Columbus, the Revolutionary Jack, the Liberty or Death Flag, and the Jolly Roger.

South Side YMCA Jr. Basketball League

Coming from behind with a furious last half drive the Wolves knocked a band of fighting Wildcats out of a first place tie by defeating them 26 to 19. The all-around team play of the Wolves being the deciding factor. Bob Stevenson's eleven points was high for both teams. Beaver No. 1. scalped Beaver No. 2. by the tune of 29 to 8. Billy Webb's nine points and Jim Marinello's eight points led the winner's attack. Don Johnson starred for the losers. Gates-Fourth's smooth working team downed a stubborn Amerigo five 58 to 28 with the whole team breaking into the scoring column. Kenney Linninger was a bright star in a losing cause.

Make Believe—

The face I wear for others
Is youthful, pretty too—
It mirrors on the surface
The outward things I do.
My other face is hidden
And never comes to view;
Because it shows deep furrows—
The scars I wear for you.

God Our Father
Christ Our Redeemer
Man Our Brother

We believe these to be the fundamental truths of our faith.

We believe in the progressive revelation of the Living God and every person in our fellowship has the right and freedom to seek the Truth as it is revealed to him in the Scriptures and in Life.

We believe God has revealed the way of abundant living through the Life and Teachings of Jesus Christ, and we therefore covenant together that it shall be our purpose to live together in peace and seek the Truth in Love.

Betty Jane Bingmer A Recent Bride

Mrs. Luke Murray, Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Bingmer of 193 E. Whittier St. announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Betty Jane Bingmer to Mr. Luke Murray, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Luke Murray, Sr. of Groveport, Ohio.

White pompoms, chrysanthemums and palms were the background at St. Mary's church for the ceremony read at 9:30 a.m., November 3rd. Rev. Father Dury officiating.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore a colonial style gown of heavy white satin styled with a fitted bodice, sheer yoke and lace bertha. The full draped skirt was caught with lilies of the valley which revealed a skirt of ruffles and lace, the train of her skirt was edged in lace. Her finger tip veil of imported illusion was gathered to a pearlizer tiarra, she carried a white prayer book topped with scattered carnations centered with gardenias.

Miss Joan Bricker who was maid of honor wore a colonial dress of green satin and marquisette.

Bridesmaid Ann Murray wore a similar styled dress in fuchsia satin. Both attendants carried colonial bouquets of bronze pompoms and yellow roses.

Gene Langenfelt was best man for Mr. Murray. The ushers were Richard Donahue and Gus Gassman.

Mrs. Bingmer's gown was royal blue crepe, gray hat, gray accessories, pink rose bud corsage.

Mrs. Murray Sr. wore a rose crepe gown, white rose bud corsage.

Immediately following the wedding, a breakfast was served at the Southern Hotel for the families and bridal party The reception was at the W.O.W. hall in the evening.

The couple reside, at 1043 Seymour Ave., Columbus, Ohio, following their motor trip to Michigan.

Ceremony To Be Event Of February 18th

Curt Davis At Thurman Ave. Church

Curtis R. Davis and Mrs. Davis of Indianapolis, Indiana, will be at Thurman Avenue Methodist Church in a series of services beginning Monday evening, February 21.

Curt, as Mr. Davis is affectionately known throughout the eastern half of our country, is one of America's most talented musicians. His special accomplishment is his brilliant performance on the Hammond Electric Organ. He will install his own organ in the Thurman Avenue Church. Curt and Charlotte and their organ are truly a team of three, greatly inspiring to all who hear them.

For thirteen years, Curt was organist at Cadle Tabernacle in Indianapolis. For three years he was Dean of The Light of Men Bible Institute in Detroit. He has refused many high salaried positions in the entertainment world in order to devote his exceptional talent to Christian service. Wherever he goes with his thrilling musical ministry large crowds attend the services and there is a genuine interest on the part of all who love fine things among children, young people and adults.

The services at the Thurman Avenue Church will be held each evening at 8:00 o'clock, beginning February 21 and continuing through Sunday evening, February 27. Each program will be different; and each will be about seventy-five percent musical. Leonard W. Mann, pastor of the church, will assist in the services.

In announcing these services Rev. Mann said, "We are convinced that social wrongs and world ills can be cured only as individual persons are born into newness of life and begin to think and act in the full light of a vital and vibrant Christian experience. We are certain that our church and community would profit by a revival of Spiritual Life, of Religious Faith, and of Moral Conviction. For these purposes these meetings are being held." The public is cordially invited.

Miss Lowery Speaker At St. Leo's

The versatile Miss Antoinette Lowery will be the next speaker to continue the theme on Child Life for St. Leo's Parent-Teacher Association on Thursday, February 17, 7:30 p.m. The subject will be "Hobbies For Children," and Miss Lowery will illustrate her topic with picture slides. A question and answer period will follow.

Miss Lowery is a school teacher, is President of the Catholic Women's League, and still finds time to enjoy several hobbies, chief among them being photography. It will be an evening well spent to attend this meeting, as Miss Lowery's versatility, coupled with her charming personality, tends to draw capacity audiences.

Young Peoples' Song Fest

The February Song Fest, sponsored by the Young People's Church Council of the South Side Branch YMCA, will be held at Thurman Avenue Methodist Church, Sunday, February 20, at 8 p.m.

Feature of the evening will be the popular morality play with a modern setting called "Dust of the Road". The play will be presented by the South High School Radio Workshop under the direction of Mr. John Sittig.

Group singing will again be led by Mr. and Mrs. Al Heinz. The 35 members of the Junior Optimist Glee Club will also spear on the program.

In addition to members of the cast, the following young people of the Council have parts in the evening's program: Paul Hanson, Rosemary Leiss, Bob Long, and Marilyn Babbert.

The Song Fest is open to any young people of the churches of the South Side.

Founders Day Tea At Stewart Ave.

The Founders Day Tea for the Stewart Avenue School Parent-Teacher Association will be held on Thursday afternoon, February 24 at 2 p.m. at the school.

The Invocation will be given by Mrs. Nelson Hennis. The guest speaker for this meeting will be Mrs. Frank Noe, President of the Columbus and Franklin County Council of Parent-Teacher Associations. The Past Presidents of the Stewart Avenue P.T.A. have been invited to attend the tea.

Under the direction of their teacher, Miss Mae Glass, the Fifth and Sixth Grade boys and girls will present a dramatization entitled "February Birthdays."

A Social Hour will follow. Parents and Friends are cordially invited to attend this meeting.

Boy Scouts Praised

Conservation Commissioner H. A. Riker during last week's observance of Boy Scout Week urged Ohio Division of Conservation field men to continue their full cooperation wth Boy Scout troops throughout the state praising the interest taken in recent years by Scouts in the conservation and restoration of natural resources, particularly wildlife.

He pointed out that the cooperation received from Boy Scout troops in the state's wildlife conservation program has been outstanding and that they deserve and will continue to receive the encouragement of the Division of Conservation.

More than two million two hundred thousand active members of the Boy Scouts of America last week celebrated the 39th anniversary of Scouting in all parts of the United States, Alaska, Canal Zone, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands and Guam.

Scout projects during the past ten years in Ohio have touched every phase of conservation and restoration of natural resources including wildlife, forests, water soil and minerals.

Sportsmmen TO Convene In City

Sportsmen from all parts of Ohio and a number of state and national wildlife officials will meet at the Deshler-Wallick Hotel in Columbus, February 18, 19 and 20 for the annual convention of the League of Ohio Sportsmen, a statewide federation of conservation of sportsmen's clubs.

Principle topics scheduled to receive unlimited discussion will include Ohio's wildlife conservation and restoration program and farmer-sportsmen relationships.

The big event will be the banquet set for Saturday evening, February 19, when Albert M. Day, director of the Federal Fish and Wildlife Service, will speak.

On Sunday members of the Outdoor Writers Associaton of Ohio will hold their annual breakfast and election of officers meeting. Lou Klewer, president of OWO and outdoor columnist for the Toledo Blade, will preside.

Mrs. Wm. Paulus Heads Trudeau Guild

The February meeting of the Trudeau Guild No. 10 of the Franklin County Tuberculosis Sanitarium was held at the home of Mr. Edward Anverse of 598 Lilley Ave. Mrs. Floyd Leonard was co-hostess.

At this meeting, officers for the coming year were announced as follows:

Mrs. William Paulus, chairman; Mrs. Glenn Buller, vice chairman; Mrs. James Claar, secretary and Mrs. Everett Kessler, treasurer.

Committee chairmen selected for the current year will be:

Mrs. Karl Williams, Ways and Means; Mrs. Forest Murphy, Project; Mrs. Sylvanus Dicke, Expansion and Mrs. Russell Canter, Publicity.

Following the business meeting games in keeping with the Valentine spirit, were enjoyed, as were the lovely Valentine refreshments.

George Washington's Special Prayer

Tuesday we celebrate the birth of George Washington, the father of our Country.

Recently we ran across his special prayer for our country which is especally appropriate in these times of the Soviet meddling.

We are therefore reproducing his prayer for the benefit of our readers, below:—

"Almighty God, who has given us this good land for our heritage, we humbly beseech Thee, that we may always prove ourselves a people mindful of Thy favor and glad to do Thy will. Bless our land with honorable industry, sound learning, and pure manners. Save us from violence, discord, and confusion; from pride and arrogancy, and from every evil way. Defend our liberties, and fashion into one united people and multitudes brought hither out of many kindred and tongues. Endue wth the spirit of wisdom those to whom in Thy name we entrust the authority of government, that there may be peace and justice at home, and that thru obedience to Thy law, we may show forth Thy praise among the nations of the earth. In the time of prosperity fill our hearts with thankfulness and in the day of trouble, suffer not our trust in Thee to fail; all of which we ask thru Jesus Christ our Lord, Amen."

Breakfast Club

The regular monthly meeting of the Mothers Breakfast club of the South Side Settlement House will be held Wednesday, Feb. 23, in the dining room of the Settlement House at 9:30.

There will be a guest speaker from the State Dept. of Health. Anyone interested in joining this group is invited to attend at this time. Hostesses for the breakfast will be Mrs. Thomas Wilson, Mrs. J. E. Fogle, Mrs. John Frances and Mrs. Cordle.

Lions Club Held Business Meeting

The Lions Club held a business meeting, Tuesday, Feb. 15th. The members were given the chance to dispose of any "gripe" and at the same time to suggest any ideas for the good of the club. As with any organization of 70 members, both the "gripes" and ideas were numerous.

Last week the Sales Tax Honor Roll carried the following names: Mr. Lemmon, Mr. Lalle, Mr. Hoermle, Mr. Chrismer, Mr. Getreu, Mr. Wacker, Mr. Snedeker, and Mr. Sherard.

Mrs. H. Kaeppner Named Vice Chairman

Mrs. Herman Kaeppner, 383 E. Kossuth St., will serve as vice-chairman in charge of the South and Southeast Units of the Women's Residential Division for the 1949 Red Cross fund drive, beginning Feb. 28.

Workers of the south end units will organize at a meeting Monday, Feb. 21, at 10:30 a.m. in Roosevelt Junior High School, Studer and Stanley Aves.

Mrs. Guy Chambers, 424 Fairwood Ave., is colonel for the Southeast Unit, and Mrs. Rodney Kolb, 245 Thurman Ave., colonel for the South Unit. Mrs. Raymond E. Metzger, 317 E. Torrence Rd., is chairman of the Women's Division.

The annual drive will open Feb. 28 and continue thru March 18. County-wide goal for 1949 is $296,700.

Why Does Heart Disease Concern Me?

The answer to this question and to others pertaining to the nation's greatest health menace were given today by the Central Ohio Heart Association in connection with its campaign in 52 counties. The local drive will close Feb. 28.

Answering the above question, Dr. Howard L. Bevis, Ohio State University president and chairman of the heart association, said:

"Because diseases of the heart are the greatest cause of death in the United States. They are responsible for one of every three deaths. They strike all ages and kill more people than the five other leading causes of death — cancer, accidents, kidney disease, pneumonia, tuberculosis — combined."

As part of its campaign to make the public better informed about heart diseases, the Heart Association gave the following questions and answers:

Q. How can I fight heart disease?

A. First: Know your heart. Protect yourself and your family through periodic health examinations including heart check-ups. Second: Learn the facts about heart disease. The more you know, the less you will have to fear. Third: Help science discover more about diseases of the heart and blod vessels by supporting research. Give what you can.

Q. What are the most common type of heart disease?

A. Rheumatic heart disease is childhood's greatest enemy, killing five times as many children as infantile paralysis, whooping cough, diphtheria, scarlet fever, measles and meningitis combined. High blood presure is most common among the middel aged. Hardening of the arteries which supply the heart muscle is most common among the elderly, but also occurs in middle age.

Q. What are possible symptoms of heart disease?

A. There are those common symptoms [illegible] not over the heart but generally in the center of the chest; shortness of breath, and palpitation is disagreeable sense of fast, or slow, or irregular heart beat). These symptoms do not necessarily mean that you have heart disease. They may be nervous or other disorders. See your doctor and be sure.

Q. Can heart disease be cured?

A. Some kinds of heart disease can be cured by drugs and surgery. Other forms can be controlled by reducing the strain on the heart. By living within the limits of your heart reserve you can protect your heart and prolong life.

Q. Is there any fund to which I can contribute to fight heart disease?

A. Yes. The American Heart Association and its affiliated heart associations, locally the Central Ohio Heart Association, and laymen, are conducting a nationwide campaign to raise $5,000,000. This sum is vitally needed to fight heart disease with research —education—and community service. Your gift not only supports the national program—but—70% will be used for the development and expansion of cardiac services in your area.

Mary M. Johnston Is Married To Louis Martin

Mrs. Clara Bango and Mr. Norman Bango wish to announce the marriage of their daughter, Mrs. Mary M. Johnston to Mr. Louis Martin, 1819 So. 5th. St., son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Martin.

The single ring ceremony was held at 4:15 p.m. on January 15, at the home of the bride's mother, 1261 Parsons Ave., with the Rev. J. E. Bronson officiating. The bride was attired in a Claret gabardine suit with navy blue accessories. She wore a corsage of white roses.

Mrs. Francis Fritz, matron of honor, wore royal blue with black accessories and a corsage of red roses. The bride's mother wore a fuschia dress with brown accessories and a corsage of pink roses. The bridegroom's mother was attired in navy blue, with a corsage of pink roses. Best man for Mr. Martin was Mr. William Fritz.

The wedding was followed by a reception for 225 guests at the Croatian Hall, 377 Reeb Ave.

The new Mrs. Martin is employed at General Motors plant. Mr. Martin is also employed there.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin are now at home to their friends at 345 Morrill Ave.

Community Theater At South High

Returning by popular demand after the enthusiastic reception accorded him two years ago at Memorial Hall when he first performed for the young audience of the Community Junior Theater, magician Jack Courtney this month takes his show into the various schools throughout the city which are on the current Community Junior Theater series. He will appear at South High School on Friday, February 25th at 3:30 p.m.

All sorts of thrills and laughs, mystery and fun are in store for the youngsters at these performances with several audience participation features. There is, for example, the ever-popular comedy routine in which a watch borrowed from someone in the audience completely vanishes. It fails to reappear until suddenly later during the show it is discovered in the innermost of 4 nested boxes. These have been in plain sight of the children through the show, untouched by the magician or his assistant, until Courtney opens them to reveal the missing timepiece tied around the neck of a live guinea pig. Then there is the aerial fishing act in which live goldfish seem to materialize from nowhere out of thin air. Another snap of the fingrs and Courtney mysteriously produces white doves from nowhere only to have them disappear with even more baffling suddenness. The children always delight in the numerous tricks such as these in which small animals and birds take part.

One of the most thrilling displays is the closing number, Phantasy in Silk, during which more than 300 yards of vari-colored silk is produced from an apparently empty container. The gorgeous materials used in this illusion are valued at over $500. This phenomenal trick never fails to astonish and thrill young audiences.

"Good Sam" At Russell Theater

This Sunday and Monday the Russell Theater presents Gary Cooper and Ann Sheridan in "Good Sam." In the picture Gary Cooper plays an over-zealous samaritan, whose hair-trigger sympathies and boundless generosity keep him and his family in constant jeopardy. The supporting cast consists of Edmund Lowe, Joan Lorring, Frank McHugh and Bobby Dolan. The heart warming philosophies and ribtickling humor are an excellent entertainment combination. The second picture is "Rose of Santa Rosa" with Patricia White and Eduardo Noriega. News & a cartoon completes the bill.

Carnival In Costa Rica Showing At Ideal

Sunday and Monday the Ideal presents "Carnival in Costa Rica." The picture is filmed against Costa Rican backgrounds of breathtaking natural beauties, captured at their best by Technicolor. Dick Haymes and Vera-Ellen are starred in this colorful, and carefree film. This is a musical that should please the patrons, and afford an enjoyable evening's entertainment. Showing with this picture is "High School Hero" with Freddie Stewart and June Preisser, plus a cartoon.

Tickets for the Courtney performance will be on sale at the school the day of the show at 25c for children and 35c for adults. Any adult, accompanied by 5 or more children is admitted free.

In March, Hansel & Gretel will be given by The Ohio Wesleyan Players, April will bring the Tatterman Marionettes, and the final performance will be in May with the Water Carnival at O.S.U. Natatorium.

WBNS Celebrates 25th Anniversary

Two years before the establishment of the Federal Radio Commission, forerunner of the Federal Communication Commission, and three years before the Columbia Broadcasting System was established, Station WBNS, then known as WCAH, went on the air.

Under the call letters, WCAH, the station was established in 1924 by Mr. C. A. Entrekin. Located in the Entrekin Electrical Shop on W. 10th Ave., WCAH began with only 15 watts of power. In time the station power was increased, and with the Entrekin home next door to the shop, Mrs. Entrekin had a living room and radio studio combined. The program schedule, beside the mechanical recordings, consisted of talks, and Mrs. Entrekins' talents as a pianist. Unwittingly probably the first local radio advertising consisted of the courtesy announcements given a music store for use of their records.

But radio was still in the experimental stage, and with the Florida "boom," off the air went WCAH, and to Florida went Mr. Entrekin. The owner later returned to re-establish the station, and listed among his new "talent" was Dorothy Stevens Humphreys, who has been associated with the station ever since.

A short time later the station was sold, becoming the Commercial Radio Service Company, with new studios on the 18th floor of the Fort Hayes Hotel. With a staff of five people the station began operating four hours daily, two hours at noon and two hours in the evening. From 1927 to 1929, WCAH broadcasting made rapid progress, increasing its broadcasting schedule to almost continuous operation between the hours of 10 a.m. and 7 p.m.

In 1929 WCAH began to take the overflow of CBS programs, not carried by the regular Columbus outlet, also a part-time station. Some will recall the two hours of CBS every Saturday night, as the WCAH program highlight of the week. These programs were sponsored by General Mills and Paramount - Picture Theatres. With new equipment and personnel added during the next few years, WCAH became a regular outlet of the Columbia Broadcasting System.

In the fall of 1933, the station was sold to the present ownership and the call letters changed to WBNS. Then came a boost in the daytime power, new studios and offices at the present location, 33 N. High St., and the transmitter moved from Richter Rd., to 1035 Barnett Rd., where a modern building and a 379 foot vertical radiator had been erected. WBNS was one of the pioneers in using this new type antenna system, now a requirement of all construction permits. The antenna was so novel at the time that some discussion arose on with-holding payment until performance had been proven, for the non-technical mind, a broadcasting station had to have two towers with wires between them.

It was this same year that "Uncle Ezra" Martin and his "Pleasant Valley Folks" started on the air. This program, which featured Sally Flowers, still a popular WBNS star, was a top attraction of the station during the next five years.

A studio pipe organ, a home demonstration studio on South High Street, and new acoustical treatment for the main studios were among the new features of 1935. With 1937 came the Ohio River Flood, and an opportunity for WBNS to establish the value of its short wave pickup transmitters and perform a great public service.

A short wave transmitter and gasoline engine power plant were flown by plane and taken to the flood area. More than twenty "two-way" broadcasts were handled between the station and the stricken area. A real service was given the community, the state and the Red Cross. Contributions from the WBNS listeners to the Red Cross probably still stands as a record among local radio stations. From this first short wave transmitter, the facilities have been expanded to a short wave truck and five transmitters, ranging in power from 2 to 175 watts.

In March, 1938, WBNS increased its power to 5000 watts day and 1000 watts night. A new transmitter and an additional vertical radiator had been added to the station facilities. The transmitter was the first to use air-cooled power tubes and the antenna system the first to use only two radiators to secure a directional figure eight pattern. With this increase in power, WBNS became the most powerful local commercial station. At about this time a new type amplifier was installed, tending to double the station volume and here again WBNS was a pioneer.

The late Johnny Neblett, who had become outstanding in his broadcasting of the Columbus Red Bird baseball games over WBNS, was also a memorable part of the year 1938.

The year 1939 saw a number of WBNS personalities coming into their own. "Genial Jim" Cooper was a well-established newscaster, known to thousands in central Ohio. Geer Parkinson's organ programs, Fern Sharp's "Round Robin Review" for the women, and Irwin Johnson, soon to be known as the "Early Worm," were all popular favorites.

The war years brought changes in the staff. Twenty-seven were called into service, among them, Richard A. Borel, station manager, who served as a Lieutenant Colonel in the Legislative and Liasion Division of the Office of The Chief of Staff.

Outstanding is the war service record of WBNS, with members of the staff continuously participating in the countless drives. One of the highlights of this period was the war bond-country store auction, in which members of the talent staff toured the city of Columbus, making personal appearances in behalf of the war effort.

Capable management, exceptional technical operation and the best in local programming over a period of 25 years, have placed WBNS among the nation's "Top Twenty" stations. The 25th year culminates plans for WBNT-TV, which will open up an entirely new era in sight-sound broadcasting.

Mr. Borel's statement in the WBNS Anniversary Album expresses the outlook of the entire staff: "To see where we are going is the only reason to look back. Being 25 years old, we can only get excited because this is a challenge to the future. We are a lot more excited about the future than we are the past. There is a friendly family feeling about WBNS and loyalty to the station from WBNS listeners, a loyalty of which we are very jealous, and which we intend to continue to merit.

"Every Girl Should Be Married" at Southland

WHO'S WOOING WHOM?—Betsy Drake has eyes only for the love of her life, Cary Grant (left), despite the machinations of Franchot Tone in the hilarious new romantic comedy, "Every Girl Should Be Married," opening on Sunday at the Southland Theatre. Grant portrays a successful bachelor baby doctor in the film, who is stalked by Miss Drake, a matrimonially - minded, determined young Miss. Diana Lynn co-stars in the fun-filled new hit, 'Whispering City," mystery drama starring Helmut Dantine, will be co-featured with "Every Girl Should Be Married" for the three-day engagement.

The Southland Theatre is currently showing "Night Has a Thousand Eyes." Edward G. Robinson stars in this eerie thriller, in the role of a man who can foresee tragedy. John Lund and beautiful Gail Russell have the romantic leads in the potent new offering. Bob Hope and Dorothy Lamour co-star in the comedy co-feature, "My Favorite Brunette." Hope portrays a super-sleuth in this extremely funny re-issue.

"Words & Music" At The Columbia

The Columbia Theater presents on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, "Words and Music" starring Judy Garland and Mickey Rooney.

These two young stars bring you a picture filled with young romance, fun and music. They both turn in excellent performances and the picture is truly a musical, with tunes that will send you home humming to yourself. For real relaxation and enjoyment, put this one on your must see list.

Miss Rose Wuichner To Be Wed

Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Wuichner, 803 Stewart Ave., announce the engagement of their daughter, Rose Marie, to Mr. John R. Bendure, 645 Frehis Ave., son of Mrs. E. F. Lynn of Stockton, Calif.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Sacred Heart Commercial High School and Mr. Bendure is a graduate of South High School.

South Side Y Elementary School Basketball League

"B" Section—

Siebert blanked an inexperienced Stewart team 17 to 0 while the boys from Lincoln Park trimmed Southwood 20 to 9 in games played of the "B" Section of the South Side Branch YMCA Elementary School League at Schiller Park, Tuesday.

Captain John Otto and Jim Haines carried the load for Lincoln in collecting seven points each. John McBee, Southwood center, collected a like number of seven points for the losers.

Dave Kochensparger, Siebert Southpaw, captained his team to victory by tallying six points while his team mate, Jerry Miller, looped five points in aiding to trounce a green Stewart Avenue quintet by 17 to 0. Little Michael Jones was the outstanding ball handler on the Stewart team, but he couldn't get the needed cooperation to run in some scores for the losers.

"A" Section—

In the "A" Section played Wednesday at Schiller Park, Southwood shellaced a Lincoln team by a score of 28 to 3 while Siebert came from behind in the last quarter to defeat a saddened Stewart team by a score of 23 to 14.

Captain Jerry Woodyard scored eleven points and Ray Hickman accounted for ten as Southwood turned to no mercy in drubbing the Lincoln Park quintet. Lincoln was all a jitter and only tallied one out of seven free throws.

At the end of the third quarter Stewart was leading Siebert 13 to 9, but Siebert caught fire as they rolled thru 14 points in the last quarter to defeat a tiresome Stewart Combination by 28 to 14.

Center Norman James sparked the Siebert attack as he tallied 12 points for the winners, besides being responsible for getting the ball from the bankboard and feeding Walter Gwilym on a fast break. Gwilym collected 7 points and six of them were in the last two minutes of play.

Vaughn Jones flipped in three buckets to score 6 of the loser's points. Jones is worthy of an all league forward post through his brilliant ball handling throughout the league games.

Scouting Has Three Programs

Boy Scouts of America have three programs for boys and young men ranging from 8 to 21 years of age. Cub Scouting for boys 8-10-11. Boy Scouting for age 12 and higher. Senior Scouting Program including Sea Scouting, Air Scouting and Explorer Scouting for young men 15 years of age and older.

Sponsor of Scouting

Thirteen Cub Scout Packs, 40 Boy Scout Troops and two Senior [illegible] are active in the [illegible] District. Three Units [illegible] sponsored by 48 Institutions [illegible] one or more phases of the Scouting Program, including 34 Churches, 4 Schools or P.T.A., 3 Settlement Houses, 4 Service Clubs, 2 State Schools, 1 Industrial Plant, 3 Groups of Citizens and 1 Military Post. Total boys, young men and leaders enrolled in the District on January 1, 1949 were: 495 Cub Scouts with 142 Leaders, 757 Boy Scouts with 339 Leaders; 23 Senior Scouts with 13 Leaders.

District Leadership

Top District Leadership is invested in a District Committee. New officers recently elected to serve on the Southeast District Committee for 1949 are: Chairman - Dr. Homer R. Cotterman, Vice-Chairman - Emil J. Wilhem; District Commissioner - Stanley C. Smith; Advancement Chairman - Wilbur T. Collins; Camping and Activities Chairman - George Davidson; Leadership - Training Chairman - G. A. (Art) Whisner; Organization and Extension Chairman - Robert O. Kuhn; District Committeemen-at-Large - Roman V. Eyerman, Reverend M. Richard Drake and Earl J. Brothers.

THE TAX ISSUE

It is very cheerful to read a statement heralded across the Nation that the recommendation of the President for a $4 billion dollar tax increase is not likely to be approved by Congress. Senator Byrd of Virginia, says he will oppose the tax boost. Apparently, a large number of Democrats and most of all the Republicans in Congress are opposed to tax increases. We will do very well, if we can raise enough money at home to keep Uncle Sam's feet on the ground—and not reduce a nickel of the $252 billion dollar National debt.

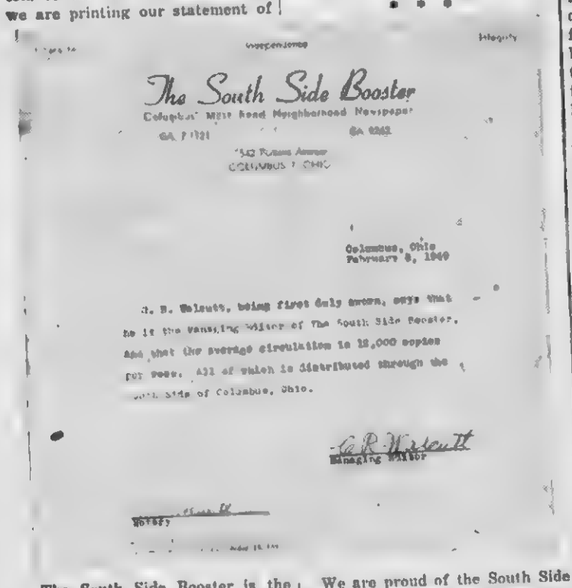
Refreshments and a social hour will follow the business meeting.

The Baron Is Back

Gaylord Bell, the Baron of Walter's Grill is back from his sojourn in Florida.

He must of enjoyed the trip as he is the picture of health and happiness.



The state of Florida could well pay Mr. Bell a fabulous salary because all you can manage to get out of him is a mumble that ends up with Florida.

We understand that Gaylord's agent in Florida is shipping four dozen potted palms so that us poor people can absorb a little Florida atmosphere in his grill.

Booster Makes Annual Circulation Statement

According to the annual custom of the South Side Booster, we are printing our statement of the number of copies distributed here in the good old South Side.

The South Side Booster
Columbus' Main Road Neighborhood Newspaper
GA 71121 GA 9262
542 Rome Avenue
COLUMBUS 7, OHIO

Columbus, Ohio
February 8, 1949

C. R. Walcutt, being first duly sworn, says that he is the managing editor of The South Side Booster, and that the average circulation is 18,000 copies per week. All of which is distributed through the South Side of Columbus, Ohio.

C. R. Walcutt
Managing Editor

Notary

The South Side Booster is the only Columbus neighborhood newspaper making such a statement annually.

We are audited by the Controlled Circulation Newspaper of America. Of which we are a member, the only Columbus neighborhood newspaper to be so honored. This group represents the principal neighborhood newspapers throughout the United States. Newspapers belonging to this group distribute 9,000,000 newspapers each week.

The Booster also furnishes and keeps on file this same sworn statement with the Better Business Bureau for the benefit of the merchants of our community.

We are proud of the South Side Booster, we are proud to make such a statement, we are proud of our advertisers and the people who read our paper.

Above all, we are proud of the South Side, the greatest community in Columbus, a neighborhood of more home owners than any other part of Columbus. A neighborhood, which is considered as a whole the best credit risk of any community of our city.

For that reason, in order to measure up to the standards of the South Side, the South Side Booster must keep a high circulation as well as high quality and quantity of news.

South Wins Two

Paced by the consistent foul shooting of Bill Camp, South High's never-say-die cagers nosed out a stubborn St. Charles quintet 53-49 in a thrilling non-loop battle at South Tuesday night.

Dwight Stutler's long shot with three seconds remaining gave South a 41-39 decision in an overtime prelim.

South High's Bulldogs took full advantage of "charity" Friday night. Coach Pug Hood's boys strolled to the free-throw lane no less than 30 times and tallied 19 points in that manner to brush aside West's Cowboys 53-44 on the South court. Those fouls were the margin of victory for South, as West outscored the Bulldogs from the field.

Even though he finished second to Center Paul Ebert in the scoring column, South's Bill Camp wound up as something of a hero, for it was he who took up the slack left by Ebert's inability to hit the bucket in the second half. Camp pitched in 11 big counters, five of them the free toss variety, during his team's second half comeback.

Dave Jones pushed in a rebound for South's first score and the Bulldogs were never headed. Combining consistent rebounding with a smooth-functioning zone defense which kept West aiming from far out, South sprinted to a 15-6 first quarter lead and maintained it, 30-18, at the half. Ebert was the big gun during that time, meshing five of eleven attempts at the basket.

The contest changed complexion completely from the outset of the third canto. West, which had hit on but five of 34 shots, suddenly found the range on longies, thereby ridding the effectiveness of the South zone, and at the same time began snaring balls off the bankboard.

Bill Thrush started the rally with a set shot, Dick Culbertson bagged one. Phil Young made a follow-up, and Culbertson popped in another set, shaving the gap to 30-22. Culbertson's evening chores were completed soon after, though, when he drew his fifth personal.

West kept on unabated despite Culbertson's loss, Thrush and Young continuing their sizzling pace, and trailed 37-30 at the stanza's close. Only a six-point effort by Camp kept South from complete disaster. But after that valliant stand in which they sank seven buckets in 18 shots, the Cowboys cooled off, and with that the Bulldog zone defense was sufficient to hold and even extend the lead.

The league-leading West reserves walked over South's seconds 39-28 in the preliminary. Paul Ellingsworth's 12 markers set the pace for West.

Local Boy Scouts

In a Central Ohio Council Eagle Court of Honor Ceremonial held at Arlington High School Auditorium on Boy Scout Sunday, February 6, 1949, seven local Boy Scouts residing in South Columbus were awarded the Eagle Badge, highest honor achieved by Boy Scouts in the United States. Eagle Candidates were invested by Dr. Bland L. Stradley, Central Ohio Council Advancement Chairman. Dr. Stradley was assisted in the presentation of the awards by Fred J. Milligan, Local Boy Scout Council President, who presided at the function.

The new Eagle Scouts and their leaders are: Donald Oldaker, Rodney Thorpe and Donald Tritt of Troop 54, St. John's Evangelical Church Brotherhood - Herbert A. Snouffer, Scoutmaster; Donald Hahn and Perry Martin of Troop 77, St. Paul's Evangelical and Reformed Church - Glen Clingman, Scoutmaster; Charles Hartung, Troop 111, Washington Ave. Evangelical United Brethren Church - Giles S. Hinkle, Scoutmaster; Gordon Kresheck, Troop 56, Corpus Christi Holy Name Society, Herman J. Eichner, Scoutmaster.

The Court was opened with an Invocation pronounced by Dr. Otto Mees, President Emeritus of Capital University. Highlight of the program was a musical presentation by Capital University Girls' Chorus under the direction of Mr. Kenneth Keller. Second Class awards were presented by Dr. Homer R. Cotterman of Capital University.

Corpus Christi Altar Society Potluck Supper

A pot-luck supper has been arranged for members and friends of the Altar Rosary Society and Parish Council of Corpus Christi Parish when that organization meets on Tuesday evening, March 1. Games and a social hour will follow the meeting which will be held at 8 o'clock. The supper will be served at 6:30. Mrs. William Bighouse is chairman of the affair and Mrs. Leo Bingham is co-chairman.

D. A. V. Pot Luck Dinner

The members of the D.A.V. Auxiliary will meet at Memorial Hall on Thursday evening, February 24th at 6 o'clock for their annual pot-luck dinner party, followed by a meeting of the Forget-Me-Not Club. The Auxiliary received its charter in 1936 with ten charter members.

The twelve past commanders and the present commander will be honored. Mrs. Grace Quinlan, the first president, is still an active member of the Auxiliary and has held an office in the State D.A.V. The names and year of service of all commanders follow:

Grace Quinlan, 1936-1937; Ruhama Chappelear 1937-1938; Mary Long 1938-1939; Leona Hanes 1939-1940; Helen Burris 1940-1941; Frances Parks 1941-1942; Suzanna Duckworth 1942-1943; Helen Spung 1943-1944; Esther Uslin 1944-1945; Mary Weisheit 1945-1946; Grace Nagel 1946-1947; Mary Lou Dean 1947-1948; Vella Van Matre 1948.

The For-get-me-not Club or Past Commanders Club was organized in February 1941.

Free Offer At Hoermle's

Friday, February 25th will be Lewyt Vacuum Cleaner Day at Hoermle's 1093 Parsons Avenue. There will be factory demonstrators in the store from 9 A.M. till 4:30 P.M. to acquaint you with the worlds most modern vacuum cleaner, see how it empties like an ash tray, no messy dust bag, hear how quietly it cleans. Watch how Lewyt gets more embedded dirt-picks up more lint, thread, hair, all this with less carpet wear. It does all your dusting - brightens walls and upholstery, suction sweeps bare floors, waxes, sprays, even de-moths closets. See for yourself how quick, neat and easy your housecleaning can be with a Lewyt, and here is an amazing offer to everyone who spends a few moments watching the demonstration.

While they last a can of astounding Glass Twinkle, the sensational new type wax cleaner, will be given away absolutely free. Be sure and stop in at Hoermle's anytime between 9 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. Friday February 25th and watch this demonstration and receive FREE a can of Glass Twinkle. There will be another demonstration the following day, Saturday, Feb. 26th. The Sunbeam Corporation, manufacturers of the sensationally new Sunbeam Coffeemaster will have their representative in the store between 10:00 A.M. and 6 P.M. to show you something new in the art of coffee making. This new coffeemaster maintains your coffee at drinking temperature at all times. Due to the construction and operation of this unit, the oil is not extracted from the coffee, consequently the coffee does not become rancid, bitter or strong and the company claims no difference in the flavor or bouquet of the coffee, even when it's made in the morning and served with the evening meal. Drop in Friday and Saturday for these demonstrations at Hoermle's. Remember, Friday it's the Lewyt Vacuum Cleaner demonstration and Saturday the Sunbeam Coffeemaster demonstration.

High - Mithoff Pharmacy Remodels

August of this year will mark the third year in which the High-Mithoff Pharmacy, 1142 S. High St. has served the people of the South Side. During this span of years thousands of prescriptions have been filled at this modern Pharmacy.

Recently a new, enlarged prescription department has been installed to accommodate the ever-increasing demand for the quality prescription service for which this Pharmacy is known.

Physicians over the entire city recognize the fact that the High-Mithoff Pharmacy has one of the most modern and completely stocked prescription rooms in Columbus.

At least one Registered Pharmacist is always on duty in the prescription room. Charles M. Henry, the owner and Mary A. Accountius are both pharmacists with a great deal of prescription experience. Bernice Ryan, Carrie Blake and Betty Kaufmann complete the personnel of the Pharmacy.

For complete, quality prescription service and sickroom supplies visit the High-Mithoff Pharmacy or have your Physician phone your prescription directly to the Pharmacy.

New Restaurant Opens

Mr. Elmund Roberts has purchased and is now operating his new restaurant at the location which was formerly Cain's Confectionery at 1409 South High Street.

The New Restaurant will be known as Robert's Restaurant. Breakfast, luncheons and dinners will be served from 6:30 a.m. daily until 9 p.m. on Fridays and Saturday nights to enable the Theater Goers to stop in for a snack on the way home. He will fill short orders and intends to carry a complete selection of good sandwiches both hot and cold. The dinner menu will be changed daily. When you are hungry stop by and visit Robert's Restaurant where you'll find good food and friendly and courteous service.

Miss Schmuck Is Wed To Ronald Murhead

Two seven branch candelabra decorated with huckleberry foliage and white bows marked the altar of the First English Lutheran Church for the wedding of Miss Romadell Schmuck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell E. Schmuck, 353 Southwood Ave., to Mr. Robert Bruce Muirhead, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald H. Muirhead of Sanford, Fla.

The nuptials were solemnized by the Rev. Mr. Harold L. Albert on Jan. 9 at 8:30 p.m.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride was attired in a gown of white brocaded taffeta designed along princess lines with a bodiced waist scalloped at the bottom, and a neckline that was also scalloped. The long sleeves ended in scallops over her wrists. The full floor length skirt fell into large folds with a slight sweep in the back. A tiara of orange blossoms held the fingertip veil of illusion. The bridal bouquet was a cascade of white carnations combined with white stevia.

Miss Jean Casey was maid of honor and preceeded the bride down the aisle wearing a gown of peach net over taffeta and short net mitts trimmed with ribbon rosettes matching her dress. A small net bonnet formed her headdress. Miss Mea Cooperrider was bridesmaid in a gown of aqua lace and net over taffeta with matching bonnet and mitts. She carried a colonial bouquet of peach and white carnations.

Mr. Ira B. Mullis, Jr., was best man, and ushers were Mr. Paul Reussinger and Mr. Jerry Ackerman of Bucyrus.

The bride is a graduate of Ohio State University and is an occupational therapist at the Chillicothe VA Hospital. The bridegroom is a graduate of John B. Stetson University, Deland, Fla., and is teaching electronics and radio at Franklin University.

The couple is living at Circleville.

Red Cross Kickoff February 28th

Seeking donations from every county resident to give service to every county resident, the Franklin County Red Cross chapter will launch its annual drive at a kick-off rally Monday, February 28.

Adj. Gen. Leo M. Kreber will be the principal speaker at the brief ceremony at 8 p.m. in the new Red Cross headquarters, 30 E. Town St., as the campaign is launched for a county-wide 1949 quota of $296,700.

William A. Scheurer, 1949 Campaign Chairman, and Paul R. Gingher, Chapter Chairman, will speak during the half-hour ceremony, and the Ohio State University Symphonic Choir, directed by Prof. Louis H. Diercks, will sing.

Preceding opening of the annual campaign, which continues through March 18, Mr. Scheurer issued a statement explaining purposes for which the county chapters needs the quota set during the coming year.

Gearing its services to the needs of the time, the county chapter now lists first on its program the Columbus Regional Blood Center, established in December with the ultimate aim of supplying free, life-giving blood to any county resident any time he needs it.

Second phase of the program is the disaster service, ready for immediate operation in case of a major emergency arising in the county, and third is the service to servicemen, veterans and their families, including information and communications service, help on claims and benefits and interim financial assistance.

Other services in the 1949 program, as outlined by Mr. Scheurer, include: Red Cross health services, including first aid, water safety, accident prevention and home nursing programs.

The Ohio State University Red Cross college unit, patterned after the county chapter, offering many of the same services and serving as a training unit for future citizenship.

Junior Red Cross, which includes in its program, 52,000 school children in Columbus and Franklin County.

Red Cross volunteer services, made up of hundreds of women, who donate hours of work as members of the Canteen Service, Entertainment Service and Instruction Service, Gray Ladies, Motor Service, Nurses Aides, Production and Supply Service, Social Welfare Aides and Staff Aides.

One or more of these services, Mr. Scheurer, explained, affect directly or indirectly every resident of Franklin County. Many of them, he pointed out, are a continuing means of bettering the community; many more are a constant insurance in case of trouble or emergency need.

All of them, he concluded are an exemplification of the neighborly, humanitarian foundation upon which the Red Cross has been built as an essential part of American community life.

Miss Dorothy Barrett Is Engaged

The engagement of Miss Dorothy Lucille Barrett to Mr. Russell J. Hunt, 50 Weisheimer Rd., son of Mr. P. F. Hunt of Louisville, Ky., is being announced by her mother, Mrs. Maria Barrett, 620 Mithoff St.

Miss Barrett is a graduate of South High School and is associated with the State Automobile Mutual Insurance Co. Mr. Hunt is a graduate of Ahrens Trade School of Louisville and is associated with the Armstrong Furnace Co.

Who Knows By Henry Cotner

By Henry Cotner

There are so many crows
As we drive down the pike
They all look alike
So how do you suppose
That Jim Crow knows his Jenny
Can he tell her by her beak
By the feathers on her cheek
Or does he know her by her feet?
Who knows there are so many crows.
There are so many crows
So how do you suppose
That Jenny Crow knows her Jim
Can she tell him by his beak
By the feathers on his cheek
Or does she know him by his feet?
Who knows there are so many crows.

Government Spending

The new Administration appears to have no ideas about reducing expenses. The President's estimate of $42,000,000,000 for one year would run this country 42 years at the turn of the present century. Surely it isn't the century that expands; we wonder if it isn't all imagination.

Preparedness Real Objective

Nearly two years ago, Congress passed a law called The National Security Act of 1947. Its purpose was "to provide a comprehensive program for the future security of the United States." Under this law, steps have been taken to improve the organization and the efficiency of the nation's military establishments. Unfortunately, the notion is widely held that the intent of Congress in passing the law was the outright and immediate "unification" of the armed forces. For example, the public has been given the impression that The National Security Act intends that we shall have one air force and only one and that the Navy violates the spirit of the law in not turning over all its air activities to the Department of the Air Force. In reality the law states just the opposite, by directing Congress to "provide three military departments for the operation and administration of the Army and the Navy (including Naval Aviation and the Marine Corps), and the Air Force." It clearly states that the purpose is to provide for the "authoritative coordination of these agencies and unified direction under civilian control but not to merge them."

Senator Gurney, Chairman of the Armed Services Committee, points out that "neither the Navy alone the Air Force alone, nor the Army alone is capable of supplying the needed military strength of the United States. If Congress believed one of them could, it would have taken steps to eliminate the other two in the interest of economy. That this was not done testifies eloquently to Congressional opinion concerning the need for all three branches."

Naval aviation is the heart of the modern Navy. It is a highly specialized branch of the military services. It requires a type of flying alien to any other aviation activity. And it is significant that the Hoover Commission in studying the entire government structure, including national security, has rejected the idea of merging Naval aviation with the Air Force.

If ever there was a time when the citizen and the voter must exert himself to obtain accurate information on public issues, it is now. The controversy over so-called unification of the armed services is a case in point. The real objectives are efficiency, economy, and military preparedness. Unification should not become a catch word to trip the unwary.

Miss Rita Solomon Wedded Jan. 2nd

California palms before a background of white gladioli and chrysanthemums decorated the altar lighted by tapers in eight branch candelabra at the Broad St. Temple for the wedding of Miss Rita Solomon and Mr. LeVine on Jan. 2.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mose Solomon, of Miami, Fla., formerly of Columbus, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Jeanette LeVine, 1077 Studer Ave., and the late Abraham LeVine.

Rabbi Nathan Zelizer and Cantor Leo Halpern officiated at the 8 p.m. ceremony beneath a canopy adorned with pale pink carnations and Oregon ferns.

Approaching the altar on the arm of her father, the bride was viewed in a gown of imported white Chantilly lace over lustrous white slipper satin. The gown was designed with a pointed peter pan collar and full length dollman sleeves which ended in points over the hands. The form fitted bodice terminated in a point just below the waist. The pencil-lined skirt was fashioned with gathers in the back, beginning at the hipline and extending into the fan-shaped full-length train. Her fingertip veil of nylon illusion was held in place by a tiara of seed pearls and silver bugle beads. She carried a white satin bride's Bible, a gift of Phi Gamma Sorority, upon which rested stephanotis centered with a white orchid and from which cascaded white satin streamers knotted with more stephanotis.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Miss Harriet Fisher, attired in a gown of ice blue slipper satin with a deep V-neckline and short shoulder capelet. The form-fitted bodice was accentuated by shirred sides, and the full skirt of the gown. She carried a colonial bouquet of salmon pink gladioli from which cascaded matching knotted streamers. Miss Mazie Cohen and Miss Fay Vogel, cousins of the bride, wore identical salmon pink slipper gowns fashioned with cap sleeves and Elizabethan collars. The skirts were designed with three unstitched pleats on each side forming into the full skirts. They also carried colonial bouquets of salmon pink gladioli from which fell ice blue satin knotted streamers. The attendants wore matching headpieces of salmon pink gladioli.

Little Miss Lois Nachman, cousin of the bride, wore a salmon pink silk faille gown like those of the bridesmaids, and carried a nosegay of pink and white carnations. Bruce Green, ringbearer, attired in a tuxedo, carried a white satin pillow upon which the ring rested in a cluster of white roses.

Mr. Irving Levy served as best man for Mr. LeVine, while Mr. Joe and Mr. Philip Solomon, brothers of the bride, Mr. Eli Ableman, Mr. Elmer Fisher, Mr. Norman Green, brother of the ringbearer, and Mr. David Mellman, cousin of the bridegroom, were ushers.

A Little About George Washington

Febrnary 22, 1732, was one of the most famous days in history. It wasn't the date of a great battle or the day a big invention was patented, it was the day a family in Virginia were blessed with a baby son. As they looked at him lying in his crib, they had no idea that he would grow up to become the first President of the United States.

George's father was a planter and because of small allowances of money the only schooling Geo. received was from his brother, Lawrence. This consisted mostly of mathematics and military skills. At the age of sixteen he was earning his own money as a surveyor. At twenty-one he had completed a hazardous mission through the wilderness of the Ohio country.

In 1759 he married Martha Curtis and began the extensive development of the Mount Vernon estate.

Armed conflict called him in 1775 to the command of the Continental Army. Throughout the long and difficult struggle which followed, Washington held the ragged, unpaid and hungry soldiers together until final victory came.

From a well deserved retirement he was called to preside at the Constitutional Convention. Unanimously chosen the first President of the United States, and unanimously re-elected, he declined to serve a third term.

According to legend Washington was noted for one of his most famous speeches in which he received due honor from all. At the age of thirteen he received a small hatchet for his birthday. Immediately as all small boys would do, he tried to find something he could chop

It was sheer fate that led him to one of his father's prize cherry trees, and it was sheer fate that let him chop that tree down until it lay broken on the ground. When George's father found the tree and asked who had done this deed, George spoke up and exclaimed, "I can not tell a lie, Father, I chopped it down with my little hatchet." This speech has long been remembered as the symbol of truth and loyalty by old and young alike. That was the standard by which George Washington lived.

A poet once did Washington great honor; he wrote the following lines which were later set to music:

"First in war, First in peace,
First in the hearts of his countrymen,
That is the story of Washington,
That is the glory of Washington.
His spirit is here,
His spirit is here,
He's standing, commanding above,
In word and deed, we'll follow the lead.
Of the father of the land we love."

Regarded as the first American, an inspiring leader who thought and acted nationally and who became first in the hearts of his countrymen. George Washington died and is buried in Mount Vernon, the home of his birth.

Hurry For Those Tickets!

Get On The Bond Wagon

Now is the time for all South Siders to come to the aid of their school.

By this time, everyone in the South end has heard about the bond drive, even if everyone has not purchased a bond. Yes, Mahaffey Stadium, better known as South High Stadium, is going to to have the new look, too. We want our stadium to be the finest in the city. And it will be, when we are through. We're going to build rooms for the officials, rooms for the athletic staff, a press room, a radio broadcasting room, a scoreboard control room, rooms for the storing of athletic equipment, public restrooms, and last —but not least, showers and dressing rooms. The bonds are only $10, and the money will be paid back within five years, from the athletic receipts. You may even get your $10 back this year. There is no interest concerned; we are merely asking you to lend us $10 for awhile.

Our total at South as of Monday, is $3,270 and this amount is steadily increasing. The goal set is $10,000. This is a lot of money, but the goal could be reached within a week if each and every one of the students would sell just one bond. Our Stadium Improvement Drive will continue until the goal is reached. If possible, we want to have the remodeling done in time for the next football season. These improvements are not only an aid to the athletics department, but also to the entire school and community.

Several of the students have done more than their share, bringing in as much as $100 checks. Also, the cooperation and enthusiasm of the South Side businessmen is certainly a source of encouragement.

A popular song around South these days is "We Did It Before And We Can Do It Again," only the original words have been changed a little to fit the occasion. Many of the students go around singing this catchy little tune. Four South High girls, Nancy Love, Nancy Drone, Norma Edwards, and Marilyn Reed are the original singers of this song. They first sang it at a school assembly, and now they sing it over the broadcasting system in the morning. These words have become the motto for this drive.

South Siders, you can be proud if you join the crowd and buy a bond. Get on the bond wagon for a short drive with a happy ending.

E.U.B. Preaching Mission

Seventeen churches of the Evangelical United Brethren Church are cooperating in a City and County-Wide Preaching Mission beginning Sunday evening, February 27 and lasting until March 6. The Services begin each evening at 7:30 P. M. and a different minister preaches every night. No one minister preaches in the same church more than once.

South Side Churches participating in this Pre-Lenten Mission are: Ohio Avenue Church, Rev. H. W. Buckley, Pastor, Wagner Memorial Church, Rev. Arthur Duhl, Pastor, Washington Avenue Church, Rev. Boyd Rife, Pastor, and South High Church, Rev. Rex Smith, Pastor.

The Public is cordially invited to all of these services. A Lay Leader of the Church will be in charge of each service and special music will be a feature of each service.

Lenten Services At St. Paul's

Beginning March 2 St. Pauls will conduct special Lenten Services every Thursday night during Lent. The following ministers will be guest speakers: Rev. Harry Zierer, pastor of Gates-Fourth St. Methodist Church; Rev. Stephen Ssiarto, pastor of the Hungarian Reformed Church; Rev. Frederick Kirker, pastor of the Miami Ave. Presbyterian Church; Rev. John Clutter, pastor of the South Methodist Church; Rev. Harold M. McAdow, pastor of the Morgan Memorial Methodist Church and Rev. Kenneth Clinton pastor of the First Congregational Church. All services on Thursday night will begin at 7:45 P. M. St. Pauls Choir under the leadership of Mrs. Herman Frank will sing at all services. Rev. Paul C. Kaefer the pastor invites you to attend these meetings.

St. Leo's Council Names Officers

The new officers of the Altar-Rosary & Parish Council of St. Leo's Church will be installed at their next meeting on Tuesday, March 1, at 8 o'clock in the school hall. Rev. Fr. Robt. Schmidt will conduct the installation, and the duties of each officer will then be assigned.

Following the meeting, cards will be played. Chairman in charge of refreshments is Mrs. Wm H. Eisele, who will be assisted by Mrs. Frank Distelsweig, Mrs. George Dorn, and Mrs. John Eberts.

Do not forget the quarterly meeting of the Central Deanery of the D.C.C.W. to be held at Msgr. Ryan Hall on Sunday, Feb. 27. The Parish Council of Sacred Heart Church will be the hostess. Our new Council members are urged to attend this meeting and acquaint themselves with the work of the D.C.C.W.

"Who Should Carry The Pocketbook"

Southwood Church of Christ had another large crowd last Sunday night to hear the third in a special series of messages on Love, Courtship, and Marriage. Taking for his subject, "Young Man, What Kind of A Girl Do You Want To Marry?", the pastor, Rev. J. E. Bronson used the answers received from questionnaires submitted by high school and college age young people in Columbus. More than 90 per cent of the young men interviewed intimated that while the modern cigarette- smoking, beer- drinking jitterbug may be all right for some boys to play around with, when it comes to marriage they prefer the old-fashioned type.

Next Sunday night, Mr. Bronson will take for his subject, "Who Should Carry the Pocketbook?" Mr. Bronson states that this is truly a serious problem in married life and that more divorces are caused by quarrels over the pocketbook than by whisky.

Anniversary Banquet

The Needle and Thread Guild of the Hungarian Reform Church, corner of Woodrow and Washington Ave., is holding their eighth anniversary banquet at the church Sunday, February 27, at 12:30 p. m.

The menu will consist of chicken, cabbage, rolls and those delicious homemade Hungarian pastries. Will be served home style. Everybody welcome. Come one, Come all. Advance tickets are available by calling Mrs. Alex Kristoff, GA 2613.

Miss Ruth Arnold Is Recent Bride Of Thomas Hartman

The marriage of Miss Ruth Ann Arnold, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Johnathan Arnold of Howard, Ohio, to Mr. Thomas J. Hartman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Hartman, 1476 Parsons Ave., took place on the morning of Dec. 29 in St. Leo's Church.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Fr. Robert Schmidt before an altar decorated with poinsettias.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of ivory slipper satin with a net yoke and bertha of Irish lace. The dress bodice was long and fitted, accentuating the full skirt and long graceful train. The long sleeves tapered to points over her hands. The bride's veil, formerly worn by her mother, was of ivory silk illusion and fell from a tiara of orange blossoms. She carried a white prayer book topped with a white orchid and satin streamers.

Miss Lucille Arnold of Mt. Vernon, was her sister's maid of honor and only attendant. She wore a gown of turquois and carried an arm bouquet of gold mums and yellow chrysanthe-

Mr. John Fitzsimmons served as best man, and seating the guests were Mr. Paul Smith and Mr. Bernard Arnold, brother of the bride.

Mrs. Hartman was graduated from Howard High School and attended Office Training School. She is now employed by Ternstedt Division, General Motors Corp.

Mr. Hartman is a graduate of St. Mary's High School and is a chemistry student in his senior year at Ohio State University.

Thurman Meetings Attract Crowds

Curt and Charlotte Davis, evangelists using the medium of music, who this week are leading services at Thurman Avenue Methodist Church each evening at 8:00 o'clock, are receiving a wide and enthusiastic hearing.

The people in attendance the first evenings of the series were greatly impressed by the remarkable genius of Mr. Davis as an organist, and were much inspired by the musical presentation of the Christian gospel which they heard.

The meetings will close Sunday evening, with a service at 8:00 o'clock.

Miss Clara Bango Is Wed To Mr. Louis Martin

At a single ring ceremony on Jan. 15, Miss Clara Bango, daughter of Mrs. Clara Bango, 1264 Parsons Ave., and Mr. Norman Bango, 449 E. Morrill Ave., exchanged wedding vows with Mr. Louis Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Martin, 1819 S. 5th St.

The Rev. Mr. J. E. Bronson officiated at the 4:30 service at the home of the bride's mother.

A claret gabardine suit combined with navy blue accessories formed the bride's attire. Her corsage was of white roses.

Matron of honor, Mrs. Frances Fritz, wore an ensemble of royal blue with black accessories and a corsage of red roses.

Mr. William Fritz was best man.

The new Mrs. Martin is an inspector at General Motors Corp., while Mr. Martin is also employed there as a shipping clerk.

The couple is living at 245 Morrill Avenue.

LIBRARY

Miss Armour was greeted with enthusiasm Friday. She was bringing new books to our Library to replace the ones we have "read out."

The Second and Third grades were given the new books to keep in their rooms for two weeks. Then they will be placed on our Library shelves to loan to other students.

Miss Hotchkiss' Fourth graders are visiting children in North, Central and South America. A group of books were borrowed from Grant Avenue Library to supplement our own eleven hundred books. These boys and girls are busy comparing our customs, food, clothing and appearance with those of their new friends.

Mrs. Colburn's Fifth Graders are having fun with books while experiencing many learning situations. The humor, action and variety in their new group of borrowed books are unusually colorful.

Mrs. Schwartz of Scioto Trail is also a welcome visitor to our library. She brings five or six children with her to select books for their fellow classmates. On her last visit they chose forty books for their friends, who will be busily reading for the next four weeks.

Our Library has many adult patrons who pay us regular visits. When they are unable to come we always find a willing boy or girl who takes books to their homes and returns them when they have read them.

FORNOF LEADER'S CLUB

The Members of the Fornof School eighth grade Leader's Club are planning a Popcorn Sale early in March. Orders will be taken in advance and delivery made on a specified date. Proceeds will be used to pay for a party for the Basketball and Volleyball athletic squads. The program will include play party games and square dances, called by Mr. James Wagner of the South Side Branch YMCA. Refreshments will also be served.

A similar party was sponsored by the Fornof PTA last year and proved quite a success.

BASKETBALL

Fornof last week visited Scioto Trail where they lost both boys games to the South High Streeters. Both games, however, were so close that the winner remained in doubt until the final whistle. The "A" game score was 21 to 19 and the "B" game 26-18. The girls fared better winning their volleyball game 28 to 24.

Dr. Drake To Attend Professional Meeting

Dr. Leland N. Drake, Principal of Mound Junior High School, and State Co-ordinator of the Ohio High School Principals Association, will attend the thirty-third annual convention to the National Association of Secondary School Principals, to be held in the Congress Hotel in Chicago, part of next week.

Dr. Drake, who is serving his second term as State Co-ordinator for the Ohio High School Principals' Association will act as Chairman of one of the sessions of the Chicago meeting, and is a member of the board of Nominators of the Organization.

In his organization work in Ohio, Dr. Drake set up seven regions, with membership of nearly 1,000 School principals throughout the state. These groups of educators give careful study to the problems of administration and supervision, in the secondary schools of Ohio.

The National Association of Secondary School Principals is a department of the National Education Association.

South Side Y Elementary League

"B" Section

Beck Street extended their unblemished record in defeating a midget size Stewart quintet 26 to 7 and Siebert laced Southwood 16 to 9 in games of the South Side Y Elementary School League played at Schiller Park on Tuesday.

Beck had little trouble in downing the midgets from Stewart Avenue. Beck's superior heighth handicapped the losers in every phase. Kenneth Harris, Ralph Simons, and Eddie Oakes divided the scoring honors by collecting six points each for the winners. Michael Jones was the main stay for the losers.

After a slow first half start, Siebert got rolling and outclassed a Southwood aggregation by a score of 16 to 9. Captain Dave Kochensparger caught fire and scored twelve points for the victors. The other four points were made from fouls. John Phillips and Robert Friebis led the Southwood attack. Chas. Workman captained and managed the losers as if a veteran.

"A" Section

In the "A" Section played [illegible] nesday, Beck edged a stubborn Stewart team by 14 to 10 while Southwood squeezed a 15 to 14 battle from Siebert.

Paul Elkins and Capt. Jerry Whalen led the [illegible] Street thru to their first taste of victory this year. Vaughn Jones and his Stewart Ave. teammates with a never say die attitude made Beck battle every inch of the way.

Norman James ran hog wild with his scoring for Siebert in tallying all 14 points for the losers. Siebert was handicapped due to only being able to floor four men. Robert Blume, Southwood center, was the main stay for the winners scoring 7 points. Southwood led at the half 12 to 2 and should the fame have lasted a minute longer, they would have no doubt found themselves on the short end of the score.

Help Still Needed

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Feb. 17—Though there has been an over-all decline in the number of jobs open in Ohio, there is still a comparatively stable need for specialists such as stenographers, draftsmen, engineers, machinists and nurses, the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation's Employment Service Division reported today.

As of this past week, orders placed with the BUC's local offices indicated that the demand was particularly heavy for stenographers, draftsmen and machinists. Information on these and all other job openings may be secured at any one of the BUC's 91 local offices.

Stenographers are particularly in demand in Youngstown and Cincinnati and there is also a call for clerk-typists in the latter city. There are openings for nurses in Chillicothe, Cincinnati and Dayton.

Machinists, who are offered as much as $1.86 an hour, are wanted in Cleveland, Youngstown and Canton. Mechanical draftsmen, for whom there has been a constant demand over the past several years, are wanted in Akron among other places. Draftsmen are being offered as much as $3[illegible] a month depending upon experience.

Among the engineers, design, electrical, mechanical and civil are the types chiefly in demand. Design engineers are needed in Akron and Cleveland, mechanical engineers in Columbus and Akron. There is also a demand for civil engineers in the latter two cities.

Design engineers are offered $250 a month and up depending upon experience. The range for electrical engineers is from $250 to $450 a month and mechanical engineers are offered $225 and up.

Other workers in demand include chemists, chemical engineers, caseworkers, pharmacists, boilermakers and refractory bricklayers. The demand for all of these specialists will, of course, vary with the community.

GETTING DOWN TO BUSINESS

The President of the United States presented his views to Congress and matters are moving along in orderly fashion on Capitol Hill. The part of the message that refers to foreign affairs has been given general approval by Congress. Evidently the plan is to continue to crowd Russia and its Communists into a peace that will not conflict with the policies of so-called "democracy" in the United States and other countries. Don't get discouraged; we are doing our very best to avoid another war and at the same time to defend our own solid front in the years to come.

What will happen to our own country is an untold story. WE BELIEVE that a way to prevent big labor strikes will be agreed upon. Of course that is an optimistic statement but the trend of events in Washington leads to that direction. So write that prophecy down and see how we come out.

TARIFF AGREEMENTS

The United States Tariff Commission started on January 25 to hold hearings in relation to proposed trade agreements. The show opened with discussions in Washington with the Governments of Colombia, Denmark, Dominican Republic, Finland, Greece, Haiti, Italy, Liberia, Peru, Sweden and Uruguay.

GIVE AND PRAY FOR ENOUGH

General approval seems to favor boosting President Truman's salary to $100,000 a year. Congress has granted the President $50,000 a year, tax free for expenses in addition to the previous allowance of $40,000 for traveling and entertainment. The tremendous raise in the President's salary follows the general trend of the Government to spend and waste, and give and pray that it will be enough—enough for the President; enough for the Marshall Plan; enough for more for the labor unions, plus more taxes for the whole American Nation; and enough for all individuals to live [illegible]

EVERYONE SEEMS

There will be no relief from our taxes at the present time. The Administration and Congress apparently would like to reduce the tax program. But we are unable to find a way to do so; particularly on account of the international situation.

THE BIG BOY

From Tuesday through Friday, President Truman attended twenty-one social and ceremonial affairs. He was up each day before 8 and seldom got to bed before 8 the next morning. In the 120 hours in which the major events were crowded he slept less than twenty.

"Mother's Desperately Ill . . . Come Home at Once."

Tragic words by phone or wire to a boy serving our Armed Forces. And to meet this emergency, he must have money to get home AT ONCE! Or when a husband is called into service, his wife and children must have support until the Government arranges for their allotment. Or a disabled Veteran without support until his Government claim is settled may need assistance at once.

These and other emergencies (There were 3 million and a quarter cases served last year) of servicemen and veterans are met daily by our Red Cross . . . made possible by your mercy dollars. So give now and give generously.

It's RED CROSS Time! Give NOW!

Junior Theater To Play At South

Children throughout the city are eagerly looking forward to a return visit of Jack Courtney, the magician, with his popular magic show when he plays at 6 different schools the next two week-ends on the current Community Junior Theater series of entertainments. Courtney delighted the Community Junior Theater young audience two years ago at Memorial Hall and promises even more fun and thrilling tricks of magic for the youngsters this time.

Courtney's show always features many small animals and birds in the various acts. A phenomenal illusion centers around a live rabbit which apparently materializes out of nowhere from inside an empty box which has been assembled from 4 separate sides, bottom and top in front of the audience. The same rabbit is then put into another box with his head and feet protruding. This box is sawed in half and the two parts separated with the head and feet still visible. When the two halves are rejoined once again and the box reopened, one whole live rabbit comes out. To complete perfectly the magic, the live rabbit is wrapped in newspaper and presto! vanishes into the nowhere from whence it came. With tricks like this, it is no wonder the children are awaiting his return engagement with delightful anticipation.

Courtney will be seen here at South High on Friday, February 25th at 3:30 p.m. Tickets can be obtained the day of the performance at the school box office at $.25 for children and $.35 for adults. Any adult accompanied by 5 or more children is admitted free.

"Fighter Squadron" At Russell Theater

The Russell Theater presents "Fighter Squadron" this Sunday and Monday starring Edmond O'Brien and Robert Stack. The picture deals with the lives of the heroic youngsters who piloted the fighter planes. It has an all-male cast. The stirring air combat scenes stress the part played by the AAF just prior to and after D-Day. It rates among the all-time best of this type of story and the appeal of the picture is further enhanced by the Technicolor photography. The second picture is "Best Man Wins" with Edgar Buchanan and Anna Lee. News and Cartoon complete the program.

WAY DOWN

Government reports show that prices have been strengthened in the cotton States during the past few weeks. Also: The Dixiecrat politicians have been improving their behavior and most of them are voting in Congress in a way that is satisfactory to the Democratic party.

"You Were Meant For Me" At The Ideal

Sunday and Monday the Ideal Theater presents "You Were Meant For Me" with Dan Dailey and Jeanne Craine. As the title indicates, the picture deals principally in yester-year's song hits and the nostalgic aura which marked the days when they were introduced. The story is knitted together with the boy-meets-girl theme and wisely avoids some of the usual situations in such a theme. Showing with this musical is "Fighting Rangers" with Johnny MacBrown and Raymond Hatton with news and a cartoon to complete the play bill.

'The Dude Goes West' At Columbia Theater

The Columbia Theater presents Sunday, Monday and Tuesday—"The Dude Goes West," starring Eddie Albert has plenty of humor for the laugh seekers and still enough of standard structure to sate the appetites of the western fans who insist on taking their sagebrush straight. The cast is good. Eddie Albert is the Frontier's Funniest bad man, caught in the middle of a rough and ready era, when love was made at gun point. He's a Gun-Shy Desperado with a trembling trigger finger. Also on the Bill is "Fighting Squadron" with Edmond O'Brien."

Television To Begin In March

Cincinnati, February 24—When Crosley television station WLW-C in Columbus, Ohio begins operation in March, regular television programs will become available to 1,030,000 people living within a 45 mile radius of the Ohio Capital, according to James Leonard, station manager of WLW-C.

Until the WLW-C studio building in Columbus is completed, most programs from that station will emanate by micro-wave relay from Cincinnati.

Crosley television stations WLW-T in Cincinnati, which has been in operation over a year; WLW-D in Dayton, also opening in March; and WLW-C will together form a regional television station network with interchangeable programs.

Local programs from the Columbus area will begin soon after completion of the two-story studio building at 3165 Olentangy River Road in Columbus.

From WLW-C, televiewers will see NBC and DuMont network television programs and WLW-T productions starring entertainers of the Cincinnati station.

While WLW-C is a basic NBC television station, it will also carry a substantial schedule of DuMont network programs by kinescope, with network programs to be taken on a live basis when coaxial cable facilities become available later this year.

The WLW-C transmitter and studio sites are both located at 3165 Olentangy River Road in Columbus. The station will operate on Channel 5, with a visual power of 15.2 kilowatts and an aural power of 12.8 kilowatts. WLW-C will serve a total of 1,030,000 people in its combined primary and secondary areas of coverage.

Height of the WLW-C antenna is 455 feet above average terrain, 578 feet above ground, and 1,320 feet above sea level. The antenna is a three-bay, super-turnstile design, built by RCA, the tower is a triangular, guyed structure, of a uniform triangular cross-section type.

Studio equipment includes two movie projectors, two studio cameras, two remote cameras for televising out-of-studio events, and one micro-wave relay unit with associated equipment.

Construction work on the transmitter building has been completed and erection of the studio building is now underway.

In the WLW-C studio building there will be three studios on the first floor, with a central control room on the second floor overlooking the studios. One will measure 40 by 40 feet, another 24 by 13 feet, and the third will be 18 by 29 feet. Overall dimensions of the building are 95 by 148 feet. The building will also have a large basement which will be partitioned into dressing rooms.

The central control booth in the studio will be glassed on three sides. Producers will be stationed on a raised platform in the center of the control booth. Control equipment and panels for all three studios are visible from the central platform. Eastern entrance to the studio building will have a marquee, with a corrugated aluminum pylon mounted above, bearing the call letters WLW-C.

Dance With Decker

The best dance in the city is going to take place on Monday, February 28, from 9:30 to 12:30 at 551 South High. Paul Decker and his silk, smooth orchestra, will be on deck, madly waving his baton for three dance jumping hours. Here is that long awaited dance for all ages. Music of Bee-Bop-to-Popular.

This dance is sponsored by the St. Xavier Glee Club, which is under the direction of Terrence George. The Glee club is comprised of 50 male voices and last year sang before some 10,000 people. Not including those reached by the radio performances.

An added attraction is pretty Marian Jones, vocalist for Paul Decker, who can really acksentuate those notes.

Mr. Terrence George is general chairman, being assisted by John Schumick, Leo Butler, Bernard Reeb, Robert Kaminsky, Clyde Stewart, Robert Thurn and Ted Gassman.

The price is $1.35 per couple. This is one dance no one can afford to miss.

Truman Bites Underdog

Mr. Truman had a lot to say during the presidential campaign about how he was going to help the underdog. The first thing Mr. Truman did after he was elected was to ask for a raise in salary for HIMSELF of 25 THOUSAND DOLLARS and because of the NEW DEAL high prices he asked for 90 THOUSAND DOLLARS more (tax free) to buy clothing for Margaret.

The next thing Mr. Truman does is to ask for the extension of the COMMUNIST RENT CONTROLS which would force thousands of HOME OWNERS and LANDLORDS to feed and clothe their "Margarets" on 1941 prices.

In November Mr. Truman was going to do great things for the VETERANS but in January Hi-Tax Harry wants FOUR BILLION dollars more in taxes and he proposes to cut ONE BILLION dollars from the Veterans fund and also take away 16,000 beds from their hospitals. The tax money used to put on the Inauguration CIRCUS would have provided 40 homes for Veterans all furnished with Five Thousand Dollars worth of furniture.

When the army wanted a turkey Christmas dinner for the soldiers the American poultry raisers sent word they could provide all the turkeys they needed. Mr. Truman said your prices are too high I can buy turkeys cheaper in South America. This is the beginning of the "FAIR DEAL."

For 19 years America has been cursed with NEW DEALS, old deals, shady deals, lead deals, surplus war goods disposal deals, ship deals. The Roosevelt New Deal cost the American tax payers 300 BILLION dollars and now Mr. Truman asks 41 BILLION dollars to start the "FAIR DEAL."

The New Deal crowd has been dealing the cards for 16 years and have not turned up an ACE yet. Mr. Truman thinks Communism in Europe is a great monster with long horns and a forked tail but Communism in America is only a "RED HERRING" (that can VOTE). The "FAIR DEAL" will tax BIG business OUT of business and then there will be MORE UNDERDOGS for Truman to bite.

BIG BUSINESS is the goose that lays the golden egg.

Get all the eggs you can BUT don't kill the goose!

"The Big Clock" Showing At The Southland

RAY MILLAND stars in the eerie suspense drama, "The Big Clock", scheduled for the Southland Theatre next Wednesday and Thursday — Family Nights. Milland portrays a crime magazine editor who finds himself in the unusual position of pursuer and pursued in a relentless manhunt for a murder witness. Charles Laughton co-stars in the topflight mystery film, which will be co-featured with "Winner, Take All", one of the Joe Palooka series, starring Joe Kirkwood, Jr. as the prize ring hero.

The Southland is currently showing "Hills of Home," technicolor drama with a Scottish highland setting starring Lassie, Edmund Gwenn, Tom Drake and Janet Leigh. Eddie Albert stars in the comedy co-feature, "The Dude Goes West."

Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, the Southland will show "The Paleface," hilarious technicolor take-off on Wild West epics, starring the incomparable Bob Hope and gorgeous Jane Russell.

The Democrats never could run this country without a WAR or a panic. I am 60 years of age and I have never seen a Democrat President who did not get us into a world war. HAVE YOU?
—Observer.—

A Different Angle On World Peace

If you are interested in advancing peaceful international relations, and what man or woman of good will in America is not, then you should read David Hinshaw's new book, "Sweden: Champion of Peace."

One critic has written that in reviewing Sweden's case history Mr. Hinshaw, "like a kindly interpreter-physician, lets the public listen to his stethoscope. It reveals how her heart beats. By probing deeper into her moral and social organization, he thus continues where a dozen years ago Marquis W. Childs left off."

The nub of Mr. Hinshaw's thesis is that World peace can be built on a foundation or domestic tranquility—that quality which the preamble places alongside and on a par with common defense, general welfare, justice and the pursuit of happiness.

Man, for whatever reasons, has pinned his faith and concentrated his peace efforts either on gigantic complex international organizations or on devising ways to make war more and more terrible. He has, at the same time, ignored the simple truth that internal peace is an essential preliminary to World peace.

"Sweden: Champion of Peace," in reality is the unique story of how a nation has transformed itself from one of the most warlike to one of the most pacific. For nearly one thousand years the Swedes fought a war on an average of every five years and then, 134 years ago, they did an aboutface, since which time they have found it possible to settle disputes among themselves and their neighbors without resorting to that method of wholesale murder which men euphemistically call war.

Here's a book which strikes a high note in a war-torn, hate-filled World because it tells in graphic detail how the people of one nation have curbed their instinctive tendency to use force against an adversary and to minimize the causes that tend to arouse this spirit of belligerency because, as one of Mr. Hinshaw's Swedish friends put it, "we found that war was no damned good!"

The time seems to be at hand when the peoples of other countries are about ready to reach the same conclusion. If this is true then they should begin to study Sweden's peaceful record. We wholeheartedly recommend "Sweden: Champion of Peace" to every such man and woman.

Bond Drive Hits $5100

Summer is coming, and the thermometer is on its way up. The South High thermometer, that is. It's climbing steadily, and as of Monday, January 21, has reached the $5100 mark—a little over half way to the top. Everyone in the South Side has co-operated to push this drive over, but we are only half way there. So let's all get behind the drive, and buy a share in the future of South High School.

Everyone will be looking forward to next fall when, South will be sporting its vastly improved football stadium. The improvement calls for the incloaing of the sections under the stadium, the installation of latest shower facilities, home and visiting dressing rooms, a dressing room for official and equipment room, a coaches' room, press boxes, scoreboard control and broadcasting rooms. Two public rest rooms will be constructed, one at each end of the stadium.

During football season when the Varsity, Reserve and Cross Country teams are practicing there are some 125 boys who have to use 7 showers which are in very poor condition. The lockers in the dressing room have no doors on them and are in a disgraceful condition. When visiting teams play at South they must come uniformed and go back to their own schools to shower and dress, as South has no facilities for them.

There has also been a great need for a press box, for the control of the scoreboard, a place for the Public Address operator and a place to broadcast the games over the air. Last year the Grandview game had to be broadcast from the roof of the school building. During this game the operator of the scoreboard had to sit out in the rain. From a press box on top of the stadium the broadcaster and the spotters could see better and do their work more efficiently. There has been a need for proper rest room facilities for the people attending the games.

Work on the Bond Drive was in progress many months before the beginning of the Drive. E. D. Redman and C. L. Dummare with the help of the South High Athletic Association put long hours of work into getting things prepared for the Drive.

The Auditorium Program for February 25th will be given by the 6A's. The subject of their Program is the City of Columbus. A song was written about our city, old English letters spelling out Columbus was used to tell about our city, a huge picture was painted of our city seal, and the portrait of Christopher Columbus was made to honor the man for whom our city was named. Every child in the 6A Class has a part in the program.

Friends and relatives are invited.

—R—

The following pupils have had school work placed in our display case recently: Milo Mitchell, Eugene Jenkins, David Hill, Robert Leach, Howard Weber, Judith Vogt, Annette Wellman, Carolyn Byrd, and Blanche Emmons.

Reeb's second term P.T.A. "Family Night" which was held last Thursday, Feb. 17th, was quite a success with a large turn out of parents. We certainly appreciated the talk given by Mr. Harry Ballman, Columbus' new Smoke Abatement Engineer, who spoke in Mayor Rhodes' place on our program.

Miss Doris Miller A Recent Bride

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Miller, of 2419 Lockbourne Rd., announce the marriage of their daughter, Doris Lee, to Mr. Floyd T. Strawser, son of Mr. C. L. Strawser, of 1834 S. 5th St.

The double ring ceremony was performed at 2:30 p.m., Jan. 15, at the Zion Evangelical Lutheran Church of Obetz, by Rev. Mr. Floratedt.

As the bride approached the altar on the arm of her father, she was attired in a cinnamon brown tissue faille dress with dark brown accessories. Her hat was of dark brown felt trimmed with veiling to match her dress. She carried her Eastern Star Bible topped with an orchid and white satin streamers tied with white carnations and fernery.

Matron of honor was Ruth Roberts, who wore a shell pink crepe dress with brown accessories. She carried a white Bible topped with aqua and white carnations.

Best man was Mr. Albert Miller, brother of the bride. Ushers were Mr. Kenneth Reinhardt and Mr. James Roberts.

The bride attended South High School and is employed at State Automobile Mutual Insurance Co.

The bridegroom also attended South High School and is employed at Jeffrey Mfg. Co.

Miss Nina Mack Is Betrothed To Mr. Gerold Keyes

Announcement is being made of the engagement of Miss Nina Mack, daughter of Mrs. Robert Grace, 653 Frebis Ave., to Mr. Gerald W. Keyes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Keyes, 274 E. Jenkins Ave.

The bride-elect and her fiance are graduates of South High School. Miss Mack is associated with the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. Mr. Keyes is a member of the Marine Corps and is stationed at El Toro, Santa Anaa, Calif.

The wedding will be held in California in the spring.

Warden Alvis Speaks At St. Pauls

Warden Alvis of the Ohio State Penitentiary was guest speaker at Saint Pauls Monthly Brotherhood Meeting February 23. As usual the gathering was held in the Social Hall and more than 75 men were in attendance.

Members of several other South Side Church Brotherhoods were also in attendance, for while this is a very active branch of Reverend Paul C Kaefer's Congregation, visitors are always enjoyed and welcomed.

Warden Alvis was for merly in charge of welfare and service in the State Correctional Industries at Lancaster, Ohio, through Mansfield Reformatory. London Prison Farm and the State Institution at Ohio penitentiary. He received all questions from the floor at the conclusion of his very timely and interesting talk.

It was highly gratifying to hear words of praise from the Warden, on the complete youth program at Saint Pauls, for it is there that this type program is in effect the delinquency rate is decreasing, thus lightening the load of our Penal Institutions.

Plans for the New Church Building were discussed again, as a key part of the new building is the South Side Young People. The Finance Committee appointed by President Ed Trautman has already contacted many of the Church Members and contributions are starting to come in.

A complete report will be given at the next Church Council Meeting. Good Friday Services are scheduled for April 1st. Youth activities will go on as usual during the Lenten period, with a Dance for the young adults being scheduled for K of P Hall, A Boy Scout Circus for Schiller (Washington) Park, and a Lawn Fete for the same Park. Dates for these affairs will appear in the pages of this paper as soon as they are announced. You are invited to attend any of Saint Pauls services, including weekly Lenten Services held each Thursday Night, and your young people are extended a special invitation to be present at our activities. For any information call the Parsonage, 221 East Gates Street, or Ed Trautman at the Home or Shoe Repair Shop at Decker Ave.

Michigan's Upper Peninsula

By Frank D. ("Dude Ranch") Koch

The following is the news of this past week. (Ed Note This column appears exclusively in the S. S. Booster).

The U. S. Coast Guard ice breaker MACKINAW, which left Saturday afternoon for Cleveland and Toledo to take on 250,000 gallons of Diesel fuel oil, did a grand job in breaking the windrowed ice piled up by heavy storms in the Straits of Mackinac.

Last Thursday at the request of Captain John Kelsner, superintendent of the State Ferries, The "Mackinaw" came from Cheboygan to the Straits and started clearing away the heavy piles of drifted ice in the Straits ice fields.

The Icebreaker CHIEF WAWATAM had been delayed most of Wednesday night while carrying 14 Navy Cars. Drifts of wind rowed so had been delaying the two (2) railway icebreakers for a week previously (Ed Note. Just exactly what no word or mail has been received from the U P. to Yours Truly)

The Sainte Marie, another ice breaker was at Mackinaw City when the "Mackinaw" arrived from Cheboygan She (St Marie) had left Detroit and was trapped in the ice about a quarter mile out. The "Mackinaw" broke her out and opened a channel which the "Sainte Marie" followed about 400 feet astern of the Mackinaw. The coast guard ship (Mackinaw) made several round trips with the Sainte Marie until the channel was well established and the Sainte Marie was able to operate without further assistance.

Some indication of the ice condition may be seen in the report of Lt Cmdr Frank Hildrich to the "Cheboygan Daily News" The Mackinaw's commanding officer said some of the wind rows between St Ignace and Mackinaw City had reached a depth of 20 to 30 feet. The deepest ever encountered by the "Mackinaw" was last winter when actual measurement by means of a steam pipe run down thru the ice showed a depth of 57 feet. The 10,000 H.P. Mackinaw broke thru that fine.

During the winter months, a number of lighthousemen are transferred to the Mackinaw for temporary duty. The increases the complement of the Mackinaw to about 125 men and 8 officers. Normal complement is about 80 to 90 men, and 8 officers.

Looks like the Mackinaw had a hard way to go this season.

And from Brevort Lake, comes this new (Judge J. D Erskine being the author) "If it keeps on snowing here we will have just about as much snow as they have out in California and some of the southern states." And, "The stork is not flying around Brevort Lake, so I guess everything is O K."

Well I'll have to sign off for now. More next week. Any comments (pro or con) will be appreciated. Address mail to me c/o The South Side Booster.

Hearing Society To See Film

Two sound movies, entitled "The Wonderful" or "What Hearing aids can Offer" and "Hearing Aids" will be shown Mon. 3rd at 8 p.m. in the Society rooms, 40 Grand Theatre Bldg. 50 E. Gate St. thru the courtesy of the Standard Oil Company.

This is an open meeting for all who are interested in Ohio and a cordial welcome awaits you.

Miss Betty McAuley Is Betrothed

Mrs. McAuley announced the engagement of her daughter, Betty Jane, to Robert Hughes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hughes, Sr., of Wheeling, W. Va.

Miss McAuley graduated from Parkersburg High School and attended Ohio State University and is associated with the Ohio Breeding Association.

During the winter months, a number of lighthousemen are transferred to the Mackinaw for temporary duty. The increases the complement of the Mackinaw to about 125 men and 8 officers. Normal complement is about 80 to 90 men, and 8 officers.

Looks like the Mackinaw had a hard way to go this season.

And from Brevort Lake, comes this new (Judge J. D Erskine being the author) "If it keeps on snowing here we will have just about as much snow as they have out in Calif[illegible] and some of the southern states." And, "The stork is not flying around Brevort Lake, so I guess everything is O K."

Well I'll have to sign off for now. More next week. Any comments (pro or con) will be appreciated. Address mail to me c/o The South Side Booster.

South Graduates Are Married

The soft glow of tapers in candelabra amid fernery and vases of white flowers highlighted the altar of First English Lutheran Church for the wedding of Miss Wanda Courtright, daughter of Mr F. J. Courtright, 1091 Miller Ave., and Mr Howard L. Keller, son of Mr and Mrs. A C Keller, 1756 Oak St.

The Rev. Mr Harold R Albert performed the service on Feb 4, at 7:30 p.m.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white satin featuring a bodice of imported Chantilly lace and a peplum of the same lace which draped over the hips and extended into a demi-tail drape over the bouffant skirt which fell into a Cathedral train. The yoke was of sheer marquisette. A coronet of beaded seed pearls held the chapel length veil of imported English illusion. She carried a white leather Bible adorned with a white orchid surrounded by hyacinth bells tied with white streamers entwined with white lace.

Attending the bride was Miss Jean Watson, maid of honor. Miss Jeanne Hood, cousin of the bride, Mrs Jeanne Ashton and Miss Dolore Miller, bridesmaids, and Mrs. Raymond Robinson, bridesmatron. They were identical gowns of mint green lipper satin designed with sheer nude yokes and softly draped berthas tied at each side with tiny self bows. The pointed basque bodices extended into the bouffant skirts which cascaded over old fashioned hoops. They were matching tulle and open crowned hats of tipping green Chantilly lace trimmed with matching satin bows in the back and streamers. The honor attendant carried a cascade bouquet of American Beauty roses, while the others carried colonial bouquets of yellow roses.

Mr Donald Keller, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Mr. William Keller, brother of the bridegroom, Mr A. Monroe Courtright, Mr V. J. Walker, Mr William South worth and Mr. Tom Mondy.

The new Mrs. Keller is a graduate of South High School and attended Wittenberg College where she was a member of Kappa Delta Sorority. She is associated with the Ohio Farm Bureau.

Mr Keller is a graduate of South High School, attended Ohio State University and is associated with his father in the meat business.

The couple is living at 1091 Miller Avenue.

The wedding will be an event of March.

Proposed Ohio Retirement Plan

The new Retirement Bill recently introduced in the Ohio Senate by Senator Anthony Bicker Martino, Perry County, and which is known as S B No. 10, is sponsored by the Ohio Federated Clubs of Ohio, according to Joseph Watte of Cleveland the Lower and Senior Citizens Chairman of [illegible] Plan.

We [illegible] strongly endorse Senate Bill No. 10. This bill [illegible] people who make less than that amount would have their income supplemented by the State to provide a total of $75.00 a month. Sponsors of the Retirement Bill have also asked for repeal of the lien Law and Relative Responsibility Clause.

Who will qualify for the Retirement Payments? 60 years and older, blind, permanently disabled and widowed mothers with minor children who are citizens of the U. S. and residents of Ohio for not less than five years during the nine years immediately prior to application, and who have less than $75.00 income per month. Persons who have income less than $75.00 per month will receive the difference between the income and $75.00.

To finance the Retirement Plan, Senator Frank J. Svoboda, Cleveland Democrat, introduced a resolution which is known as SJR No. 10 and if passed, will come before the voters next November in the form of an amendment to the State constitution. This amendment would abolish the Sales Tax and substitute a gross income tax. An annual $3,000 individual exemption was included.

While Svoboda's resolution does not specify a gross income rate, Waite predicted our trial even a 2 percent rate would provide the [illegible] $98 million dollars net, which [illegible] supplemented, under Social Security Law, by about 38 million dollars from the Federal Government.

It is estimated that about 541,000 60 years and older, 15,000 blind, 10,000 widowed mothers with minor children and 18,000 totally disabled would qualify to receive payments under this plan. It is estimated that their income would average thirty dollars a month and they would qualify for forty-five dollars a month from the state. It is estimated that the retirement program would cost annually about 329 million dollars, which includes three percent for its administraton. This leaves a balance of 407 million dollars for State Government to support schools, municipal governments, and other worthy government programs.

Two Kinds Of Medicine

Dorothy Thompson devoted one of her recent columns to the proposed bill to establish compulsory government health insurance. She observed that she had lived under socialized and regimented medical systems in England, Austria and Germany. She then had this to say about them: "They cost the people far too much. They provide inferior services at a high price. They are incapable of dealing with really serious and complicated cases. They result in two sorts of medicine—good medicine for the well-to-do; and bad for the masses, at high cost to those who can least afford it. And they build up a vested interest of physicians and bureaucrats which the people will never get rid of."

Miss Thompson can hardly be branded as a black reactionary—which is one of the labels the socialists often pin on those who do not agree with the premise that the cure for everything is more government and more and more taxes of all kinds. She observes that this country certainly does need better health service, and that people who honestly can't afford to pay for adequate care must be assisted. But, as she says, "Just why this most inventive country seems compelled blindly to copy social measures originating elsewhere is baffling." A segment of the American people, apparently, believe that we can succeed with schemes which have been an utter failure everywhere else. And that attitude, if it is reflected in action, could be disastrous.

The compulsory health insurance plan is simply one of the planks in a platform that would create a total state. Lenin himself applied combination of medicine and [illegible] communist objectives. And socialized medicine will come as surely as night follows day if we give the bureaucrats control over medical practice.

Deaf Group Urges New State School

COLUMBUS, O. March 3—The deaf people of Ohio today ugred the state legislature to provide funds for a new State School for the Deaf "before some terrible catastrophe kills several hundred children."

The request was made in a resolution passed at a meeting held here Sunday by the Ohio Federation of Organizations of the Deaf which represents more than a score of groups throughout the state.

Dale Stump, Columbus attorney who is general counsel for the Federation, said the deaf adults of the state were acting from an entirely unselfish motive.

"Few deaf adults have deaf children," Mr. Stump said. "But they know from their own experiences with deafness that deaf children need the best education possible to offset their physical handicap. They believe the State School for the Deaf in Columbus has been doing a good job of education. But they are alarmed at the fire and safety hazards connected with the ancient buildings."

In their resolution, the Deaf Federation pointed out that the dormitory building housing 320 children has been condemned by state fire and building officials for many years. It is a huge 220 room building constructed at the time of the Civil War.

"The State of Ohio has been talking about building a new school for 20 years," said Hilbert C. Duning, Cincinnati architect who heads the federation. "The deaf people have decided it's time to quit talking and start acting. Anyone who is willing to help us should contact our attorney, Dale Stump at 8 East Broad St., Columbus."

South Side Y Elemen. Basketball League

Beck Street marched undefeated to the championship of the "B" Division of the South Side Y Elementary School Basketball League, Tuesday at Schiller Park when they downed Lincoln Park 17 to 5. Southwood fought its way out of the cellar position by trouncing Stewart 18 to 7.

Beck's towering center looped eight points while his running mate William "Eddie" Oakes tossed in four counters. The victory gave Beck an undisputed championship of the division. Next week they will tangle with an all-star team made up of Dave Kochensparger and Don Luzader from Siebert; John Otto and Jimmy Haines from Lincoln, Charles Workman and John McBee from Southwood; and Michael Jones and Ronnie Sauers from Stewart.

John Phillips collected nine counters for Southwood as he aided his team mates in downing a midget Stewart aggregation 18 to 7. Michael Jones captained the Stewart team. Neither team had won a league game and Southwood battled all the way to evade being pushed into the cellar position.

Southwood copped the championship of the "A" Section by trouncing Stewart 32 to 13 and Beck shellaced a weakened Lincoln team by 28 to 8 in games played at Schiller park on Wednesday.

Bob Blume, Dick Hickman and Captain Ronnie Woodyard ran "hog wild" in scoring ten, ten, and nine points respectively for Southwood. "Lefty" Griggs collected eight points for Stewart. Stewart held Southwood to a 12 to 7 halfway mark, but soon tired under the third and fourth quarter pressure.

Center Paul Elkins led Beck to victory in securing eight points while his team mate Jerry Whalen managed six counters. Gus Hickman and Harold Weatherman were the main plugs of the Lincoln attack.

On Wednesday, March 2, Southwood will face an all star team composed of Norman James and Walter Guilym from Siebert; Gus Hickman and Harold Weatherman of Lincoln Park, Jerry Whalen and Ray Caulke of Beck; and Vaughn Jones and Pat Griggs from Stewart.

South Side Y League

Fornof School won all three games from Smith Road in the Marion Township Elementary League sponsored by the South Side Y.

Score of the Boys Class "A" game was 41 to 19. Hayes of Fornof was high scorer with 29 points.

The "B" teams were closely matched and the final score was 21 to 17. Fornof came thru in the final quarter with scoring evenly divided.

The Girl's Volleyball game was also hard fought. Final score was Fornof 27, Smith Road 24.

Fornof School will enter two teams in the Franklin County Elementary tournament. The AA Team will compete with seven other teams and the A team with 23 other teams from the County. Clarfield, Smith Road, and Scioto Trail are also entering teams in the A Division.

Easter Sunday Crippled Childrens Drive Day

A goal of $385,000 has been set for Ohio for the 16th annual Easter Seal Sale, it was announced today by James A. Hewitt, president of The Ohio Society for Crippled Children. The nation-wide drive will open March 17th and close Easter Sunday, April 17th.

Sheets of Easter Seals will be mailed to nearly two million families in the state, Hewitt said, with an appeal for a dollar—or more—to support services for the physically handicapped. Ninety-three affiliated county societies for crippled children and cooperating service groups join with the state society in conducting the campaign.

Keyed to the spirit of Easter, the 1949 seal bears the silhouette of a young girl with crutches and the slogan: HELP CRIPPLED CHILDREN.

Funds contributed through purchase of the seals, Hewitt stated, will be used for medical care; corrective braces, shoes and other artificial aids; equipment for therapy; recreation and camping; training of urgently needed professional personnel; and many other services.

According to Hewitt, Easter Seal funds may be used for any type of crippling condition if no other agency in the community is prepared to provide the service needed.

Classified as "crippling" are more than 200 types of disablities. Major categories include cerebral palsy, infantile paralysis, heart defects, speech and hearing handicaps, visual defects and epilepsy.

More than 90% of the money collected, Hewitt stated, will remain in the state; the balance or eight and three tenths percent will represent Ohio's share in the support of educational and other activities of The National Society for Crippled Children and Adults.

The Ohio Society for Crippled Children was founded in 1919 by the late Edgar F. ("Daddy") Allen of Elyria. Since that time, the organization has carried on a continuous program to bring about adequate physical, educational, recreational and vocational services for physically handicapped people in the state.

New Youth Activities Slated For St. Paul's

With the New Building Project swinging into High Gear, plans were announced this week for two entirely new youth projects for Saint Pauls Evangelical and Reformed Church. Both projects will be completely organized before May First, which is Ground Breaking Day for the New Church Construction.

The new Senior Scout Group, composed of boys over Fifteen years of age, has had three primary meetings in the Social Hall, and the Charter will be granted about the Middle of March. The nucleus of this group is made up of young men from Troop 77 although several other Church Troops from the South Side are represented.

Just to make the Youth Scouting program complete a New Cub Pack is also being formed, with Parents and Den Mothers holding their first meeting in the next ten days. The New Church Building was planned with a definite Accent on Youth, and in direct line with this, these two all new groups are being organized.

Reverend Paul C. Kaefer, Pastor of Saint Pauls, and Ed Trautman, President of this Very Active Church, heartily approve the activities of South Side Young Men, and all interested boys from Nine to Nineteen are invited to contact either one for full particulars.

Hayman's To Conduct Revival

Paul Hayman

Eva Hayman

A two week's series of revival services begins at the Parsons Avenue Nazarene Church, Sunday evening, March 6th. The local ministers, Paul and Eva Hayman, will serve as evangelists and will be assisted by the Gospel Four Male Quartet of Columbus. Mr. William S. Brown, bass singer in the quartet will be in charge of the music. The preaching ministry will be scriptural, sane and sound with major emphasis upon the power of Jesus Christ to save men from all sin and enable them to live as God intended that they should. The entire church joins in welcoming everyone to attend these meetings. There will be nightly services at 7:30, through March 20, and Sunday morning services at 10:30.

Miss Kletrovets is a graduate of South High School and is now associated with the Ohio Fuel Gas Co.

Private Martin is a graduate of South High School and attended Ohio State University. He is now stationed at Fort Bliss, Texas.

No definite date has been set for the wedding.

Ladies Of The G.A.R. Present Flag

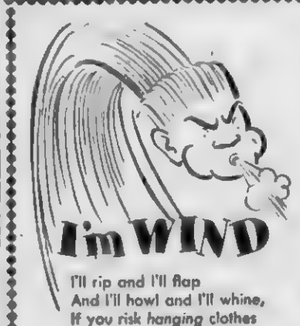
At a ceremony held in the school auditorium on Friday, Feb. 11, Scioto Trail School was presented a new flag by the Ohio Circle No. 37 Ladies of the Grand Army of the Republic.

Mrs. Clara Smith, Past National Junior Vice President of the Ladies auxiliary of the G.A.R. assisted by Mrs. Nora Darst and Mrs. Le Etta Adkins made the presentation. The flag was accepted on behalf of the school by members of the Eighth Grade Leader's Club.

The program included a prayer and flag salute, several poems and recitations as well as an explanation of flag etiquette. The ceremony was planned by the Leader's Club under the direction of Joseph E. Milligan, Principal, and Herman Kuehn, Advisor, of the South Side YMCA.



Following the auditorium exercises the tattered old flag was taken down for the last time and the new flag proudly raised by members of the school traffic patrol.

Leader's Club officers are: Thomas Becker, President; James Calvert, Vice President; Edward Schmidt, Secretary; and Loy Bish, Treasurer.

"The Plunderers" At The Columbia

The Columbia Theater presents Sunday, Monday and Tuesday "The Plunderers" with Rod Cameron and Ilona Massey. When they made this picture they pulled out every stop. This Western has everything the sagebrush fan could possibly yearn for. Indians, the cavalry, villainy galore, romance and above all, action in limitless and hair-raising doses. What's more, all those desirable ingredients are solidly knit together by a believeable story which boasts several new twists and avoids as many clinches as possible. In quality and in length the picture is amply qualified to carry the top side of almost any bill and even those who can take their boots and saddles or leave 'em alone will find it a highly acceptable parcel of entertainment. Also on the bill is "Mickey" starring Lois Butler, the screens newest singing sweetheart.

Feudin', Fightin', and A Fussin' at Columbia

Sunday, Monday and Tuesday on the bill at the Columbia Theater will be "Feudin', Fightin' and A Fussin'" starring Donald O'-Connor. O'Connor, a hair-tonic drummer, is made captive by the citizens of Rimrock and pressed involuntarily into service as that community's entry in the annual footrace. You've never laughed so hard in all your life, as you will, when you see the wonderful race at Rimrock. Mayor Marjorie Main kidnaps a Fleet-footed hair tonic salesman, to uphold the Honor of the town. Also on the double bill is Piccadilly Incident starring Anna Nagel.

Thurman Dramatic Group Presents Play

"The Challenge of the Cross," an impressive and beautiful pageant, will be presented at Thurman Avenue Methodist Church, Thurman and South Washington Avenues, on Sunday evening, March 6, at 8:00 o'clock. This is one in a series of dramatic events offered yearly by the Thurman Players under the direction of Mr. Carl Lowell. These dramas have proved themselves notable both for their message and the high degree of perfection with which they are done.

"The Challenge of the Cross," first feature of a Lenten Sunday evening series in the Thurman Church, shows dramatically the various reactions of people to the summons of Christ, "If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross, and follow me."

The part of Evangel will be played by Miss Thelma Lewis. The disciples will be portrayed by Misses Martha Lee Capehart, Mary Etta Adams, Mildred Adams, Norma Shipman, Carol Powell and Mary Jean Mattox. Mrs. John Dimar will lead the worship service. The church choir, under the direction of Mrs. Carl Jones, will sing. The organist is Miss Ruth Warren. The pageant is being dedicated to the memory of Mrs. E. A. Kolb who many years ago directed the presentation of the same pageant in the same church. The public is invited

Movie Sponsored By Santa Marie Society

The Santa Marie Society will sponsor the showing of the movie "The Crowning of the Blessed Virgin in Italy" at the Croatian Hall, 277 Reeb Avenue, Saturday, March 5th, at 8:00 p.m. There will also be two short selections.

"Rogues Regiment" At The Southland

DICK POWELL and sultry MARTA TOREN, the beautiful Swedish import, are co-starred in "ROGUES REGIMENT," daring drama of the French Foreign Legion scheduled for the Southland Theatre next Wednesday and Thursday. The Family Night attraction also features Vincent Price. Powell portrays an American officer on the trail of an escaped Nazi war criminal. The special Technicolor sports film, "Olympic Games of 1948," will be co-featured.

Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, the Southland will show the mighty new Technicolor musical with an all-star cast, "Words and Music," which is based on the lives and music of Richard Rodgers and Lorenz Hart. June Allyson, Mickey Rooney, Tom Drake, Gene Kelly, Judy Garland, Lena Horne, Mel Torme, Cyd Charisse, Perry Como, Betty Garrett and Marshall Thompson are among the talented cast.

Mound P.T.A. Variety Show Date Set

The annual Variety Show, sponsored by the Mound Junior High School Teacher Association will be held Tuesday evening March 22, at the Mound Building.

Featured on the program will be Jack Courtney, well known Magician, and Master of Ceremonies, the Buckeye Buckeroos, and Mr. Mason Tune with a Punch and Judy Show. A dance specialty feature will also be presented. Mrs. Kay Smith will be at the piano.

The committee on arrangements include Mrs. Russell Holwick Chairman of the Variety Show Committee, Mrs. L. Davenport, Miss Buelah Guss, Mrs. Earl Spicer, and Principal L. N. Drake.

The show, which will last for an hour and a half, will start at 8 p.m.

BARRETTS ANNUAL VARIETY SHOWS OF ALL SHOWS! ! The Barrett Variety Show is a headline attraction of entertainment for tonight and tomorrow nite, March 3rd and 4th, in the school auditorium at 8:00 P.M. Vocal soloists, dramatic numbers, tap dancing, and instrumental music make up the production. Tickets at 35c each may be purchased from Barrett students or at the door both tonight and tomorrow nights.

The third annual Variety Show will feature a cast of forty as well as Barrett Junior High School's fifty-one piece orchestra.

Barbara Bolin, 640 Woodrow Avenue, a 9A, will be Mistress of Ceremonies for the show. Barbara's supporting cast consists of Marion Sheldon, Mary Ohde, Carol Hall, Jeneanne Hannan, Wilma Ebright, JoAnn McCalla, Almeda McCann, Connie Gautz, Patty Kirby, Robert Fickle, Yvonne Justice, Elza Jo Fodor, Arlene Leslein, Dorothy Davis, Billy Roy, John White, Nancy Scanlon, Evelyn Hoodlet, Eleanor Kinsinger, Nancy Tibbits, Shirley Marshall, Mary Biete, Marion Glick, Nancy Nofer, Bobbie Pharr, Lavonne and Ralph Tedder, Lois Robson, Naomi Ball, Betty Scott, Betty Roy, Beverly Hagan, George Treneff, Andrew Gyurcsik, John Grady, Daniel Wilson, Carol Woodyard, Dorothy Garrigan, Donna Huntley, Marilyn Huntley, Janice Benjamin, Mrs. Welde, Mrs. Secrest, and Mr. Germain.

Barrett Junior High School is putting on this show for two nights since it has been such a popular feature during the last two years. Giving the production two nights should enable all to have an opportunity for a good seat according to John B Fauber, Chairman.

The parents and friends as well as all South Siders are urged to get their tickets as soon as possible.

Ideal Theater Presents Thunder In The Valley

Sunday and Monday the Ideal Theater is showing "Thunder in the Valley" with Peggy Ann Garner and Lon McAllister. This technicolor picture shows Peggy Ann Garner in a new type of role. Along with the picture is "Smugglers Cove" with Leo Gorcey and The Dead End Kids, plus a Carton and News. This play bill should afford the entire family with an enjoyable evening's entertainment.

"The Emperor Waltz" At Russell Theater

Sunday and Monday at Russell Theater presents "The Emperor Waltz" with Bing Crosby and Joan Fontaine. This georgeous musical spectacle shows Bing at his best and Joan at her loviest. The technicolor photography gives the film added interest. The well loved Waltzes will keep you humming with Bing. You'll love every minute of this comedy with music. Also on the program is "Miraculous Journey," in color, with Rory Calhoun, and Audrey Long, plus news and a Cartoon.

South High P.T.A.

The South High P.T.A. will hold a meeting at South High School, March 8th, at 7:45 p.m. Mrs. Guy Maize is president of the Association and extends a cordial invitation to all members and friends.

Rev. Rudy H. Thomas, Pastor of the Central Community church, will speak on the subject "I Wish My Parents Wouldn't!!!." Music will be furnished by the South High School Choir under the direction of Miss Ruth Lippincott. Refreshments and a social hour will follow the business meeting.

Barretts Annual Variety Show Tonight And Friday Night

Barrett Junior High School's third annual Variety Show will be given in the Barrett School Auditorium, Thursday and Friday evenings March 3rd and 4th.

This annual event consists of variety acts prepared and presented by pupils and friends of the school. It has been very fortunate and successful and every presentation has been a sell-out.

Admission is by ticket, and tickets can be bought from pupils of the Barrett Junior High School.

South High On Radio

Pupils from Grove City, Worthington, and South High schools will be interviewed by Irwin Johnson on the John Doe, Jr. program at 4 p.m. Saturday, March 5, on WBNS.

Jim Hyde, sophomore at Grove City High School who plays the tuba in a "Little German Band," will tell of his musical activities and also of his experiences at chicken-raising. Marilyn Stephenson, 1341 Franklin Ave., senior at South High, will give a report on activities now in progress at her school and plans for the remainder of the year.

A Worthington High School sophomore, Mark Duane Branstetter, will tell about his school days in Frankfurt, Germany, and of visits to Paris, Belgium, and other European countries. Mark's father was sent overseas during the war, and the family joined him in Germany afterward. The Branstetters live at 178 Chatham Rd., Columbus.

Chess Analyst, Hans Kmoch Lectures

Hans Kmoch, the celebrated International chess analyst, will present a lecture on the Book and its relation to Pawn Positions at the YMCA on Saturday, March 5. The lecture will be given at three in the afternoon and will be followed at seven in the evening, by a simultaneous chess exhibition in which Mr. Kmoch will play some forty local chess players simultaneously. Tickets for playing are $1.50 for spectators are $.50.

Hans Kmoch was born in Vienna. In his early life, he wrote poetry and did other types of writing. Shortly after the first World War, he became a professional writer. During the period of inflation in Germany after the war, he started on chess for the "Wiener Schachzeitung." It was that time, that he became a "ghost-writer" for some of the well-known chess champions who needed their time for actual chess playing. Since 1925, he has been the special chess correspondent for Europe for the United Press. In 1927, he was commissioned to write a supplement to the "Bilguer Handbuch.", then known as the "chess player's bible."

From 1931 to 1947, he lived in Amsterdam, Holland, mainly as the ghost writer for Dr. Max Euwe (world champion 1935-37). In 1947 he came to this country, where he has been writing articles on chess for The Chess Review (leading chess magazine in the United States) and preparing works on chess.

Hans Kmoch is the author of numberous commentated chess books in German and Dutch, many under his own name, many others under the names of well-known chess masters.

He is well-known analyst often quoted in the Modern Chess Openings with the introduction: "Kmoch says . . ."

For the past two years, Kmoch has made tours of the United States, during which he has lectured and given simultaneous exhibitions. He appeared last year, as he will this year, at the downtown YMCA in Columbus under the auspices of the YMCA Chess Club and the University Student Chess Club.

Townsend Club No. 32

The Townsend Club No. 32 will hold their monthly meeting at their new location, 5412 East Gay Street, Monday, March 7, at 7:30 p.m. There will be a St. Patrick's play and refreshments will be served. Mrs. Wood, who is president, extends a cordial welcome to everyone.

First Aid To Be Demonstrated

Firstaid techniques will be demonstrated by a championship team of state highway patrolmen at the second Red Cross campaign report luncheon Monday noon at the Southern Hotel.

Leaders of the Governmental and Military Division and the county chapter's Red Cross Safety Services will be honored at the luncheon. Among those participating in the program will be Col. George Maggio, head of the State Highway Patrol; Mike Peppe, Ohio wrestling coach and chairman of Red Cross Water Safety, and Harry Perkins, Ohio Farm Bureau safety director, chairman of accident prevention. Dr. Drew L. Dysart, chairman of the chapter's Safety Services, will make the introductions.

Other report luncheons will be held March 9, 11 and 15 preceding close of the annual campaign March 15. County-wide goal this year is $290,000.

All volunteer workers and other interested persons are invited to attend the open luncheons. Tickets may be purchased at the door.

Strange - But True

Of the some 200 insane monarchs in history, perhaps the most unbalanced was Abdul Hamid I, Sultan of Turkey from 1774 to 1789. Between the ages of 6 and 49, or for forty-three years before ascending the throne, Abdul was so violent that he had to be kept in a padded cell.

On the evening of May 21, 1878, a freight train of about a dozen cars, belonging to the Kansas (now Union) Pacific Railroad, met with a peculiar accident at Box Elder Creek near Watkins, Colorado. While the train was crossing the bridge, it was struck by a tornado and toppled over into the swollen stream whose bed happened to be quicksand. Owing to their weight, the engine and cars sank so deep that not one was ever located, despite the fact that they were probed for many times to a depth of fifty feet.

A little-known fact about the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States is that it maintains, like the Catholic Church, orders of monks and nuns who take vows, wear religious garb and engage in charitable and educational activities. There are nine orders for men and fourteen for women which together have approximately 500 members living in eighty houses.

Since early 1800's, most opera companies in Europe have enlivened their performances with the aid of claquers, or persons who are paid to sit in the audience and subtly influence the reactions of those around them. Having rehearsed with the company, the claquers know just when and for how long they are to weep, laugh loudly, call for encores, and interrupt a singer with applause so he may catch his breath.

The Shiah Mohammedans are not only allowed four legal wives and countless concubines, like other Moslems, but they are also permitted to have any number of additional wives under a form of marriage called "muta." Such a union is for a specified period, which may be as long as 100 years or as short as an hour; and if the couple wish to remain together after their contract has expired, they must renew it and be married again with full religious rites.

Centuries ago in Europe, every gentleman who was a heavy drinker, or "potent in potting," had a personal drinking cup which he took to the tavern each night and to his grave when he died. Most of the cups were especially designed and had curious attachments, one usually being a whistle which its owner blew to order another drink. A second gadget on a certain famous cup was a little house with a windmill which was set in motion by the blowing of the whistle. The number of times it turned was indicated on a dial, thus showing the drinker how fast his lung power was waning.

For five centuries before China became a republic in 1911, its emperors in Peking (now Peiping) daily received scores of gifts of fish which they would keep in a small lake on the palace grounds. Over this long period, its bottom became covered with the gold identification tags which had been fastened to the fish by their senders and which had eventually dropped off. Nothing was ever done to retrieve them until 1924 when a smart citizen bought the "fishing rights" to the pond for $450,000. Within three years, he hauled up nearly $25,000,000 worth of these gold pieces.

Owing to a few vague phrases, the white-slave-traffic act, passed by Congress in 1910, has been one of the most abused laws in this country. Its sole purpose was to enable the government to stop the growing interstate transportation of women for commercial prostitution. But only three years later, the law was badly emasculated by a court ruling that no commercial motive was required to convict under it. Since then, it has been misinterpreted in so many other ways that today a man may even violate it by sending his secretary to report on a convention in another state.

When Arab meets Arab on the roads of north Africa, they observe a ritual of greeting which requires the man "looking down" to speak or nod first, irrespective of financial or social status. Thus, the gentleman on a camel greets first the one on a horse, the horseback rider speaks first to the man on a donkey, the donkey rider nods first to the pedestrian and he first to the man sitting down.

In 18th century Scotland, exclamations addressed to God were believed to be more effective than long prayers because they were spoken so quickly and unexpectedly that Satan was unable to intercept them. Therefore, pious individuals used a number of these ejaculatory prayers in their daily conversation for several decades. Finally they realized that the custom was absurd, that such expressions, for example, as "Hallelujah," "Forgive us our debts," and "Deliver us from evil," sounded highly ridiculous when suddenly uttered while arguing with the landlord, placing a grocery order or dating a barmaid.

The longest motion picture ever produced in the United States was one entitled Greed. When released in 1924, it had to be cut to one-quarter of its original length to be shown here and in several other countries. Theaters in Latin America, however, exhibited the film in its entirety, which required two nights, as its running time was 11 hours and 40 minutes, or six times as long as the average feature.

The most inflammatory book in American history was The Impending Crisis in the South, written and published in 1857 by Hinton Rowan Helper of North Carolina. Being a vitriolic attack on slavery, it passed through a hundred editions in the North within two years and contributed toward bringing on the Civil War. In the South, the book was not only banned by law but the feeling against it was so intense that scores of men were badly beaten and three were hanged by mobs because they were suspected of owning a copy.

Radio City Music Hall in New York has the largest and most flexible theatrical curtain ever made. Thirteen steel cables are sewn vertically in the material about two yards apart, each being raised and lowered by its own motor under the automatic control of a backstage panel board on which the desired arrangement of the curtain is pre-set. Thus, as one or all of the cables may be raised at varying heights, the possible number of ways in which the curtain may be draped is almost beyond calculation.

Rubber Dollar And Profits

One of the most intelligent comments on prices and profits yet made has come from Philip W. Porter, writing in the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

He said: "...Politicians smart in the ways of public relations have widely sold the idea that if a business raises prices, it's an outrage to the consumer, and if it cuts prices, it's a plot to prevent the paying of higher wages. Under this theory, business, never government, always takes the rap.

"Take the matter of profits, which ...are at an all-time peak. Wages, costs and turnover are also at an all-time peak. The basic reason is that the rubber dollar is now worth 50 cents, and it takes twice as many dollars to operate. Employees believe that twice as many rubber dollars for wages is O.K., but do they admit the stockholders should also receive twice as many rubber dollars? Not so you could notice it. Yet that's the real answer. The percentage of profit to the amount of business done is about the same as when the dollar was worth 100 cents."

One of the weakest arguments used by economists for the CIO and other labor groups is that wages can be raised without raising prices simply by making up the difference out of profits. What that would mean is that the pay of the stockholder would be cut. Profit, in the form of dividends, is what the stockholder gets for the use of his money—precisely as the worker gets a return, in the form of wages, for the use of his time and his skill. Both are absolutely vital to a free and progressive economic system.

Going on, the argument that good profits rob workers, consumers, or any other group, is one of the weakest conceivable theories. Today, a very large part of the profit earned by industry goes, not to stockholders, but into new plants and other physical facilities. And it is those plants which will provide employment, at good wages, to workers in the future—and it is those plants which will provide goods and services the people want, and produce them at the most reasonable possible price. Suppose, for instance, that we taxed profits 100 per cent. How long do you think it would be before economic depression, with soaring unemployment, dropping living standards, and all the other manifestations of bad times, would get a firm grip on the country?

This nation was built on good wages for workers and good profits for owners. It's just another example of the truism that what's good for the goose is good for the gander.

ADVERTISING IS COMING UP

A little whirl around the circle shows that the advertising agencies are broadening their fields and it would not be at all surprising to find many National products advertised in local papers in most parts of the Nation within the next few months. Of course the agencies are always glad to spread out and include family newspapers but too many large organizations and institutions will never recover from the delusion that if they plant their copy in a dozen big cities that they have told the World—but as a matter of fact the home newspapers, read by every member of the family is the greatest advertising field of all. And any high-minded public relations institutions will never get by until they give more attention to these family newspapers outside the metropolitan districts.

"YOU BETTER GO TO SCHOOL A LEETLE"

When the writer was a little boy he joined with some of his schoolmates in teasing one of the old settlers of the village, particularly when the old boy was intoxicated. There was something peculiar about him that aroused the curiosity of our boys and we used to tease him about his affairs. Finally Old Boy stood up straight, and pointed the finger of scorn from one youth to another, and told us: "You better go to school a leetle." That would arouse a pleasant chorus of laughter and finish the discussion for the day.

In those times leading American educators weren't interested in the affairs of colleges and universities and there were no Com-

New Tags For Autos

License tags for your auto are now on sale here in the South Side at Artis York's Insurance office, 1835 Parsons Ave., and J. Edgar Powell, 1086 Oakwood Ave.

The color of the new tags are yellow on black and must be on all cars by April 1.

Buy early and avoid the last minute rush that always comes.

Finance Committee Reports Progress

The Chairman of the Finance Committee of Saint Pauls New Church Building is ready to give a complete resume of the first month's progress of the drive. Mr. C. E. Henderson working with Mr. Paul Newfang are handling all funds and issuing lists of Church Members for the committee to contact.

At the close of the first month's canvassing Mr. Henderson reports about Twelve Thousand Dollars Pledged and about Five Thousand Dollars Cash Received. The present goal is Ninety Thousand Dollars. In addition to the New Church Auditorium and Basement, the present structure will be enlarged all with an "Accent on Youth". The crowded conjested condition of the present Sunday School will be completely alleviated with new class rooms and a central worship center in the new basement. All organizations of St. Pauls are doubly active in their regular channels, but all are working in perfect harmony with the New Structure as the One Main Goal.

Young People Schedule Dance

The Youth Committee of Saint Pauls Church announce a Brotherhood Sponsored Dance to be held April 29th from 8 to 12 p.m., at K of P Hall, 697 South High St. Tickets will be on sale at the door or can be obtained from Brotherhood members of the Youth Committee. Allan Bettinger's Band will provide music for both Round and Square Dancing with Jim Wagner calling.

The Youth Committee is composed of members of St. Pauls Brotherhood who are giving additional time in sponsoring the affair. The nucleus of young men and women meet in the Church Auditorium every Sunday evening where they are led in discussions of the times by Reverend Kaefer. These young people are highly interested in the New Church Building, as the entire Expansion and Construction Program was devised with their well being in mind.

Red Cross Final Report Luncheon

Anthony L. Schmieg, director of the new Columbus Regional Blood Center, will speak at the final report luncheon of the 1949 Red Cross fund drive, to be held Monday noon, March 14, at the Southern Hotel.

Members of the Industry and Labor Division and the Speaker's Bureau will be honored as well as those volunteers participating in the new Blood Program.

As the campaign nears the scheduled closing date, March 18, William A. Scheurer, chairman of the 1949 fund drive, this week urged all volunteer solicitors to complete the work in their neighborhoods thoroughly and quickly. "The Red Cross does not fail us," Mr. Scheurer declared, "and we must not fail the Red Cross. With concerted effort on the part of the volunteer workers, and the co-operation we can always depend on from Franklin County residents, we shall reach our quota March 18."

The Victory Dinner, marking successful conclusion of the campaign for a 1949 quota of $296,700 will be held March 18 at the Southern Hotel. Reservations may be made by calling Red Cross Headquarters, Ma-6841. All volunteer workers or any other interested citizens may attend.

Round and Square Dance

A Round and Square Dance is being held Friday, March 11, at Willow Recreation by the South Side YMCA Marion Township Alumni Clubs.

An old-fashioned cake walk will be featured in connection with the dance. The popular Gordon Hughes orchestra will play and Mr. James Wagner of the South Side Y will be the caller.

Dance chairman Ralph Eisnaugle has announced that a queen will be selected for the evening.

The time for dancing will be 8:30 to 11:30 p.m., and the price of admission is 50 cents.

Arrigo Brothers Open New Hardware

Louie and Johnnie Arrigo have opened a new hardware, plumbing and appliance store at 959 Frebis Ave. The store is completely new from top to bottom, and handles such well known merchandise as ABC Washers, Pittsburgh Paints, The A. O. Smith Permaglas Water Heaters and many other brands that are familiar to everyone. They also specialize in plumbing repair and are experts in this line of business. Louie and Johnnie Arrigo are both well known South Siders. Louie at present lives at 44 Hoffman St. He formerly lived at 175 E. Livingston. Johnnie now resides at 1110 Oakwood. Both boys attended St. Mary's School. Stop in at their new store at 959 Frebis or give them a call at GA 1903.

South Reaches 3/4 Of Goal

As we go to press the student body of South High School has contributed sufficient money toward the bond drive to bring their total to $7500 which is ¾ of the goal of $10,000.

The money received from the bonds will be used for the remodeling of Mahaffey Stadium and for the improvement of other athletic facilities at South.

On Friday in an assembly Jean Warner, a 10A was presented a ten dollar bond for selling 11 bonds for the week of February 25 to March 4.

So if you the people of the South Side want a school in your community that you will be proud of, buy at least one bond. A bond from South is a bond for South.

Lincoln Park Nursery To Stay Where It Is

At a meeting last Friday, called by Mr. Eyan of the Community Fund it was decided to leave the Lincoln Park Nursery stay in its present location until it is thoroughly investigated.

The nursery will be thoroughly inspected by the Child Care section of the State Welfare department.

Government authorities who attended the meeting, said that the Housing Authority would meet any requirements that the State Welfare Department might ask.

Your Editor beneves that the Lincoln Park Nursery will stay at Lincoln Park. Your Editor also warned the Community Fund officials that he would go to the merchants of the Steelton District for funds if any attempt was made toward abandonment.

Buddy Cotter, seated at the piano, "runs through a number" with Donna and Bob Callahan that they will present at the Shamrock Club Breakfast, March 17th at the Neil House.

The Irish will march from the K. C. Hall to Saint Patrick's Church for Mass and Holy Communion. They will then march to the Neil House for their annual breakfast. Buddy Cotter, Chairman of the entertainment has a fine program to present.

A Civic Leader Leaves Us

Not often do you find a man who is a civic leader in a community. But when you do find such a man then you always find that he is loaded down with work for the benefit of his fellow citizens.

Such a man was Rudolph Zish, who died of a heart attack Saturday afternoon

Active in both the South East Lions Club and the Steelton Merchants Association, Rudy as his friends called him, was placed on committee after committee.

When it came to public need or some one in strained circumstances, Rudy was the first to put his hand in his pocket for a buck or more if needed.

For his home life his Julia always came first. She was the apple of his eye.

Those who knew him were enriched just to be around him.

If there was a bouquet of flowers needed and no money, he would go to his flower shop, the Premier Floral Co., and make up a really pretty design.

He was only 66 years old, but he put more in that time than some men do who live to be 100.

Coming to this country as a youth from Germany, his loyalty to our country should be an object lesson to all.

He leaves his wife, Mrs. Julia Zish, who is also active in the floral business.

We are sure the sympathy of the whole South Side goes out to her.

Y Class Registration

Advance registrations for the spring workshop classes at the Y WCA are now being made. Classes begin March 15.

A second bridge class in bidding of the hand will be given Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock under Mrs. Smith's direction.

At the same hour, Miss Elsie Yee will conduct a class in textile painting, and Mrs. Robert Manly will teach leathercraft.

Antique refinishing instruction will be given by E. E. Rogers at 7:30 Wednesday, and the only class scheduled for Thursday is one in clay modeling at 7:30, Mrs. John Howald is instructor.

The term will continue for eight weeks.

To Hold Dance

Members of Pride of Columbus Council 29, Daughters of America will hold a round and square dance Friday, March 11 from 8:30 to 11:30 at the I.O.O.F. Hall, 24 W. Goodale St.

Al. Goettinger, his orchestra, and caller Rush Thomas, all from Grove City, O., will furnish the music.

Those serving on the committee are Mrs. Helen Stout, Mrs. Ada White, Mrs. Ann Chaffin and Mr. Lorin Renick.

A New Smokeless Coal For Columbus

Disco is a distilled product and is reported to be the only ball-type low temperature carbonized fuel produced commercially by a continuous process. It is heavier than high temperature coke and differs from the latter in a number of respects that are important in Domestic heating use. It is a highly reactive fuel, easily ignited and it will hold fire for several days in the ordinary home furnace if the drafts are closed. As experienced at the pressed plant, the volatile content of Disco runs around 15%, thus assuring both smokelessness and high ignitability. It comes in ball shape that range in size from 1 to 8 inches in diameter and handles nicely in that there is a minimum of breakage and clean in storing.

Some time ago, the Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal Company introduced Disco for trial throughout a number of cities in the northeastern states. This was done to obtain a customer reaction under different circumstances of use. These areas have continued as regular users of Disco and ever since the commercial introduction of the fuel has been adequate to meet the demand.

Disco is being distributed to Columbus through the City Ice and Fuel Company, etc.

New Elementary Orch. Starts At Barrett

A new musical organization for the South Side will start rehearsals on Wed. March 16th from 3:30 to 5:00 at Barrett Junior High School. This group will be called the South Side Elementary Orchestra and will meet at the East House, located on the Thurman Ave. side of the Barrett Schoolground. Mr. Herbert Greenman, the Y commercial teacher at Barrett, will be the director.

The orchestra is sponsored by the South Side Branch of the Y M.C.A. The rehearsals will be free of charge. All elementary school children playing an orchestral or band instrument will be eligible to join. Any Junior High students not playing in an orchestra or band may also come to the rehearsals.

Besides this new orchestra the South Side Branch of the YMCA is sponsoring a program of class lessons on various musical instruments. These are given at the Y Branch office at 861 S. Third St. The enrollment at the present is 60 children from 11 different [illegible]. These students receive instruction from a staff of 6 teachers in 9 different classes.

For any information regarding the orchestra or lessons, call the Y Branch office at GA 2151.

FREEING FREE TRADE

In the days of Roosevelt and Hull there were reciprocal trade agreements with many countries. That became the policy of the Democratic party. It was free trade under an assumed name. The plan has never been finished, principally on account of the war conditions. But it is an effort to reconstruct business relations between different governments thruout the World. So let's be patient with the scheme of the Democratic Administration, which is aiming in every way possible to readjust World trade relations.

YELLOW MARGARINE

One wonders just how generous one can get when hearing that the butter boys are now ready to drop all resistance to the repeal of Federal license fees and taxes on the sale and manufacture of margarine. If—and here is the snare—there is a complete ban on the sale of yellow margarine. Magnanimous, eh?

Consumers and particularly homemakers would certainly get the runaround should Congress listen to such poppycock. These selfish interests are just admitting a truth—that there's never been any logic behind margarine license fees and taxes—which most people have known for years. Now their last ditch stand on the yellow color is just as unreasonable as previous demands.

It is hoped that our representatives will turn a deaf ear to the selfish pleas of the dairy lobby. It is almost a certainty that they will if enough voters, and particularly women, will write and protest any sort of legislation except that which will give the American consumer tax-free yellow margarine.

Wildlife Preservation Week

For the first time this winter Ohio's wildlife turned a thankful eye toward the more than 400 wild life habitat development areas established throughout the 88 counties during the last year and a half in the Division of Conservation's wildlife management program.

Recent snow and near-zero weather has driven the wildlife broodstock to shelter and food supplies provided by Division field men.

The wildlife habitat development areas ranging from 250 to 300 acres in size for pheasants and from 60 to 75 acres for rabbits, leased from landowners by the Division, has proved to be popular winter havens for wildlife which until bad weather had remained scattered and satisfied to shift for itself. If winter weather continues in a normal fashion rabbits and pheasants in particular will concentrate in these areas until the spring breeding season.

In addition to the natural food supply left in fields throughout the areas as a part of the development project, more than 40,000 bushels of ear corn, harvested from state-owned and Division controlled lands, will provide the necessary wildlife feed if needed.

LET'S STRIKE OUT ALL STRIKES

It is nonsense to say that conflicts between employers in the large industries cannot be adjusted and settled without strikes. The present Labor-Management Relations Act of 1947 became the law of the land and during the year and a half that it has been in operation it has reduced strikes, curtailed many abusive practices and materially assisted in the spread of collective bargaining on an honest basis. The President has been able to reduce several strikes by applying the Taft-Hartley Act, and that goes to show that the measure is an improvement over all previous legislation. Just why anybody wants to dig up the old, cumbersome Wagner Act doesn't make sense. It does make sense to suggest that as a result of a year and a half of operating the existing law, that is can be amended to some extent in order to adjust it more perfectly to conditions that surround workers and employers. No labor legislation should be partial to employers; it should not be partial to employees. All laws are supposed to protect the proper interests of individuals and groups of individuals.

At the present time we have before the Congress a revision of labor laws to make them entirely suitable to union labor. And don't overlook the fact that there are a dozen or more top political labor bosses in the unions who are demanding legislation that will be unfair to the general public.

Isn't it about time that this Government of the United States reverse price trends downward? The labor unions that are bargaining today for new legislation seem to be perfectly aware that there is a downward trend in the general economic conditions of the country.

At the present moment it seems almost impossible for our Federal Government—as rich as it is keep on spending and spending like a drunken sailor. Despite the serious international situation it seems perfectly obvious that so-called labor and capital should get together in order to Save America First.

FORRESTAL

One of the greatest forum's in the United States is the National Press Club of Washington. James Forrestal, Secretary of Defense, was recently the guest luncheon speaker and he revealed the fact that the Armed Forces of the United States had originally asked for $30,000,000,000 for the fiscal year of 1950. This was twice the limit that was later set by the President. Forrestal seemed to agree that this was all right because the conditions last summer and the event of this spring are "entirely different."

Perhaps one man in a million knows the meaning of those vast sums. But Forrestal believes that that World situation has been greatly improved. The Secretary ranks high in Washington and his statement is hopeful.

President Truman's plea for a "planned economy" rather than a "controlled economy" is explained to be a symbol of the Government standing for the welfare of the people.

We all hope that President Truman is right, but he has yet to prove it.

If our Government is worth backing then we must feel with the President that "the welfare of the people" comes first.

The daily newspaper reports of Government and World Affairs indicate that the people of the United States are being very badly treated in their efforts to make this nasty old World of ours "safe for democracy." The top struggle on in the National Capital right now is to make the Nation safe for the Democratic party, and the sectional political groups that elected a Democratic Administration.

The prophets were not right during the campaign but we all hope Forrestal is right when he declares that dangers are lessened and that in consequence President Truman has improved the World situation.

Well, that's a matter of political opinion. We cannot forget that in this time of freedom from World Wars the United States is pouring its resources into foreign countries for the purpose of preventing World Wars. This position of ours is not misunderstood throughout the World, even though Stalin and his Communists slander us every day in the week.

There is a lot to the Forrestal analysis of the situation at this time and if it is a fact that "controlled economy" represents the "welfare of the people" then we can take hope in what these top Government officials have been telling the World through the medium of the National Press Club.

"Hope springs eternal." But do not fail to hope while you pray!

THE NATION'S HIGHWAYS

Every person who drives an automobile knows that there aren't enough good and wide highways for all the cars that hit the roads day after day. Of course there is no question but what we must have good roads. After reading an analysis of these roads from a couple of Associations we admit that we were amazed to learn that at the present time we have over 40 million cars on our highway, and 3 million more are being added every year. Motor cars are heavily taxed and when the money is all turned in to the public treasury there is a surplus that is used for purposes other than maintenance of the highways. The highway associations are kicking against this diversion of automobile taxes that are raised at the gas tanks and other ways, and is then diverted and used for other public purposes.

A SHOWDOWN

We do not believe that President Truman cares very much about Russia except as it interferes in the affairs of the United States and the United Nations. We can't continue to quarrel with Stalin and his people very much longer. That is why we are making a wholesale job in cracking down on the Communists here in the United States. We hope for peace. But do not forget that we are rather safely protected when it comes to a showdown—by the the atomic bomb.

Dave Young knows a man who was overseas for year, and when he returned he met an old friend.

"Are you and Lizzie married?" asked the friend.

"No," confessed the returnee. "The whole year I was away I wrote her a letter of proposal every day. She saw so much of the postman that she married him!"

From Wilson to Wilson

This Washington correspondent has fed-up on Capital Inauguration days since the time of Woodrow Wilson. Several days before the Truman Inauguration I saw the Truman family as they were preparing to wade through the crowds surrounding the Blair House and the White House. Nevertheless our little party persisted on motoring to the Capitol despite the fact that Pennsylvania Avenue was packed. After bucking the crowds, and dodging jaywalkers and automobiles we reached the outskirts of our town, and went home and packed our bags and took the train to New York, arriving just in time for the preview of the General Motors show.

The show was conducted under the title of "Transportation Unlimited," and we heard Charles Erwin Wilson, president of the General Motors, address an audience of thousands upon thousands. He told the "greatest story ever told" about the greatest manufacturing concern in America.

We were interested in the comment of one magazine that reported that the show proved the necessity of "keeping up with the Jones"—because Chevrolet is considered the best cheap car on the market, and King Cadillac leads all the rest of the procession. The new cars are lower and bigger. They have large windows, curving windshields, new fronts axle springs to make steering and riding easier. The seats are wider and all the cars have an abundance of power to ride smoothly over all highways and roads.

We had a sneaking notion that only thing to make automobile transportation easier is more and more roads and highways.

According to President Wilson of Detroit the motors of today have "all it takes" and he declared that he does not expect to see Chevrolets selling again for $500 or $600 in his lifetime.

Say what you like there was more fun and more of a policy in "getting together" in the biggest automobile show that ever happened, than there was in the Inauguration in Washington.

The automobile show was reported by one writer as having "a splendor that betokened velvet glove competition." Of course the object of that show was to sell more and more cars, and with several independents in the field GM is furnishing more than 41 percent of all the new cars that are purchased by the public.

Finally, we repeat that what this country needs is more highways, and they'll have to go pretty fast to make enough of these to match the research, engineering, styling and production of the motor industry.

We are living in an age of "more and better things for more people."

A PERTINENT QUES

In an "open letter" to all Congressmen from Willford I. King of the New York University he says that "presumably, the President believes that the things for which the CIO leaders stand represent the interest of the constituents, and that what is good for the laboring class is good for the Nation as a whole." Mr. King adds that "this line of reasoning probably explains why Mr. Truman feels it appropriate to designate his program "the Fair Deal."

Public opinion does not seem to put the okay on the Labor Bosses. Mr. King makes the further inquiry: "Does the CIO platform really represent the interest of the laboring class? And will the public benefit from the President's proposal to carry it out?"

WATCH YOUR STEP

This Washington Letter is neither an optimist nor a pessimist—because we are the recognized correspondent for over 1,000 newspapers published in communities outside the metropolitan areaas in 48 States. Incidentally there are more readers of Family Newspapers on our list than exist in all the big cities in the country with their dailies.

The United States never had heavier problems on hand than it has right at this moment. We have the atomic bomb which we could drop on Russia and silence its inhuman liars. But we are too good to use it. Nevertheless, the United States is not backing down an inch.

More than that we are spending billions of dollars of money that we need at home to save the World from Communism or a war—a war that we can end very quickly. But we are not in favor of war. We prefer loading new billions of dollars onto American taxpayers in the hope that it will bring about peace.

POOR OLD RAILROADS

We have been privileged to receive a copy of an editorial from the Railway Age which leads off with this illuminating sentence:

"Private business in this country is confronted by the uphill task of preserving itself from starvation brought on by increasing competition conducted by the Government."

Perhaps, the threat to "private business" does really exist. But oldsters who have lived for more than a half a hundred years will never forget how the railroads concocted many, many threats to private business and carried them through to the destruction of all kinds of small competitors—in those long years when the railroads were the king industry.

THE TREND TOWARD

Evidently many cities are moving part of their people to the country. An official statement by the Public Roads Administration issued some time ago showed that Baltimore, Washington and Chicago kept widening their territory until they fanned out into a new radius of 30 miles or more. And the reason explained by the Government bureau is "undoubtedly due to the improvement of the main highways, which have satisfactorily connected the bordering areas with the cities." In 140 cities there was a gain of 2,482,728 people over a ten-year period; but the gain outside the central city population was 2,910,189.

What are we going to do about it? Well, the big merchants open branch stores in all the new areas as new homes pop up from the ground. You can bump into a first-class New York branch store most anywhere you want to drive your car outside of Washington, D. C. But these are only a few of the results that have come since the highways have not been able to take care of the traffic.

We all know that factories are being decentralized and that transportation facilities for workers have been put in operation. But most workers nowadays have their own cars. That helps a lot. On the other hand, millions of people have escaped the confines of the city and moved right out into the country. If they weren't robbed by the real estate men they were lucky.

Well, Norman Gregg, top authority on highway and transportation in Washington has sent us one of his "Down the Road" releases in which he says that "many former urban residents are living within a radius of 20 miles of two cities and commuting to work each day. At the same time, his story says, "Many farmers have obtained jobs in town without even changing residence, or giving up their farms."

It all adds up to what is called "descentralization trends"—which means that the new population living outside the city limits is rural in its location but urban in its employment and thinking; thus commuting has become a regular part of living, making the population more dependent than ever upon automobiles, good roads and city streets. And that's the way the World is wagging—and riding to and from work.

POWERS OF THE PRESI

President Truman has taken the position that he must have more power over the Interstate Commerce Commission, the Security Exchange Commission and other agencies. In other words he assumes that he is IT, and in case of doubt, he plays the Presidential trump card.

What the whole thing means is that in a showdown he has plenty of authority to seek court injunctions terminating such strikes as are covered by the Taft-Hartley Act, and which is erased in the substitute bill now before Congress.

Do not forget the litigation by the Government in 1947 in which John L. Lewis' union was heavily fined and Mr. Lewis forced to order his miners back to the mines.

The trouble with leaving wholesale authority to the President is the danger that he may follow the trail left by President Franklin D. Roosevelt, who twisted the Wagner Act around his thumb and appointed boards and commissions and conciliators and everything else until the labor bosses won their point—and their strikes. The courts were never called upon to settle the strikes.

Congress and the President and Members of his Administration argue backwards and forwards and forwards and backwards about the power of the Federal Government to settle the differences in the labor laws. Well, all they need do is to use common sense—but they don't. That's the trouble.

The Democratic party is bound and determined that it will hold the so-called labor vote at all costs.

The Taft-Hartley Law has teeth in it. The Democratic party is afraid of shadows and that's the reason they want to repeal that legislation.

It's the old, old story of strikes that have run the cost of living to the peaks. The strikers haven't won. The labor bosses won. The employers didn't win because they had to pass on extra top prices of production.

Time and again this correspondent has repeatedly said we have got to protect such safeguards as appear in the Taft-Hartley Act—for the interest of the country at large and as a whole.

Hang the politics and the political game which the Democrats in Congress and the White House seek to load on the public.

We don't need to keep this question before Congress. Congressmen know what it's all about, and they better get going to serve All the People.

DAILY DRIVING

It has been ascertained that motor vehicles in the United States accounted for about 650 billion passenger miles of travel last year—which was an average of about 5,000 miles for every individual in the Nation.

Assuming an average speed of 20 miles an hour (since half of all travel is in urban areas), it means the average person spent about 250 hours last year in motor vehicles. Actually, an average car is driven about 10,000 miles a year—so the driver spends about 500 hours a year in motoring, or about 1¼ hours daily.

UNSOLD GOODS

The dependable News correspondents devote considerable space to show that the boom we have been living through in recent years is on the down-grade. There have been real set-backs in the sale of furniture, bituminous coal and rubber. The drop is terrific in shoes which amounts to nearly 27%. Then comes a slump in cotton consumption of more than 30%; 31% in glass containers and nearly 40% in woolen wearing apparel.

The U. S. News says that for the first half of 1949, business activity will continue high but that for the second half of the year, the down turn is expected to gather speed. Nevertheless, the conservative publication which we are quoting indicates that there will not be a sharp recession or depression this year; a chance will be a downward adjustment that will be moderate.

A FUSSY OLD PROB

In the political mix-up on Capitol Hill in Washington, there has been "rolled in" the no-cart called a "filibuster." In the long past there were many filibusters—mostly since the Civil War and if anyone can tell us how a filibuster can prevent part of the people from voting let him come forward, or forever afterwards shut his mouth! The Constitution and the Declaration of Independence and the victory of the North over the South on this issue all insist that "all men are created equal."

REEB CALENDAR

Friday, March 11th—Assembly Program—Miss Butcher's Class in charge.

Tuesday, March 15th—Educational Films

1:30 P.M.—Little Dutch Tulip Girl.

2:10 P.M.—Little Dutch Tulip Girl.

2:35 P.M.—Children of Holland.

Wednesday, March 16th—9:30 A.M.—Sale of Saving Bonds and Stamps.

The above calendar of the events of the coming week is announced so that our parents and adult friends may plan to come to Reeb to visit us.

—R—

The boys and girls in Room 201 have been taking turns each week to write Alvis Bills, a member of their class, who is confined to his home because of ill health. Thus far, Alma Harp, Kathleen Borders, Orasby Blann, and Russell Ridgeway have mailed him letters.

—R—

The 4A- 5B Class is studying about South America. They were very much interested in the film they saw Tuesday about South America. It showed how the people live, eat, and travel. It showed flowers and fruits of that country. It told that they are not a poor continent but they do not make use of the things they have.

Stanley McWilliams and Jerry Cremeans.

—R—

The children in 109 will lead the Chapel Program on Friday. It will consist of Bible Verses, songs, and the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag. It will end with God Bless America. Jordon Schottenstein will be the announcer.

—R—

The children who do certain chores to help make things run smoothly in Room 212 are:—Alfred McWilliams and Rita Williams are librarians for the Library Room. Betty Lou Stump is librarian for the Reading Circle Books. Elona Sabo and Julia Maxwell keep the book cases dusted and in order. Rosemary Benyi and Irene Bajus keep the Reading Table dusted and up-to-date. Delores Griffith puts up the Savings Stamp Poster on Tuesdays and takes it down on Wednesdays. Arnold Latham empties the pencil sharpener when it needs to be emptied. Doyle Rood and Max Ervin take charge of the Used Sales Tax as the boys bring them in. Jean Davis and Yvonne Byrd do the same for the girls. The children take turns getting the room mail from the office box. Ray Stover is mailman this week. Alfred McWilliams, Jack Boggs, Max Ervin and Richard Stewart have served as mailmen this semester.

—R—

The regular readers of Reeb's School News are aware of the fact that we are constantly, as funds will permit, buying new and better equipment and supplies so that our work may be done in a more efficient manner. We appreciate the challenge which confronts us as school people as we work with our hundreds of boys and girls daily. We know that our Reeb School Home should train for a happy, healthy, and hopeful life.

Because the microphone has come to play such an important part in the lives of all of us, we feel that some microphone experiences should be provided for our pupils. For this reason, a public address outfit has been installed in our auditorium. This was made thru the profits which have come from you folks who have patronized our pop corn sales and have contributed sales tax stamps. We thank you again for your regular help.

—R—

Our annual March Pop Corn Sale is scheduled to start at the close of school, Friday, March 11th with deliveries the following Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday. Please remember that every Reeb pupil, selling pop corn, should carry an official sales blank for you to record your name, address, and number of packages which you wish to purchase. The name of the pupil should be at the top of the blank so that you may easily see with whom you are dealing. Please do NOT pay until delivery is made. All of these precautions are set up so that relationship may be carried on from year to year with just as few difficulties as possible.

Acirema Club Elects

Members of the Acirema Club of the South Side Branch YMCA met recently at the home of Geo. Evans, 1415 Madison Avenue.

At the regular business meeting of the Club, Mr. Robert Krech was elected President to succeed Mr. Evans. Other officers elected were: Mr. Raymond Bethel, Vice President; Mr. William Champion, Secretary, and Mr. Paul Hickman, Treasurer. The Club will continue to meet monthly with social evenings to include the wives of members planned for every other month.

Miss June Barr Marries Kenneth Coe February 5th

Mr. and Mrs. George I. Barr, of 1241 S. Ohio Ave., announce the marriage of their daughter, June Barr Cannon, to Mr. Kenneth O. Coe, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth O. Coe, Sr., 906 S. Front St.

The double ring ceremony took place Feb. 5, at 4:30 p.m. in the office of the Ohio Ave. EUR church with the Rev. Mr. Howard R. Buckley officiating.

The bride wore an informal silk print dress with a matching floral hat. Pinned to her shoulder was a corsage of white carnations.

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Hastings attended the couple. Mrs. Hastings, the bride's sister, wore a silk print dress with a matching floral hat and a corsage of pink carnations.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents.

The bridegroom is associated with the Timken Roller Bearing Company.

The couple is living temporarily with the bride's parents.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold G. Haag, 482 East Sycamore St., was attended by Mr. Keith Swaner.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Haag are former employes of the Ohio Farm Bureau and are now employed by the Farmer Insurance Co. in Los Angeles.

Mr. Haag attended Ohio State University and has been accepted at UCLA to complete his course. They will live in Sherman Oaks, Calif.

"Will you let me kiss you if I give you a penny?" asked the little boy's aunt.

"A penny!" he exclaimed. "Why I get more than that for taking castor oil."

Eagles Sponsor Head Pin Tournament

The fifth annual headpin tournament sponsored by the South Side Eagles will be held two days, March 19-20, at the Arena alleys, 1126 E. Main-st.

Bowling this year will be open to the public with no limit on the number of games. A division will also be held for the women.

Cost is $1 per game. First prize trophy. Second prize is $25, third in the men's division is $50 and a $15, fourth $5 and fifth to tenth $2.50 each. First prize in the women's division is worth $20 and a trophy. Second prize is $10, third $5 and fourth and fifth prize $2.50 each.

Rolling on Saturday will be from 11 a.m. until 11 p.m. and from 11 a.m. until 5 p.m. on Sunday.

Money derived from the tournament, above expenses, will be used to feed needy families.

Japan In Jeopardy

American prestige in the Far East, so high at the end of the war that ordinary G.I.'s were met with hero worship, is slipping. The Orient is in danger of falling into a bitter disillusionment with American democracy.

This is reflected in the Japanese elections. The Conservatives doubled their number of seats in Parliament, but the Communists multiplied their membership by eight—from four seats to thirty-five.

Until SCAP cracked down, a Communist-dominated union controlled the workers and the editorial policy of a Tokyo newspaper with 2,000,000 circulation.

Marxism is also making a determined bid for the intellectual leadership of university youth.

What is America doing about all this?

She has a brilliant administrator in General Douglas MacArthur—now under steady attack by the communists. But we have failed to train our troops there to fight the ideological war. We have failed to give ideological training to Japanese leadership, and especially the leadership of youth and labor.

If the Red Army were in control of Japan it is not hard to imagine the thoroughness and speed with which they would blanket the country with Marxist indoctrination. Why shouldn't the U. S. Army of Occupation tackle the job on the same scale for our democratic faith? This is not just the responsibility of the War Department, but of all of us. There is still time to bring Japanese leadership to America for ideological training and still time to train our own troops.

Japan is the pattern of what all the people of Asia can expect of America. We have paid too high a price in the lives of our loved ones not to follow through now.

Marriage In California Is Of Interest Here

At the Burbank, Calif., home of Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Matthews, on February 4th, the marriage of their daughter, Deborah Jane, to Mr. Harold E. Haag, took place. The double ring service was performed at 7:30 p.m. by the Rev. Mr. Hedgepeth.

The bride was attired in an ankle length gown of dusty rose French lace with lavender blue accessories. She carried a colonial bouquet.

Miss Ruth Matthews was maid of honor for her sister and wore an aqua gown with black accessories, and carried a colonial bouquet.

Thurman Methodist "Journey of Faith"

The religious motion picture "Journey into Faith" will be shown Sunday evening at 8 p.m. at Thurman Avenue Methodist Church. Preceding the film will be a Lenten worship service featuring the choir and a musical program.

This is the second in a series of Lenten Sunday Evening Services at the Thurman Avenue church. The first, held on last Sunday evening, offered the Thurman Players and the pageant entitled "The Challenge of the Cross." It was splendidly done and well attended.

"Journey Into Faith," rated as "Excellent" by the International Council of Religious Education, tells a moving story on the narrative of two men who walked to Emmaus. It appropriately follows the pageant of last Sunday, presenting a real Lenten message. Everybody is invited.

Lenten Services

The Lenten revival services continue each evening at 7:30 and with increasing interest. Inspiring congregational singing is led by Mr. Wm. S. Brown and The Gospel Four provides special music each service. Paul and Eva Hayman, ministers in charge, will use such topics as the following for messages this week: "Jesus Our Perfect High Priest", "Not Your but You," "Truth About Fire," "Just Outside the Door". A warm welcome is extended to all to be refreshed in the spiritual enviroment of these significant services. The time again, 7:30; the place, Parsons and Forest St.; how long, through March 20.

Cooperation Dinner At St. Pauls

With the New Church campaign going full blast and all organizations working hand in hand for the common cause, a new idea was born last week in St. Pauls Church. More than eighty members of the Ladies Aid Dorcas Society of the church were served a hot dinner before their regular meeting. The dinner was prepared and served by. Frank Cherry and Bob Liess, President and Financial Secretary of the Brotherhood. They were aided by the kitchen committee of the men's organization. The dinner was a great success, and at the close, the Church President, Mr. Trautman, gave a brief resume on the progress of the all important Finance and Building Committees for 1949.

Two very important future dates were announced by the Brotherhod Officers the first being March 23 at 8 p.m. in the social hall of the Church. Dr. Miner Seymour will be the speaker of the evening and a round table discussion will follow on the popular subject "Socialized Medicine". The second date is June 11th when the Lawn Fete will be held at Shiller Park. This is a Brotherhood idea, but a Church Function at which all organizations of the Church will be active. All profits derived from this affair will go to the Building Fund of the New Church, which probably will be under construction at that time.

Moose Women's Casserole Dinner

Women of The Moose Chapter 206 will have their regular casserole dinner at the Moose Home at 36 W. Sycamore St., Thursday evening, March 10th, at 6:30. All coworkers are invited.

The regular meeting will be held at 8:00 p.m. following the dinner.

Mrs. Marie Hughes, 33 N. Eldon Ave., Sr. Regent, will preside.

Mrs. Kolaski Honored In Sponsors' Parade

Mrs. Celeste Kolaski, Dayton, Ohio will be the honored guest of Women of the Moose of Ohio at a Sponsor's Day Ceremony to be held at the Southern Hotel Sunday, March 13, with Columbus Chapter as the hostess Chapter.

Mrs. Kolaski will be crowned queen for the day by Mrs. Ines Oliver, State Sponsor Chairman.

The queen's four attendants will be Margaret Collier, Emma Sherrick, and Veda Williams, all of Newark and Reba Hottle, Toledo will honor escorts from Canton. The six little train bearers are Saundra Perry, Melody Reese, Susanne Moore, Judith Tague, Janet Robbins and Patty Ann Globe, all of Columbus.

The various Chapters taking part in the retual work are: Toledo, opening; Canton, balloting; Newark, initiation; Mansfield, endowment fund and Massillon, closing.

Mrs. Marie Hughes, 33 N. Eldon Ave., Sr. Regent of 206 is general chairman and Mrs. Mildred Paul, 480 S. Warren Ave. is the hostess Sponsor Chairman in charge of the event.

St. Ladislaus P.T.A. Meets March 10th

News In The World Of Religion

Church World Service, which acts as the agent of American Protestantism in gathering and administering relief and reconstruction funds and materials overseas, reports that during 1948 it shipped to 40 countries in Europe, Asia, and Africa, on behalf of the churches, food, clothing, medicines, and religious supplies to a total value of $12,280,000. Included in the shipments were more than 37,000,000 pounds of vital foods for war-ravaged and under-privileged peoples; and also 65 prefabricated churches, schools and mission homes for war-damaged communities in Japan.

"Colonial policies which cannot be maintained save by resort to military action are morally bankrupt," says the Social Action Council of the Congregational Christian Churches. "We may not be able to take direct action to halt this use of force by the Netherlands, but we can see to it that the resources of the United States are not made available for such perversion. The equipment being used by the Dutch army was largely made in America. We are engaged in a great project to restore the productive strength of Western Europe, including the Netherlands, and if this strength is to be used, directly or indirectly, for 'police action' against dependent peoples, we stand condemned in the eyes of the world, and especially the eyes of Asia, as the imperialist power we profess not to be. We protest such misuse of American support, and we deplore the opportunity this gives critics of American policy to assert, with reason, that temporary military expediency rather than high moral purpose lies at the base of our foreign policies.

The Methodist Church has been asked to help in the resettlement of 5,000 displaced persons or approximately 2000 family units from Europe in about as many communities throughout the United States. They are part of the 205,000 D.P.'s who are to be bro't to this country during the next two years. Responsibility for the Methodist share in this resettlement has been assumed by the Methodist Committee for Overseas Relief (150 Fifth Avenue, New York City), under the leadership of Bishop Titus Lowe and Dr. Walther P. Warfield. Methodist ministers in some 40,000 communities have been asked to sponsor these persons: to find them homes, churches, schools, & jobs, and to help pay for their transportation from the port of entry to the place of settlement. The plan is to settle each family in a separate community and to have the local church make that family "at home" in the community.

91 Birthdays

On Sunday, Feb. 20th from 2 until 6 p.m., Mrs. Anna Regner of 799 Bulen Ave., held open house for her mother-in-law, Mrs. Sarah Regner's 91st birthday. Mrs. Regner, formerly Sarah Hartung, was born and resided on the So. Side all her life, but for the past year has resided at 30 Latta Ave.

The open house affair was a surprise and she was able to see some of her nieces and nephews for the first time in years. Also present were 21 grandchildren and 21 great grandchildren.

South Side Y Elem. School League

Beck Street proved themselves to be true champions Tuesday at Schiller Park when they downed an all star team 25 to 14.

Captain Ralph Simons took advantage of his size in collecting eight points for the victors. Jerry Dover and Eddie Oakes tossed in six points each. Harold Gix, Kenneth Harris, Robert Daye, and Richard Francis completed the Beck Roster.

David Kochensparger collected twelve of the losers fourteen points. Dave hails from Siebert Street School. The following boys made up he remainder of the all star team: John Otto and Jim Haines from Lincoln; Michael Jones and Ronnie Sauer - Stewart: John McBee and Charles Work man-Southwood; & Don Luzader from Siebert.

The "A" Section all-stars lived up to their name in downing the Southwood Champs 26 to 16.

Norman James from Siebert led the All-Stars in copping fourteen points. Vaughn Jones from Stewart registered six.

Ronnie Woodyard, Southwood southpaw, led the losers with six points, while Ray Hickman accounted for five.

Southwood was represented by Richard Stahr, Ray Hickman, Ronnie Woodyard, Robert Blume, David Huston and Roscoe Watson.

The All-Stars consisted of Gus Hickman and Harold Weatherman from Lincoln; Ray Caulke and Jerry Whalen - Beck: Walter Gwilym and Norman James-Siebert: Pat Griggs and Vaughn Jones-Stewart.

Volleyball Report

The Fornof Girls Volleyball team played its final League game with Clarfield Girls on March 2 at Clarfield. The game was a very interesting and exciting one. The final score was 30 to 27 in favor of Clarfield.

Fornof Girls, however, are the champions of the Township. They won Five of the Six games played A happy and pleasant season was enjoyed by the coaches and girls.

P.T.A. Meeting

Our next P.T.A. Meeting should be very interesting. For our speaker we will have Mr. A. B. Weiser of Canal Winchester, who will tell us how their school is used for a Community Center. The Public is invited.

Mrs. Reed is working on plans for Graduation.

Mrs. Scarberry, the first grade teacher of Fornof school, is now the owner of a new, green, Buick Convertible. She is the envy of the school and everyone is waiting for a chance to ride in it.

Elizabeth Tennant To Wed April 17th

Announcement is being made of the engagement of Miss Elizabeth Marie Tennant, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil L. Tennant, 954 Marion Rd., to Mr. Arden M. Deming, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Deming of Defiance, Ohio.

The bride-elect is a graduate of South High School and is employed at Bonney-Floyd Co. Mr. Deming is a graduate of Tiffin Twp. High School and is a member of the Columbus Fire Dept. The open church wedding will take place April 17 at 3:30 p.m. in the Thurman Ave. Methodist Church.

A Jersey Notion

A sliding scale of rent changes that will raise or lower rents in eight Federal housing projects in Newark, New Jersey according to the incomes of the tenants has been authorized by the area rent director, Michael Pecora, who said his ruling was the first of its kind in the Nation. It affects 3,019 families in the projects whose incomes have risen substantially in recent years.

The Foundation for Economic comments: "This 'first of its kind in the Nation' marks another milestone on the socialism road. First, Government ownership; now this next step in the sequence. The pattern is consistent with the Karl Marx doctrine, which Proclaimed

"In a higher stage of the communist society ... society could write on its banners: From each according to his abilities, to each according to his needs."

According to Economic Education this "Newark Notion" is socialistic, because.

"If this pattern is applied to all industries, each person would be given a share of whatever is obtainable, regardless of how much he produces.

"With incentives to produce thus removed, how much would be produced? We cannot consume more than we produce!"

Fathandler: "Hey buddy, can you share a dime? Man: "What for?" Pathandler: "To make a television call." Man: "I'm following."

THE GOVERNMENT BRANCHES OUT

The National Administration favors the construction of steel plants, regulation of price, wage and rent control—and an endless amount of New Deal legislation. Wheels within wheels turn fast nowadays and the big show in Washington looks like a game to re-establish FDR's policies. This is evident, especially with reference to an attempt to knock the Taft Hartley Act into a cocked-hat and to re-enact parts of the Wagner Act in order to make the new legislation look like a Democrat born child. Re-enacting the Wagner Act is "mud-in-your-eye." Every politician knows that the Taft-Hartley Law proved to be the best labor legislation in all history. Even President Truman of your mouth!" invoked it on a number of occasions, to settle strikes, in and out of the courts.

You might just as well understand that the re-enactment of fresh labor legislation has a single purpose. And that is not a very nice purpose—since it is a bribe to labor Bosses that misrepresent the workers of the country.

Labor laws for workers, employers and the general public are essential. No one will dispute the fact that laws are created to protect all public interests. And that includes putting a harness on political bosses.

"So Dear To My Heart" On At Southland

OLD-TIME SWING. Beulah Bondi and Burl Ives join Bobby Driscoll and Luana Patten in a fast stepping square dance in "SO DEAR TO MY HEART", Walt Disney's brand new Technicolor treat scheduled for the SOUTHLAND THEATRE screen on Sunday. Acclaimed by audiences from coast-to-coast as a grand and entertaining show for all age groups, the film is featured in live action and cartoon. "SO DEAR TO MY HEART" draws morals from progress of the story's boy-hero in his ambitions to win a County Fair prize with his pet black lamb.

"Indian Agent," action-packed Western starring personable young Tim Holt, will be co-featured.

The Southland Theatre is currently showing "Calcutta," a thrill packed melodrama starring Alan Ladd and William Bendix. Rod Cameron has the top role in the co-feature, "The Plunderers."

Booklet Gives Help On Plans For College

COLUMBUS — South High School students now may obtain from their principal a new booklet, "Looking Toward College," giving facts about 45 Ohio colleges.

The free booklet also discusses such questions as "Why Go To College," "Who Should Go to College," "College Entrance Requirements," "Reasons for Poor College Work," "How to Choose a College," and "College Costs."

Editors of the publication are representatives of the Ohio High School Principals Association and the Ohio College Association, with K. H. McFall of Bowling Green State University as chairman.

South Grads To Marry

Announcement is made of the engagement of Miss Mary Jane Crossley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Crossley, 649 Gates St., to Mr. Jerry L. McDaniel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rolland McDaniel, 485 Jenkins Ave.

Miss Crossley is a graduate of South High School and is employed as a stenographer at Household Finance Corp. Mr. McDaniel also was graduated from South High School and is now attending Franklin University.

The open church wedding will be held at the Miller Ave. EUB Church.

"The Eyes of Texas" At Ideal

This Sunday and Monday the Ideal Theater presents "The Eyes of Texas" starring Roy Rogers with Lynne Roberts and the Sons of Pioneers. Here's that triple-threat King of the Cowboys again to thrill you with heart pounding thrills and hoof beat rhythm. The picture blazes a trail of excitement as Roy Rogers flirts with danger and romance. You'll say it is his all-time best. The second picture is "Smart Woman" with Constance Bennett and Barry Sullivan plus news and a cartoon.

Russell Theater Shows Miss Tatlock's Millions

This Sunday and Monday the Russell Theater presents "Miss Tatlocks Millions" with Wanda Hendrix and John Lund. While impersonating the feeble-minded heir to the vast Tatlock fortune, John Lund falls in love with Wanda Hendrix, rightful heiress to the money. The situation is complicated by the fact that they are supposedly brother and sister - a mixup further confused by the nefarious schemes of neglected relatives all greedily scrambling for a share. This fast, furious and frenzied comedy will keep you in a constant uproar. "Frontier Badmen" with Robert Paige and Andy Devine, plus news and cartoon complete the bill. Tuesday and Wednesday there will one complete showing each evening of "Gone With the Wind", starting at 7:30.

Dick Powell At Columbia Theater

The Columbia Theater presents Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, "Rogues Regiment" starring Dick Powell. See Dick Powell and Lovely Marta Toren as espionage agents in this thrilling Foreign Legion Drama. Dick Powell in a jet-powered Role as capturer of the Last of Hitler's gang. Intrigue and Murder in the Tough Foreign Legion. Plenty of action, blazing guns, knives in the Dark and Dick Powell in a New Hit. Also on the bill is "For the Love of Mary", starring Deanna Durbin just the way you like her, singing, romancing her way to happiness. It's a Guaranteed Cure for the blues.

Lucky 35 Club Meeting

Sunday, March 13th, the members of the Lucky 35 Club will meet at the Club Rooms, 323 Woodrow Ave., at 1:30 p.m. to discuss changes in the present by-laws.

Meeting will be followed by a dinner and social hour. President, Ed. Coburn, asks for a full attendance.

Mothers Meeting

Miss Lois Booker, Associate Director of District Nurses, will be the guest speaker at the Mothers Meeting at the South Side Day Nursery Thursday evening, March 10 and speak on "Common Diseases of Children" emphasizing Rheumatic Fever. We know from her being with us a year ago that she has a very winning way which impressed us as well as the timely information she gave us. The social part of the evening will be an Irish Party. The hostesses will be Mrs. Tesi and Mrs. Speakman, with Mrs. Margo, social chairman.

We are still enjoying our February meeting when we had a Valentine Box Social with a professional Auctioneer, a personal friend to some of the group, who auctioned off the beautifully trimmed boxes and made a nice profit for the Mothers Club, who recently purchased a lovely silver Coffee server and perhaps will now add the tray and cream and sugar service for use at Mothers Meetings and other special occasions at the Nursery.

There is a very fine response from the Mothers. One Mother hasn't missed a Mothers Meeting since her children have been enrolled at the Nursery and that covers a period of several years.

"In one Italian city the people go swimming without any clothes on."

"Is that Nice?"

Economic Highlights

There was nothing that was unexpected and little that was new in the President's State of the Union message. He had covered practically all of his points before, during, and after the campaign. Yet the speech came as something of a shock to a good many people—mainly for the reason that this marked the first time that the entire Truman program was summed up in capsule form. The message ran to only 3,500 words or so—but it covered an enormous amount of territory.

Furthermore, this speech, along with other formal and informal statements made by the President since his election, takes the wind out of the sails of those who believed that many of the things he said during the campaign were for vote-getting purposes only, and he didn't really mean them. Regardless of what one may think of the program, that belief did the President an injustice. Even his political opponents are convinced that he means exactly what he says. Thus, so far as he is able, he will put into full effect every campaign promise he made.

It is clear that the Truman "Fair Deal" program outdoes the "New Deal" in almost every particular. It has its roots in principles which were initially laid down by Franklin Roosevelt. But it goes a great deal further—and, if it is adopted in large part by Congress, it will have a far greater influence on American life and custom, and also be immeasurably more costly. That is an obvious fact, whether one likes the program or not.

It is also obvious that there are points of striking similiarity between Mr. Truman's proposed major policies and those of England's socialist Labor Government. A vastly expanded social program is one of these points. So is the development of government power projects. So is compulsory government medical insurance. So is government housing. And so is the proposal that government go into the business of producing basic materials in short supply, such as steel, if private enterprise does not meet a quota which the Administration considers satisfactory.

Bills which would make most of Mr. Truman's proposals laws, are now in the hopper of Congress. But the going will not be easy by any means. The Democratic Party has a wide majority in both branches; the Truman administration has not. The Democratic chairmen of some of the most important committees belong to the conservative wing of the party. The Senators and Representatives from the South are, for the most part, out of sympathy with a majority of their constituents. The Republicans are opposed to most of it. So, in all probability, the President will have to be satisfied with half a loaf. He will get modified versions of most of what he is asking for.

For example, Congress does not view with enthusiasm that additional $4,000,000,000 be raised by new taxes, to be levied mainly on business. Never in history has our economy been so geared to high employment and maximum industrial production. Even a moderate depression would have devastating effects on government revenues, and on our ability to finance European aid, a huge defense program, and similar costly measures. It is clearly in the interest of the government itself to keep the business world in as high a state of confidence as possible. As many economists have been pointing out, in testimony before government agencies, profits are nowhere near as great as mere dollar figures may indicate when present day costs of maintaining and expanding industry are taken into consideration. So, if more taxes are levied, it is very likely that the individual, as well as business, will have to bear a part of the burden.

In any event, it should be realized on both sides of the fence, that the Truman program envisions great and fundamental changes in American life. It is a program which sanctions a more powerful centralized government than we have ever accepted in peacetime—and which must burden in one way or another the daily existence of everyone. It seems certain that Congress will do a great deal of hard thinking before it gives approval to any sizable part of it.

—oOo—

Is the great postwar boom slowing noticeably? There are very definite indications that it is.

Certain industries which could not begin to fill the demand a short while back- such as household appliances have been cutting production. Even in the motor car field, where shortages have been intense, conditions are changing with rapidity. Some types and models of cars—mostly in the higher-priced brackets—are available almost immediately. The market for lowest-priced cars is still strong, but producers believe that an era when cars will have to be pushed to make sales, isn't far off.

Few seem to think a serious economic setback is coming in the near future. But the peaks are leveling off.

Comment on Mr. Truman's legislative program and proposed budget runs the gamut from complete approval to unqualified disapproval. Those who hoped or feared that the President would conveniently forget many of the pledges he made during the campaign no longer have any doubts—so far as he is able, he will carry them out to the last comma. It is clear that he intends, if possible, to cement much power in his hands than he had before, when he was President only because of the accident of his predecessor's death. As an example, it is widely believed that the appointment of Dean Acheson means that Mr. Truman will be his own Secretary of State, as President Roosevelt was. Mr. Truman will establish the policies, and Mr. Acheson, an able administrator, will carry them out. General Marshall, by contrast, made policy on his own hook.

The President' program is largely noncontroversial so far as defense and foreign aid provisions go, except as to details which do not affect the broad principles. So it is the domestic program which occupies the center of the stage. Most people, regardless of which side they stand on, seem agreed that the program marks a new effort to direct American life into channels which once were alien to it.

The essence of Mr. Truman's position is that it is the duty of government both to protect the individual against the exigencies of life through more old-age security, higher minimum wages, compulsory health insurance, etc., and to provide certain commodities and services which formerly were within the realm of private enterprise, such as public power, government steel plants and housing. Further, he believes that government should take a directing hand in almost all matters affecting the economy, on the theory that it can maintain employment and prevent depressions.

To this extent, the Truman program flows with the tides of recent history—it does not go so far as the Labor party has in England, but it is geared to the same kind of philosophies. The opposition has two main points: First, from the economic point of view can such a program be successful; second, what would such a program do to the moral fiber of the people and our representative form of government? William Henry Chamberlin put the case for the dissenters when he wrote: "...Nothing could overcome the stagnation, the permanent recession that would be the result of substituting statism as a main force in production."

Neither those who like the program nor those who dislike it should regard its major points as separate, disassociated things. Its importance lies in it cumulative effect.

WILDLIFE RESTORATION WK.

The week of March 20-26 has been named National Wildlife Restoration Week marking the 12th such annual event sponsored by the National Wildlife Federation with headquarters at Washington D. C.

During Wildlife Week affiliates of the Federation in 37 states as well as other state and local conservation groups will emphasize the importance of restoring and conserving the nation's wildlife resources.

Ohio's wildlife resources are valued at 85 million dollars annually based on 1947 figures which show that hunters and fishermen during that year spent 71 million dollars in pursuit of the state's fish and game which, when added to the actual value of "meat-on-the-table" from fish and game, brought the total evaluation up to 85 millions of dollars.

The National Wildlife Federation each year issues Wildlife Conservation Stamps selling for one dollar a sheet. This year the art work, which includes colored pictures of mammals, fish, birds, trees and wild flowers, is the product of the brush of Walter Weber, noted wildlife artist. Wildlife stamps may be otained from the National Wildlife Federation, 3308 Fourteenth Street, N. W., Washington D. C.

Anglers Will Need New Fishing License Beginning March 1

Approximately 600,000 fishing licenses for the 1949 season have been forwarded to agents throughout Ohio and are now on sale. All persons 18 years of age and over are required to secure a license for fishing and the new license is effective March 1.

Landowners and tenants together with the members of their immediate families are not required to buy a license to fish on lands upon which they reside.

License agents, numbering over 2300, include hardware and sporting goods stores, bait dealers, grocery stores and other merchants. Licenses are available also at township and county Clerk of Courts offices and at all Division of Conservation branch offices throughout the state. The total cost of the resident license is $1.10.

Fishermen will again be required to display the fishing license on an outer garment while fishing, in a badge provided by the State. Although a bill has been introduced in the Ohio Legislature to eliminate the use of the badge it would not, if passed, become effective until March 1, 1950.

Those in favor of the passage of the bill point out that the law requiring the use of the badge in effect since 1940, has been a hindrance to law enforcement officers and also is an unnecessary inconvenience to the fishermen.

Conservation Commission H. A. Rider points out that the fishing license badges cost the Division almost $40,000 annually. The bill to repeal the law, if passed, would furnish enough money in savings to construct a small headwater lake every two years in the state.

Fishing license sales in Ohio last year totaled 931,270 to residents of the State, an increase of 261,657 over the 1946-47 season. Non-resident sales amounted to 28,334. Ohio last year moved into third place in the nation in the sale of fishing licenses. California was in first place with a sale of 1,374,029 and Michigan second with 1,108,510.

Hungarian Benefit Society Buys $100 Bonds

The Hungarian Reformed Sick Benefit Society deserves its well-earned praise for the interest which it has exhibited in its own people when in need. However, Monday the Society extended its good will to South High School through the purchase of stadium bonds amounting to one hundred dollars.

To Wed In June

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Locke of 15 West Beck St., announce the engagement of their daughter, Sylvia Jean Duty, to Mr. Herbert W. Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth W. Anderson, 2829 Osceola Ave.

A June 4 wedding has been planned.

Lorraine Club Meeting

Lorraine J. Pitkin Social Club will meet March 22nd at Sunshine Shelter House at 12:30 p.m. for games and pot-luck. Bring white elephants.

New 1949 Plymouth On Display At Clevenger - Redifer

The completely new and completely different 1949 Plymouth will be on display at your South Side Plymouth and DeSoto dealer, Clevenger-Redifer Motor Sales, 1200 Parsons Cor. Thurman.

Friday and Saturday, March 18 and 19th, stop in and see either "Slim" or "Les" and let them proudly show you the new 1949 Plymouth, that was designed with you in mind.

Find Your Name For Free Dance Ticket

Every Saturday night at the K of P Hall, 697 South High Street, there is both round and square dancing. This is one of the cleanest conducted dances on the South Side. The young people of the south side will find that these dances are an inexpensive evening's entertainment, plus a good time. The fact that these dances are well chaperoned assures parents that their youngsters are afforded with a good time and at the same time are being properly chaperoned. Look in the Classified section and see if you are one of the lucky persons who will receive two FREE tickets to the dance this Saturday Nite, March 19th. Names of the Winners will be scattered among the classified ads. Winners may pick up their tickets at the office of the South Side Booster, 1542 Parsons Ave.

Take your friends to the K of P Hall, 697 South High St. this Saturday for round and square dancing.

Students Nearing Goal-Reach $8,000

In their regular report last Monday of bond sales, South High Students had sold $8,000.00 Stadium Improvement bonds. The students have a $10,000.00 quota.

Mother and Daughter Club

The Mother and Daughter Get-Together Club met at the home of Mrs. Mary Bates, 537 Hanford Street, for an afternoon Luncheon and sewing circle.

Notice

Where's Button?

Has anyone seen a little brown puppy about five months old around their house, or yard? Little Judy Williams of 257 Southwood Ave. came in to tell us her dog is lost.

The puppy is a female with short brown hair, a long tail; it has a white vest and little white paws.

Judy is very worried about her little dog, as she said it has been sick and without proper care it may die. The puppy's name is "Buttons." If you see "Buttons" or know of anyone who has, please be kind enough to call GA 7300 and Judy will be right there to get her.

Inspect Pianos Before You Buy

Mr. William Cook of 573 East Whittier St., suggests that before you buy a piano you have him or some other qualified piano tuner inspect the piano before you buy.

Far too often the piano may be in such condition that it can not be repaired or tuned.

Have an expert examine before purchasing. They will inspect the piano without charge.

Grandmothers Club Meeting

The Grandmothers Club No. 2 will meet on March 22 at 53½ E. Gay St., at 1:30 p.m. instead of at two o'clock. There will be a short business meeting followed by a sewing bee. Bring a friend, also your scissors, needle and thread and small scrap of material, as we are making sewing kits to raise money for this unit. For further information, call Mrs. C. M. Skipper, Phone MA 9-4833 or FA 6889.

Adult Group Makes First Announcement

Small Business, Industrial and Alumnus reach $1,500.00. The total amount to be raised for the South High Stadium Improvement Bonds is $20,000.00, of which this group's quota is $10,000. The Small Business, Industrial and Alumnus have raised $1,500.00. While this looks small, these groups have waited purposely on their solicitation to give the students a chance to raise their quota, which a $10,000.00.

St. Patricks Dance At Southway

Southway Post will hold its annual St. Patrick's Dance Thursday night, March 17th. Music will be furnished by Jerry Van's Orchestra.

Morrey Maggied Back In Business

Mr. Morrey Maggied wants his friends and former customers to know that he is back in business, after seven years absence, part of which was spent in the armed forces. His business, which will be known as the M & D Auto Parts Co., will be located in the same place as he was previously at 509 Livingston Ave.

Mr. Maggied has remodeled and put various improvements on the building.

The M & D Auto Parts Co. will carry a complete line of Auto Parts and accessories for all types of cars. Practically every car need can now be had at the new place.

Morrey Maggied is well known and remembered as a former athlete and is now devoting his time to officiating at various sports events in and around the city. He has many friends on the South Side as he has lived in the vicinity of Parsons and Livingston Ave., practically all his life.

Don't forget Morrey's back in business again, at the same location and he is anxious to renew both business and social acquaintances. Drop by and see him some day.

Church Wedding Is Planned

Announcement is made of the engagement of Miss Mary Lewis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur F. Lewis, 1245 Oakwood Ave., to Mr. Donald R. Fouts, son of Mr and Mrs. Ralph Fouts, 2192 Hamilton Ave.

Miss Lewis attended So. High School and Sacred Heart Commercial School. Mr. Fouts attended Linden McKinley High School and is employed at the Columbus Coated Fabrics Co.

The wedding has been planned for March 20 at Gates-Fourth Methodist Church.

Hungarian Dramatic Club

The Hungarian Dramatic Club is announcing one of its semi-annual plays to be given Easter Sunday, April 17th, 1949, at 8 p.m. The name of the play is "Leany Vasar" and is a musical comedy.

Thurman Ave. W.S.C.S. Meetings

The Women's Society of Christian Service of Thurman Ave. Methodist Church, Unit 5, will be hostess to the Links of The South Side Settlement at the church under the leadership of Mrs. F. W. Deckerson and will be assisted by the Links.

On Family night, March 17th, at 8:00 p.m. the W.S.C.S. will have a their guest speaker the Rev. Glen Copeland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Copeland. He will talk on the Experiences at World Council of Churches meeting in Europe.—Devotions, Miss Virginia Barch, Chairman of Hostesses will be Mrs. Jennie Adams.

Central Alumni Silver Anniversary

1924 graduates of Central High school have made plans for a silver anniversary banquet May 5th at Ft. Hayes Hotel.

The Committee helping promote the reunion urges ALL members of this the last class of the city's first high school to attend. Register NOW with Mrs. Margaret (Elzey) Ambrust, McClelland's Book Store.

Except for twenty members of the class all have been personally contacted. Any of the class knowing the present address of other members of the class of 1924 are asked to call Mrs. Mary (Nied) Schultz, MA 7861, Mrs. Ruth (Smith) Kasler, FR 8-5718 or Mrs. Mary (Roth) Ciminello UN 2078.

March 27th will be a red letter day for Columbus, for on that day it's newest will officially enter the city. Station W L W - C will televise their first program. Starting on March 17th a test pattern (or service pattern) will be on the air to enable owners of television sets to adjust their set for proper reception to receive their first television program on Sunday, March 27th.

The people of the South Side may be proud of the Radio and Television Dealers in their Community. These dealers have been working for a number of months to be ready for this important day. Thousands of dollars have been spent in new equipment for testing and installation of television sets. New trucks have had to be purchased to carry this equipment to the points of installation. Men have had to be trained and many of your South Side dealers have sent their men to school to train for this new line of work. Nothing has been left undone to assure their customers of the finest and most efficient service available.

In this issue of the South Side Booster, you will be able to acquaint yourselves with the dealers in your community who are now ready and qualified to show and demonstrate practically every Nationally advertised television set on the market.

Routine Of Housewife Revolutionized By Viedo; Dishes, Cooking Eating Planned To Fit Shows

BY PHYLLIS DUERR
Daily News Staff Writer

Gone are the days when the housewife could take all day to do her housework. Goodbyes have been said to meals served right on the dot. Don't despair. Smile and look forward to this new era. It's called television.

So you're one of those people who say, "Well, I'll be darned if television is going to disrupt my schedule."

Don't say it aloud for we're sure to add: "That's what you think."

Take the case of Mrs. Amos Petit. Mrs. Petit is an average housewife. She does her own washing and ironing, cooks all the meals and generally looks after her husband and teen-aged daughter, Julie. Mrs. Petit was like most of us.

Her day was full of the business of keeping her home on Aberdeen av. spic and span, serving hot meals on time and well Mrs. Petit can tell you all about television in the home. Here's her story:

DINNERS ARE RARELY on time. She can't drag Amos and Julie away from the living room long enough to eat. When she does manage, nine times out of 10, they'll end up eating dessert in front of the set.

"I've given up trying," she said. "And lately I've been right beside them while they watch."

Mrs. Petit is a wise woman. She knows when she is beaten. She's accepting defeat gracefully.

Besides she likes television as well as they do.

TAKING MRS. PETIT as our example we'd like to point out a few more advantages to having a television set in the home.

"Advantage?" did we say? Well Mrs. Petit thinks so. Later meals give her a chance to rest before plunging into kitchen tasks.

Going on with advantages—think of the budget. TV is easy on it.

Take entertainment. On this score Mrs. Petit gave us a few words.

"We used to go to the movie several times a week," she said. "We talked about it just the other night. Do you know we haven't been to a movie for over a month?"

Mrs. Petit isn't counting the movies they see on their set. The Petits get a bang out of the films. Even oldies like "Four Feathers" and "Katherine the Great." Julie was so impressed by the "Katherine" movie she went to the library the next day and took out the book.

"HOW DO YOU GET kids out of the house for some fresh air when you have a set?" inquired Mrs. Petit. "Ever since we've had it, Julie comes rushing home from school to see the late afternoon programs."

Before the advent of the afternoon serials and puppet shows, Julie "rushed" home to get her homework out of the way. She wanted her evening free for TV.

Mrs. Petit "rushes" to get her housework done in the morning or at least by early afternoon. She doesn't want anything to interfere with her TV viewing.

Mrs. Petit takes as much kitchen work as possible into the living room. Often you'll find her shelling peas, scraping carrots or drying dishes with one eye on the screen.

"Television is wonderful," she said. "I used to spend time trying to get someone to help with the dishes. Now everyone pitches in so we can hurry back to the set."

"I'M SEEING so many things I've never had time for before," she continued. "Do you know I'd never seen a boxing match until WHIO telecasted the Golden Gloves? They're wonderful."

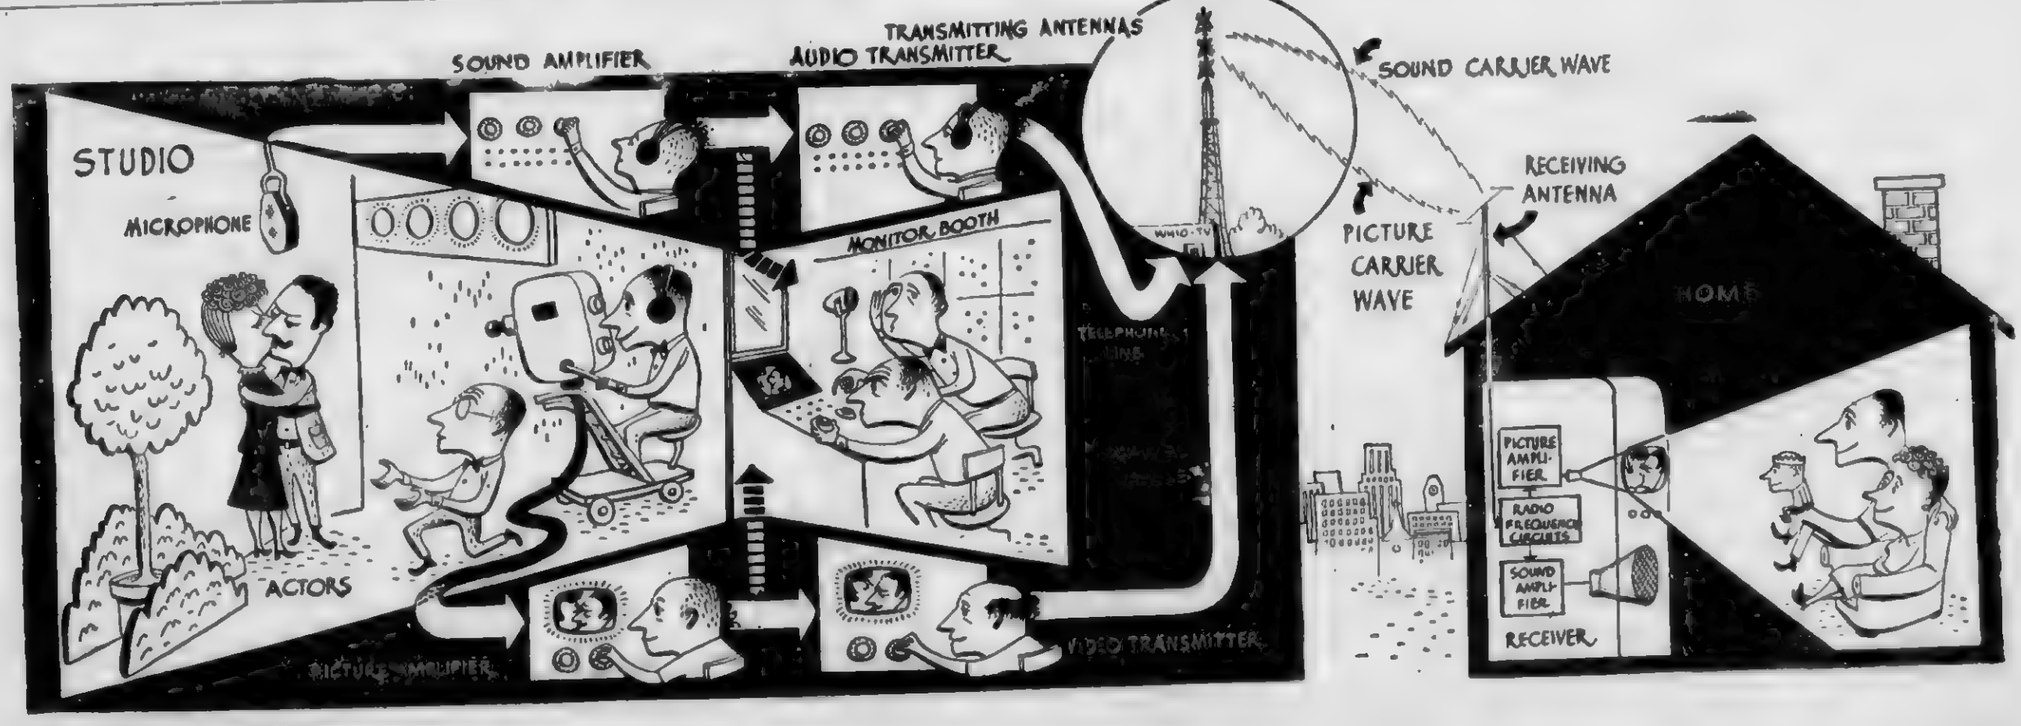
Mrs. Petit recently saw her first wrestling matching on TV. She's hoping soon to see local basketball games on television.

"I never knew sports could be so interesting," she said.

Don't turn your set on when you have company, Mrs. Petit warned. Many night when they've invited friends in for cards or "just talk," plans are forgotten as guests and the Petits get engrossed in television.

"It's a new lease on life," said Mrs. Petit.

Recently she was confined to the house following a tooth extraction.



"Didn't mind it a bit," she said. "I busied myself about the house or read until television came on. Then I was really happy."

Mrs. Petit is waiting impatiently for telecasts all afternoon. She's hoping to see a lot of household hints and quick tricks for the woman at home.

"I'd love to learn tatting or maybe some of the trickier sewing on TV," she added.

Afraid we've found an addict in Mrs. Petit. She doesn't know how she lived before they got their set.

"Even the commercials are interesting," she declared.

Judge Frank Bowers To Address Chosen Parents League

The general public is invited on Monday, March 21, to hear Judge Frank Bowers, of Urbana, presiding Judge of the Probate Court of Champagne County, who will be held at the Southern Hotel at 8:30 guest speaker for the Chosen Parents League. The meeting will be p.m.

This group of people, vitally interested in matters of child welfare in Franklin County, have invited this very popular judge to speak on adoptions and child welfare in his county. It will be interesting to see how the numbers of adoptions and placements in Champagne County compare with those in Franklin. At this time it is hoped to start the nucleus of similar groups in the surrounding counties throughout the State. Many matters of legislation pertaining to welfare matters, especially those concerning the child, are pending, and this noted Judge will have much to offer to the general picture.

All those interested in child welfare are urged to attend this meeting and keep abreast of the legislative times in our State.

Ray Evans, Jr. At Lions Club

Ray Evans, Jr. spoke at the Lions Club at their weekly meeting, Tuesday. Ray, Sr. and Ray, Jr. hold the unique position of being one of two father and son combinations of cartoonists on any major paper in the U.S.A. Both father and son are with The Columbus Dispatch, and both are quite famous in their own right, throughout the land as excellent cartoonists.

Final service of the revival campaign. Special music. Message, "Just Two Ways About It."

The revival services continue each evening through this week at 7:30, both the interest and attendance at these meetings having increased since the start on March 6. A fine group of adults have sought and found Christ as personal Saviour as well as a number who have been rewarded with a deeper work of divine grace. An earnest invitation is extended to all to attend the warmth and power of these services that close the evening of March 20th.

South Side Dealers Television Service

free demonstrations and each invite you to stop in and see television in operation.

If you want to enjoy the opening day ceremonies in your home, on your own television set, stop in and order your set without delay. This will allow your dealer ample time to install and adjust your set to the tests pattern for perfect reception.

It will be to your advantage to visit your television dealer here on the South Side. Don't forget, he is prepared and trained to give you the service you want. He is handling Nationally advertised sets, these sets are fair trade items and the price is the same regardless of where they are purchased. He can give you terms to suit your budget even allowing you as long as 21 months to pay.

Your television set is only as good as the installation and the service that is behind it and you may be assured that the dealers represented here today are fully prepared to give you the best in service and installation that can be offered. Buy from these dealers with confidence. They have the finest sets, the trained personnel, and the equipment necessary to install your television set to give you the utmost in satisfactory television reception.

Here are a few of the common questions and answers pertaining to television.

Some of the most frequently asked questions concerning television for the average home, are listed below. With them are the answers, the most complete the industry can offer at present.

QUESTION—What is the best ratio between size of screen and viewing distance?

ANSWER—The best viewing distance for television pictures is between four and six times the height of the picture.

QUESTION—When color television comes in, will it render early receivers obsolete, or can they be converted?

ANSWER—Color television systems based on present experimental types will not give color pictures on regular black-and-white sets. These sets, however, will give black-and-white pictures of the color transmission. It may be possible to have an adapter to add color to these pictures.

QUESTION—Must each individual television set have an individual antenna or can a group of people in an apartment house have one mutual antenna?

ANSWER—Television sets can be operated in combination from the same antenna, but the installation is more exacting than that for standard broadcasting, and may not be completely satisfactory.

QUESTION—Are units available to convert a radio set to television?

ANSWER—Converter units were sold before the war to give television pictures while using the audio and speaker part of the standard radio for the accompanying sounds. They may be available in future lines but since the audio and speaker system is such a small part of the cost of a complete television receiver these converted units cannot be very much cheaper than a regular set.

QUESTION—Can television sets be hooked up on regular radio antennas?

ANSWER—Television sets will not operate properly except with antennas designed for that service.

QUESTION—Does it cost much to operate a television receiver?

ANSWER—The largest television receiver sets use about half as much electricity an hour as a 600-watt electric iron.

QUESTION—Is it necessary to darken the room to watch television?

ANSWER—It is not necessary to have the room in total darkness to watch television. As long as direct sunlight or bright artificial lights are not falling directly on the screen, satisfactory results are obtained. Television is less critical of exterior lighting than home movies or regular motion pictures.

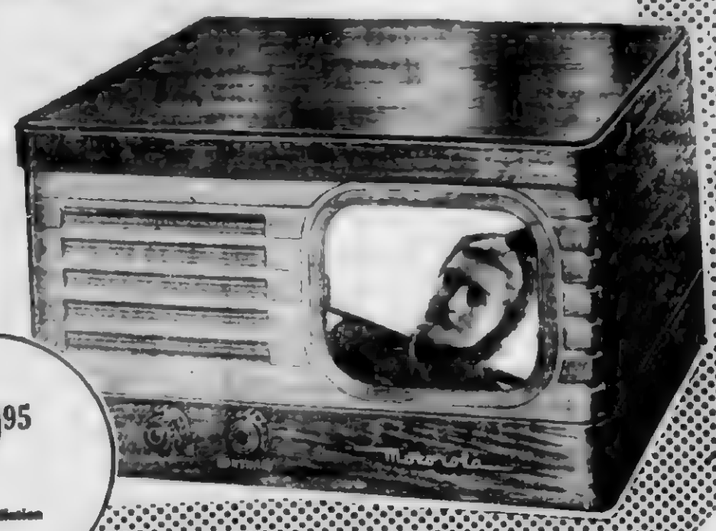
QUESTION—Are television sets difficult to tune?



ANSWER—In many homes, six-year-old youngsters tune television receivers. Most of the necessary adjustments are made when the set is installed so that it is necessary only to turn the set on, switch to the channel of the station you wish to receive and adjust brightness and contrast to suit your individual taste. Controls are usually clearly marked and a detailed instruction booklet comes with most sets.

St. Leo's P.T.A. To Have Addresses

A treat is in store for all the sons and daughters of St. Patrick and all his friends at the meeting of St. Leo PTA Thursday, March 17, 7:30 p.m.,—one that will be interesting as well as educational. Most of us are familiar with the excellent work of the Fire Dept. Emergency Squad in the preservation of human lives, and now we will have an opportunity to see them demonstrate their methods at this meeting. Added interest will be short address on Scouting by Mr. Frank Hess, assistant Scout Executive of the Central Ohio Area Council.

Congratulations to the fourth grade for winning the attendance prize last month!

South To Conceal Their Thermometer

The South High School bond drive thermometer says $8,000.00. From here on in, the thermometer will be concealed as the school is sponsoring a guessing contest.

The contest was started as an incentive for the students who have not as yet sold one bond.

A student must sell one bond before he is eligible to enter his guess on how many bonds have been sold by April 1. The closest guess will win the prize of a $10 school bond.

The bond winners for the past two weeks have been Jean Warner and Diane Wiegerig having sold eleven and five bonds respectively.

Adult Group Reports $3,150

Small Business, Industrial and Alumnus report a total of $3,150.00 for the South High Stadium Improvement Bonds. The quota for this group is $10,000.00.

Some Irishman!

Last Thursday the people of Irish descent were all supposed to wear green.

The Booster's advertising manager, Walter Tompkins (of Irish descent) reported for work wearing a maroon shirt and a bright red sweater.

Seems he forgot St. Patrick's Day.

Some Irishman!

Frank's Cafe Features Television

Frank's Cafe, 431 Marion Road, just east of Parsons, have installed R.C.A. Television in their popular cafe, adding another feature to the many they offer the people of the South end. Also installed and ready to play is that popular American sport, shuffleboard, which has been creating much excitement in the east. With these two new added features, it makes Frank's Cafe one of the finest places to visit on the South Side, for complete relaxation and an enjoyable evening. They feature fine foods, served the way you like them, beer, wines and liquors. Stop in today at Frank's Cafe, enjoy the television at its finest, play shuffleboard with your friends and have an enjoyable time.

Drivers License Warning

Frank M. Quinn, State Registrar of Motor Vehicles is warning all drivers of motor vehicles who do not have 1949 drivers licenses that the last day for the renewal of 1948 drivers licenses is March 31, 1949.

All operators of motor vehicles not having a 1949 drivers license are liable to arrest; and, if the 1948 licenses are not renewed before April 1, they will have to apply for a temporary instruction permit and take a drivers examination in order to get a 1949 license.

If in doubt about your situation, consult your local Deputy Registrar.

You can get your license from J. E. Powell, 1086 Oakwood Ave.

Silver Spade Given To Kaefer

Presented to Reverend Paul C. Kaefer, by Church President Ed Trautman in brief but all important ceremony recently was a beautiful Chromium Plated Spade, a gift of Mr. Ray Davies and friends of the Moose Lodge. The Spade will be used by Reverend Kaefer in ground breaking ceremonies on May 1, 1949, after which it will be engraved and placed in a glass case to occupy a place of perpetual honor in the vestibule of the New Church Building.

Red Cross Drive To End Friday

Another Red Cross drive was concluded in Franklin County at 6:30 p.m. Friday.

The Victory Dinner, ending the 1949 campaign, for a $296,700 quota for all volunteer Red Cross Hotel for all volunteer Red Cross workers and for any interested Franklin County citizens.

William A. Scheurer, 1949 Drive chairman, presided to receive the reports from division chairmen and, as usual, a special program was held to mark the conclusion of the drive.

Widowed Mother Needs Lost Purse

Will party who found purse (black bill fold) on or about February 19th please return it. This bill fold was lost by a child while the Mother was in the hospital. The Mother is a widow and lives on a widow's pension. There are six children in the family ranging from five to 13 years old. This loss has caused great hardships to this family, as the money contained in the purse was the pension money for the month of February. There was also identification papers, which are of value to the Mother. Some pictures were also in the purse. Although some time has elapsed since the loss of this purse, this is the first opportunity the Mother has had to try to locate it. The money is desperately needed. If you found, or if you have information in regard to anyone who did find such a purse, please contact GA 71221.

Bobb Chevrolet Celebrates 25th Anniv.

The Bobb Chevrolet Co., 621 Parsons Ave., your South Side Chevrolet dealer, are this week celebrating their 25th Anniversary. The Bobb Chevrolet Co. was established in 1924 and have for the past quarter of a century given the people of the South Side, fine service and quality guaranteed workmanship that is second to none in the automotive business. They're holding their 25th Anniversary Jubilee, this Thursday, Friday and Saturday, March 24th, 25th, and 26th.

Mr. Bobb extends a hearty welcome to everyone to stop in and compare the 1924 Chevrolet with the present 1949 Chevrolet and convince yourself that the new Chevrolet is the most beautiful buy of all. There will be souvenirs for all and a grand prize of a new Chevrolet. Stop in today, tomorrow or Saturday and help them celebrate 25 continuous years of selling and servicing Chevrolets. Remember it's the Bobb Chevrolet's 25th Anniversary at 621 Parsons Avenue.

Monte Can Have Visitors

Monte Beaver, who has been athletic director at Schiller Park for many years is now well on the road to recovery from a heart attack suffered several weeks ago.

Monte lives at 1372 City Park Ave., and it would be nice if his many friends would stop and see him.

He says that it especially means his boys, who were under him at Schiller Park.

Contest Is Held By Students

A contest is being conducted by the Students of South High School in connection with the Stadium Improvement Bond Drive. The total amount that the Students have raised will not be announced until after they have reached the $10,000.00 goal.

Some Fish Story!

Tommy Smith, popular Swan Grill mixologist recently returned from Jacksonville Beach, Fla., where he spent a delightful three weeks fishing.

Rumor says he caught a sea bass so large he couldn't get it in the boat. So he drug it up on the beach and loaded it in a truck.

It is now, according to rumor, in the Swan refrigerator but when we asked to see it we got the run around.

We are not sure whether this was Tommy's imagination or whether he just dreamed up a good fish story.

But to us (while we have seen them that large) a 350 pound sea bass, which rumor says Tommy caught, has to be seen before we believe it.

Bag 33 Crows

John Sabo and Cline Dailey prominent South Side hunters recently went crow hunting near the Big Walnut power plant of the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Company.

They bagged 33 crows in one day. Crow hunting is open the year around.

Both Sabo and Dailey are members of the Ideal Sportsman Club, 1575 Parsons Ave.

The club is looking for new members and invite sport-minded people to their meetings on the second and fourth Friday of each month 8 p.m.

Junior Baseball League To Start

Service Keynote At Snedeker's

Snedeker's Grocery, one of the South Side's most progressive grocery stores, opened its' doors for business in one small room 13½ years ago. Hard years of work saw the little one room store starting to expand until today it is one of the finest stores in our community with many complete departments under the same roof. They now have a confectionery department, an excellent lunch counter, where many of the business people eat their noon lunch. They also have a hardware, drug, electrical and paint department. Every service possible has been added for the convenience of their customers. They have delivery service day and night until 10:30 P. M. A phone call will bring your order to your door. While you are at the store you may pay your gas, light and telephone bills. In order to save you a trip to the post office they will also write money orders.

Every individual usually has a specialty, at Snedekers it's their delicious Home Made Ice Cream which people come for miles around to buy.

Mr. Snedeker is a civic minded member of the community. He is a member of the Lions Club, Chamber of Commerce, The Ralph E. Rickley Masonic Lodge and the Scottish & Shriners.

Siebert St. School A Fire Trap

Members of the P.T.A. of Siebert Street Elementary School, of 385 Reinhart Ave., are circulating a petition to be presented to the Columbus Board of Education for immediate elemination of fire hazards at that school.

We personally visited the Siebert School and found in the basement hot water tanks improperly shielded and wood piled close to these tanks, making them a fire hazard.

Going up to the first floor preparatory to going to the second floor, we found very narrow wooden stairways with treads in many cases half worn through.

We personally took occasion to try to find a fire escape, and imagine to our surprise—in this fire trap we found not one fire escape!

If ever a fire broke out in this 75-year-old structure, there would be enough funerals of innocent children and teachers to set all Columbus to shame and leave a long list of grief-stricken parents.

Going to the abandoned third floor of the Siebert Street School, we find that it has degenerated into a pigeon roosting place with dust on the floor at least an inch thick. This could easily cause an explosion due to spontaneous combustion.

Your Editor contacted Safety Director, C. C. Cole, at the City Hall and he has promised an immediate inspection and ordered the proper repairs of this dump—called a school.

Next, we contacted Geo. Roudebush, Supt. of Columbus Schools, and he said he would see that the third floor and basement were cleaned up.

Your Editor said how about either fire escapes or new fire-proof stairways? Roudebush replied that Siebert St. School will have to wait until the summer of 1950 for repairs.

In the meantime, a bad fire in the Siebert School might cost dozens of innocent children's lives.

Does the Board of Education take the same position that beings it's the South Side that we can wait?

If it does, maybe they might wake up the next time they want a Bond Issue passed that the South Side will know it under.

Annual Coffee Social

Sunday, March 27, from 3 until 5 p.m., St. Ladislaus Altar-Rosary Society will give their Annual Coffee Social in the school hall at 277 Reeb Ave. Everyone is welcome and an enjoyable time is assured all together with an abundance of good food and coffee. The tickets are fifty cents and may be procured at the door. Mrs. Jos. Persichetti is the General Chairman.

Schoeding Talks To Scouts

George Schoedinger endeared himself to the hearts of several more South Side Boys last week, when he took time off from his very busy schedule as Funeral Director, to lecture the Scouts of St. Paul Church on his hobby of Bird Life. He answered all questions quickly and so completely that it was plainly evident he is an expert on his hobby.

Before showing full color slides of all the native Ohio Birds, the group of Thirty Scouts and Leaders was joined by the Finance Committee of St. Pauls, and they too expressed satisfaction at the novel program.

Just before closing the meeting, Mr. Schoedinger surprised us all, by playing records of Bird Songs. This was one of the most interesting programs presented the Scout Troop, and Joe Brockmeyer of St. Leos Church deserves much praise for his efforts as member of 77 Troop Committee in contacting Mr. Schoedinger.

The first meeting of Parents of the New Cub Pack at St. Pauls was held last Friday Night in the Church with a large crowd in attendance. Two more meetings will be held on consecutive Friday Nights, after which the New Cub Pack will be Chartered. It is open to all interested boys between 9 and 12 years of age. Full particulars can be obtained by calling the Parsonage of Rev. Kaefer.

South Side Library To Have Discussions

South Side people who are interested in joining a Great Books discussion group should inquire at the Parsons Avenue Branch Library, 1124 Parsons Avenue, or phone them at Garfield 2674.

Leadership training courses for the Great Books program will begin March 25, 1949, at 8 p.m., at the Columbus Public Library, 96 South Grant Avenue, and will meet each Friday until May 20.

Discussion groups of twenty to thirty persons will be organized after the completion of the leadership course. Each discussion group will meet twice monthly to discuss certain great books and their application to modern life. Copies of these books may be examined at the library.

The Great Books Program in Columbus is being sponsored by the Librarians Council of Franklin County.

Bake Sale

Twig 81 of Children's Hospital will hold a bake sae at Krauss Hardware Store Thurman and Jaeger St., Saturday, March 26, from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m., for the benefit of Children's Hospital.

Here is a chance to get some good home made cakes and cookies, etc.

Help Send A Boy To Camp

Housewives in this community will be given an opportunity during the next two weeks to help boys earn their way to YMCA camp. Many boys throughout the city will be selling a useful item in the form of a plastic clothes pin — an article of which every home is in continuous need.

It is a well known fact that boys appreciate most things for which they have put forth some effort to achieve. It is important that they have a chance to earn all or part of the cost of their camping. Thousands of boys thruout the nation have been given this opportunity in the past through the sale of this item now being introduced in Columbus thru YMCA groups.

It is hoped that the people of this community will give these ambitious campers an opportunity to demonstrate their salesmanship and encourage them in their effort to be self-reliant.

For further information, parents or boys may call the YMCA AD. 1131.

Rudolph Evjen To Speak At Southwood

The Southwood School, will have a Father and Son meeting at the school, March 25th at 8 p.m. A play by four students of the South High Dramatic class will be given. Rudolph Evjen, Executive Sec'y. of the Comm. Fund will be the speaker of the evening.

Geo. N. Eichenlaub Funeral Today

Mr. George N. Eichenlaub, 1833 S. High St., Columbus, Ohio, died Sunday, March 20, of a heart attack at the age of 82. He was born in Port Washington, Ohio, June 16, 1866.

He is survived by wife, Anna; two sons, George B. Eichenlaub, 895 Linwood Ave., Columbus, Ohio, and John Eichenlaub, San Jose, Calif.; two daughters, Mrs. Frances Distelhorst, San Jose, Calif. and Mrs. Helen Devereaux, Benson, Arisona; four grandchildren and three great-grandchildren; one brother, Louis P. Eichenlaub; two sisters, Mrs. Laura Russell and Mrs. Susie Wheaton.

He was a charter member of Southgate F & A.M. No. 692 and was active until his death. He belonged to Craftsman Club, Temple Chapter R & A.M. No. 156, Masonic Veterans Assoc. of Ohio & Cedar Camp No. 1 W.O.W.

Mr. Eichenlaub was active in the business district of the South Side for over fifty years. He owned and operated one of the first bread bakeries in Columbus, the Empire Bakery. He pioneered the the first complete automotive parts & accessory service stations in the South Side. He retired from active participation in business three years ago.

Masonic funeral services were held Wednesday night at 7:30 at the Funeral home. The burial services will be held Thursday afternoon at 2:00 at Greenlawn Cemetery.

Lions To Restore Man's Sight

The Southeast Lion's Club are making arrangements for the operation on the eyes of a 71 year old South Side man to restore his sight.

This man is to have cataracts removed from both eyes.

After the operation he is expected to be able to see again.

Money for sight savings, such as cases as this, are raised by the saving of tax stamps.

You too can help with this case or many other cases of sight saving by turning your sales tax stamps into the South Side Booster, 1542 Parsons Ave. or placing them in the Lion's Club boxes in many stores thruout the South Side.

Rummage Sale

A Rummage sale will be held at St. Stephens Community House located at 379 Barthman Ave. on Saturday, March 26th by the Women's Club of United Commercial Travelers. The public is welcome

St. Paul's to Build New Addition

Is Your Name Among The Winners?

Free Dance tickets for the Round and Square dances being held at the K of P Hall may now be had by finding your name listed among the ads on the Classified page of the South Side Booster.

Each Saturday' Night dances are held at the K of P Hall, located at 697 South High Street. They have both round and square dancing and they are really a lot of fun. For the square dancing they have an excellent caller. If you are a beginner at this type of dancing have no fear, everyone is friendly and willing to help you through. Before you know it you are dancing the square dances like an old timer. Parents may feel safe in letting the young people attend these dances as they are properly managed.

Starting this week each person will be given a ticket for a chance on a $500 deep freeze to be drawn as a door prize at a later date.

Watch for your name in the paper. Your tickets may be picked up at our office, which is located at 1542 Parsons Ave.

ONE of the oldest churches in South Columbus, St. Paul's Evangelical and Reformed, 225 E. Gates St, will construct a new addition at a cost of $90,000.

The new addition will include an auditorium and social hall and will adjoin the present church building.

The Rev. Paul C. Kaefer, minister, said the new auditorium when completed would seat around 420 people. The auditorium in the present building seats 225, he said. When the new addition is completed, the old church will be used for Sunday school rooms and a youth center. Before the congregation purchased the present building approximately 80 years ago, it was owned by the German Gun Club.

Ground for the new addition will be broken in May.

A campaign to raise funds for the building program is now being conducted at the church, a congregation of about 600.

Working on the campaign are Charles Henderson, chairman of the finance committee; Paul Newsang, treasurer of the building fund; Fred Schwarz, chairman of the building committee; E. G. Trautman, president of the church, and the Rev. Mr. Kaefer.

Lincoln Park P.T.A. Meeting

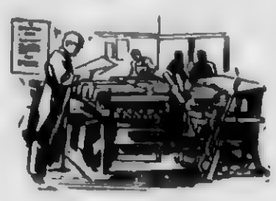
The monthly meeting of the Lincoln Park P. T. A. will take place March 24, at 1:30 p.m. Child health is the topic of the day, with Mrs. Belknap giving a talk on dental hygiene. Miss Carmichael's class will present a little skit, and Mrs. Sahler's class will provide the musical entertainment.

Girl Scout Pins Given

At the regular meeting of the Girl Scout Troop 218 held March 15 at the home of the leader, Mrs. Beatrice Wolf, 781 Columbus St., the ceremony for the pins was performed.

Pins were given to Assistant Leaders, Mrs. Stella Bierberg, 987 East Mound St., and Mrs. Jean Ann Shaeffer, 854 Carpenter St., and to the following girls: Sandra Marshall, 783 South 18th St., and Phyllis Meeker, 840 Livingston Ave.

At the close of the ceremony, Miss Charlotte Wolf, 781 Columbus St., was entertained to a birthday party.



Refreshments were served.

Girl Scouts Entertain Mothers

Girl Scouts of Heyl Avenue School entertained their mothers at the Annual Girl Scout Tea on Thursday, March 10, in the school auditorium. This tea was sponsored by the Heyl Avenue Neighborhood Girl Scout Leaders and Mothers Association, of which Mrs. Ella Tinklepaugh is president.

The program opened with the pledge of allegiance to the flag by the girls. Mrs. Tinklepaugh welcomed the mothers and introduced Miss Helen Lowry, Camp Director of the Girl Scout Council, who talked of camping at Camp Ken-Jockety. Also, Mrs. Ruth Hicks told of the different tpyes of camps available to Girl Scouts. Colored slide pictures of camp activities at Ken-Jockety were shown.

Each troop took part in the program, with songs, skits and dances, which was enjoyed very much. Then the older girls of Mrs. Beatrice Wolfe's troop served the mothers with coffee and cookies and the girls with punch and cookies. The coffee was furnished by the Nescafe people.

Approximately 89 mothers were present and 185 girls took part in this annual Girl Scout tea, which was in every way a success.

Television Offers Its Own Lingo

Every new industry spawns a vocabulary of its own. Television is no exception, though at times it borrows heavily from its predecessor—radio.

To bring you up-to-date on the lingo of television, below are a number of definitions and explanations of terms currently used in the industry.

ANTENNA — A structure of wire or tubing used for radiation or reception of radio frequency waves.

AUDIO—Latin for "I hear." Used as noun or adjective meaning sound.

BRIGHTNESS CONTROL — Control employed on a TV receiver to make the picture brighter or dimmer.

CARRIER—The high frequency radio wave generated by transmitter on which is superimposed sound or picture. Carrier is discarded by receiver, leaving only the sound and/or picture.

CATHODE-RAY TUBE— This tube generates a thin stream of electrons and aims them at a fluorescent receiver screen. The screen glows wherever the pinpointed beam strikes in accordance with voltages controlled by the signal from the transmitter.

CO-AXIAL CABLE—A special type of cable consisting of an insulated wire conductor inside a tube conductor. It permits transmission of very high frequencies over long distances. Ordinary telephone lines cannot be used because losses are too great when very high frequencies are carried over them.

CONTRAST CONTROL— Control on television receiver to regulate the intensity of gray and black portions of picture. Similar to volume control in the ordinary radio.

DEFINITION—How well you see and hear, based on proper focusing and fidelity of transmitter and receiver.

DOLLY—Movable stand upon which the television camera is mounted.

FADEOUT— Camera technique in which a scene is gradually dimmed from view.

FIDELITY — Accuracy with which a receiver reproduces sounds and/or picture transmitted by station.

FOCUS — Receiver control which pinpoints electron stream upon fluorescent screen to get sharpest definition.

FRAME—One complete picture. Thirty frames per second are used for television in contrast to 24 for movies.

GHOST—Television signals can "bounce" off buildings or other obstructions. This may result in a secondary picture (ghost) on the screen slightly less sharp and off center from the original. Other "ghosts" are caused by improper installation of antenna and transmission line.

IMAGE ORTHOCON— Supersensitive electronic camera tube usually used in field cameras for out-of-door televising where light may be less intense.

LINE—A single strip across a picture containing highlights, shadow and halftones.

LINEARITY — Uniformity of distribution of a regular pattern on a television screen.

LINE OF SIGHT—Unobstructed visual path between two points. Very high frequency waves (FM and TV) generally travel only in a straight line.

MEGACYCLE—Means one million cycles per second in contrast to a kilocycle which means one thousand cycles per second. The higher the frequency, the more cycles per second.

MICROPHONE — An instrument which converts sound waves into electrical impulses.

MONITOR — Any speaker or screens over which the quality of sound and video transmissions may be checked.

MONTAGE—Blend of pictures or scenes.

PANNING—A horizontal or vertical sweep of the camera. (From panorama).

PHOTO-ELECTRIC CELL — A vacuum tube capable of translating variations of light striking it into related variations in electrical current.

PICKUP—A program televised directly at scene of action.

PROJECTION TV— Method of enlarging television pictures with lenses and mirrors to permit projections upon screen.

RADIATOR—Portion of an antenna system from which radio waves actually are transmitted.

RADIO CHANNEL—Portion of radio frequency spectrum used by one station. At present television channels are six megacycles wide.

REFLECTOR—Antenna system element which discriminates against undesirable signals from one direction and favors those from another.

RELAY STATION—Links (via radio) signals from one transmitting station to another.

Fornoff School News

The Fornof Girls' Volleyball team have finished their season. They played six games altogether, playing Smith Road, Clarfield and Scioto Trail schools each twice in the South Side Y Elementary League.

In the first round the girls won all three games, one being so close, it gave everyone quite a scare. The first two games of the second round were also in favor of the Fornof girls. But their last game, which would have given the team a perfect record, had they won, was a disappointment to the Fornof fans. The team lost to Clarfield by three points. Even so, they came through as champs, still have the best volleyball record.

In the Franklin County Elementary Basketball Tournament the Fornof boys basketball team played Hamilton Township recently at Hamilton Twp. High School. The Fornof boys won 47 to 16.

Last Thursday afternoon they played East Broad at Hamilton. They beat East Broad by a score of 53 to 23.

REEB CALENDAR

Friday, March 25, — Assembly Program, Mrs. Davis' Class leading.

Tuesday, March 29th, —Educational Films: 1:30 p.m. One, Two, Three, Go; 2:10 p.m. One, Two, Three, Go; 2:35 p.m. Match Stick Cartoons.

Wednesday, March 30th, 9:30 a.m. Sale of Savings Bonds and Stamps.

The above calendar of events of the coming week is announced so that our parents and adult friends may plan to come to Reeb to visit us.

—R—

The children in Room 109 are working very hard to get their Sales Tax Stamps counted. Several people have brought some nice books which we have been enjoying at Story Time. We are planning to make a mural about Spring.

—R—

Mrs. Davis' 3B and 3A Class will lead the Auditorium Program this week. There will be songs, Bible Response, and Bible Verses. Parents are invited.

—R—

The following children have outstanding school work on display in our case: Cottie Alexander, Marion Moore, Eugene Jenkins, James Bohlen, Earl Short, Harold Blackburn, Marion Graham, Deanna Wiles, Sylvia Schottenstein, and William Crookham.

—R—

Tuesday noon Reeb Avenue boys were shown the Y.M.C.A. film about life at their summer camp, Camp Willson, which is located near Bellefontaine, Ohio. Several of our boys are interested in going to camp this next summer.

—R—

Reeb has traded its Victor motion picture projector, which it has had between 9 and 10 years, on a new 16mm Revere Sound projector. We are mighty pleased about this change in our equipment because we use our projector regularly every week. This trade was made possible by the profits from our pop corn sales, collection of sales tax stamps, and Friday noon pictures. Again we thank our community for helping us in these special projects.

—R—

Once more we wish to let you know that our special room is in need of clean rags to use in weaving. Just a call to GA 1326 will bring some one to your home to collect your contribution.

—R—

New pupils, entering Reeb Avenue School recently, are Patricia and Oleta McClaskey, 163 Hosack.

Tom: "Has Dick traveled much?"

Dick: "Has he? Why, he's been to half the places on his suitcase labels."

St. Leo's Altar Meets Tuesday

Remember to attend the next meeting of St. Leo Altar Rosary-Parish Council on Tuesday, March 29, at 8 o'clock, as plans will be formulated for the Bingo to be held after Easter. The major part of the proceeds of this party will be used to continue the work of charity for the inmates of the Bellview Rest Home, 1201 S. High St. Chairman of Catholic Charities, Mrs. Fred Hanf, reports that her committee will prepare a basket containing colored eggs, candy, and cookies for each inmate as a special Easter treat.

It was extremely gratifying to note the large attendance last month, and it is hoped this interest will be manifest in future meetings.

Columbus Bible School To Conduct Class

Through its Registrar, Rev. William A. Nisbet and Dean, C. O. Callahan, the Columbus Bible Institute is announcing its program for Spring Quarter classes which will open on Monday, March 21st, at 743 Dennison Avenue. This evening school, dedicated to our Lord and Saviour, Jesus Christ, is for the sole purpose of training men and women for efficient Christian service in any part of the world.

Monday evenings-6:30-Archeology 103, Bearing of Archeological discoveries on the Bible; Missions - 303, Study of various fields and the modernist problem on the field; 7:20, Chapel; 7:50-Exegesy 103, Arts and methods of Sunday School teaching: Specialization 303, Teaching-training for young people and adult classes: 8:50, Music 103, Fundamentals of congregational music conducting.

Tuesday, 1:30 - Evangelism CC-103, Teacher-training for Children for Christ class work; 6:30, Evangelism 103, Methods of evangelism in the Sunday School: Church History 303, Study of Church history from the Medieval period to the present; 7:30, Chapel; 7:50, Survey 103, Outline studies of New Testament: and Doctrine 103, Doctrine of last things.

All classes are held at the above address, using the facilities of the Bible Presbyterian Church, until such time as its building fund is sufficient to purchase a permanent home. Contributions from churches and individuals are being received for this purpose. The building fund now amounts to $1,900.00.

C. B. I. which affiliated with over 130 other Bible training schools thruout the United States, offers credit for each subject and issues certificates and diploma for various parts of work completed. No tuition is charged but there is a quarterly registration fee of $3.00. All instructors and officers give their talents and time free in order that a strong Christian school may be available to the citizens of Columbus and vicinity. Make it a matter of prayer as to just how you can help this worthy work along. An investment of the Lord's funds now will bring untold dividends in eternity. Call MA 0063, WA 1475 or LA 61181 for additional information or, better yet, drop in to visit classes and enjoy some of our work with us.

High School Science Day

On Saturday, April 9, central Ohio students will show their extra-curricular projects in science and mathematics at the Ohio State University High School. These will include scientific collections, equipment, demonstrations, and papers, all of which they have prepared beyond their regular school work. Prizes and certificates of merit will be awarded.

The best displays will go to the state showing at Denison University on April 22, where winning seniors will be eligible for scholarships to Ohio colleges.

Junior and senior high school science student are urged to see their science teachers for further information. Science students and teachers will attend the showings, and the public is invited.

Science Day is sponsored by the Central Ohio District of the Ohio Academy of Science, Section J, of which Mr. Merrill Davis, Columbus South High Chemistry teacher, is chairman.

South High School, St. Mary's High School; Roosevelt, Barrett and Mound Jr. High Schools are participating.

God Speaks To The Wives of Today, will be the subject for next Sunday night's message at the Southwood Church of Christ.

Continuing the series of sermons on Love, Courtship and Marriage now in progress at the church, the minister, Mr. Bronson, discussed "God's Message To The Husband of Today" in his sermon Sunday night. Mr. Bronson gave "Ten Commandments For Husbands of Today" which are as follows:

1. Thou shalt not be lazy, but thou shalt be a good provider.
2. Thou shalt each day kiss thy wife and tell her that she is beautiful.
3. Thou shalt not look with wandering eyes at other women.
4. Thou shalt love thine house as a sacred place.
5. While eating the food prepared by thy wife, thou shalt brag on at least one dish, and never, never praise thine own mother's cooking above that of thy wife's.
6. Thou shalt shave, bathe, and keep thyself looking thy bestest.
7. Thou shalt never have a Sunday grouch.
8. Thou shalt try to provide labor-saving devices for thy wife.
9. Thou shalt bring thy wife flowers or candy once in a while.
10. Thou shalt spend some time listening to thy wife talk and not keep thine nose in the newspaper for the few hours thou art at home.

Next Sunday night, Mr. Bronson will take for his subject; "God Speaks To The Wives of Today." He also stated that he may give the wives "Ten Commandments next Sunday night.

Keynote Addresses At St. Paul's

Yes, at the National Convention of all Political Parties, it remains for some individual to make a Keynote Speech which sets the stage for things to come, and promptly starts the ball to rolling. So it was at St. Pauls Church recently during the weekly Lenten Program.

Reverend Steve Sziarto, popular Minister of the Hungarian Reformed Church, occupied the Pulpit as the guest of Reverend Paul C. Kaefer, and his Sermon proved to be the Keynote Address of this all important Construction year. It was a down to earth talk, sighting the "Unity and Harmony Within" the "United Effort Without", and the "It Can Be Done Attitude" all the way.

These three points were noted at St. Pauls among the Congregation, Church Council, Societies, and Pastor, during the drive for the New Church, and Sziarto skill fully dovetailed this, with the efforts of all Churches in Devastated Europe, and then blended the entire discourse into a Chapter of the Old Tes ament.

Reverend Harry Zierer of Gates Fourth Church was the first Guest Minister of the present series, and he further cemented the strong friendship of the two Gates St. Churches, by giving a splendid talk, also striking on the New Building. These Thursday Night Services are open to all and begin promptly at 7:45 P. M.

Double Ring Ceremony Performed

In a double-ring ceremony performed February 4 in the First English Lutheran Church by the Rev. Harold R. Albert, Miss Wanda Courtright, daughter of E. J. Courtright, 1091 Miller-av., exchanged wedding vows with Howard L. Keller, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Keller, 1756 Oak-st.

The bride's gown was styled with an imported Chantilly lace bodice and peplum which formed a fish-tail drape over the full satin skirt extending into a cathedral train. A coronet of seed pearls held her chapel-length veil of imported English illusion and she carried a white orchid and hyacinth bells with streamers upon a white Bible.

Moss green satin gowns with draped berthas and bouffant skirts were worn by the bride's attendants, Miss Jean Watson, as maid of honor; Miss Jeanne Hood, Miss Jeanne Ashton, Miss Dolores Miller and Mrs. Raymond Robinson, as bridesmaids. Their Chantilly lace hats and mitts matched their gowns. Miss Watson carried a cascade of American Beauty roses and the bridesmaids carried colonial bouquets of yellow roses.

Donald A. Keller was his brother's best man and ushers were: William Keller, William Southworthy, V. F. Walker, Tom Moody and A. Monroe Courtright.

At the ensuing church reception for 250 guests, Mrs. Clifford Hood, aunt of the bride, received in a powder blue lace dinner dress with which she wore pink accessories and a corsage of pink roses and carnations. Mrs. Keller wore a toast dinner gown with brown accessories and a green orchid corsage.

The former Miss Courtright and her husband are graduates of So High School. The bride attended Wittenberg College and is a member of Kappa Delta sorority. Mr. Keller attended Ohio State University.

June Wedding Planned

Mr. and Mrs. Donald B. Harrison, 1192 Linwood av., announce the engagement of their daughter, Rita Mary, to Mr. John R. Seelig, son of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Seelig, 241 Piedmont-rd.

The bride-elect is a graduate of St. Mary of the Springs Academy and also a graduate nurse of Mt. Carmel Hospital. Mr. Seelig is a graduate of North High School and attended Ohio State University, where he was a member of the Phi Kappa Alpha fraternity. He now is a senior in the College of Business Administration at Franklin University.

The open church wedding will be an event of June 18 at Corpus Christi Church.

South High Talks It Over

Along with the bond drive and everything else going on at busy South High School, a series of broadcasts and discussions have been started.

What constitutes these broadcasts? . . . . . They consist of problems facing schools in this city, and schools all over the United States.

The topics discussed are Use of Community Property, Athletic Contests, Field Trips, Smoking, School Visitations, Driving a Car, and Parking Cars Near the School.

Why is South discussing these problems? . . . . . Well, South has many things of which it can be proud. Her sportsmanship, her ability to work toward the top in sports, and employes in Columbus give preference to her graduates because of their high standards. Mary McGary of the Dispatch told South's office, that employers liked to get South graduates particularly. But for every good thing there has to be a bad. Although South's pupils have a good reputation in Columbus, they need to be reminded of all the bad things that go on around them. And so . . discussion, have been brought to South.

South is very fortunate. There is a radio studio which can promote any issue of value. For the first ten minutes of registration, there is a broadcast dealing with these particular problems, and from there on the registration teacher becomes the guiding influence, and there is a general discussion among the pupils in each room. There will be four discussions during the remainnder of the school year.

As someone once said, "The way a young person does in the home and the school NOW is the way he or she will do in the community when old enough to serve it."

South students are conscious of this fact and wish to remind the whole community they are the community of tomorrow. With help and guidance they shall make the South Side a better place in and Rexfore Hall, with Alice which to live.

B'nai Brith News

B'nai Brith Young Women held their meeting of the month on March 15th at the Hillel Foundation on 16th Avenue. Business for the month included plans for their Carnival to be held April 24th at the Broad Street Temple. Admission for the evening is $.25 and your admission ticket may make you the winner of the door prize which is a season pass to Glengarry Pool.

Committees have been appointed and t" y are busy making plans to insure that their guests, Young Old alike, spend an evening of good entertainment. The committee working on Concessions me: on Tuesday evening, March 22, at the home of Miss Mary Meyers, 729 Kelton Avenue, to discuss further plans.

Other business of the meeting included the reading of the slate of officers to be voted upon dur'ng next month's meeting. Delegates to the B'nai Brith Convention to be held May 14-15th, at Cleveland, Ohio, were also appoin ted.

Business was adjourned and the evening ended with the celebration of Purium.

Dorothy Stuber To Marry

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Stuber, of 1089 South 22nd St., announce the engagement of their daughter, Dorothy Ann, to Mr. Robert Wohlfarth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wohlfarth, 912 Vernon Road.

Miss Stuber is a graduate of South High School and is a member of Nu Phi Mu Sorority. She is now associated with the American Jersey Cattle Club.

Mr. Wohlfarth, a graduate of North High School, is associated with the Beck and Orr Book bindery.

The wedding will be an event of May 7 at Central Community Church.

South High Holds Band Concert

On Thursday and Friday, Mar. 24 and 25, at 8 p.m. South High's Band and Orchestra will present their annual spring concert. The guest soloist will be Miss Patti Cooper. The price of admission is 50c and this will include dancing after the program. The proceeds of the concert will go for the Stadium Improvement Project.

The Orchestra will appear first with Robert Hofmann as student director. Their selections are:

Waves of the Danube, Ivanovici; Pavane, Ravel; Clear Track, E. Strauss; Three Moods and a Theme, Klemm; Sleigh Ride, Anderson; Smoke Gets in Your Eyes, Kern.

Miss Patti Cooper then will present her solo numbers.

The Band will appear next on the program. The student director is Denver Ketter. They will play the following pieces:

Marcho Poco, Moore; Overture for Band, Mendelssohn; Moaning Trombone, Bethel; Featuring the Trombone section; Porgy and Bess, Gershwin; St. Louis Blues March, Handy; El Capitan, Susa; Carnival Day in New Orleans, Morrissey.

Solo, Ensemble Contest

On Friday, March 11, at Denison University, South High's Music Department participated in the District Solo and Ensemble Contest.

Three types of ratings were given to the students taking part. Those receiving I were superior, those receiving II were excellent, and those receiving III were good.

The solo numbers receiving a rating of superior were: Wallace De Pue, Gordan Hughes, Sylvia Schlang, Howard Wagner, Harold McClaine, Denver Ketter, Ray Waters, and Bob Hoffman.

The ensembles receiving superior were: the Flute Trio, consisting of Sylvia Schlang, Joe White, and Nancy Griffin; and the Trumpet Trio in which Gordan Hughes, Fred Grumley, and Sammy Van Horn appeared. The judges also selected the first Clarinet Quartet as superior. This quartet consisted of Harold McClaine, Bill O'Connor, Barbara Matthews, and Charlyne Dorn.

The rating excellent was given to the following students who appeared as soloists: Fred Grumley, Bob Goodrich, and Dick Hite. The Woodwind Quintet composed of Shirley Daugherty, Wayne Fallor, Howard Givets, Bob Goodrich and Howard Wagner, also received the rating of excellent. Another ensemble, the Trumpet Quartet, received a rating of excellent. It consisted of Bob Hewitt, Bob Addington, Jack Knowles, and Paul Gaito. The Brass Sextet, in which Cliff Barnhart, Paul Silcott, Robert Rhinehield, Jim Merrill, John Loudner, and Bob Hofman appeared, received the same rating. The rating of excellent was also given to two other ensembles, second Clarinet Quartet and Sax Quartet. The Sax Quartet consisted of John Alexander, Ed Perike, Dorsey Woodward, and Don Ritter. Clarence Huskey, Charles Johnson, Don Ritter, and Bill Althoff, appeared in the second Clarinet Quartet.

The rating of good was given to one soloist, Bill O'Connor.

Those students receiving a rating of superior, are entitled to participate in the State Solo and Ensemble Contest. The State Instrumental Contest will be held at Capital University, April 30th. Otterbein College will be hosts to the State Vocal Solo and Ensemble groups on April 23rd.

The south end congratulates the students participating, as well as their instructors, Miss Ruth Lippencott, and Mr. Randal Near. We can show our appreciation by attending the concert, and giving whole-hearted support to the Music Department.

Church Wedding Planned

Announcement is made of the engagement of Miss Dolores L. Clemens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Clemens, 571 Mohawl St., to Mr. Cyril E. Crooks, son of Mrs. Marie Crooks, 139 West Lane Ave.

Miss Clemens is a graduate of St. Mary High School and is associated with the F. W. Woolworth Co. Her fiance is a graduate of Central High School and is employed at Integrity Supply, Inc.

News In The World Of Religion

By W. W. Reid

Bishop John S. Stamm, Pittsburgh, president of the Federal Council of the Church of Christ in America, has called upon the churchmen of all faiths to pray for the fifteen persecuted Protestant clergymen who are on trial in Bulgaria. "Whatever may be the outcome of the trials so far as their personal fortunes are concerned, their Christian witness and faithfulness will not be in vain," says the Bishop. "In the present situation an attack upon the religious liberty of one group is an attack upon the religious liberty of all."

"One Great Hour," the most ambitious radio program ever to be presented by the United Protestant churches of the United States, will introduce on the evening of Saturday, March 26, the simultaneous offering which 50,000,000 Americans will give in 76,000 churches on Sunday, Mar. 27, for worldwide relief through Church World Service and affiliated denominational agencies. Endorced by the United Council of Church Women, the Federal Council of the Church of Christ in America, and the Foreign Missions Conference of North America, the offering of the churches will be used for relief and rehabilitation needs in Europe and in Asia, and "will prove to all the world just how great is the power generated when Christians unite in such a great common cause." On Saturday evening, from 10 to 11 p.m., E.S.T., the full networks of CBS, ABC and MBS will present a drama of world needs, written by Robert Sherwood and Erik Barnouw, and entitled "One Great Hour."

A number of Protestant church relief agencies, working through CARE (50 Broad St., New York 4, N. Y.) have hit upon the idea of sending a Vegetable Seed Package (28 varieties of vegetables that will grow in Europe) to presons in war-stricken countries of that continent. For a gift of four dollars (not acceptable after April 15) CARE will send the seeds to a needy family—enough to plant a garden 50 feet by 150 feet—to Austria, Belgium, Italy, France, Greece, the Netherlands, Poland, or the non-Soviet zones of Germany. One writes, "In this way you are not only sending food in its most concentrated form, you are sending also regenerating food for the spirit of man, you are giving him hope, and work, and courage, and faith in God and in His continued love and aid."

Asserting that the United States has the moral and material assets "that should be able to assure peace," John Foster Dulles, as keynoter of the recent "National Study Conference on the Churches and World Order," told 400 Protestant delegates that they must provide leadership "of peace, by peace, and for peace," the alternative being chaos in the world. The Conference was held in Cleveland, Ohio, and was under the auspices of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America. Urging Christian people to assert themselves in the role which public opinion plays in affecting government action, Dr. Dulles said: "If our nation has abandoned political isolation, it is largely because Christian people took the lead in developing public opinion that not only permitted but compelled our government to work to establish a world organization and to work with it. If our nation has abandoned economic isolation, it is again because Christian people saw that both morality and enlightened self interest required that we who were strong ought to help those who were weak. If our nation is armed, it is because Christian people, for the most part, have sought unilateral disarmament. And if, over the past three years, our nation has dealt with the Soviet Union on a basis that has been firm, but that, for the most part, avoided provocation, it is because Christian people have, on the one hand, seen the danger lying behind beguiling communist propaganda, and on the other, have seen that there was no inevitability of war . . What has counted over the past, and what counts today, is the powerhouse of faith and the lines that connect faith and practices."

A Novel Way To Raise Money

As a novel way of raising funds Siebert P.T.A. board members, room mothers and teachers were given small aprons with a tiny pocket. Within the pocket was a rhyme asking each one to measure their waist and return a penny for each inch to the P.T.A. Funds thus raised were applied toward the fund used to purchase raincoats for the patrol boys.

"He Walked By Night" On At Southland

Led by Detectives SCOTT "Carson City" BRADY and ROY ROBERTS, the Los Angeles police close in on the underground hideout of robber-murderer Richard BASEHART in "HE WALKED BY NIGHT," shocking melodrama playing at the SOUTHLAND THEATRE this Friday and Saturday. BASEHART has taken refuge in the huge storm drains built under the city to carry off the flood waters which periodically sweep down on it. An action-packed Johnny Mack Brown Western, "CROSSED TRAILS," will be co-featured. Sunday through Tuesday, the SOUTHLAND will show "ADVENTURES OF DON JUAN," spectacular Technicolor epic starring Errol Flynn in the title role. Alan Hale and lovely Viveca Lindfors head the featured cast of this swashbuckling romantic adventure. Britain's favorite star, charming Anna Neagle, stars in the refreshingly different co-feature, "Piccadilly Incident."

Wednesday and Thursday Family Nights at the Southland—two topflight films will comprise the screen program. Rosalind Russell portrays a reigning Broadway star in "The Velvet Touch," mystery melodrama which co-stars Miss Russell with Leo Genn and Sydney Greenstreet. Sigrid Gurie and Ralph Morgan will star in the second feature, "Sword of the Avenger."

Erroll Flynn At The Columbia

The Columbia Theater will present Sunday, Monday and Tuesday "Adventures of Don Juan" starring Erroll Flynn. This picture will hold you on the end of your seat with its exciting action, adventure and romance. Also on the bill is "Sinister Journey" starring Bill Boyd as (Hop-Along Cassidy) this one is just what it implies, it's a thriller.

Eagles Headpin Tournament Success

The South Side Eagles wish to thank all those who bowled in their 5th Annual Headpin Tournament which was held at the Arena Alleys at 1426 East Main Street, Saturday and Sunday, March 19th and 20th.

Everyone who bowled had a lot of fun, the tournament was really a success, thanks to the big turn out.

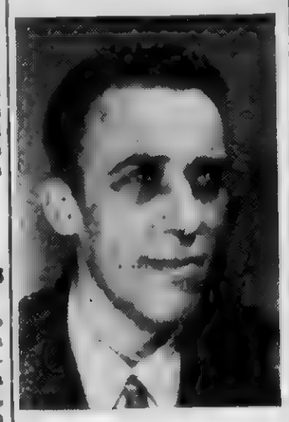
Those who toppled the pins to have their name on the winners' list for prizes in the men's division were:

Bill Bethards 117 (winner); Mac McClure 114; Paul Junk 112; Larry Skinner 111; Bud Koehler 111; Jim Bergin 111; Jim Bennett 110; Jack Nolan 110; Chas. Weigand 110.

In the Women's Division were: Ruth Allinder 103 (winner); Jeanne Frebault 100; Virginia Juke 100; Kate Frebault 99; Myrtle Bartram 99; Mary Jane May 99; Bea Weigand 99.

All ties will be rolled off at a later date.

Money derived above expenses will be used to feed needy families.



Early Spring Fishing Good

Reports reaching Ohio Division of Conservation headquarters in Columbus from throughout the state indicate that "fishin's good" even though the calendar claims it's a little too early.

Both lake and stream fishermen report good catches of black bass taken on both artificial and live bait.

Boat landing operators at Ohio's lakes are busy with paint brush and repair kits in an effort to provide every convenience for the fishing public. Last year's shortage of boats at most lakes kept dockmen busy during the winter building new boats to replace those considered unsafe for another season as well as additional ones to meet the expected demand ready for launching as fishermen take to the water at the first sign of good fishing.

Robert Spohn To Play Heavy Part

Robert Spohn

Mr. Robert Spohn, of 1237 So. Ohio Avenue, will have the villanist character lead of "Ribaud" in the Paramount Players Production as Sigmund Romberg's "New Moon" to be given at the Hartman Theatre on Saturday and Sunday evenings of March 26th and 27th.

Mr. Spohn has been very active in the activities of the alumna of South High School, and has taken leading roles in the Paramount Players shows for the past three years.

He is a member of the Cincinnati Actors Guild, Columbus Civic Theatre and Dramatics Art Guild of South High.

The production of "Moon" will directed by Wilbur Crist of Capital University. Al Vacca is Stage Manager and Bill Paul is Producer. Miss Barbara Irwin is the Accompanist, Miss Stella Becker, of the Becker Dancing of Dancing, is Dance Director. Miss Margaret Crawford is Dramatic Coach.

Other leading roles are taken by: Gladys Little Thomas, Betsy Townsend, Yolanda Fasola, Bob Smith, Joe Elias, Roy Kemp, Dr I. Cabakoff, Gene Nelson, Richard Willard, Dick Johnston, Jack Bowman, Jim Power.

"Easter Parade" At Russell Theater

Sunday and Monday the Russell Theater presents "Easter Parade" with Fred Astaire and Judy Garland. This is a beautifully Technicolored musical spectacle held together by a plausible story. Irving Berlin's melodies are enriched by modern orchestrations in a way that will leave the oldstern with happy memories and the youngsters gaily humming and whistling under the illusion they are catching up with the latest song hits.

Judy Garland is gay, sad and comic by turns. Both her singing and her dancing are outstanding. Fred Astaire has never been better. If you missed "Easter Parade" now is the time to see this his picture. Also showing is "Kiss the Blood Off My Hands" with Burt Lancaster - Joan Fontaine, plus news and cartoon.

"Tarzan's New York Adventure" At Ideal

The Ideal Theater presents "Tarzan's New York Adventure" with Johnny Weismuller & Maurene O'Sullivan this Sunday and Monday. Tarzan finds himself surrounded with tall buildings and modern living, which is quite a change from his jungle life. How he goes about recovering his child proves of interest to both the adults and children. Don't miss this Tarzan picture. The second picture is "Angel on the Amazon" with George Brent and Vera Ralston. News and Cartoon complete the play bill.

That Old Question

Little Johnny came home from school one afternoon and asked, Mama, where did I come from?"

His mother was shocked, Johnny was awfully young to be hearing about the facts of life But she knew children at school had been talking. Now was the time.

"Sit down, son," she said, "I want to tell you a story about the birds and the bees . . . ." She proceeded to describe the facts of life to little Johnny.

When she had finished Johnny remarked, "Well, I just wondered where I came from. Susie Smith told me she came from St. Louis."

A Smokeless Columbus

By David Warner

In less than ten years from now the business section of downtown Columbus will realize that smoke has disappeared from all of the buildings that are now equipped with air conditioning systems.

That is a very strong statement, and this evolution will not happen because Columbus has a competent smoke inspector and anti-smoke ordinance.

Every building that is properly ventilated with an air conditioning system by the use of cold water, is now equipped with the apparatus for a quick change-over to a system, whereby this summer cooling water system can be transformed into a winter heating system from the same cold water.

The modern heat-pump is maturing so rapidly, that our heating and cooling systems will soon be cheaper than smoke producing systems and much cleaner, safer and automatic with electric power and ground water or city water.

It stands to reason that if we can air condition large buildings, then the reverse is possible with a slightly modified system for passing heated ventilation throughout the building.

The new system is here and has been in operation at many places in the United States for the last six years.

In March of 1945, the writer inspected a heating system in the Coshocton Office Building of the Ohio Power Company where they were heating the building with ground water.

They were pumping water from a well at 54 degree ground temperature and putting it back into another well at 52 degrees and circulating one million gallons of water through the system. This gave them two million units of heat which produced enough B. T. U.s to maintain a constant thermostat controlled temperature of seventy degrees throughout the building day and night.

Their operating costs were estimated to be equal to obtaining the same building winter temperatures as though they were using coal at ten dollars ($10.00) per ton.

In January 1949, the writer went to the home of Charles Gillivan, a retired Electrical, Mechanical Engineer of the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co. and saw his residence heat-pump, that he has built for his own home in Delaware County, that was heating and air-conditioning his home at a calculated cost, that would be equal to the cost of fuel oil at seven cents ($.07) per gallon instead of fourteen cents ($.14) per gallon, present prices.

In The Engineering News Record February 3rd, page 65 is the description of a twelve (12) story building in Portland, Oregon, where the new building of the Equitable Savings and Loan Ass'n. is being air conditioned and heated with a heat-pump system.

Since obtaining the foregoing information the writer has heard of several other successful installations of heat-pumps in use.

Such a new innovation of modern technological development costs something to make the change over from a smoky city to a clean smokeless city, but consider the convenience and, sanitary benefits that will be the results when Columbus experiences the great change in atmospheric conditions both within and without our city buildings.

Hi - Y Boys To Work And Give

Saturday April 9 is the day when approximately 400 high school boys, members of the Hi-Y clubs in their respective schools, will cooperate in an EARN and GIVE campaign. This is the third annual effort sponsored by the Hi-Y clubs of Columbus as part of a nation-wide program to earn money for the World Youth Fund. This money is used to help rebuild the more than one hnudred YMCA buildings that were destroyed during the war, and to help rehabilitate hundreds of YMCA workers who lost nearly everything in the war years.

On Saturday April 9 the Hi-Y Boys will accept odd jobs in their communities; in the campaign last year boys carried out ashes, rolled lawns and raked leaves; took down storm sash, washed windows and put up screens; washed down walls, painted fences, etc. For their labors on that day they were able to turn in almost $400 which was sent immediately on its errand of mercy.

Folks in this community, who have odd jobs to be done, may call the office of South High School, Ga 31601. Leave your name and address and the type of job you want done, and one of the Hi-Y boys will be assigned to that job.

Less Restrictions For Fishermen

Fishermen throughout Ohio will enjoy the popular sport of angling with considerably more freedom this year because of the Ohio Conservation Commission's official action last November which added 18 more lakes to the experimental waters in the state where usual restrictions have been removed. The number of areas included totals 26 lakes and one stream.

Restrictions of closed seasons, minimum legal lengths and bag limits have been removed on these waters for experimental purposes to determine the advantages or disadvantages of liberalized fishing. All other rules and regulations will apply to these waters as well as for all other waters.

The experiment was started in 1945 at Alma Lake in Vinton County and in 1946, 1947 and 1948 included eight lakes and one stream. Commission members generally have agreed that restrictions of seasons, bag limits and minimum lengths may be eliminated from all impounded waters of the state sometime in the future if surveys continue to indicate that liberalized fishing does not reduce the fisherman's catch or dangerously reduce the fish population broodstock.

Those waters included in the liberalized program are: Harrison Lake in Fulton County; Lake St. Marys in Auglaize and Mercer counties, except in the State game Refuge where fishing is prohibited at all times; Van Buren Lake in Hancock county; Charles Mill and Pleasant Hill Reservoirs in Ashland and Richland counties; Guilford Lake in Columbiana county; Mosquito Creek Reservoir in Trumbull county; Atwood Reservoir in Carroll and Tuscarawas counties; Beach City Reservoir in Tuscarawas county; Clendening Reservoir in Harrison county; Leesville Reservoir in Carroll County; Piedmont Reservoir in Belmont and Harrison counties; Tappan Lake in Harrison County; Seneca Lake in Guernsey and Noble counties; Wills Creek Reservoir in Coshocton and Muskingum counties; Buckeye Lake in Fairfield, Licking and, Perry counties, except in the State Game Refuge where fishing is prohibited at all times; Clouse Lake in Perry County; Madison Lake in Madison County; Lower Mt. Gilead in Morrow County; Indian Lake in Logan County, except in the State Game Refuge where fishing is prohibited at all times; Kiser Lake in Champaign County; Loraime Lake in Shelby County; Adams Lake in Adams County; Lake Alma in Vinton and Jackson counties; Jackson Lake in Jackson County; Vesuvius Lake in Lawrence County; and Shade River and all tributaries in Athens and Meigs counties.

In that part of Charles Mill Reservoir north of U. S. Highway No. 30, and in that part of the upper end of Pleasant Hill Reservoir within the confines of the State Game Refuge, fish may be taken only from March 1, 1949, to August 31, 1949, both dates inclusive.

In order to determine the value of the liberalized fishing experiment it will be necessary to take day-by-day creel census and perform such additional practical fish management work conducive to the success of the project.

Fish management officials of the Ohio Division of Conservation ask that the fishing public cooperate with field men engaged in the project on the experimental waters.

Fishermen Urged To Study Laws

Lester C. Bailey, chief of the law enforcement section of the Ohio Division of Conservation, this week urged Ohio fishermen to study carefully the angling laws of the state before "baiting up."

"The best advice for all fishmen" Bailey said "is that they secure a copy of the Digest of Fishing Laws available at all license agencies, which should be carried in the tackle box or on the person of the fishermen for convenient references."

Although fishing restrictions have been liberalized somewhat or certain waters in the state regarding closed seasons, bag limits and legal lengths, the laws covering other waters will be enforced.

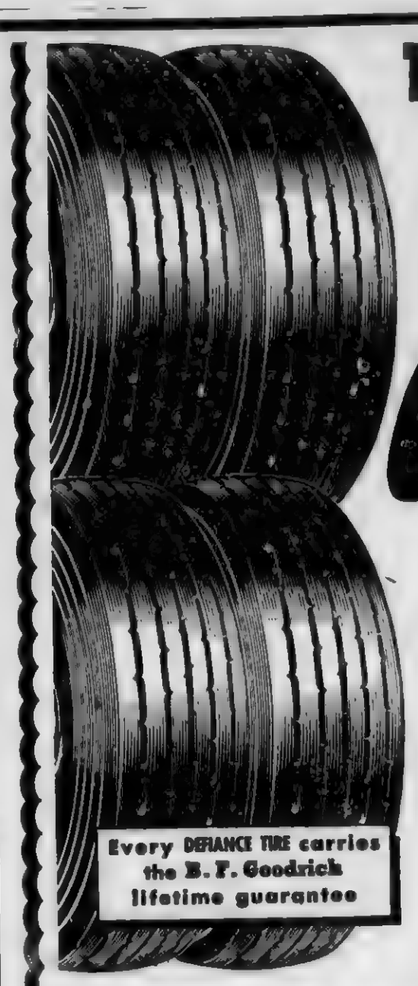
Bailey points out that the laws generally are very simple and easily understood by those who will take the trouble to spend a few minutes to read them.

The fishing license badge in which the license is carried must be visible on an outer garment when fishing and the rule will be enforced this year although a bill has been introduced pending legislative action to abolish the use of the badge. Even if the bill should become law, it will not become effective until March 1, 1950.

The Conservation Commission is in favor of doing away with the badge law, in effect since 1940, and agree that is is an unnecessary inconvenience for the fishermen and law enforcement officers alike and costs the state approximately $40,000 annually.

All persons 18 years of age and over must buy a license to fish in the public fishing waters of the state, except the owners or members of their immediate families, or tenants and members of their immediate families while fishing on waters located on land upon which they reside.

In the inland fishing district of the state, the black bass season will be closed from May 1 to June 15 except in those waters included in the liberalized fishing experiment. The closed season on black bass in the Lake Erie fishing district is May 25 to June 30. All dates are inclusive.



Arthur Harper To Address Historical Society

Arthur R. Harper, field naturalist in conservation education for Ohio Division of Conservation and Natural Resources, will address the next meeting of the Franklin County Historical Society, Friday, March 25 at 8 p.m. in the auditorium of the Ohio State Historical and Archaeological Museum.

He will discuss the botany of Franklin County and will illustrate his lecture with pictures. He formerly wrote on this subject for The Dispatch.

Most of Mr. Harper's work is in Ohio's public schools, working in classrooms and on field trips with pupils. He is a Fellow of the Ohio Academy of Science and chairman of the conservation committee.

He has written considerable teacher service material and a book, "Ohio in the Making," a non-technical account of the historical geology of Ohio."

WLW-C To Begin Regular Television Operations April 3rd

COLUMBUS, MARCH 31—When commercial operation of Crosley television station WLW-C, new Columbus television station of the Crosley Broadcasting Corporation, begins next Sunday, April 3, the third link in a regional video network will be completed. There will be no formal ceremony.

The television network includes WLW-T in Cincinnati, WLW-D in Dayton, and WLW-C in Columbus, all linked by a microwave relay setup which permits interchange of programs among stations.

WLW-C began transmission of its test pattern Monday, March 21. Regular telecasts by the station were delayed until completion of relay towers at Mechanicsburg, Ohio, where the video programs of WLW-T in Cincinnati will be boosted into the Ohio capital for WLW-C telecast.

WLW-C will carry between 25 and 30 hours of weekly programming. The greater part of the WLW-C programming will consist of originations from WLW-T, sister station in Cincinnati; NBC kinescope features, including "Broadway Revue," "Philco Television Playhouse," "Kukla, Fran and Ollie," and "Texaco Star Theater."

Among WLW-T shows to be carried in Columbus are "'49, The Magazine of Television," "Junior Jamboree," "Curtain Time" and "The Bob Duane and Paul Jones Show," "Video Varieties," "Olympus Minstrels," "Garden Time," "Baldwin By Request," "Comedy Time," Nothing For Granted" and "What's Your Verdict?"

Operating on Channel 3, WLW-C will bring television programs to 1,030,000 people living within a 45-mile radius of the Ohio capital. Studios, now under construction, and the transmitter tower and building are located on Olentangy River Road in Columbus.

The studio building, which will contain three large studios, will be completed sometime this summer. A major portion of WLW-C initial programs will emanate from WLW-T in Cincinnati and be transmitted by the microwave relay system via Dayton and Mechanicsburg to Columbus.

However, local programs produced in Columbus will be telecast by WLW-C before completion of its studio building. By means of a specially equipped mobile unit, sporting and special events may be telecast from WLW-C without use of the microwave relay system. Films also can be telecast from the transmitter site.

When the WLW-C studio building is completed, intensive local programming of events in the Columbus area and use of talent from that section will begin.

On its inaugural date the station will be on the air in the afternoon and evening, with a test pattern interval between afternoon and evening programs.

"Travel Time," an hour program of selected educational and entertainment films, will open the Sunday telecast at 3:30 p.m., to be followed by "Garden Time," a half-hour show with host Ken Lann introducing experts on various phases of gardening who show plantings, flower arrangements and decorations.

"Garden Time" will conclude at 5:30 p.m. The test pattern interval will be telecast until 8 p.m., when a half-hour comedy film will be shown. "Olympus Minstrels," a WLW-T production reviving the days of burnt cork, black face, and end men, will carry until 9 p.m. when the hour-long "Philco Television Playhouse" will be shown.

First day of WLW-C telecast will end at 10:15 p.m. with conclusion of the "Baldwin By Request" program.

Paper Drive Sponsored By So. Side Settlement

On April First the Honor Club of the South Side Settlement are sponsoring a Paper Drive. They ask that you place your magazines and papers on your porch and they will pick them up. The pick-up corners are as follows:

JUNIOR BOYS CLUBS BASKETBALL PARTY

Dick Schnittker and Gene Brown, of the Ohio State Basketball team, were the honor guests at the South Side YMCA Elementary School and Junior Boys Clubs Basketball Party held recently at Gates-Fourth Methodist Church. One hundred and twenty boys attended the affair.

This is an Annual affair sponsored by the Amerigo Senior Club of the South Side Branch YMCA.

Gus Hickman of Lincoln Park sixth grade team was Master of Ceremonies: David Huston, Southwood, led the opening prayer: and Billy Webb, Beaver Club gave the appreciation.

Dick Schnittker gave a few very impressive remarks in regard to school work. "Now that the basketball season is over, all of us athletes must really hit the books," remarked the high scoring ace from the Buckeyes.

Schnittker awarded the Championship plaques to the following school squads:

Fifth Grade - Beck Street, represented by Captain Ralph Simons, Harold Gix, Robert Daye, Kenneth Harris, Jerry Dover, William Oakes, and Richard Francis.

Sixth Grade - Southwood, represented by Captain Ronnie Woodyard, Richard Hickman, David Huston, Robert Blume, Richard Stahr, Roscoe Watson, Ronnie Cohagen and Howard Ray.

Gene Brown offered the boys some sound advise in regard to sportsmanship, "Good sportsmanship always brings satisfactory recognition from competitive schools and their fans."

Kelton "Spook" Garwood, President of the Amerigo Junior Club, entertained the boys with slight of hand magic.

Miss Ruth Storch and Mrs. Rexford D. Nay served the refreshments, with the aid of the Amerigo Seniors who were present.

Too Much Power In Governor's Hands

Governor Frank J. Lausche wants to have the power to remove sheriffs who do not suppress gambling.

By what process would you remove a governor who neglects or refuses to remove the sheriff who fails to perform his duty?

Suppose we had a governor who would deal with the sheriff (to his own advantage) for his own illegal gain. How would you remove the governor who got rich by such methods?

The governor can only be removed by the legislature. But in turn the governor only has the power to call the legislature into special session. Dou you suppose for one instant that the governor would call a legislature into special session. Do you suppose for

This bill for the removal of a sheriff might be good in Gov. Lausche's hands, might in the end pass into the hands of a crooked governor who would get rich in the procedure.

Given this power he might use it for the benefit of bookies, bingo, numbers, lotteries, raffles, chances on autos or the downright gambling card dens and let gambling run wild, because the governor was getting a cut from 88 counties. Under such condition he could use that power to crack the whip over sheriffs to get a nice cut himself as he would have supreme power over the sheriffs.

Then too, he could use the power to remove as a political angle, if he was a democrat he could remove all Republican sheriffs, or if a Republican, to remove all Democrat sheriffs.

This is too much power to place in any governor's hands.

There is a way to remove a sheriff now and that is thru our courts of law which is already provided for.

Father Kulp To Speak

The monthly meeting of the Rosary Altar Society and Parish Council of Corpus Christi Parish will be held on Tuesday evening, April 5th at 8 o'clock. The program will be in charge of the religious activity chairmen, Mrs. Herman Kaiser and Mrs. C. H. Weisenberger.

The Reverend Father James Kulp, dioceson director of the Society for Propogation of the Faith will be guest speaker. He will talk on missions and will show a motion picture depicting the life and work of Father Damian in the Leper Colony.

Another motion picture "Christ the King" will be shown. It is the first Catholic motion picture portraying the life, death and resurrection of Jesus Christ. It has been acclaimed the outstanding religious motion picture of our age and it will be the first time it will ever have been shown in the city of Columbus. All adult members of the parish are invited. It will begin at 2 o'clock. No admission will be charged.

Whittier St., GA-1468, is Chairman, and Miss Marilyn Schneider, 519 Sycamore St., GA-1288, is Co-Chairman. Phone either Miss Eyerman or Miss Schneider and they will call for your donation.

Senior Honor Club Entertains N. Broad'y

Tuesday evening, March 15, the Senior Honor Club of the Settlement House played host to a group of Sunday School boys and girls with their Superintendent, Mr. Robert Ostchin from the N. Broadway Church of this city. The affair was held in the dining room which was decorated with the "wearing of the green." Pretty shamrocks graced the lovely spread tables that boasted unique center pieces of large Irish Potatoes with green paper hats. Inscribed on the hats were Irish names and each member and guest received a small shamrock with a name that corresponded with one of the names on the tables. The boys and girls had a lot of fun finding which "family" they belonged to. A menu of delicious hot chili, salad, chocolate milk, peaches and cake were served. A brief business session was held, introduction of Settlement Staff members was made and Mr. Ostchin was presented and addressed the group. His talk was mainly about the joint camp garden project that is being sponsored by the Honor Club and Northbroadway group. Plans were laid and many suggestions offered for the Big Triple "S" Camp Garden that will help to provide healthful recreation, promote better relationship between the groups and supply the "campers" with home grown vegetables. Mr. Myron Lewis, Advisor of the Senior Honor Club and general chairman of the garden project, assured the boys and girls of a trip to camp in the very near future. Games were played and with the ringing of lively tunes, the entranced lads and girls declared a good time was had by all.

Celebrate Golden Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Buehler

Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Buehler of 295 Deshler Ave., celebrated their golden wedding anniversary on Tuesday, March 29th.

They were married fifty years ago at the Independent Church on East Mound St. by the Reverend Holmes. Mrs. Buehler was Miss Bertha C. Brill before her marriage.

Mr. and Mrs. Buehler were both born and reared in Columbus and have spent their entire married life here in our community.

The pictures were made shortly after their marriage.

South East Lions To Restore Man's Sight

The South East Lions Club has engaged the services of Dr. V. Dean Stephens to operate on Jack Pool, 38 Marrison Ave, for cataracts. The operation will take place as soon as hospital facilities are available.

When the operation is completed, Mr. Pool will be able to see again.

This South East Lions Club collects tax stamps for the purpose of sight saving.

Numerous people in the last few weeks have turned their tax stamps in to the South Side Booster to be turned over to the Lions.

If you have sales tax stamps you want to be used for a good purpose, turn them into the South Side Booster, 1542 Parsons Ave. We will turn them over to the South East Lions Club.

The next eye case the Lions save may take care of that little boy or girl in your neighborhood or some South Side man or woman.

Are You A Socialist?

State socialism in the United States is no longer an academic issue. It is inherent in proposals now before Congress on social security and price control. It is immediate and specific in proposed appropriations for construction of Federal steam electric generating plants such as the multi-million dollar TVA plant in Tennessee.

The question is, do the people really want socialism? The indications are strong that they do not. Both CIO and AF of L electrical workers' unions are officially opposed construction of the Federal steam plant. They thought it was going too far toward socialism. Under socialism unions eventually become impotent. Wages and working conditions are set up by the state, and as the authority of the state becomes absolute, dissent in any form is prohibited. However, workers, stockholders and management in the electric industry cannot alone prevent that industry from being socialized by Congress any more than dairymen alone can prevent nationalization of the dairy industry. No group can afford to stand on the sidelines until it is directly affected then it is too late.

One of the outstanding leaders in the electric industry gives this advice on socialism: 'Talk it to your friends and to our public representatives - your legislators and your congressmen. It is not just one industry or one profession that is at stake, but the American system of living given us by the framers of the Constitution. There's a lot to the saying that a chain is no stronger than its weakest link. Give socialism one good foothold and our whole economy may succumb because the resources of a government which wants to expand its power are too much to resist on a broken front . . ."

If you do not think the government should take over your business or your industry you are not a socialist. If you are not a socialist, you are against government in business—anybody's business—and you should fight it.

Merchants Protest Bus Stops

A storm of protests has hit the City Council over the spacing of bus stops in front of business places all over the city.

We, ourselves, believe that the bus stops (100 feet) are unnecessarily long. We believe that in many cases they are poorly placed. Because of this they have worked unnecessary hardships on certain merchants.

For example, let's take a few locations here in our community: the northwest corner of Parsons Ave and E. Gates St. At this corner is located DeVany's Cleaners. The north side of Gates St. has No Parking signs, then on the Parsons Ave. side of this store there is a 100 foot bus stop. Customers can not stop here to get or leave their dry cleaning, neither can DeVany's load or unload their truck. If, in this case, they had gone 70 ft. north, they could have a bus stop in front of a vacant lot.

Coming further south on Parsons Ave. to Innis Ave., we find that not satisfied with one or two corners for bus stops, they take 100 ft. off of all four corners. The same is true of the four corners at Harthman, Marion Rd. and Parsons Ave. corners. In both of the above locations access for customers and delivery trucks is barred and the merchants have to suffer this inconvenience.

Here is another case, in front of Carl Snedeker's Grocery and Confectionery at Morrill Ave. and S. Fourth St., the front of this store is blocked off to delivery trucks and customers. If they would have gone 50 ft. south they would not have interfered with his business.

At the South East corner of Parsons and Thurman Ave., there is a 100 ft. bus stop which shuts off the customers from parking in front of this place. In this case they could go across the corner and not bother these merchants.

Take the corner of Parsons and E. Welch Aves., —at this corner is Cook & Sons Funeral Home. Again the 100 feet bus stop. This forces Cook to buy a row of flats, deprive 8 people of homes, so he can conduct funerals. Otherwise he would have to go out of business. In this case, they could have put the stop 50 ft. south and not interfered with any one.

So it goes on and on and on. The Livingston Ave., Whittier St., So. High-So. Fourth and the Parsons Ave. bus line are all set up without any thought of the business man.

City Councilmen Dr. O. J. Fillinger and Walter Snider, both good South Siders, have promised us a survey and changing of bus stops.

We would like to ask one question before we close this article: "Why does the bus stops in the neighborhood stop at the corner, while in the down town areas, they stop after the street intersection?"

Another question: "Why is 100 ft. necessary for a bus stop in the neighborhoods when never more than one bus stops at a time?"

The present bus stops are long enough for 3 or 4 buses at a time.

If you have a complaint, call your members of City Council for Relief: Dr. O. J. Fillinger, GA 3007, or Walter Snider GA 1216.

South East Lions Not In Raffle

The South East Lions Club at their weekly meeting Tuesday, March 21, went on record against the statement of the Lions Mammoth Penny Sale and Show which states on their raffle tickets that the show is for the benefit of all Central Ohio Lions Clubs.

The South East Lions Club is not participating in this show n raffle for the simple reason that half the profits will be taken out of Columbus by the promoters.

Neither the Down Town Lions Club nor the Bexley Lions Club are participating, although the Lions Clubs in some of the villages and cities around Columbus are participating.

The Mammoth Penny Sale and Show is being put on by a Providence, R. I., Professional promotion outfit.

We repeat that the South East Lions Club is not participating in this promotion and that they receive no money from the promotion.

Miss Dorothy Arick Is Married To Mr. Robert Kaiser

The altar of St. Mary's Church was decorated with white gladioli when Miss Dorothy Anne Arick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Arick, 361 Moler St, married Mr. Robert J. Kaiser, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Kaiser, 282 Reinhard Av. The Rev. Fr. C. W. Jones solemnized the nuptials Feb. 26 at 9:30 a.m.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of skinner's ivory satin fashioned with a sheer yoke and a satin off-shoulder bertha edged with Chantilly lace and embroidered with irridescent sequins and seed pearls. The long fitted sleeves formed points over the hands. The basque bodice, pointed in front and back, topped the bouffant skirt which cascaded over an old-fashioned taffeta hoop and terminated into a Cathedral train. A tiara of seed beads, pearls and silver bugle beads held her full-length veil of imported illusion edged in Chantilly lace. She carried a cascade of white rosebuds centered with a white orchid.

Miss Clara Zubovich was maid of honor and wore a cerise satin gown styled with a sheer yoke, fitted bodice and full skirt. She wore matching satin mitts and headdress and carried a bouquet of yellow carnations and pink roses. The bridesmaids were Miss Marilyn Arick, sister of the bride, and Miss Mary Ann Wurdack. They wore peacock blue satin gowns identical to that of the honor attendant. They also wore matching mitts and headdresses and carried pink carnations and red roses.

Mr. William C. Kaiser was best man for his brother. Ushers were Mr. Charles Kramer and Mr. Robert Entinghe.

A reception was held in the evening at the home of the bride's parents. Hostesses included Miss Faye Derrick, Miss Raean Dunn and Mrs. John Stellar.

The bride is a graduate of South High School and is employed at the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. The bridegroom is a graduate of Aquinas High School, attended Ohio State University and is associated with Lustron Corp.

The couple will reside at 1126 E. 19th Avenue.

Miss Mazie Cohen Weds Ed. Feinstein

The wedding of Miss Mazie Cohen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Cohen, 1225 S. Champion Av, and Mr. Edward Feinstein, son of Mrs. Wolfe Feinstein, 427 Reinhard Av, and the late Mr. Feinstein, took place Jan. 23 at the Broad St. Temple with Rabbi Nathan Zelizer officiating.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a dress of taupe Chantilly lace and silk crepe which fell into an ankle-length train. Her headdress was a Spanish tiara of the same Chantilly lace. She carried a white satin Bible topped with two large green orchids tied to green and white streamers.

Mrs. Sylvia Feinstein served as matron of honor for her sister, and wore a dress of royal blue silk faille. She carried a colonial bouquet of pink tea roses and wore a halo of royal illusion in her hair.

Mr. Phillip Beckman acted as best man. Ushers were Mr. Gerald Fisher, Mr. Henry Rosenthal and Mr. Leo Cohen, brother of the bride.

The couple is living at 1225 S. Champion Avenue.

Settlement Finishes Basketball Season

The final game of the South Side Settlement Junior Basketball league was played on Friday afternoon, March 25th, at the Settlement gymnasium at 363 Reeb Avenue. The Eager Beavers are the champions of the league by virtue of nine victories and no losses. The Eager Beavers are coached by Mr. Ed Dean, Senior in the Department of Physical Educatio at Ohio State University. Second place in the league went to the Elks after a vigorous struggle with St. Stephens.

Barney Close of the Eager Beavers led the field in individual scoring with 65 points. Two of his teammates, Melvin Haws and Lyman Lindsey, took second and third place honors with 58 and 56 points respectively. Fourth place went to Leon Garnes of the Musketeers with 53 points.

The competitive spirit of the games in the ten week schedule was indicated in numerous hard-fought and well played games. Skill in the game and sportsmanship on and off the basketball floor were emphasized in the development of well-rounded out players. It is noteworthy to indicate this development in the boys who will in a few years play on high school teams throughout the city.

The final standings are as follows:

	W	L
Eager Beavers	9	0
Elks	5	4
St. Stephens	4	5
Musketeers	0	9

REEB CALENDAR

Friday, April 1st—Assembly Program—Miss Bradford's Room leading.

Tuesday, April 5th—Educational Films.

1:30 P. M.—Passenger Train
2:10 P. M.—Passenger Train
2:35 P. M.—Mexican Children

Wednesday, April 6th—9:30 a.m. —Sale of Savings Bonds and Stamps.

The above calendar of the events of the coming week is announced so that our parents and adult friends may plan to come to Reeb to visit us.

—R—

The Friday Morning Program will be given by the pupils in Miss Bradford's Room. There will be Bible Verses and some unusual children's songs. A group will tell the story of Zacchaeus.

Parents re invited.

—R—

Reeb wishes to express its thnaks to Mrs. Floyd Belcher, 467 E. Markison Ave., for her gift of a large supply of clean rags all ready for use in weaving on our large loom. Perhaps there are others who would like to have a part in this work. Just call GA-1326 and we will call for them.

Everywhere you go about Reeb School you are reminded that the 13th annual P.T.A. Ensemble Concert is to be held a week from tomorrow night, Friday, April 8th, in Central High School. Our art classes have made a large number of attractive signs which are now calling out attention to this fine concert put on by the public school pupils of Columbus and Franklin County. The following Reeb purils will sing in the Elementary Chorus of about 300 voices: Ray Stover, 1936 Wager; Arnold Latham, 268 Hinkle; Alfred McWilliams; Lockbourne Air Base; Darlene Skipper, 1947 S. 9th; Virginia Miller, 184 Innis; Mary Paul, 300 Hinman; and Eva Vanover, 1824 Bucher. Tickets are on sale now at 70c for adults and 35c for children.

—R—

Earl Short and Milo Mitchell have had hand-made articles added to our school display case.

—R—

We are mighty glad to have Alvis Bills, 1873 Bruck St. back in school again. Alvis has been out because of illness for the past two months.

Now's the time to draw a red circle around Friday, May 6th on your calendar so that you'll be planning for Reeb's annual Carnival.

Fornof School News

Eighth Grade:

Members of the girls Volleyball team had a movie party recently. They attended Loew's Broad Theater with their coach, Miss Bostic, acting as chaperone. After the movie they were all treated by Miss Bostic at a nearby confectionery.

Seventh Grade:

Mrs. Scarberry, the first grade teacher, helped the seventh graders arrange a surprise party for their teacher, Miss Bostic. Ice cream and cake which the girls had baked was served and Miss Bostic was presented with a gift by her pupils. Wanda Woehlert and Anna Becker assisted with the arrangements.

Fifth Grade:

Our twins, Elaine and Ellen Reed, are leaving for the sunny South and the boys and girls will certainly miss them.

The boys and girls of the fifth grade, under the direction of Doris Weber and Freda Seymour are going to present "Aladdin and the Wonderful Lamp." Another play, "Cinderella" will be presented under the direction of Barbara Lewis, Linda Campbell and Patricia White.

The following pupils have neither been absent nor tardy: Betty Crabtree, Beverly Davis, Beverly Jackson, Ellen Reed, Patricia White, Carl Crabtree and Paul Gaiser.

Up to this time the Fifth Grade has had the best record in having the most parents present at the regular monthly P.T.A. Meetings.

Second and Third Grades:

The second and third graders are looking forward to attending the Achbar Grotto Circus with their teachers, Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Brown.

Co Ed Prom Planning Dance

Any girl who has been at South for some time will tell you that for loads of fun and entertainment the Co-Ed Prom rates high. It's the one time in the year when all of the girls can get together (free from those hounding boys Ha!) and really have a bang-up time. This year plans have been made for an even bigger and better prom and we'd like to see every girl at South turn out for the fine time that is in store.

As in previous years prizes will be based on the following qualifications: uniqueness, prettiness, and funniness of costumes.

All girls now attending South and their mothers are invited.

Faculty co-chairmen in charge of the plans for the evening are Mrs. Florence Belcher and Mrs. Mary Jane Brand. Student co-chairmen are as follows: Program committee, Miss Sara Crist, Miss Lucy Amborski, and Mary Campen; Decoration committee, Miss Angela Ferson and Miss Eva Finson and Mary Ann Casto; Ticket Committee, Miss Ruth Lang, Miss Virginia Titus, and Connie Ahl; Refreshment Committee, Miss Elsie Friebel, Miss Lydia Meyer, Coralie Lusk, Maxine Wyrick; Publicity Committee, Mrs. Ruth Taylor, Mrs. Ruth Sipples, and Carolyn Perry; Mrs. Joy Jenney and Mrs. Katherine Duff are in charge of selecting the prizes for the costume awards. The South High School Dance Band under the direction of Mr. Randall Near will furnish the music.

Colonel Thackara At Tyndall Field

PANAMA CITY, FLA.—Promotion of Paul N. Thackara to Lieutenant Colonel was announced today at headquarters of the United States Air Force, according to word received at Tyndall Air Force Base here where Col. Thackara is assigned to the Air Inspector's Office.

Col. Thackara, whose home is in Toledo, Ohio, although his mother, Mrs. Walter Thackara, lives at 2 Hanford St., Columbus, O., was assigned to Tyndall, Dec. 31, 1948, after completing work at the Air Command and Staff School at Maxwell Air Force Base, Ala. He entered the Air Force in December 1940, and took flying training at both Randolph and Brooks Fields. During the war he served 26 months outside the United States, spending 24 months in Korea and two months in the Aleutians.

Mrs. Thackara and their two children, Bonnie, 5, and Julie, one year, reside with Col. Thackara at 444 S. MacArthur Ave., Panama City, Fla.

Lions Club Members Have Movie

Members of the Southeast Lions Club were given 20 minutes of Educational entertainment Tuesday at their meeting, in the form of a movie. "Let's Explore Ohio" is one of a series which is sponsored by the Standard Oil Company. In this particular movie the Ohio Wildlife is shown. The camera goes across fields and deep into Ohio woods for leisurely pictures of the shy creatures living in the hidden places out of doors. A barn owl feeds her hungry children—a wise old raccoon forms over stones in a stream while hunting crawfish——birds in the nest—flying squirrels and frogs—all played roles that astonished everyone.

R. Rider Production Manager Of WLW-C

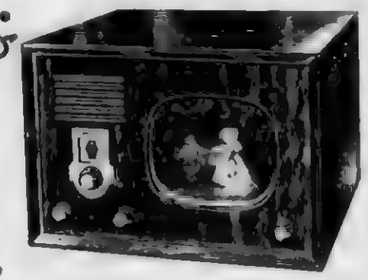
COLUMBUS, March 7. The appointment of Reginald I. Rider as production manager of WLW-C was announced today by James Leonard, general manager of the new Crosley Broadcasting Corporation video station here.

Rider comes to the Crosley organization from WBKB, Chicago, where he was a video producer. He has acted in stock and on the New York stage, and before entering the U. S. Army Air Force in 1940 took roles in network serials, among them "David Harum" and "The Shadow." He has also been in instructor in speech, drama and television.

A native of Council Bluffs, Iowa, Rider holds a Bachelor of Arts degree from the University of Nebraska and a Master of Fine Arts degree from Yale University. He has had graduate work at Carnegie Tech and Northwestern, as well as teaching experience at the University of Missouri.

A five-year AAF veteran, Rider served as a B-24 pilot in South America and Europe, earning the Distinguished Flying Cross and flying 25 missions.

Rider and his wife Ada, a former actress and also a Yale graduate, are the parents of a year-old daughter, Josephine Lee.



Miss Helen Sopha To Wed April 23rd

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur O. Sopha, 1251 S. Ohio Av. announce the engagement of their daughter, Helen Lucille, to Mr. Donald Francis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Francis of Green Bay, Wis.

The bride-elect is a graduate of South High School and is associated with radio station WHKC. Mr. Francis is a student at Capital University.

The open-circle wedding will take place April 23 at 7 p.m. in Trinity Lutheran Church with the Rev. M. George S. Schultz officiating. Immediately following the double ring service, a reception will be held in the Columbus Maennerchor.

Sermon To Wives Fills Church

A full house heard J. E. Bronson discuss, "God Speaks To The Wives of Today" at the Southwood Church of Christ last Sunday night. While the message was serious, the eighth in a series of feature sermons on Love, Courtship & Marriage, the preacher did introduce a bit of humor when he gave what he announced as "Ten Commandments," which he personally recommended for housewives. They were:

1. Thou shalt carefully guard thine health; so that thou canst always, always greet thine husband with a smile.
2. Thou shalt never nag or complain.
3. Thou shalt not worry about things which thou canst not change.
4. Thou shalt not spend all thy time scrubbing, dusting, and cleaning house.
5. Thou shalt love thine husband and children more than thine house.
6. Thou shalt know how to prepare good food and keep it on the table.
7. Thou shalt know the limitations of thy husband's income and not try to keep up with the Joneses.
8. Thou shalt not buy a hat or 'hair-do' that makes thine husband unhappy.
9. Thou shalt remember that at times silence is golden.
10. Thou shalt not drive the automobile from the back seat.

Next Sunday night, Mr. Bronson will answer the questions that have been placed in a question box in the church. Questions may be put in the box Sunday morning. All answers will be from God's Word.

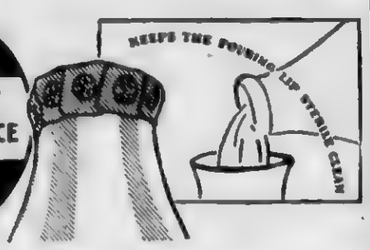
Borden's dairy products have the qualities you want!

- protected purity!
- protected freshness!
- protected flavor!



Borden's famous System of Quality Control guards every Borden product from inspected farm to your doorstep! Sanitation, freshness, and flavor are checked at every point of the way. You can depend on Borden's to be always as good as dairy products can be . . . because they're the only dairy products to be protected by Borden's System of Quality Control.

Plus

the DOUBLE protection of Sealon hoods!

The outer cap protects the lip of the bottle at all times, keeping it dairy-sterile! This cap is easily removed . . . yet it cannot be removed and replaced without your knowing it. And there's a handy inner cap, too, to protect the milk while it's in your refrigerator. Every bottle of Borden's dairy products comes to you protected by this double Sealon cap!

Women's Republican Club To Hold Meeting

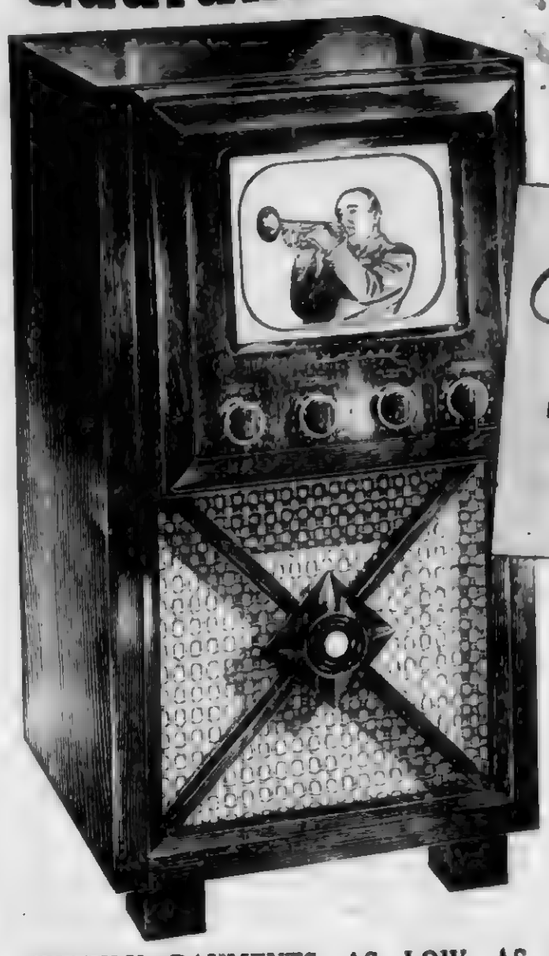
The Women's Republican Club Club of Ohio, Inc. will meet at the Deshler Wallick Hotel, on Friday evening, April 1st at eight o'clock.

Mrs. Maude Rumsey, president of the club, will preside at the business meeting.

Mrs. Mildred John, soprano, will be the guest soloist. Her accompanist will be Miss Mary Frances Winchester.

Judge John R. King, Judge of the Common Pleas Court, will be the guest speaker. His subject, a most appropriate one for the Lenten season, will be "The Trial of Christ from a Lawyer's Viewpoint."

The public is invited to attend.



Water Safety Instruc. Training School

Mr. Mike Peppe, Chairman of Water Safety, Franklin County Chapter, American Red Cross is announcing a new type of training program for Water Safety Instructors. The program will be divided into three phases—Swimming, Life Saving and Small Craft, and will be held at the Natatorium, Ohio State University, each Friday night from 7:00 to 10:00 p.m., starting April 1.

An outstanding group of instuctors have been carefully selected, as well as several specialists, to teach the various courses and will be under the supervision of Mr. Peppe and Mr. W. R. Middendorf, Director of Safety Services.

This program is open to men and women who have reached their nineteenth birthday, are in good physical condition and have completed their Senior Life Saving training within the past three years. Those who are interested in this course, particularly life guards and Camp Water Front Directors, are asked to call the Franklin County Chapter, American Red Cross, Ma-6841, and register so material may be mailed to them in sufficient time for enrollment.

FOR LENTEN MEAL

Golden codfish balls, spinach garnished with egg, buttered carrots with salad and muffins for a lenten meal.
muffins for a lenten meal.

By BETTY NEWTON

Make the most of lenten meals. The foods you serve may be simple, but attractive. Arrange them on your best platter or serving dish. Use colorful and edible garnishes. The finishing touch to any meal of this size is to serve it piping hot. Now watch the family eat!

Golden Codfish Balls

1 C. shredded cooked codfish
2 C. freshly mashed potatoes
2 eggs, beaten
1 Tbsp. melted shortening
Deep fat for frying

Mash the codfish and mix well with mashed potatoes, eggs and shortening. Drop by rounded spoonfuls into deep fat heated to a temperature of 375 degrees to 380 degrees. Fry until golden brown. Drain on paper towel. Arrange on hot platter and serve immediately.

Corn Meal Date Drops

1 C. sifted flour
½ tsp. salt
2 tsp. baking powder
1 C. yellow corn meal
4 Tbsp. shortening
½ C. chopped dates
½ C. milk

Sift flour, salt, and baking powder together. Add corn meal and mix well. Cut in shortening, mix in dates, then add milk and mix just enough to moisten the dry ingredients. Drop by spoonfuls on a greased baking sheet. Bake at 425 degrees about 15 minutes or until golden brown.

New Glass Ends Television Bottleneck

DIRECT VISION TELEVISION RECEIVER

PITTSBURGH, PA. — The halo-like object in pretty Caroline Tufts' left hand is one of the ultra new television tube face plates. It covers the end of the cathode ray tube (see inset) through which the televised images are reproduced.

Developed after nearly three years' research, the new bent face plate, made of a glass especially developed for television, has broken one of the major bottlenecks in producing television sets, according to R. B. Tucker, executive vice-president, Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company.

Bent television face plates must be perfect to give undistorted reception. Formerly, plates were first molded into shape and then put through painstaking optical grinding and polishing operations. With the new finishing and bending operations devised by Pittsburgh, the face plates of special type glass are ground and polished while flat and then bent into perfect sphericity.

The new face plates were first used in the five-inch tube and will eventually be used in the 10-inch, 12-inch and even larger size tube faces.

Clyde Ruddock In Japan

With the Eighth U. S. Army in Takeyam, Japan—Pct. Clyde E. Ruddock, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Ruddock, Columbus, Ohio, has been promoted to the rank of Private, for his performance of duty as a rifleman with his unit, Troop G, 5th Cavalry Regiment, 1st Cavalry Division.

Prior to joining the occupation forces in Japan, Private Ruddock underwent basic training at Fort Bragg, North Carolina, after enlisting in August of 1948.

Private Ruddock attended South High School. Prior to joining the service he was employed as a stock clerk at the White Cross Hospital of Columbus.

Private Ruddock has been with the occupation forces in Japan since December of 1948. He is now stationed at Camp McGill, Takeyama, Japan.

The Columbia Theater

The Columbia Theater will present Sunday, Monday and Tuesday "The Snake Pit" starring Olivia de Havilland. In this picture Olivia de Havilland is confined to a state institution for mental cases as a patient of Geo. Genn. She does not recognize her husband, Mark Stevens, altho she knows she is married. Olivia is first given shock treatments and then transferred thru a series of wards where she is subjected to inhuman treatment by various members of the institutional personnel.

In the end, however, she recovers completely. As she leaves the hospital with Mark, she vows never to forget the unhappy plight of its inmates, and determines to help from the outside. Also on the Bill is Cowboy Cavalier.

"Rope" At The Russell

Sunday and Monday the Russell Theater presents "Rope," with James Stewart, John Dall and Constance Collier. The story concerns a thrill murder by two young intellectuals. That master of Melodrama and Suspense, Alfred Hitchcock, surpasses all his triumphs with a thriller that will leave you limp. An innocent man was murdered for the sheer joy of killing. You're sure to call it the most exciting picture ever made. "Tarzan's New York Adventure" with Johnny Weismueller and Maureen O'Sullivan is the second picture. News and cartoon complete the play bill.

"The Firebird" To Be Presented

One of the best-loved and probably the best-known of all marionette plays, the delightful Firebird story, "The Glowing Bird," is to be given under the auspices of the Community Junior Theater, Saturday, April 16 at the Palace Theater at 9:30 a.m. Presenting this unusual and elaborately-staged play are the famous Tatterman Marionettes, for whom The Glowing Bird was especially written by Edward Mabley. Based on traditional old folk lore, many of the characters are those which appear in many folk tales and the story is fast moving and full of adventure.

Not only will the children in Columbus have an opportunity to enjoy this outstanding marionette production, but they will also be given a special treat in the form of a Backstage Demonstration. At the close of the play, the masking curtains will be removed and everyone will get to see just what goes on behind the scenes while a marionette show is in progress.

William Ireland Duncan, founder and producer of the Tatterman Marionettes and Head of the Department of Theater at Western College in Oxford, Ohio, will be with THE GLOWING BIRD on April 16th at the Palace and will introduce the Backstage Demonstration.

No one will want to miss this rare entertainment treat so don't delay getting your tickets at the June Schaaf Florist shop or Reston's Music Store or at the box-office at the Palace the day of the performance. Admission for children is 25c and 35c for adults.

SUNDAY AT THE VICTOR THEATER

"She" — Helen Gahagan and Randolph Scott
"Last Days Of Pompeii"
Preston Foster and Basil Rathbone

"San Francisco" On At The Southland

Clark Gable and Jeannette McDonald are the stars of "San Francisco," outstanding romantic drama of yesteryear which returns to the Southland Theatre screen for a three-day engagement on Sunday. Spencer Tracy also stars in the unforgettable film, which includes some of the most spectacular scenes of all time showing the San Francisco earthquake and fire.

The incomparable Marx Brothers (Chico, Harpo and Groucho) star in the hilarious comedy co-feature, "A Night at the Opera."

Wednesday and Thursday, Family Nights at the Southland, "The Accused," new mystery melodrama starring Loretta Young and Robert Cummings, will be top feature. Miss Young portrays a young college psychology professor who becomes involved in the murder of one of her students. Wendell Corey heads the excellent featured cast. "Dynamite" will complete the dual program. William Gargan stars in this action-packed hit.

Games Party

The Verhovay Ladies Club are sponsoring a bingo game on Thursday, March 31st at 8:15 at the Verhovay Home, 1501 Parsons Ave. Members and their guests are cordially invited.

Miss Carolyn Bentley To Address Group

The Columbus Hearing Society is again to have the opportunity of hearing Miss Carolyn Bradley, Associate Professor in the Department of Fine Arts a. Ohio State University.

Miss Bradley returned the first of the year from six months spent in Central America as one of the foreign representatives of our government in Latin America. Her latest assignment took her to Guatamala, Honduras and Costa Rica, as well as to Haiti and the Dominican Republic.

Miss Bradley will speak at the Society's Club Rooms, 110 Grand Theater Building, on Thursday, April 7th at 8 o'clock. The subject of her talk will be "A Folk Art Tour Through Some Latin Countries." She will bring with her some pictures painted in these countries as well as other articles collected on her trip, to illustrate her talk.

3rd Anniversary For Karsten's

Time & Service means a lot and we know that Monday, Apr. 4, means a lot to Karsten's Restaurant, at 1890 South High St. for 3 years ago he came to South Side and joined in giving his best not only in service, but in quality food.

Ideal Presents "The Dude Goes West"

Sunday and Monday the Ideal Theater presents "The Dude Goes West" with Eddie Albert and Gale Storm. This picture is a burlesque of the tried-and-true western. There is plenty of humor for the laugh seekers and still enough of standard structure and ingredients to sate the appetites of the western fans who insist on taking their sagebrush straight. You'll roar with laughter from start to finish. "Sixteen Fathoms Deep," which is in color, and stars Arthur Lake and Lon Chaney and a cartoon completes the bill.

James Berendt Appointed Chairman

James Berendt, 403 Forest St., has been appointed chairman of the Make-Up Department and James Bangert, 426 S. 17th St., has been appointed stage manager for the annual production of the Stage crafters of the College of St. Charles Borromeo.

The Regents announced that the production for this season will be Shakespeare's hilarious comedy "Much Ado About Nothing." The play will follow the traditions of the past which have brought state wide acclaim in dramatic circles to the East Broad St. College.

The Regents for this year's production are: Jared Wicks, Technical Regent, Columbus; Thomas Thebes, Social Regent, Toledo, and Hubert Frebault, Business Regent, Athens.

The play is planned for late April and will be opened to the general public.

Crax-ezy - What Is It?

If soft-boiled eggs are served often in your home, here's a gadget that's a must. It is called "Crax-ezy." It is an egg-shaped gadget into which you place a hot boiled egg. Pinchers hold the egg securely as the cutters make a clean break. Too, the spring position of the pinchers facilitates easy washing. The variety of colors in which the egg cracker is available add to its appeal. The egg cracker can also be used to shell hard cooked eggs. Now you can enjoy soft-boiled eggs without burnt fingers, shell fragments and messy tablecloths, by using a "Crax-ezy." It's made of plastic with stainless steel cutters. It severs the egg neatly in half and each side rests solidly while you remove the contents of the other. Get your "Crax-ezy" today. Call the A-1 Staple Service, 1573 S. High St., GA-2445 and order one for yourself and extras for gifts.

Rejects Tax Subsidized Pills

The Senate of the Utah State Legislature has gone formally on record in opposition to government medicine. In a memorial, which was passed by a vote of 16 to three, with three Senators absent, this legislative body described the dangers that are an inescapable part of compulsory Federal health insurance, with all the attendant political controls and prerogatives that would come along with it.

"It is an acknowledged and unquestioned fact that the general health of the nation is higher than that of any nation of the world," the memorial states.

"Free enterprise, individual initiative and freedom from government interference are the foundation stones upon which the practice of medicine and all other great enterprises of this country have been developed. . . .Government interference and regimentation in the field of medicine will destroy the spirit of research and individual initiative and will eventually result in a breakdown of the present high standards of competency now prevalent in the private practice of medicine in this country."

The Utah Senate does not take a negative view toward the problem of medical care. It urges the encouragement of the voluntary plans, which have made such outstanding progress in recent years —and which must be sold on their merits, not by passing a law. These plans, which now cover 50,000,000 or more people, are the soundest and most economical method yet proposed for dealing with the problem.

New Church Plans Progressing

The two-story addition over the present Social Hall plus the new large Basement will be entirely devoted to Young Peoples Activities in St. Pauls Evangelical's New Church. Boy Scout Troop 77 which started three years ago with six boys, and grew to its present size of more than thirty will occupy a special section of the building. Four boys in this troop received the God and Country Award for the first time in the Churches History last February, and two others received Eagle Awards, among the highest in Scouting. This is indeed a record to be proud of and it goes back to the fine training program meted out by Scoutmaster Glen Clingman. The boys spend some time during the summer months, camping on the Lake Madison Site owned by Committee Chairman Earl MacLeod, and a good part of their fine training is credited to the outside tours and speakers, arrangements for which are completed by Roger Ferriss and Joe Brockmeyer.

The new Cub Pack will also have its meeting place in the Social Hall, as will the Senior Unit. A Nursery for tiny tots is in operation every Sunday Morning at St. Paul's, chaperoned by High School seniors, and from this age until the youngsters reach nine years, they are taught religion by a fine class of teachers in the Sunday School. The Girls find their way into the Campfire Group, and the boys enter the Cub Pack. At twelve they become Boy Scouts, and at 15 members of the Senior Unit. This ties in with the Young Men and Ladies of High School Age, and then the Yound Adults, or Married Couples. This is a complete program, and is the real reason for the New Church Edifice. It is the purpose of Reverend Paul C. Kaefer to provide the most attractive surroundings possible for all these projects from his Church Council, Brotherhood, Dorcas, Ladies and Mens Bible Class, all of which have an active group to sponsor. Activity of all kinds is running high at St. Pauls these days, with a very crowded schedule, all of which must be completed before May First, which is ground breaking day at 225 East Gates Street.

'Bill' Boyer Purchases Harrisburg-pk Grill

Amos (Bill) Boyer, superintendent of The Citizen mail room since 1906, has purchased the Fritz Grill at 1354 Harrisburg-pk.

The business was acquired by Mr. Boyer from Ed Fritz, who started it 27 years ago. Mr. Fritz is now in Florida.

Mr. Boyer

Mr. Boyer, who resides in the rear of 1354 Harrisburg-pk, was the founder of Valley Dale on Sunbury-rd, which he started in 1921.

Mr. Boyer also was the founder of the Bridal Path, a riding horse academy and restaurant at 6800 E. Broad-st, and later the Barn Riding Club and Restaurant at 4490 Riverside-dr.

Judge J. D. Erskine informs us that 'the stork' (lit) at Moran last week and left a nice little boy at the home of James Johnson. Father and baby are getting along fine."

And here yours truly thought Jimmie had shot that 'Bird' when he reached the age of 50! TSK, TSK, TSK! Also, "J. D." is credited for having made the largest single catch in a day on Brevort Lake.

Well—I'll bet Billy Massey, owner of the Massey House Hotel, beat J. D. with his 30 pound Muskie. You can't spear any more on Brevort, so you have to take 'em by hook and line. These two squirts are both in the eighties (80's) but, they get around better than some of us young punks only half their age.

That's about all for this week. Only other thing I might add is this: (which I stole from Bill Moses, another scribe: the quote, that is).

Michigan's Upper Penninsula

By Frank "Dude Ranch" Koch

The (7) seven ton Walters snow plow—largest of the fleet of such snow removing equipment at the Mackinac County Garage, was damaged when struck by a passenger train of the D.S.S. & A.R.R. at the Crossing North of Moran on Rt. 351. The driver, Chester Becker, and assistant Herman Winters were uninjured. The plow was "winging" snowbanks when the accident occurred. The banks were so high the driver failed to see the approaching train until too late to stop short of the tracks and attempted to cross. The train struck the plow towards the rear smashing the "Wing" and heavily damaging the equipment. Ed. Note: (The wing on a large 8 ft. plow is in a horizontal position adjustable to either side of the plow. It's used to level the snow after its banked so that it will not roll back into the Railway.)

I was just thinking. Maybe that's why its so nice in the Summer up there. Because they have such tough winters!

At least 500,734 small game hunters and 286,651 deer hunters; all Michigan residents, technically committeed a misdemeanor when they failed to file game kill report cards by Feb. 15 deadline, the conservation department reports. The cards must be returned by law. Shame on those guys and gals. We non-residents are not like that!

And here's another interesting fact called to my attention: Harry Lawson and Chuck Morrow, who have been languishing this winter awaiting Lake Superior ice fishing and spending their time meanwhile in desultory tries for the perch in Moran Bay at St. Ignace finally determined to get in some trout fishing.

They flew to Canada last Thursday. Frank Blake and John Stauffer piloted them. The flyers returned home at St. Ignace that same day, leaving Harry and Chuck to their trout fishing. Last Sunday Herb Powers and John Stauffer flew out after the fisherman and brought them home from Ranger Lake with well filled creels of fine looking trout. (George Roby take notice).

Listen—fellas and gals: The reason they flew to across the border was because they had a bit of sunshine, as we did week before last on Saturday and when the ice becomes dozey on the surface you just don't fish thru it. You may find yourself out in the middle of one of the Great Lakes on an ice floe that will be so small you can't even walk around for exercise to keep warm. And wondering howinell you're going to get back to the wife and kiddies.

Here's a break for the non-sportsman or woman who wonders what the Upper Peninsula of Michigan looks like.

For the curious the U. S. Lake survey have prepared charts that are available for a half a buck. They detail the straits of Mackinac and Les Cheneaux Islands (the Snows), inserts of St. Ignace, Cheboygan, and Mackinaw City.

The charts are procurred by sending four (4) bits each map to U.S. Lake Survey, 630 Federal Bldg., Detroit 26, Michigan.

There's (2) two charts, so if

April Is Conservation Month In Ohio

In a radio message carried over twenty Ohio stations recently, in connection with the signing of the Conservation Month and Arbor Day proclamation, Gov. Frank J. Lausche urged the schools of the state to consider seriously the importance of observance programs.

"I am asking," Mr. Lausche said, "that the citizens of Ohio and especially the school administrators and school teachers seize the opportunity which Conservation Month and Arbor Day provides, and get some trees and shrubs and plant them during April. A tree or shrub in the hands of a willing boy or girl who will oil his spade with sweetness, push it into the ground with a weight of determination will make an Arbor Day that will be long remembered."

The proclamation named April as Conservation Month, April 25-29 as Conservation Week in Ohio schools and Friday, April 29 as Arbor and Bird Day.

"I urge you, as citizens of Ohio," he said, "to consider seriously the importance of our natural resources of soil, water, forests, minerals and wildlife and ask that you encourage and take part in observance programs throughout the month of April."

Through the combined efforts of the Ohio Division of Conservation and the State Department of Education, handbooks are now being prepared for teachers and school administrators, to assist them in preparing projects and programs to commemorate the occasion.

Second Annual Horse Show

The second annual Humane Society benefit horse show will be held May 19, 20, 21 and 22 at the Ohio State fairgrounds Coliseum.

Licensed by the American Horse Shows association, New York, the Columbus Spring show will be the first major event on the 1949 show circuit.

Two afternoon and four night sessions have been arranged. There will be 72 classes for saddle, fine harness, equitation, pony, walking horses and hunters and jumpers.

Also added to this year's show will be classes to determine the champion foal of the show in both saddlebred and thoroughbred divisions.

The championship stakes in the major classifications will be for $500.

A panel of six well-known judges will serve as officials. Frank J. Connor, Harrodsburg, Ky., W. J. Cunningham, Mexico, Mo., and Arthur Simmons, Omaha, Neb., will be in the ring for saddle, fine harness and equitation events.

Stanley Luke, La Grange, Ill., will be a senior judge for hunters and jumpers and will be assisted by a junior judge, Miss Adele Breman, Cincinnati.

John W. Taylor, Eagleville, Tenn., will judge walking horses.

Other show officials include R. E. Fahrendorf, Dayton, announcer; Clarence "Honey" Craven, of Boston, Mass., ringmaster; H. A. Chapman and Amor E. Bogen, both of Columbus, paddock announcer and paddock judge, and Miss Clara Bacalla and Miss Bertha McClure, show secretaries.

The executive horse show committee is composed of J. Wallace Huntington, chairman, Dr. J. W. Lackman, A. J. Merrike, Tom McCray, C. D. Palmer, M. G. Woodall, Brad Willson, T. G. O'Keefe, and Tom G. Justice, manager of the show.

W. M. Summer, Dr. Jackman and Mr. Justice will comprise the jump committee.

Proceeds from the Humane Society's Benefit show are used for child and animal welfare work.

Information about entries or tickets may be obtained from the Humane Society office, 72 East Gay Street, Columbus, Ohio.

Cub Pack Is Organized

Boy Scout Cub Pack 84 is now active at St. Pauls Evangelical Church. Mr. Dicke is Cub Master and Mr. Wycoff, assistant. Mr. Rumsey is secretary treasurer and Mr. Mahoney, assistant outdoorsman. Rod Mueller was made chairman of the committee. Den Mothers are Mrs. Kempf, Mrs. Wycoff, and Mrs. Dicke, with Den Dads as Mr. Mahoney, Mrs. Wycoff and Mr. Dicke. This Cub Pack is open for expansion to all boys aged nine to twelve. Full particulars can be obtained by consulting Reverend Paul C. Keefer, or any of the above named individuals.

One more meeting is scheduled for the new Senior Group, after which the Charter will be granted. Most active man in all this youth work is Earl Mac Leod, owner of Mac Floors Co. Mac is chairman of Troop 77 Scout Committee, and as such is one hundred percent behind the boys in all they do. Two years ago, the scouts under direction of Glen Clingman had a paper drive, proceeds from which went to the new Church Building. Today the Group is financially sound, but a few days after Easter they will present a Scout Show at Senior Pack proceeds from which will go to their summer activities inside and outside the Church.

Near Future Dates at St. Pauls Church which will be listed in this paper, all in April. Watch for the Scout Show, the Young Peoples Dance, Dorcas Ham Dinner and Rummage Sale, and Brotherhood Meeting for Young People.

Easter Play At Thurman Air Club

The Thurman Players will present as their spring offering the Easter play "The Light in the Window," Dorothy Clarke Wilson. The play, under the direction of Mr. Carl Lowell, will be presented at the Thurman Avenue Methodist Church, Sunday evening, April 10, at 8 o'clock.

The light in Aunt Hope's window threw its beam into the lives of a variant group of persons. Perhaps you may catch a gleam of the radiance shed by the tiny flame. Carol Powell will play the part of Aunt Hope, the leading character in the play, a little old lady with white hair and afflicted with rheumatism, but who, in the love she is able to show the world the true meaning of Easter. Others in the cast are Martha Lee Capehart, as Nora Aunt Hope's young niece, who is confused with charities. Bob [illegible] for [illegible] Mary Ella Yates will be seen in the part of Edna, a neighbor and chum of Nora, and very much of the same caliber. Paul Harmon is Jeremy, who had played weakness an instrument also Lazarus on the road to Lapporee. Delma Lewis is Jane Loring, for whom Andrew has scorned everything in life but the love of human kindness. Phillip Blazer plays Shorky, who at the age of twelve is just beginning to discover that the wages of sin are the only kind that are paid in full. Robert Lewis is Jim Barnes who dropped his kindness by to make the day he threw away his faith. Mary Jean Mattox is Emily, who has sung her way into everybody's heart but into one heart in particular. Margaret Dumar plays the role of a heavenly messenger who tells you how to let your light shine. She will also lead the worship service preceding the play, and give another of her dramatic recitations dealing with Holy Week. Ruth Warren will play "Dulcie Dee" and "Part Ale" from "Second Sight." Mildred Adams will sing "Before the Cruel Fox," and Mary Jean Mattox will sing "Silently now we Bow."

Toledo Youth Group To Entertain

The Toledo, Ohio Youth Group will present an entertaining two hour musical program Sunday, April 24, at 7:30 p.m. It will be held in the school room of the Hungarian Reformed Church, corner of Western and Washington. Advance tickets may be obtained for $1.00 per person from any choir member or by calling Miss Irene Santo, GA. 6255. The public is cordially invited.

The program is as follows:

Yes! they're coming again!

What: We are to be highly entertained by the Toledo, Ohio Youth Group with a 2-hour Musical Program.

Where: Hungarian Reformed Church, corner Woodlow and Washington Ave.

When: Sunday, April 24 at 7:30 p.m.

How much: $1.00 per person.

RUBBER STAMPERS

Chairman Lesinski of the House Labor Committee presides over the hearings regarding new labor laws. Congress has "labored and brought forth a mouse." In the end he asked the Committee to approve a bill sent down from the White House.

Lesinski confessed: "I am taking my orders from the Administration." Lots of people have accused Mr. Truman of being another Boss, like the New Dealer before him.

The Washington Post says the action of the Committee was a "legislative farce."

Will the Labor Bosses be able to swing the Democrats, or are they just betting that the White House has things fixed with those same Labor Bosses?

South Side Settlement News

Hot Plate Lunch

Friday, April 8th, the South Side Settlement House will serve a hot plate lunch. Benefit of the Honor Club. Price twenty-five cents. (25c) Time—11:00 to 1:00. Bring the family.

Woodcraft

The woodcraft department of the South Side Settlement has been reaching into the field of metal craft. During the mid-winter a good supply of sheet-metal was acquired, which was put to good use. Mr. John Behling, the shop teacher, designed various articles which could be made from this material and as a result a new and interesting program was inaugurated. Along with this program has been the regular wood working classes in the evening. Anyone observing the children as they leave the shop notices the tremendous enthusiasm which the boys and girls have for these craft classes. Further observation finds many children carrying out ash trays, table lamps, book shelves, footstools, toys and humorous articles—all of which were made here. At present there is a scarcity of lumber, therefore the craft shop would appreciate any donation of scrap wood.

Girls Sponsor Dance

The South Side Terrors and Challengers girls basketball club of the South Side Settlement sponsored a "Welcome to Spring" dance Friday, March 25th. The affair was very successful with over fifty couples in attendance. Decorations were of bright festive spring colors with umbrellas anticipating April showers. Refreshments were sold in the basement. Proceeds from this affair will go to the girls Club which hopes to obtain basketball suits for their teams by the next basketball season. President of the Club and general chairman of the dance was Delores Poindexter. Miss Eleanor Holmes of Westerville is the girl's advisor.

Honor Club Appreciates Paper

The Senior Honor Club greatly appreciated the response of the South Side community in its recent paper drive. Many other plans are in the making for the future. This club is comprised of members who have earned certain requirements, part of which are the outstanding contributions which they make to their clubs in the South Side Settlement and their participation in the Community. The Honor Club is sponsoring these drives to secure funds for an annual Spring trip. Presently plans are to charter a bus and visit either Ford Village or Niagara Falls. The South Side Settlement House is backing these young people, many of whom have proven themselves over a period of two years. They will be accompanied by the regular Staff of the Settlement House. This project is worthy of your support.

REEB CALENDAR

Friday, April 8th—9:10 a.m.—Assembly Program—Mrs. Betson's Room in charge.

Tuesday, April 12th — Educational Films.

1:30 p.m.—The Postoffice.
2:10 p.m.—The Postoffice.
2:35 p.m.—Thrushes and Their Relatives.

Wednesday, April 13th—9 a.m.—Sale of Savings Bonds and Stamps.

The above calendar of the events of the coming week is announced so that our parents and adult friends may plan to come to Reeb to visit us.

One interesting thing that happened in our film on Tuesday was that the children were playing ball. The ball rolled out into the street. As one boy ran out to get the ball a car ran over him. He was taken to the hospital. When the gang came to see him in the hospital they decided to do something about anyone getting hurt again. So before they would go into the street they say, "One, two, three, go" or "One, two, three, stop."

This film was a good lesson on Safety for us.

Dorothy Fogle, Room 110.

The following pupils have had school work placed in our exhibit case during the past week: Louis Chenault, Walter Moore, Joann Cook, Lewis Reid, Judy Wiles, Cottie Alexander, Arven Cordle, William Gillotte, Stephen Sziarto, Charles Juliano, David Hill, Franklin Mitchell, and Chester Wolfe.

—R—

Reeb Avenue School is in need of a Sewing Machine for use in its special room. Should there be any one who has a machine to donate to the school we would be very much pleased, or we would be willing to consider buying it. Please call GA. 1326 should you know of a machine that is available.

—R—

In co-operation with Ohio State University College of Education we are pleased to have Mrs. Jean Shane assigned to our 1B-1A work which is under the direction of Mrs. Evelyn Tidd. Mrs. Shane will be with us, during the mornings, the remainder of this school year.

—R—

Reeb's spring playground ball tournament is now starting with all of the pupils in six of our upper-grade rooms taking part. The team names and their captains are as follows: Willie Wildcats, Hugh Wilson; Red Birds, Arthur Carter; Blue Hornets, Virginia Doty; Yellow Jackets, Carl Prince; Bulldogs, Harold Short; Ohio Indians, Thurman Babbs; Reeb Lions, Rosemary Benyi; Bobcats, Arnold Latham; Ohio Wildcats, Elizabeth Gleed; Black Knights, Donna Close; Golden Eagles, Louis Vargo; Yankees, Esther Patterson; Eagles, Virlen White; Giants, Harvey Berry; Beavers, Charles Cooke; Badgers, Virgil White; Wild Cats, William Gillotte. Clowns, Benjamin Langbein; Buffaloes, Charlene Fair; Eagles, Arven Cordle; Golden Eagles, Phyllis Harrison; and Dodgers, James Coleman. This game has been originated by Reeb school to fit in with its small playground so that every pupil may be able to play. These games are played from 2:30 to 3:10 each afternoon on the north side of the building, each room taking its turn on the schedule.

—R—

All of the Reeb boys in the six upper-grade rooms are now taking part in our annual Marble Tournament to see who is the champion of each room and who is the champion of the school. These games are being played before school in the morning, at morning recess, and before school in the afternoon.

—R—

Don't forget that tomorrow, Friday, April 8th, is the date for the annual Parent-Teacher Festival Ensemble Concert which is sponsored by all of the public schools of Columbus and Franklin County. The names of our 7 pupils, who will represent Reeb in the all-city elementary chorus, were printed in our last week news.

—R—

Two of our rooms, under the leadership of Mrs. Faye Dellenbaugh and Miss Grace Hanna, are spending this morning at the Museum on the University campus. Our pupils make these trips in the bus provided by our Columbus Board of Education.

—R—

Our Reeb boys and girls were mighty happy to be able to get Knot Hole Gang Baseball Tickets again for this season. They are certainly a grand way of interesting hundreds of children to our local ball club.

Trudeau 14 To Meet

Trudeau Guild No. 10 of Benjamin Franklin Tuberculosis Hospital will meet at 8 p.m., April 12th, at the home of Mrs. Glen Buller, 326 Frebis Ave. Mrs. Sylvanus Dicke will be co-hostess.

Miss Lowry Guest Speaker

Miss Antoinette Lowry will be guest speaker at the St. Ladislaus parish P.T.A. meeting to be held at 8 p.m. April 7th, in the school hall. All parents of the Parish are invited.

Community Lenten Program

On Friday night, April 8, the Churches, schools, and the YMCA of the South Side will join together in a Community Lenten Program to be held at South High School. The program begins at 8 p.m. and admission will be by ticket only.

Featured on the program will be The Columbus Boychoir under the direction of Mr. Herbert Huffman. This outstanding musical organization will render a half-hour concert of sacred music and will be followed by the presentation of a one-act dramatic production by the Dramatics Department of South High School.

The drama being presented is the well known "Family Portrait" by Lenore Coffee and Joyce Cowen. The third act only will be presented for this occasion and is produced thru special arrangement with Samuel French. Director of the play is Mr. John Sitting, head of the Dramatics Department of South High.

The cast follows:

Mary, Mary Smith; Mary Cleophas, Meridean Close; Magdalene, Mary Ann Bellman; Judas, Earl Smith; Nathan, Denver Kotter; Judah, Augie Graumlich; Mendel, John Stephens; Beulah, Ruby Speakman; Reba, Janet Overmeyer; Esther, Donna Scholz; Simon, Norman Wolfe; Joseph, Don Skelton; Daniel, Bill Ritter; Naomi, Doris Chandley; Leban, John DeLong; Joshua, Walter Chilcott; Woman, Chestora Hall.

This Lenten Program is jointly sponsored by the Young People's Church Council, the Teen-Age Council of the South Side YMCA, South High School, South Side YMCA, and the South Side Ministerial Association. Each year, these organizations combine their efforts in such a united "Family Night" community-wide affair.

Tickets are available free of charge from the following cooperating agencies only so long as they last: Barrett Jr. High School, Roosevelt Jr. High School, South High School and the South Side YMCA.

Washington U. B. Wins Championship

The Washington Ave. EUB Church basketball team won the Class A Intermediate City championship title last Tuesday night at Schiller Park, by defeating the North Broadway Methodist, a team who had previously won 25 straight games.

Washington Ave. played 14 games and won all for the title. The team consists of the following players: Bob Dunham, Charles Graver, Bob Hunt, Bill Lewis, Virgil Sailor, Eddie Cherryholmes, Ralph Foster, John Kirby, and Bill Miller. The coaches were Dwight Rife and Kenneth Green.

Mrs. Steinbruegge and Daughter Leave Col's.

Mrs. Minnie Steinbruegge and her daughter, Dora, who have lived at 111 E. Frankfort Street for the past 30 years, will leave Columbus May 1, to make their home at the Evangelical and Reformed for the Aged, Upper Sandusky, Ohio. Mrs. Steinbruegge who is 89, and Dora, 65, have been members of St. Pauls Evangelical and Reformed Church for forty years.

Mrs. Steinbruegge has a beautiful antique bedroom suite which she would like to sell. The money she will get from this suite and from a heating stove which is also for sale, will be all the money Mrs. Steinbruegge and Dora will have for their personal use. If you are in need of bedroom furniture go to 111 Frankfort St. to see this one and with your purchase you will have the feeling that you are helping Mrs. Steinbruegge and Dora.

Mrs. Steinbruegge and Dora will be missed by their many friends of the South Side.

Mrs. Charles Taber Visits Parents

Mrs. Charles F. Taber Jr. and son, Michael, 1566 S. 6th. St., sailed Tuesday to visit her parents in Glouster, England.

They will spend about three months in England, before returning home.

Nine Families Care For Children

Nine families in the South Side of Columbus are giving temporary care to children placed by the Family and Children's Bureau, a local Red Feather service. These and other agency foster parent-have been invited to get together at the Community Chest office, 12 South Third Street, Thursday night, April 7th at 8 o'clock.

Mr. Wesley Thorpe, instructor at Ohio State University School of Social Administration, will speak and lead a discussion of child care. Refreshments will be served.

Marion Township Leaders Athletic Party

On Thursday evening, March 31 a party was held at Clarfield School, to mark the closing of the basketball and volleyball season of the Marion Township Elementary Schools. Those attending were members of the Leaders Clubs, members of the athletic teams, teachers, and guests.

Hilda Reed, an eighth grade pupil from Fornof School, gave the invocation. She was quite surprised and pleased when she was presented with a corsage in honor of the occasion.

Following some group singing, led by Mr. Harold Hess, sportsmanship awards were given to the most outstanding boy and girl player from each school. These awards were presented by "Cap" Hoover in the absence of Jack Crabtree who was to have made the presentations. Nola Williams and Lawrence Hayes received the honors for Fornof.

The Principal from each school presented the Leaders' awards to the deserving pupils. These included six boys and girls from the Fornof School Leaders' Club. They were: Hilda Reed, Mary Lou Singer, Deale Binion, Lawrence Hayes, Ileen Sharp, and Carol Bowen. These were chosen by their classmates as the best leaders of the club. Pictures were taken of people who received the awards.

The speaker of the evening was Dr. Heinz. He spoke on the value of sportsmanship. All enjoyed his interesting talk very much.

A musical trio entertained the group with several good selections. The program ended with the entire group singing "God Bless America." A movie on baseball ended the affair.

Duck Stamp Increase Proprosed

Ohio's thousands of migratory waterfowl hunters are keeping an eye on a Senate bill recently introduced in Congress by Senator Edwin C. Johnson, of Colorado, which proposes to double the present price of the duck stamp.

The Wildlife Management Institute of Washington D. C. reports that there are many sound reasons why this bill should be enacted. The one dollar duck stamp was adopted in 1934 to provide funds for the establishment and management of migratory bird refuges. In terms of purchasing power, the individual hunter who purchases a stamp today contributes little more than half as much as he did when he bo't his stamp in 1935 or 1936. The proposed amendment would tend to equalize changes in the valuation of the dollar.

The refuge system, set up with revenue made available to the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service thru the sale of these stamps, is more seriously needed today than at any time in our history, and the value of the refuges will grow as time passed. As the human population increases, more and more land that served as breeding, resting, and wintering grounds for waterfowl will be put to industrial or agricultural use. An expansion of the system and its protection will become increasingly essential.

Safety Tips For Spring Fishermen

Although the thermometer is becoming more and more familiar with the 70's and lower 80's, stream and lake waters are still too chilly for an unintentional swim.

Early spring fishermen, especially boat fishermen, can avoid a chilly "ducking" by following a few simple rules for boating safety.

Anglers at this time of the year are more heavily dressed than during the summer months and thereby face greater danger from occasional spills because the human body is less maneuverable equipped with heavy clothing and rubber boots.

Veteran boat fishermen usually make it a firm rule never to wear boots in a boat. Boots filled with water on the feet of a fisherman interested only in fishing is next to suicide, and anyway, the result is just about the same as tying weights onto your feet with wire. Your chance of getting the boots off in deep water is just as good.

The weather is more changeable at this time of the year and sudden storms are more certain. Watch for those clouds and head for shore when they look bad.

Two fishermen in one row boat regardless of size is a load unless one rows while the other fishes, and casting from a standing position should be done only by the sure-footed and even then with great caution.

Fishermen are urged to hunt up those old inner-tubes for use as standard equipment while boating. They may be too worn to save your life on a curve, but still good enough to save your life in the water.

And if you value your fishing tackle equipment while fishing from a boat, keep your tackle box closed, except when you need something, and tie a short piece of cord to the handle and attach it to the boat. This is a good idea for other pieces of equipment which might be lost if you should take a spill.

Both fishing and boating are considered safe outdoor sports, but they can be hazardous unless treated with the principles of common sense.

Kennel Club To Hold Show

The Central Ohio Kennel Club will hold its 6th annual all-breed Dod Show, Sunday, April 24 in the Agriculture & Horticulture building at the State Fairgrounds. This is an American Kennel Club Licensed Show and any pure bred Dog 6 months of age or over is eligible to be shown. A fine panel of Judges has been chosen and many beautiful trophies and cash prizes are being offered. Aside from the regular Classes, there will be the popular Obedience and Childrens handling classes. This Club has always shared their receipts with some local organization and this year it will be the Franklin County Polio Center. Entries will be accepted until April 24. For entry blanks and information, contact Mrs. J. E. Edholm, Club Sec'y, 8910 E. Main St., Reynoldsburg, or R. J. Miller Show Chairman, 2872 Neil Ave., Columbus 2, Ohio.

Florence Mulby Chorus To Entertain At State Hospital

The Florence Mulby Chorus will entertain the patients of the State Hospital, in the auditorium, on April 12, from 6:30 to 8:30.

The Florence Mulby Chorus is a group of 12 girls (mostly from the South Side) who have in the past five years, entertained the boys at the Veterans Hospital at Chillicothe, Ohio, the patients at the State Hospital, Churches and any place that entertainment is needed.

Last Christmas this group entertained 1200 boys in the auditorium of the Veterans Hospital with an afternoon and evening show. After the entertainment they served ice cream, cake, candy and cigarettes to 450 boys in the closed wards, and gave gifts to 108 boys. To the patients at the State Hospital, they gave 300 pieces of jewelry and 300 neckties.

The Easter Parade show, which is to be given at the State Hospital, April 12, will have a cast of eighteen people, several South Side persons are included. Mrs. Florence Mulby is the director of the Easter Parade.

Since 1888 the Allemania Savings Company has been providing the people of Columbus with a safe and dependable place for their savings and reserve funds. During this 61 years, we have maintained a steady growth and built up an enviable record of financial strength and stability.

In accordance with our conservative and sound policy, we are taking these two progressive steps in the interest of our accounts and in our service to this community.

FIRST, we have become members of the Federal Savings & Loan Insurance Corporation, effective April 1st. This provides our accounts with insurance and protection for all savings up to $5000 in our Association.

SECOND, we have changed our name to Main Federal Savings & Loan Association in order to give our Association a name which is more descriptive of our location and functions.

SAME POLICY — SAME MANAGEMENT

The same board of directors and same management will continue to operate under the same policies and conservative objectives which have built up and safeguarded our financial strength and characterized our steady progress during the past 61 years.

Supposing You Were Absolutely Honest?

While we in America arm against military attack from without we will do well to re-arm against moral rot from within. Whether we like to admit it or not America is infiltrated by the fifth column of dishonesty. It has cost some countries plenty.

"When we make out our national budget," said a Senator of a European country before the war, "we do it on the understanding that only 10 percent of our people will make an honest return on their income tax estimates." That country folded up in short order when the Nazis marched in. But let's not point the finger at other nations. What about America? According to FBI reports, there is an army of 6,000,000 persons engaged in crime in our country. It is a national shame for which we are all responsible.

For most of us the cutting of moral corners comes in more conventional forms. The mother who tells the train conductor her child is half-fare when he is over-age cannot be surprised when the child in turn starts to lie to her. The woman whose tongue across the bridge table robs other women of their reputations, can anticipate her cook robbing the ice box for her own folks at home. The husband or wife who laughs off the loyalties of married life for the illusion of another romance need not wonder why his or her children get into moral difficulties.

Does honesty pay off?

For the past ten years, housewife Mildred Powell has served on the Seattle City Council. Her platform has always been simple integrity in public affairs and in the last election she received the highest vote ever accorded anyone in a Seattle councilmanic election.

Seattle trusts the word of Mildred Powell. Not long ago gambling interests tried to railroad thru a bill permitting gambling machines in the city. Fortunately the bill had to be voted on twice. So in the week between first passage by an 8 to 1 vote and the second vote, Mildred Powell went to the people. In that week such an outcry was raised by the alerted and informed citizens that when the bill came up for final passage, not a member of the council voted for it.

Opposition may come to those who practice absolute honesty, but in an ideological age determined minorities set the pace.

For thru struggle and opposition, thru the uphill battle to remake the world, men and nations that fight for absolute honesty can know that they move in harmony with an absolutely honest universe governed by an absolutely honest God.

GOOD WORK

The Bureau of Reclamation's 1948 Annual Report shows that this Federal agency reached the highest mark of achievement in the 46-year history of Reclamation, with National manufacturers as well as Western water users benefiting from the building of multiple-purpose irrigation and hydroelectric power projects.

Although the Bureau of Reclamation has made a proud record this year, it is one which must be made still better in the forthcoming months, if we are to increase food and hydroelectric power production in the West and provide irrigated farm homes for veterans and others so essential to the maintenance of our national economic frontiers.

WASHINGTON GETS A SALES TAX

"The City Council" that bosses the Capital of the United States is made up of residents from everywhere except the District of Columbia. Nobody votes in the District. Talk about your "Dixiecrats," they are not to be compared with Washington. A few hundred men from all States in the Union grab the rights away from Washingtonians. Congress talks about selecting a City Manager. Wouldn't he have his hands full if he told Congress what it should do on certain occasions. We Washington Dixiecrats are entitled to govern ourselves.

It takes a lot of money to run a city of a million inhabitants and that's one reason why a sales tax was slapped down on Washington. The Congress reduces the expenses of the District and loads it into the sales tax. The Federal Government, by help of the Congressional grabiteers, "ducks" most of the expenses of the Government. And they seem to think that's all right. A case of poor political power that is misused.

EDDIE CANTOR AT RKO PALACE APRIL 9 & 10

Eddie Cantor, famed star of screen and radio, will play a special two-day engagement on the stage of the RKO Palace Theatre, Columbus, Ohio, Saturday and Sunday, April 9 and 10, it is announced by Harry Schruber, RKO city manager. Cantor last played the Palace in October of 1939, when he broke all box office records. A swift-paced variety revue will be featured with the noted comedian during his two-day appearance.

Cantor's first Ziegfeld show was "Follies of 1917." With the exception of "Midnight Rounders" and "Make It Snappy," which he did for the Shuberts, he performed throughout the years for Showman Ziegfeld in such hits as "The Follies," "Kid Boots" and "Whoopee." His last Broadway show was "Banjo Eyes" which he did in 1942.

Eddie has been a motion picture star for years, starting with Paramount, doing the screen version of "Kid Boots" in 1926 with Clara Bow. Since then he has worked for Samuel Goldwyn, MGM, 20th Century-Fox and RKO, starring in such films as "Kid Boots," "Whoopee," "The Kid From Spain," "Kid Millions," "Roman Scandals" and many others. He has been on radio for 17 years, now being heard Friday night at 9 o'clock.

Cantor has sponsored and developed more stars than any in the industry, most notable being Deanna Durbin, Dinah Shore and Gracie Allen. He has devoted his entire life to public service and humanitarian causes. The veteran showman is chairman for the Eddie Cantor Camp Committee which has helped raise funds for the Surprise Lake Camp, where as a boy he spent his first vacation from New York. He sponsored and created the March of Dimes for the Infantile Paralysis Fund; is founder and past president of the Screen Actors Guild, and one of the founders and past president of the American Federation of Radio Artists. One of the first volunteers in World War I, Cantor entertained wounded boys in hospital during World War II, and created the Purple Heart circuit for wounded boys in the present war.

Making one of his few appearances outside of New York City, Eddie Cantor will play six shows on Saturday and five shows on Sunday at the Palace, including a midnight show on Saturday.

Ideal Shows "The Fuller Brush Man"

Sunday and Monday the Ideal Theater presents "The Fuller Brush Man" with Red Skelton and Janet Blair. This comedy, in which Red turns in his funniest performance is the Season's Howl-a-Minute hit. If you're looking for laughs your search is ended because all hilarity records are broken as Red goes from door to door. Also on the program is "The Golden Eye" with Roland Winters and Marten Marsland, plus News and Cartoon.

WAXED PAPER—A Daily Help In The Home—Crushed peanut brittle makes a good topping for ice cream. To crush the candy, merely put it between sheets of waxed paper and crush it with a rolling pin. The waxed paper prevents the candy from scattering all over, and also keeps the rolling pin clean.

Waxed paper makes it easy to removed ice cream from ice cube trays without losing the rectangular shape of the ice cream. Before filling the tray, lay a strip of waxed paper the full length of the tray and another strip crosswise, allowing 3-inch extensions at the sides and ends. Then, when it is time to take out the ice cream, dip the tray in a pan of warm water for a split second and use the overlapping waxed paper to lift out the ice cream.

* * *

A piece of waxed paper put over the edge of a knife before cutting butter or cheese will prevent it from sticking to the knife and will leave smooth edges.

* * *

For keeping open-faced sandwiches fresh, line a shallow pan or box with waxed paper. Lay the sandwiches close together without stacking. Over them place a sheet of waxed paper and then a damp towel. Store in the refrigerator.

Clark Gable At Columbia Theater

The Columbia Theater will present Command Decision, starring Clark Gable and Walter Pidgeon, for four days, starting Sunday, April 10th and running through Wednesday, April 13th. This is one of the most adventure-crammed stories the screen has ever shown. A saga of Glory in the Air. Speeding to you out of the blur, reaching new ceilings as Red-blooded, power-packed dramatic entertainment. The compelling, unforgettable film version of Broadway's greatest hit. The story of a heroic struggle for supremacy in the air over Europe, during the last war. Make this one a must on your show list.

"Unconquered" Opens Sunday At Southland

Thrill-packed history in glorious Technicolor is the treat film fans have in store for them at the Southland Theatre on Sunday when "UNCONQUERED," starring Gary Cooper, opens a three-day engagement. The Cecil B. DeMille production co-stars Cooper with Paulette Goddard in the harrowing tale of old Fort Pitt. Indian fights, renegade rum runners, romance and unparalleled adventures distinguish this enthusiastically-received hit. Richard Denning and Sheila Ryan star in the co-feature, "Caged Fury."

Wednesday and Thursday of next week, the Southland will show for Family Night attraction, the dual bill of "No Minor Vices" and "Sinister Journey." Dana Andrews, Lilli Palmer and Louis Jourdan star in "No Minor Vices," a sophisticated romantic comedy, concerning a triangle between a stuffy young doctor, the doctor's pretty wife and a completely unpredictable artist. William Boyd stars in the Hopalong Cassidy co-feature, "Sinister Journey."

Fornof News

A letter from Mrs. Moore of Mainpuri, India, was received this week only five days after it was written. Mrs. Moore was a favorite teacher of the boys and girls now in the Seventh Grade and her letters are always very interesting. She will soon be in Language School at The Firs in Landour.

While she studies the Hindi language she teaches the wives of her servants to read and write their own language.

In India, she and Mr. Moore experimented in raising corn and are just now enjoying their first "roasting ears."

Mr and Mrs. Harold Becker invited the members of the Seventh Grade to accompany them to Clarfield School Thursday night. Their daughter, Anna, was a member of the Volley Ball team and attended the Athletic banquet with her friends.

* * *

Rev. Richard Felton, the busiest man around Fornof, found time to visit the Seventh Grade last week. He was received with enthusiasm for the boys and girls knew from experience that he would talk WITH them and not just TO them.

For nearly two hours he discussed with them plans for a new and better community in which they would have many responsibilities in making it a good place in which to live.

He proved to them that believing in God is the surest way to be happy. Many questions were asked, but Rev. Felton was always ready with an interesting and convincing example.

Deale Binion, an eighth grade pupil of Fornof School, was the featured honor Dispatch Carrier in the Dispatch recently. He was chosen as an outstanding carrier because of his fine record and service to his customers. Deale has been an honor carrier for 19 months. We, especially the eighth graders, are very proud of Deale. We hope he continues to render such fine service in his work.

Fornof P. T. A.

Our Spring and Summer Round-Up is now getting under way. Cooperation of the parents will be deeply appreciated.

We bid a sad adieu to the Reeds. Mrs. Reed's leadership will be greatly missed but we will carry on as best we can without her. We sincerely hope they will find the health they are seeking.

Mr. A. H. Weiser, who was scheduled to be our speaker in March, will really be here to speak at our April meeting. Every one interested in our young people should be here to hear him. We may get some valuable tips.

We had a splendid speaker for our March meeting, the Rev. Rudy Thomas, of Central Community Church has an an excellent reputation as a leader of young people. We were fortunate indeed to have secured him to address us.

SHOW

On Tuesday, April 5, the Fornof PTA will sponsor a movie which will be shown at the school in the evening. The picture will be "Sudan" and is in technicolor. Candy will be sold.

THE THIRD GRADE

The Third Grade will present a musical program "Our America" at the Fornof Parent-Teachers meeting, April 19, at 7:30 p.m. at the school building. They are busy painting pictures and designing costumes that show the development of our country through its growth.

Southway Auxiliary To Have Coffee Hour

SOUTHWAY UNIT 144 of American Legion Auxiliary will celebrate Pan American Day with a Venezuelan Coffee hour Sunday, April 10th from 2:30 to 5:00 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Harold I. Swentzel, 2743 Elliott Ave.

Venezuela, which at one time was a part of Greater Colombia, is the country which Auxiliary Units throughout the United States are studying this year. The chief agricultural export is coffee and 70% of it comes to the United States. Venezuela is second only to the United States in the production of oil. The revenue from their oil has enabled Venezuela to develop an extensive program of education, health, sanitation and housing.

The following South American Students who are attending college here will take part in the program: Maria Elena Vega of Monteria, Colombia, a student in the Arts College of St. Mary of the Springs College, Amyra Dassum of Quito, Ecuador, a sophomore in Arts at St. Mary of the Springs, and Sautria Guerrero from Bogota, Colombia, a graduate student at Ohio State University in Chemistry and Biological Sciences.

Mrs. Arthur T. Palmer, 935 E. Broad Street, will present a program of Venezuelan folk music.

Mrs. C. J. Keller of Wauseon, President of the Department of Ohio American Legion Auxiliary as well as two past Department Presidents, Mrs. Lester Merritt and Mrs. Harry Marsh will be honored guests.

Mrs. Oscar Wohlfarth, President of Southway Unit, will welcome the members and their friends.

Serving on the Pan American Committee are: Miss Nell Flautt, 1845 Sullivant Ave.: Mrs. John Whalen, 223 S. Terrace Ave.; Mrs. Harold I. Swentzel, 2743 Elliott Ave.; and Miss Mary Quinn, 478 S. Warren Ave.

St. Paul's Joint Committees Meet

A joint committee meeting was held at St. Pauls Evangelical Church last week end and final plans were discussed for the new building program. Mr. Fred Schwars head of the Building Committee was in full charge, and reports were presented by C. E. Henderson, Paul Newfang, and Ed Trautman. With three-fourths of the congregation having been canvassed, and the balance to be contacted this week, permission was given to contact interested people outside the church membership.

Complete plans were displayed by Architect George Stegmiller, and except for a few minor changes, they were accepted and approved. The New Church Basement will have six classrooms, plus a large central worship center. A permanent stage will occupy the North End, while the south side will adjoin the present dining room. A new heating plant will be installed for the entire structure, to insure even heat at all times. The New Church Auditorium will permanently seat more than four hundred, and will have the much talked of Central Aisle. A vestibule inside the Gates Street Main Entrance, will open into the Church proper, as well as a Check Room on one side and a lounge on the other. Two inside entrances will be provided from the auditorium to the basement. The present Social Hall will be raised and extended, forming more classrooms, plus a large meeting room. Miss Helen Trautman and Mr. Clarence Hulls, heads of the Sunday School were on hand and gave approval of new arrangements. Cut stone and Brick will figure heavily in construction work. May first is scheduled for opening ceremonies.

NEW HIGHWAYS

Norman Gregg reports thru the American Roadbuilders Association that contracts for new highways during 1948 amounted to $1,058,927,000 as compared to $817,742,000 awards by the State Highway Departments in the preceding year.

Evidently highway building has to "keep going fast" to catch up with present and future travel demands.

We All Rise With Christ

A. V. Kessler,
Pastor Corpus Christi

There is something truly amazing in the ability of the Church to re-create in the minds of its people the mood of the many and varied Christian events that happened so many years ago. She seems to have a knack of making these incidents in the life of Christ come to life again for us. The Christmas mood of simple joy is just as irresistable for us now as for the early Christians and the Lenten season climaxed on Good Friday sweeps us into the same mood and same gloom that must have enveloped Calvary, so many years ago.

Today, on this Sunday of the Resurrection, no matter what be our personal worry and sorrow, we find ourselves lifted up into the joy of the risen Christ. His Resurrection becomes for us a personal gift and we feel a personal joy in sharing it. Out of the silent prayers of the Mass rises a shout of joy that finds an echo in every heart: "This is the day that the Lord has made; Let us rejoice and be glad in it."

The very repetition of those words, might of itself create the mood of Easter season. The bright vestments of the priest at Mass, the ringing bells, the pealing organ all in contrast with the somberness and silence of Holy Week serve to emphasize the mood and yet there is much more to our joy than even that. Our joy consists in this, the constant remembrance that Christ actually lives in His Church, in every member of His Church. He is a Child of Nazareth in every Christian home. He is a carpenter working side by side with every Christian worker. He teaches with every teacher and suffers with every human being in pain. He is all to all, with every human being, young and old. He is here for all of us wanting to help us pass through this calvary of preparation to that eternal home where He lives in the glory and joy of His Resurrection

But even more than that - Every morning on the altar is re-enacted the whole glorious cycle of the Redemptive life of Christ. The birth at Bethlehem is re-lived and the Last Supper on the table where the priest, in the name of Christ, takes bread, wine, blesses and consecrates is done again in remembrance of Him. There is a Calvary in the unbloody offering and a Resurrection in God's acceptance of the offering for our salvation. On Calvary Christ alone suffered and Christ alone offered but on the altar we offer with Him. On the first Easter the Resurrection was God's smile on the offering that Christ had made on the Cross and God's assurance that every sorrow will be sweet and His promise that when our offering is complete an eternal resurrection shall crown it.

Yes, we know that Christ has indeed risen from the grave and knowing that there is hardly anything else we need to know for our joy. In that we have comfort, strength, and security, and He who set the pattern of the perfect life through Bethlehem, Nazareth, and Judea, through prison, trial and the road to Calvary, through death and the tomb, He is the risen God. We can trust our life to Him and joyfully trust the pattern of His life, death and resurrection as it will be relived in each of us.

The Easter Message

Rev. Leonard Mann
Thurman Ave. Methodist Church

"Fear not....He is risen."—These are the words of a heavenly messenger, an angel. And the words are the glad, good tidings of the risen, Living Christ.

The messengers of God have many times brought to mankind messages of gladness and hope.

It was an angel who came to Mary of the House of David, and [illegible] "Fear not, Mary! For [illegible] favor with God. [illegible] shalt conceive... [illegible] forth a Son, and shall [illegible] Jesus....And He [illegible] save his people from their [illegible]

[illegible] an angel who came to [illegible] shepherds on a Judean [illegible], and said to them, "Fear [illegible]! For behold I bring you good [illegible] of great joy which shall [illegible] to all people. For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour which is Christ the Lord."

It was an angel who stood by [illegible] women trembled at His [illegible] tomb, and said to them, "Fear not! For I know that ye [illegible] Jesus which was crucified. He is not here, for He is risen, as he said."

It was an angel in white apparel who stood by when trembling [illegible] watched the risen Christ [illegible] into the excellent glory, [illegible] who said to them, "Ye men of Galilee, why stand ye here gazing up into heaven? This same Jesus which is taken from you into heaven shall so come in like manner as ye have seen him go."

An angel told of the Saviour to be born; an angel announced his birth; and, after creation had groaned for the agony of his death upon a cross, an angel told of His rising from among the dead; and an angel promised that He would come again.

In every testimony of the heavenly messengers to the power and glory of the triumphant Christ one thread runs unbroken, one message of God to men recurs again and again. That message is, "Fear not!" Fear not, Mary. Fear not, shepherds. Fear not, women at the emptied tomb. Fear not, men who follow an ascended Christ.

Easter, in the year of our Lord 1949, dawns upon a world where many people are very much afraid. In national life, in economic life, in personal life, men and women are afraid, afraid in this strange new age.

But once again the Easter angels sing, the heavenly message comes—to all who have ears to hear, and eyes to see, and hearts to understand. "Fear not," they say.

And the victorious Master says, "Fear not: I am He that liveth and was dead; and behold I am alive forevermore." And then, "Because I live, ye shall live also." And again, "In the world ye shall have tribulation; but be of good cheer: I have overcome the world."

Swan Club To Hold Paper Drive

The Swan Club, one of South Side's finest organizations, is holding a paper drive, Sunday, April 24th. The money raised from this paper drive will be used for future endeavors of the club.

The Swan Club, as most every one knows, was the club responsible for the erecting of the South High Booster and contributed a major share in raising the $50000 for the scoreboard in Mahaffey Stadium at South High School. It is [illegible] work on the part of the boys. They held several paper drives, sold Booster tickets and held a raffle to raise the money for the scoreboard and now they are holding a paper drive of their own and are asking the cooperation of you South Siders to help them make their own paper drive a success. Let's all remember the date and make this a red letter day for the Swan Club and save all the papers we possibly can between now and then. The officers of the club are: President Gene Mock; Vice President Bob Denman; Secretary Bill Doty; Treasurer Jack Cloud. If you want to call any of the boys above about the paper drive or get in touch with Dick Arnold who is publicity chairman. More details will be in the next week's Booster.

Scout Show At Schiller Park

Chairman Earl MacLeod and Scoutmaster Glen Clingman will present their entire Troop 77 of Saint Pauls Evangelical and Reformed Church to the public at Schiller Park Tuesday evening, April 26, at 8 p.m. The boys will show all phases of their diversified training, including First aid, Tripod building, hiking, and camping. All the boys as well as committee members have tickets, selling for thirty-five cents. These tickets make the purchaser a sponsor for the evening and proceeds will go for troop activities including equipment for their room in the new Church. The public is invited to witness the demonstration starting when the boys return to the Shelter House from a make believe hike, and display just what goes on in camp.

Rummage Sale

Capital City Chapter Mailbag Club will hold their spring rummage sale on Saturday, April 23 at 320 South Fourth Street. Mrs. Floyd Shuster is the chairman.

Young People To Have Dance

The young people and Brotherhood of St. Paul's Evangelical and Reformed Church will have a dance Friday evening, April 29, at K.P. Hall, 697 So. High Street starting at 8 p.m.

The affair is open to the public and tickets will be available at the door that night. Admission is fifty cents, music by Allan Boettingers Orchestra. Both Round and Square Dancing will be on tap for the evening with Jim Wagner calling. The Young People's Organization is fairly new at St. Pauls, but the group is growing rapidly. They will have a very active part in the new Church Building, and their first means of raising funds is having this dance. Dancing forms a big part of all young people's lives, hence the Brotherhood quickly jumped in to sponsor the action.

Frank Cherry, Brotherhood President, or Bob Liess, Financial Secretary have full particulars for any interested parties.

ATTEND CHURCH SUNDAY

Valparaiso University Guild To Meet

The reglular meeting of the Valparaiso University Guild will be held at Zion Lutheran Church, 3rd and Mound Streets, at 8:00 p.m. The speaker for the evening will be Mr. N. E. Koschmann, a graduate of Valparaiso University. There will also be election and installation of officers.

The following committee is in charge of refreshments: Mrs. Paul Pennekamp, Mrs. E. L. Prentice, Miss Mary Prentice, Mrs. F. F. Rempel, Miss Anna Saenger, Miss Louise Saenger, Mrs. Wesley Stine, Miss Eda Horst, Miss Ada Ziegfeld, Miss Eda Ziegfeld, Miss Elizabeth Ziegfeld, and Mrs. Oscar Ziegfeld.

St. Mary's P.T.A. Meeting

The monthly meeting of the P. T.A. of St. Mary's school will be held Thursday, April 21 at eight o'clock in the school hall.

A town meeting under the direction of Sister Rose Francis, will be presented by the Seniors. The discussion will be on "Comic Books." Robert Butler will be the discussion leader. The Panel are Donald Leonhart, Donald Mair, Joan Wirth and Laverne Monnett.

There will be an election of officers. Refreshments will be served following the meeting.

University Mothers Meet Tuesday

Group B of O.S.U. Mothers Club will be entertained at the home of Mrs. Henry Caves, 311 Southwood Ave., Tues., April 19, at 12 o'clock with a pot-luck luncheon.

Assisting hostesses are: Mrs. Godfrey Evans, 292 Southwood Ave., and Mrs. H. C. Baer, 276 Moler St. Please bring your own table service.

Healing Mission Being Held

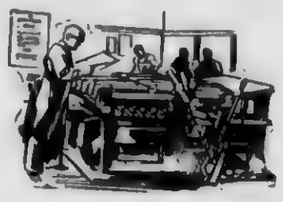
There will be a revival meeting all this week at the Free Holiness Mission, 134 S. Fourth St.

The Rev. Leonard Rice, Evangelist, will be in charge.

Special singing will be featured. According to the evangelist, many have given testimony to being healed in these meetings.

Bud Gillis To Be Guest Speaker

Bud Gillis who is M. C. of the Dinner Winner Program, as well as announcer over Radio Station W.H.K.C., will be guest speaker at St. Mary's Parish Council Meeting in their school hall on Tuesday evening, April 19th at 8 p.m.



Miss Mary Louise Hendricks president of the Council, will preside at the meeting, following which there will be a social hour.

All the ladies of the Parish are asked to make a special effort to attend this meeting and give Bud a most Hearty Welcome, as his topic will be of very much interest to all.

Church Canvass Nears End

Mr. C. E. Henderson, head of the Finance Committee announced the completion of the first phase of the Drive for Saint Pauls Evangelical and Reformed Church. He figures all pledges should be tallied by Easter Sunday, when the entire Loose Offering will be turned over to Paul Newfang for the New Structure. After Mr Newfang receives the Easter Offering, he will have a complete record of all cash and pledges towards the Ninety Thousand Dollar Goal. The regular Morning Worship Service conducted by Reverend Kaefer at St. Pauls will be shortened April 24 and a short Congregational Meeting will be held, to inform those in attendance just how the drive has progressed, and what the plans will be from there on. Ground Breaking festivities are being completed for Sunday, May First, with the date for cornerstone laying to be decided by the Church Council. At the last joint meeting of all committees it was reported that the Finance Group had more than One Hundred and Fifty Members of the Congregation to canvass as yet, but by Easter Sunday Mr. Henderson plans on having the work completed.

Call backs and follow ups will be handled under the direction of President Ed Trautman. All architectural plans have been approved, and tentative sketches have been offered for the New Chancel and Altar. Mr. Clarence Acker, an expert woodworker from Boyertown Casket Company, in addition to acting on the Building Committee, will construct some of the Altar, as well as a registration desk for the rear of the New Building.

The beautiful desk in the vestibule of the present structure is the result of Mr. Acker's handicraft. A total of more than 950 persons attended the Thursday Night Lenten Services at Reverend Kaefer's Church in the series just concluded, with all the loose offering going to the Building Fund.

Steelton Merchants Buy Stadium Bonds

The Steelton Merchants Ass'n has always been in there for anything which would benefit the youth of our community.

Wife: A letter came for you marked "Private and Personal."

Husband: What did it say?

Black Bass Season To Close May 1st

The black bass season for the inland waters of the state will be closed from May 1 thru June 15, but this year the closed season will primarily affect only the streams and a few lakes.

Because of the liberalized fishing experiment, now in progress on 26 lakes and Shade River and all tributaries located in Athens and Meigs counties, adopted by the Ohio Conservation Commission, black bass fishing in most of Ohio's fishing lakes will not be interrupted by the closed season. Restrictions of closed seasons, bag limits and legal lengths have been removed from these waters to determine whether or not most lakes are overcrowded with small sized fish which fail to grow because of overcrowding.

The closed season on black bass in the Lake Erie Fishing District will be May 25 thru June 30. This district includes the waters of Lake Erie and parts of the Sandusky and Maumee Bays in the vicinity of Lake Erie. At Pymatuning Lake, the OPEN season for black bass, yellow pike-perch and muskellunge runs from July 1 thru November 30.

The daily limit on black bass is six and the minimum legal length, 10 inches except in the unrestricted waters. The daily bag limit remains at 20 for rock bass, crappie, sunfish, bluegill, yellow perch, white bass and catfish, or a total of 25 of combined species. There is no minimum legal length. These restrictions do not apply to the experimental waters.

Law Cited For Frog & Turtle Hunters

Lester C. Bailey, Chief of the Ohio Division of Conservation's Law Enforcement Section, this week cautioned those who may be hungry for fresh frog legs or turtle soup to consult the state laws governing the taking of frogs and turtles.

He pointed out that frogs in all waters and turtles in streams only, are protected by the same closed seasons as black bass. Turtles in lakes, ponds and canals may be taken at any time. Frogs and turtles may be taken in any way EXCEPT BY SHOOTING, and if a trap is used to take turtles, each mesh shall measure at least four inches on a side (square mesh) and without leads or wings. There is no daily bag, possession or legal length limit on turtles. Ten is the maximum daily bag limit on frogs. There's no legal length limit on frogs, and both frogs and turtles may be sold only during the open seasons.

TYPEWRITERS AS A LABOR-SAVING DEVICE

There is a well known author and experimental farmer who is cutting kitchen capers these days by sticking his nose into the margarine mixing bowl. Mr. Louis Bromfield is the man who suggests that "all (women's) pioneer qualities have gone down the drain" if they rebel at the laborious chore of coloring margarine at home.

To be sure women no longer have to draw water or use the old scrubbing board for laundering or a heater to clean rugs. But we wonder just how much modern machinery Mr. Bromfield deprives himself of on his Ohio farm, Malabar. If he is so willing to impose added chores on women, we wonder how many household conveniences he refuses to allow in his home.

In our opinion, Mr. Bromfield would be wise to stick to the typewriter as the labor-saving device we are almost certain he possesses. For all right and fair-minded people know that laws which prevent manufacturers from coloring margarine were instigated by a handful of selfish butter interests and we are still kept on the statute books because of a powerful and high-handed dairy lobby.

Few people will long remember that Mr. Bromfield went far out on a limb to chastise women if they don't "love that margarine mixing," but thousands of American voters will not forget what action their legislators take.

In line with an annual custom in the Church of the Nazarene, we join other local congregations in a grand Easter Offering for Missions next Sunday. The goal set for the denomination is $850,000. Parsons Avenue Church is striving to bring in over $500 of this amount. The various departments of the church are collaborating in this wonderful work, spurred on by the unequalled opportunities and open doors for the gospel throughout the world. Join us Easter Sunday in this march offering to victory!

The Genuine Article Says Tommy Smith

Personally, we have our doubts. Tommy says the fish is now at the Taxidermist. When finished it will be hung over the Swan Bar.

Tommy gave us this picture to prove it. We are passing it along to you for what it is worth.

Some fish story, we think!

Red Cross Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of the Franklin County Chapter of the American Red Cross will be held Tuesday evening, April 19, at 8 p.m. The election of chapter officers by the Board of Directors, and of members of the Board of Directors will take place.

Membership in the Red Cross includes everyone who contributes one dollar or more to the organization during the year.

"Every member of the Red Cross is elizible to vote on all matters of business, including the election of board members, and should participate in this business meeting", said Paul R. Gingher, chapter chairman.

Mr. Gingher urges as many as possible to attend and take part in this annual meeting which deviates from the former plan of holding a dinner or luncheon meeting.

Wesley Foundation Choir Coming Soon

The Wesley Foundation Choir, composed of Methodist students from Ohio State University, will visit Gates - Fourth Methodist Church on Easter Sunday.

This is one stop on a 5-day tour which the Choir is making through Southeastern and Central Ohio. The service here is to be held at 7:30 p.m.

As far as is known, this is the first time that a tour has been made by a choir of this type. Many groups travel in the name of an entire school or department of music, but the Ohio University group believes this to be the first Choir to be sent out by a Wesley Foundation.

There are 160 Wesley Foundations in the country and six in Ohio. These Ohio Foundations are set up at each of the five state universities and at the University of Cincinnati. In each cast a program of religious and social activities is carried on for students of Methodist preference. Included are fellowship and prayer groups, vesper services, religious music and drama groups, numerous service projects for local, American and foreign peoples, and deputation and gospel teams to other churches.

The student Choir is completing its second year of high-quality work. This year it is directed by Mrs. Arlene Gregory who graduated from the school last year. She is teaching music in the school at Amesville while her husband, Bob, is doing his senior work at the university. Both Mr. and Mrs. Gregory have been active in the choir since it was started and both have been with the Wesley Foundation throughout their school careers. In the Choir Mr. Gregory is the lead tenor. He is the vice-president of the Foundation and president-elect for next year when he will remain in school to do his Master's work.

The Wesley Foundation Choir has confined itself strictly to religious music. Much of its work has been a cappella. It's members represent a varied interest, many actually majoring in the music field while others are in engineering, commerce, education, journalism, and home economics. They have come from widely different parts of Ohio, and Niagara Falls, New York is the home of one of the students. Most of them hold other jobs in the Wesley Foundation. The vesper chairman vice-president, music chairman, public relations chairman, treasurer, program chairman and personnel chairman are all in the Choir.

One member was recently made Phi Beta Kappa. Several plan to enter full-time Christian service, either as ministers, missionaries, social workers or as religious educators.

Southway Post To Burn Mortgage

Herbert S. Duffy, Attorney General of Ohio, will be the toastmaster at the twenty-second anniversary birthday party of the Southway Post scheduled for Wednesday evening, April 20 at the Post Home, 874 S. High St. Other distinguished guests include Past Department Commander Aaron J. Holloran, Springfield, 12th District Commander Harry Weaston, Jr., 12th District vice-commander D. Clark Fenneran, and Franklin County Council Commander A. D. Johnson. An elaborate program of entertainment has been arranged by a committee headed by Past Post Commander Oscar Rueckel, post entertainment chairman.

High light of the party will be the burning of the mortgage on the Post Home. A buffet dinner will be served. Fred J. Baas, 330 Reinhard Ave., was elected first commander of the Post April 1, 1927.

Other charter members were: E. J. Morbitzer, deceased, Casper Volt, John L. Schwind, William Bauer, Henry Manns, deceased, Walter Plank, Carl Morbitzer, Oscar W. Weitzenecker, Frank Manus, deceased, Albert Reichert, Albert G. Becker, deceased, Edgar H. Ruble, Carl H. Gauch, Geo. P. Hack, deceased, and Harry Stammler, deceased.

All Post members and members of the Ladies Auxiliary have been invited to be present by Post Commander Thomas J. Cronin, 851 Heyl Ave.

South Methodist To Hold Easter Sunrise Services

The High School Fellowship of South Methodist Church is again sponsoring the Easter Sunrise Service at 7 a.m. next Sunday. Mr. M. E. (Jack) Sensenbrenner, teacher of Fidelis Class at Hoge Memorial Presbyterian Church, will speak on the subject, "My Redeemer Liveth." Special music will consist of a solo "My Heart Ever Faithful, Sing Praises" by Lucille Wagner; and a quartet "In Joseph's Lovely Garden" by Lucille Wagner, Ada Belle Baker, Mary Ann Bellman and Howard Wagner. The leader of the Service will be Shirley Daugherty, assisted by Mary Smith and Floyd McDaniel. Immediately following the Sunrise Service, the Seidell and Christian Fellowship Classes will attend the Sunrise Service and remain for the breakfast.

The High School Fellowship feels it is quite fortunate in securing Mr. Sensenbrenner as its speaker for the third consecutive Easter. In addition to his many activities at Hoge Memorial, he is President of the Hilltop Kiwanis Club, District Commissioner in the Boy Scouts, and a Trustee in the Bible Meditation League.

Donald Ryan Is Home

Donald L. Ryan, Seaman 1c, stationed at Norfolk, Va., is home on leave for the Easter holidays. Donald is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ryan of 249 Siebert.

Hungarian Dramatic Club Presents Easter Play

On Easter Sunday, April 17, 1949, at 8 o'clock, the Hungarian Dramatic Club will present as one of it's semi-annual plays, "Leanyvasar", an operetta in three acts. It will be given at the Croatian Hall, 377 Reeb Ave.

Playing one of the leads is Zoltan Horvath who has been in a number of the musical productions of the club in the past.

The operetta will be presented in the Hungarian language. Others included in the cast are: Albert Kertesz, Rosemary Chidder Beickelman, Irene Arch Grosshart, James Grosshart Sr., Mary Horvath, Andrew Komives, Bill Varga, George Horvath, Bela Zakhar, Juluis James Varga, Steve Paul, Helen Horvath, Mary Ann Komives and Margaret Horvath.

The play is being presented under the direction of Rose Paul. Musical accompanists will be Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kallos on the piano and violin respectively. Mr. Joseph Budai will be prompter.

Tickets may be reserved by calling Katherine Paul, 300 Hinman Ave., GA. 71802 and may also be obtained at the door.

The Hungarian Dramatic Club has been active for the past twenty years in Columbus and central Ohio in presenting Hungarian plays and other entertainment.

Rev. Father Mooney To Speak

Rev. Father Vincent Mooney will be the guest speaker at the next meeting of St. Leo's Parent-Teacher Association on Thursday, April 21 in the school hall. Father Mooney is well known for his work among the youth of the diocese, and his subject at this meeting will be on Scouting. This should be especially interesting at this time, as plans are being formulated for the formation of a Cub Pack for boys between the ages of 9-12.

Congratulations to the Third Grade for winning the attendance prize last month.

'So Dear To My Heart' At Russell Theater

The Russell Theater presents "So Dear To My Heart" with Bobby Driscoll and Beulah Bondi, on Sunday and Monday. It tells the story of an average boy living in the heartland of America a generation ago. This simple, heart-warming, tender and human story of bygone days is told with the masterful Disney touch. This is a picture for the entire family to enjoy. If you miss this hit, now is the time to see it. The second picture is "The Valiant Hombre" with Duncan Renaldo and Leo Carrillo. News and Cartoon complete the bill.

Columbia Theater

The Columbia Theater presents Sunday, Monday and Tuesday "3 Godfathers" starring John Wayne. This new masterpiece of the frontier is a bold sweeping story of the early West. It's rugged outdoor entertainment at its very best, it's packed with action, pathos and thrills. Also on the bill is "Tarzan's Magic Fountain," featuring the new Tarzan, Lex Barker. The new Tarzan, king of the Jungles, will thrill you with a rousing spectacle of wild adventure. Never has Tarzan encountered such fascinating adventures. He discovers a fabulous fountain of Youth and a woman who knows no fear. He dares a thousand perils in a primitive paradise.

Ideal Presents My Wild Irish Rose

Sunday and Monday the Ideal Theater presents My Wild Irish Rose with Dennis Morgan and Arlene Dahl. In this technicolor musical Morgan turns in the best singing and acting job of his career. This is the story of Chauncey Olcott whose Irish lilt could charm the stars right out of the sky and who brought laughter and music to the world. The story is gay, gorgeous and grand, and takes you back in the days of the Nifty Nineties when show business was packed with heart-throbs and laughter. The second picture is Out Law Brand with Jimmie Wakely and Cannonball Taylor plus news, and cartoon.

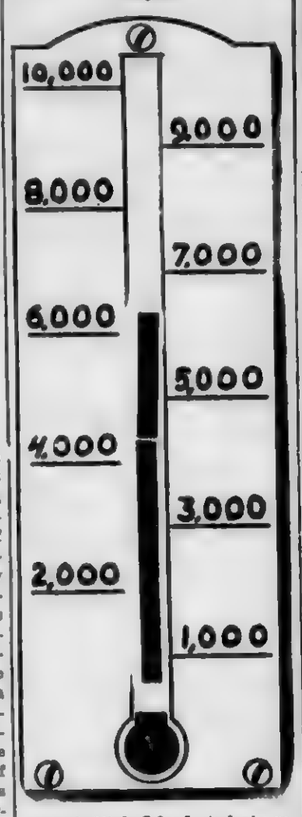
Altar Society Bingo Party

St. Leo's Altar Rosary-Parish Council will hold a benefit Bingo on Wednesday, April 20, in the school hall, for adults only. Admission will be 50c per person. Cash prizes will be awarded, and there will be only one raffle,—a clothes basket of canned fruit and vegetables. Each member of the Sodality and Council is asked to bring a can of fruit or vegetables.

The major part of the proceeds of this Bingo will be used to continue the work of charity for the inmates of the Bellview Heat Home, 1201 S. High Street. The public is invited.

Tax Stamps Still Needed By Lions Club

The Lions Club are still in need of tax stamps to carry on their sight saving project. If you have sales tax stamps that you would like to have used for a good purpose bring them to the South Side Booster, 1542 Parsons Ave. and we will turn them over to the Lions Club. Mr. Jack Pool is the person the Club is helping at the present time. The next case the Lions Club will help may be a neighbor of yours, or some little boy or girl you know. Help by saving your tax stamps and turn them in.



Buy Bonds For South High School

REEB CALENDAR

Thursday, Apr. 14, Assembly Program, Mrs. Draudt's Class leading.

Friday, April 15th, No School, Good Friday.

Monday, April 18th, No School, Easter Monday.

Tuesday, April 19th, Educational Films:

1:30 p.m. Song Birds of the North Woods.

2:10 p.m. Song Birds of the North Woods.

2:35 p.m. Nature's Songsters.

Wednesday, April 20th, 9:30 a.m., Sale of Savings Stamps and Bonds.

The above calendar of the events of the coming week is announced so that our parents and adult friends may plan to come to Reeb to visit us.

Mary Kottyan and Dorothy Pallos have done a fine job helping to count the Sales Tax stamps in Room 205.

The Chapel program to be presented on Thursday, April 14th, by Mrs. Draudt's room will consist of songs and Bible Verses by the class. A Bible story will be told by Judith Vogt, Ruby Kline, Robert Gallatin, Patricia Moore, Barbara Hoisington, and Sharon Dodson. Katherine Wilkey will sing a hymn.

On Tuesday, April 19th, Reeb's 6th grade pupils, who have permission from their parents, will be checking with all of the homes of our school district to locate all of the 4-year-old and 5-year-old children. This work will be done systematically and we will appreciate your co-operation when our pupils call at your home.

Please keep in mind that we appreciate receiving sales tax stamps from any legitimate source to help in our collection for our general school fund.

Next Wednesday, April 20 is the date for the annual Spring District Conference of Parents and Teachers. This will be held in the Broad St. Methodist Church. Several of Reeb's P.T.A. officers will be attending representing our local organization.

Reeb's monthly P.T.A. meeting is scheduled for next Thursday, April 21st at 2:15 p.m. Please keep in mind that these meetings are planned with one idea and that is to help in our mutual job of training the children of our community. How can you afford to miss these worthwhile hours?

The following Reeb pupils have had special school work placed on display in the school exhibit case: Milo Mitchell, David Hill, and Clyde Honaker.

New pupils coming to Reeb recently are: Johann Mayes, 1911 S. 4th and Carol McCluskey, 855 Innis. We are also glad to have Barbara Waugh and Ella Denney back with us.

Fornoff School News

SECOND GRADE

On March 31, Donald Pennington, one of Mrs. Brown's second graders, moved to Kentucky with his family.

Joe Wolfe, assisted by his brother and sister, is now selling bunny carts for Easter. Their father makes the carts and they are quite clever and attractive, and will be sure to please all. We wish the Wolfe family success in their endeavor to bring happiness to others.

The second grade boys and girls must all be faithful Sunday School attendants, because they again won the award. This award is presented each week to the class having the most pupils attending Sunday School, Church, or any other church service on Sunday. The second graders get the award almost every week.

Several of the children in Mrs. Brown's room are planning to be in the Easter program at Benfield Church on Easter morning. They are attending practices regularly. We wish them success in their program.

Mrs. Brown is planning to go to Lynwood, California this summer for her vacation. She expects to leave on June 8th and will stay at least two months. Mrs. Brown's children, Johnny and Jean Ann will accompany their mother. We wish the Browns lots of luck and hope they have a pleasant trip.

SIXTH GRADE

The Sixth Grade will present the play "The Proud Princess" under the direction of Barbara Stewart and Leroy Ervin. Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Jones, second and third grade teachers, have been assisting with rehearsals each evening after school.

The following have not been absent this year: Shelby Briggs, Ishmael Crabtree, Gaynell Daniel, Leroy Ervin, Charlene Leighly, Jimmy Lockett, Jack VanDine, Kenneth Wallace, Fred Webber, Ruth Williams and Melvin Wolfe.

SEVENTH GRADE

April 6th Carol Johnson, of the seventh grade, visited the Government Depot. She took a ride on a "Duck" also on a forklifter called a "Bug." The tour on the train was interesting. She went through the longest warehouse in the United States on a bus. Her father had a display of Army goods for Army Day at the State House April 6.

Clarence Love, James Seymour and Donald Seymour are building a honey of a car. This midget auto measures four and one-half feet long, two feet in height and weighs 150 pounds. It has a wooden frame covered with canvas which will be painted blue and trimmed in red.

Floral Memorial For Dorothy Drake

Mr. and Mrs. L. N. Drake, 195 Tibet Road, recently received by air mail native Hawaiian flowers from Hilo Hawaii. The flowers were sent as a memorial by the former students of their daughter, Miss Dorothy Drake, who was lost in a tidal wave in Hawaii while serving as a teacher at Lanpohoehoe.

The flowers which included anthuriums, Bird of Paradise, Ti leaves and other native flowers were used as a memorial to Miss Drake, Sunday morning, at King Avenue Methodist Church.

Dr. Drake is Principal of Mound Junior High School.

ATTEND CHURCH, SUNDAY

Card Of Thanks

Baker, Richard T.
Baker, Harry A.

We wish to Thank our neighbors and friends for their expressions of sympathy, consolation and beautiful floral offerings received at the deaths of our dear Father Richard T. Baker and Son and Brother Harry A. Baker.

Mr. Richard T. Baker is survived by his wife, Abbie Baker; four sons, Chester, Russel, Horace and Woodrow; three granddaughters and 1 grandson. Mr. Baker was employed as a Bricklayer at Buckeye Steel Casting Co.

Mr. Harry A. Baker is survived by his wife, Katherine and daughter, Mary, also by his four brothers and his mother, Mrs. Abbie Baker.

We also wish to thank The Cook and Haag funeral homes and those who performed the last funeral rites at the time of burial.

Mrs. Abbie Baker and Sons

Miss Mary Skurats Wed March 5th

Twin seven branch candelabra and vases of orange gladioli decorated the altar of St. Paul's Evangelical and Reformed Church March 5, when Miss Mary Skurats became the bride of Mr. Owen Paul Weinrich. The Rev. Mr. Paul C. Kaefer read the vows at 4:30 p.m.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Sergey Skurato, 1097 Sycamore St. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. John Sahr, 1345 Sullivant Av., and Mr. Lewis V. Weinrich of Canton.

Escorted to the altar by her brother, the bride wore a gown of white satin trimmed with lace. A headdress of net and seed pearls held in place the full length veil edged with lace. White roses formed the bridal bouquet.

Mrs. Frances Galamore, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Mrs. Maxine Storch, sister of the bridegroom, was bridesmatron and Miss Margaret Walters was bridesmaid.

They wore gowns of pink organza and carried bouquets of pink roses.

Mr. Howard H. Storch was best man. Mr. Anthony Galamore and Mr. Stanley Krych, Jr., ushered.

The couple will reside at 1097 Sycamore St.

Mr. And Mrs. Weber Wed 50 Years

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Weber of 487 Sycamore St., celebrated their golden wedding anniversary Feb. 25, with open house.

They were married Feb. 15, 1899 at 487 Sycamore St., where they have spent their entire married life. Mr. Weber has been employed by the Falter Packing Co. for 51 years. They have two sons, Harry Weber of Obets, Ohio, and Henry Weber of Columbus, three grandsons and one granddaughter.

Miss Patricia Jones Plans June Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. David S. Jones of 906 Lockbourne Rd., are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Patricia Ann, to Mr. Robert Eugene Poling, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Poling of Johnstown.

The bride-elect attended Ohio State University and is associated with the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp.

Mr. Poling was graduated from Johnstown High School, attended Ohio State University, and was graduated from Franklin University. He is now associated with the Battelle Memorial Institute.

The wedding will be an event of June.

Miss Carol Mack To Wed April 30th

Announcement is made of the engagement of Miss Carol Mack, 93 Mithoff St., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard B. Enis of Miami, Fla., to Mr. Edward W. Paas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Paas, 829 Mohawk St.

Miss Mack attended South High School and is employed by the Ohio Farm Bureau. Mr. Paas is employed by the F. J. Heer Printing Co.

The wedding will be held April 30 at St. Paul's Lutheran Church.

Miss Houghn Is Betrothed To Mr. Hain

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Houghn of 1415 S. Sixth-st, announce the engagement of their daughter, Barbara Jean, to John H. Hain, son of Mrs. Doris Hain, 1255 Oakwood-av, and the late Jesse H. Hain.

Ebert Pitches No-Hitter For Bulldogs

Paul Ebert, whose main prowess at South has been in basketball, broke into the spotlight in a new role Tuesday, April 12, as he turned in a no-hit job as South grabbed a 4-0 victory over East in its opening City League game. Ebert also led the attack for his team with two hits, both for extra bases.

Ebert walked three in between 12 strikeouts. Two of the walks came in the final inning, the only time he was in any serious trouble. He was given excellent support by his mates, only one error being charged, that coming after one of his strikeouts when the ball eluded the catcher.

South obtained six hits off two East pitchers, and bunched its runs in two innings. Ray Dreher of the winners had a triple as did Ebert.

Will glasses or an operation save their eye sight?

Do they have enough money for them to be taken?

The South East Lions, a South Side organization collects sales tax stamps for just such cases.

Why don't you turn them in to the South Side Booster, 1542 Parsons Ave., Hoermles, 1894 Parsons Ave., Bobb Chevrolet, 621 Parsons Ave., Carl Snedeker, South Fourth St. & Morrill Ave., and C. M. Henry at the High Mithoff Drug Store, Mithoff & S. High Sts. They will be turned over to the South East Lions.

29 South Seniors On Honor Society

Twenty members of the June graduating class of South High School were formally initiated into the South High Chapter of the National Honor Society, Thursday, April 14. Joining this group were the nine students chosen for this honor from the January class. This distinction with all of its rights and privileges was conferred on twenty-nine seniors from a total of 334 graduates.

From the June class the following were chosen: Marilyn Babbert, Patricia Carr, Mariann Casto, Maridean Close, Ann Cuthbert, Shirley Daugherty, Rita Foster, Jack Karch, William Lenkey, James Milenkovich, Alice Myers, Ruth Neubeck, Margaret Rife, Jo Anne Schaible, Joanne Sells, Georgianna Sharp, Donald Skelton, Marilyn Stephenson, Martha Wetsel, and Dorsey Woodward.

From the January class: Shirley Ann Borror, Jane Ellen Burns, Nancy Edgar, Nancy Jo Eversole, Donna Miriam Kingsbury, Doris Roe, August Ruzicka, president; Theresa Schmellzl, and Jean Louise Schmidt.

The Rev. Paul Kaefer of St. Paul's Evangelical and Reformed Church addressed the honored group and members of the student body.

Mrs. Guy Maize, president of the Parent Teachers' Association, presented the pins to the initiates. These pins are symbolic of the criteria by which the students were elected: Scholarship, Leadership, Character, and Service.

The First Ward Democratic Club will resume its regular monthly meetings Friday, April 22, at 8 p.m. The meeting will be held on the second floor of the Swan Bowling Alleys' Building.

All members and their families are cordially invited to attend. Matters concerning the activities of the Club for the ensuing year will be discussed and your opinions are desired.

Sportsman Club To Show Movies

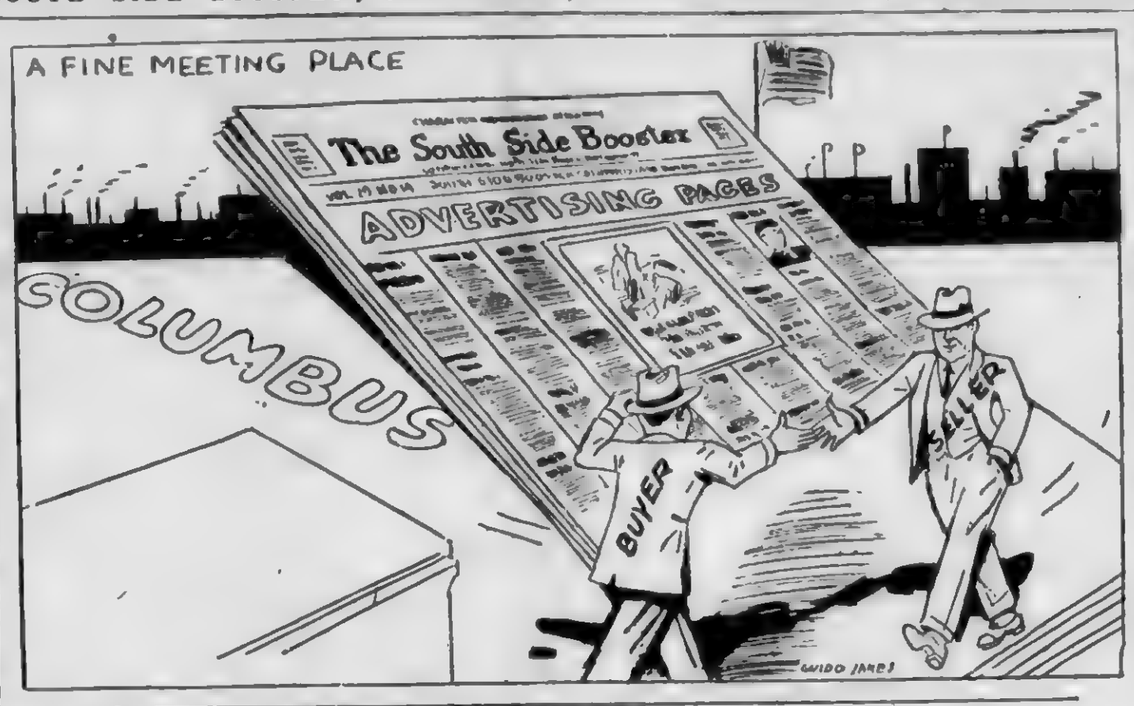
A meeting of the "Ideal Sportsman's Club" will be held Friday, April 22nd, at 7:30 p.m. at the Ideal Sporting Goods Store, 1575 Parsons Ave. "Dick" Harbold, owner of "The Mississagi Lodge" in the Canadian wilderness, will show movies of fishing and other outdoor sports that were taken at his lodge.

The men of the "Ideal Sportsmans Club" are trying to organize a real club of sportsmen in the South Side. They know there are hundreds of South Siders interested in hunting, fishing and conservation, so why don't you come out to the next meeting and get acquainted.

Harbold's Mississagi Lodge is located in virgin wilderness of the Chapleau-Sudbury district of Ontario, Canada, and offers trout fishing and hunting of the kind most of us only dream about.

The movies Dick has to show are really worth coming out to see—and it's all free—so, see you Friday at 7:30.

"God Is My Landlord" Gates Fourth Church



"GOD IS MY LANDLORD" is a 16 mm sound film in color and will be presented Sunday at 7:30 p.m. at the Gates-Fourth Methodist Church. Running time is 40 minutes. The only photographic record made of the events taking place the first three years was taken with an 8 mm camera. Ralph Comfort and seven other photographers from several states independently took pictures during the succeeding three years in 16 mm color. None of the pictures in the entire film was made with the thought of becoming part of a sound film. It is, therefore, a miracle that they tell a complete, unbroken story.

Through all time men have asked . . . "What really belongs to me?" Ten representative Americans answer this question for themselves:

Dr. Walter Maier, Radio Speaker
David A. Petty, Manufacturer
Bishop Wm. R. Arnold
Kenneth Keyes, Realtor
R. G. LeTourneau, Manufacturer
James L. Kraft, Food Processor
Capt. Ed. Rickenbacker, Aviation
Millard Pryor, Manufacturer
Mrs. Emma Clement, Am. Mother
Harvey Fruehauf, Manufacturer

Farm equipment used in this historic pageant of harvesting was brought from the Ford Museum in Greenfield Village. It represents the complete cycle of harvesting machinery developed since Bible times, and due to Ford's death, it will perhaps never be removed again.

This is the first time in history that wheat was cut, threshed, milled, flown 10 miles by helicopter, baked, returned and eaten all within the same afternoon.

Free Dance Tickets On Classified Page

Each week scattered among the classified ads on the classified page of the South Side Booster, are names of winners for tickets to attend the Round and Square dances, being held at the K of P Hall located at 637 South High Street. These dances are well conducted. They have an excellent caller for their square dances. Those who have won tickets and have used them, to attend the dances, have told us they have really had a grand time. Turn to the classified page. If your name is among the winners you may pick up your tickets at the Booster office at your convenience. Remember these dances are held each Saturday night. If you are looking for a good time just attend one.

New York Bakery Open After 'Passover'

The New York Bakery, located at 419 E. Fulton Street, will reopen for regular business on April 22. The Bakery has been closed the past week for "passover."

Mr. Roy Yellen and his partner, Mr. Philip Greenfield, are very pleased by the patronage given to their bakery by people of the South Side.

Chris Kropfhauser and Virgil Jahn, both well known on the South Side and bakers with many years of experience, are employed by the New York Bakery.

Mrs. Ann Yellen and Mrs. Greenfield (who was Miss Shirley Roth, a South Side Girl), the wives of the managing partners, work right along with their husbands, waiting on trade at the Bakery. When business warrants, Rae Schakett, the bookkeeper, is right there too, ready to wait on customers, so there will be no needless waiting.

The New York Bakery, thru their high quality of baked goods, have established themselves in a short time, as being one of the outstanding Jewish Bakeries in the city.

Baked fresh daily, in the old country style are Rye, Pumpernickel, Vienna, Egg Bread Challeh, Real Corn Bread, Butter Bread and Pullman Bread. There is also a large variety of rolls, such as Kaiser, Egg, Onion, Rye, Beigel Horns and Salt Sticks. They also have a large variety of cakes and pasteries and will give special attention to parties and weddings. For your every Bakery need, visit the New York Bakery. There you will find a bread or pastry to please every taste.

"Life With Father" At South High

"Life With Father," which ran for eight solid years on Broadway and established the world's record as the theatre's long-run champion, will be presented by the Dramatics Department of South High School, Thursday and Friday, May 19 and 20. Converted into a warm and affectionate comedy about a solidly human American family by Howard Lindsay and Russel Crouse from the cherished sketches by Clarence Day about his own family, "Life With Father" has been acted more widely all over America than any play since "Uncle Tom's Cabin" and it continues to be warmly welcomed on each return visit of a touring unit.

The phenomenal success of "Life With Father" is attributed in great part to the fact that it is deliciously funny and completely realistic, is wholesome entertainment for the entire family, and has a wonderfully nostalgic appeal, in that it recalls a leisure pattern of family life that is lamentedly disappearing. Perhaps the comedy's strongest appeal is that its background and atmosphere, if not its story about Father's reluctant consent to be baptised at Mother's insistence, has become everybody's family instead of the Days', for instead of saying how like the Days our families are, theatre-goers say how like our own families are the Days. These are some of the reasons people return again and again to re-live the Days' engaging, happy story.

The leading roles of the South High production are being played by Bob Dunham as the choleric Father, Martha Wetsel as Mother; Frank Kimrey, Jack Karch, Augie Graumlich, Dick Metters as their sons. Others in the cast are Fritzie Mann, Shirley Daugherty, Cheatora Hall, Virginia McBee, Marilyn Babbert, Margaret Cooper, Julia Peterfy, Mary Ann Bellman, Donna Call, Rita Foster, Marilyn Stephenson, Donna Scholz, Georgianna Sharp, Mariann Casto, John DeLong, Don Skelton and Norman Wolfe

Tickets are available from any member of the Dramatics and Radio Departments of South High School for fifty cents.

Voters Want Colored Margarine

"Fifteen of every 16 voters in the cities of Cincinnati, Norwood and Cheviot favor legislation pending in the Ohio legislature to permit the manufacture and sale of yellow margarine."

This statement was made today by Dorothy Clinger, secretary of the Association of Voters for Yellow Margarine, in announcing the results of a poll taken in those cities.

"The poll," said Mrs. Clinger, "was made by a Columbus public relations firm at the request of the Association. Ballots were mailed to registered voters living on each of the streets in each of the precincts in each of those cities. More than 4,000 voters were asked to mark the ballots by an "X" to show whether they are "for" or "against" the pending bill to permit the manufacture and sale of yellow margarine. Ninety-four of every hundred persons returning their ballots voted in favor of the legislation. Six of every hundred voted against it.

"While we are greatly pleased by this "city" poll which clearly indicates the sentiment of city people on the yellow margarine issue, we are just as greatly pleased by the "rural" poll taken recently in Champaign county. Champaign county is definitely rural, and it is one of the largest dairy counties in Ohio. In that poll ballots were mailed to voters in every precinct throughout the county. The returns showed two of every three voters in favor of yellow margarine, and one in every three against it.

"By applying the ratio of the city vote, as shown by our city poll, to the city vote cast in 1946 in the 10 largest counties of the state, and by applying the ratio of the rural vote, as shown by our rural poll, to all of the rest of the votes cast in Ohio in 1946, it is indicated that at least four of every five voters in Ohio favor yellow margarine. This means that at least five and a half millions of the estimated seven million people of Ohio do the same."

South Side Ladies In Comedy Skit

The 37th Division Mothers and Wives Club, World War II, held its Sixth Annual Spring Banquet at the Bancony Party Hall Home, 1540 N. High St., on April 11th

Rows of sweet peas and baby iris decorated the tables and were later made into corsages for the ladies. After a full course dinner, Mrs. Lillian Archibald, acting as mistress of ceremonies and program chairman, introduced the guests and led the group singing with Mrs. Agnes Cotter at the piano.

A revue was put on by Mrs. Edith Fouts, Mrs. Mildred Moore, Mrs. Cynthia Last, Mrs. Emma Pfeiffer, Mrs. Olive Last, Mrs. Mona Weiser, Mrs. Rita Moore & Mrs. LeMoyne Brown. Mr. Jack Archibald sang two numbers.

A comedy skit, "Over the Back Fence" became hilarious, with two South Side ladies, Mrs. Alice O'Connor as "Petunia," and Mrs. Anna Oxley as "Magnolia Mooney." A beautiful recitation, "Whistling in Heaven," was given by Mrs. Katherine Archibald.

Straw hats, trimmings, needles and thread were given the merrymakers and they proceeded to create Easter bonnets with the winner being crowned "King of Spring."

Piano selections, Cumana and Blue Prelude, were played by Mrs Lillian Archibald, president, after which a beautiful vase was presented to her by Mrs. Olive Last on behalf of the club as a token of friendship.

Ed Trautman Calls Special Meetings

President Ed Trautman of St. Pauls Evangelical and Reformed Church has called two very important meetings at the Church for week. First is the special Council meeting at which Mr. Paul Neuhaus will disclose the total cash received at the combined Easter, Good Friday offerings. This will enable the Council to decide how much total indebtedness the new Building will carry. The second meeting is the Congregational meeting to be held Sunday, April 24, at 11:30 a.m., just after the regular morning worship service.

The purpose of the Sunday meeting is to inform the Congregation exactly how much cash is on hand, available, and future debt.

The Ladies Dorcas Society of the Church, which sponsored the Ham Dinner, and the Brotherhood, which sponsored the future Lawn Fete at Schiller Park in June, have furnished the total amount of their treasuries to Mr. C. E. Henderson, thus giving him an idea of the assets of the Church. The Sunday School which always furnishes flowers for the Altar at Easter, deviated from the custom this year, and instead offered the money involved for the Building Fund.

More than Eleven Hundred people attended the Easter Services conducted by Reverend Paul C. Kaefer this year, in a Church which normally seats Two Hundred without chairs and classroom use. This combined crowd shows the need for the new building, which definitely will start on May First.

Motorcycle Races On May 8th

COLUMBUS, O. April 21

The Ohioans Motorcycle Club of Columbus will stage the first major racing event of the season at Powell Speedway on Sunday, May 8th.

It'll be a four star, flat track motorcycle racing program composed of nine events with two preliminary heats and a final in each of the novice, amateur and expert divisions.

Harry Stites, veteran of The Ohioans, who'll again be in general charge of the races sponsored by The Ohioans at Powell this season, expects one of the finest entry lists that has graced a local motorcycle speed program here in a number of years.

Stites bases his opinion on the fact that this race carries heavy four star prize money, that it is the top racing event on the American Motorcycle Association schedule that day, and that it is the first early season race of major importance.

The speed stars of the country will be itching to get into action after a winter of curtailed speed activity and most of the real "hot shots" are expected to open their season with this race.

In addition to the country's top veterans, many of the great new group of young stars just up from the novice and amateur divisions, including Dick Klamfoth, the Groveport, Ohio, youngster who rode to fame by winning the Dayton Beach 200 mile classic this winter, are expected to be there.

The race is sanctioned by the American Motorcycle Association and Stites, in general charge of the race gives assurance that all events will be run off on prompt, to-the-minute schedule which always features events sponsored by The Ohioans.

Bingo Party

The Verhovay Ladies Club is having their bingo Thursday, April 21, 1949 at the Verhovay Hungarian Home, 1501 Parsons Ave., at 8:15 p.m. All members are asked to bring their friends.

Antiques Team Well With The Modern

St. John's Episcopal Church, Women's Auxiliary in Worthington, Ohio, are focusing their attention on the coming Antique Show and Sale which will start on Tuesday, April 26th, and last three days and evening, ending Thursday the 28th. This show has become known to antique lovers and collectors as the biggest little show in the State."

That the use of antiques with the modern is becoming more and more popular will be noted. Pale finished woods in maples, poplars, fruitwoods all team happily with ornamented modern and preserve memory and respect of pioneer days. Among the interesting pieces the twenty-four dealers are bringing will be a rare decorated five gallon china punch bowl, child's sleigh, mahogany steeple clock, ironstone soup tureen, a blond dough tray which combines uses as book or magazine and plant container. Rare indeed are the ships lantern one collector found in California. Doll collection, old jewelry and silver, brass china and many handsome pieces all are on their way.

St. John's Parish House, where the show will be held is located on the village green on the site chosen by The Scioto Company in 1803 for erection of a meeting house used for worship and school. Rare indeed are the treasures we seek at this show for many of them found their way into this part of the country clutched to the heart of some pioneer woman as she traveled the weary and hazardous miles by covered wagon.

Women of the Auxiliary will operate a continuous cafeteria and of course will again include Vaughn's famous ham and bean soup. The show will open at 11:00 a.m. and close at 10:00 p.m.

Girls State To Be Held June 19-26th

Third annual Buckeye Girls' State, sponsored by American Legion Auxiliary, Department of Ohio, will be held June 19 to 26, at Capital University, Columbus, Ohio, where 420 high school girls selected for outstanding qualifications of scholarship and leadership will be enrolled to participate in this citizenship training program.

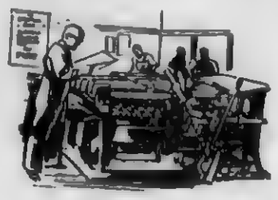
These 420 girls who have qualified from their respective high schools to participate in Girls' State will live together for one week, and will carry on the government of this mythical 49th state according to the government procedure of their own state.

The girls will be divided into ten groups representing ten cities and two counties which will comprise the state. They will join one of two political parties to be known as the Idealists and Realists, elect their own officers, organize the legislature and conduct their own meetings.

The Girl Stater will gain a sense of that individual obligation, and through actual personal participation will learn some of the intricacies and problems of government. As a citizen not only will she enjoy certain rights and privileges, but must also assume definite duties and responsibilities.

Through this experience she should become more mindful of the contribution women can make to government activities. The American Legion Auxiliary believes through the sponsorship of the Girls State program year after year there will be given to the state and nation a group of leaders who will know [illegible] and will help apply the [illegible] Principles on which [illegible] was founded.

In the Buckeye Girls' State program we see America's future in the making: Youth preparing to accept active citizenship in our nation; Youth feeling keenly the relationship of Home, Church, School, and Government.



Mrs. Carl W. Zeller, Gibsonburg, Ohio, will again serve as Director of this project. A Past Department President of Ohio, Mrs. Zeller is also the chairman of the National Junior Activities Committee of The American Legion Auxiliary, and a member of the National Education of Orphans of Veterans Committee of the American Legion.

SWEDEN IS THE CHAMPION

There is a good deal of interest in many parts of the United States in David Hinshaw's new book entitled "Sweden: Champion of Peace," published by Putnams.

Some of our foremost States in the middle and far west are heavily populated by Swedes, Norwegians and Danes and in the localities where they predominate they certainly have clung to the backbone of American Democracy. These Scandinavians came to America because they wanted Democracy.

Many of these immigrants have been the parents of Senators and Representatives of the United States—and every one of those Members of our National Congress have been a credit to the United States.

Mr. Hinshaw was the author of "A Man from Kansas" and the man was William Allan White in whose printing office the boy Hinshaw started on his upward climb to become an author of distinction. His new book has been described by the New York Times in an article by John H. Wuorinen as a clear and useful record of some of the most important problems of the World today, because "Mr. Hinshaw writes with compelling earnestness and the profound conviction that the ways of peace are the right and good ways and that war is wrong and evil," to which the reviewer adds that "it is the author's earnestness and conviction that makes this book particularly challenging."

RUNNING LIGHT

The largest producer of woolen goods in the United States reports an 84 per cent decline in the business this present year.

All indications are that cross-country trips are increasing steadily—by way of airplanes. Railroad companies ordered 12,000 cars a month last year. But this year they ordered only 1,400 cars.

Retail trade is falling down. The figures show that January sales were below January of 1948 by more than $250,000,000. All of which means that consumers are getting tight with their money. That wouldn't be so strange except for the fact that consumer income has not dropped off. So what?

There is no need to stay up late to iron a dampened shirt or blouse for fear of mildew. Instead, save it to iron in the morning by wrapping it in waxed paper and putting it in the refrigerator overnight.

LAST GAME

The South Side Settlement House basketball league will come to a climax April 18, at 6:15 with St. Stephens, the league's leading hot shots, playing a very aggressive, Indian five. Also on the evening schedule are the Kats who will attempt to stop Mr. Bartel's (Duke's) aggressive little team, which has given much competition to the league leaders. Probably the most exciting and thrill furnishing game of the evening will be the Clowns vs the Browns, both teams being in the leading position for second place.

The girls basketball league finished their regular season of play March 9. This league was composed of the South Side Terrors, Challengers and Badgerettes. The Badgerettes were the winners of the girls league. It is the desire of the Athletic staff that the girls will have a much larger turn-out next year.

Upon completion of the basketball season the Settlement House has planned an Athletic banquet in honor of the boys and girls who played in the league. At this time the regular athletic awards will be presented to the winning teams as well as individual awards to those selected for outstanding sportsmanship. Date for the banquet has been set for April 27th.

Frank Sinatra relates the story, a man rushed into a newspaper office and announced to the editor: "My name's Auchmutty".

"So," inquired the editor, "what about it?"

"You've got it in your paper today that I'm dead," declared Auchmutty.

"There must be some mistake," declared the editor, "and we're very sorry."

"Very sorry," sneered Auchmutty. "Do you realize what a fix I'd be in if I was one of those people who believes everything he reads in the paper?"

Sylvester Says:

"Here's one key to low-cost housing—but who wants to use it?"

Even the house in front of the backhouse can be easily prefabricated, if you care for outdoor plumbing. But you can't produce a lot, a foundation 6' deep, underground plumbing and water connections to the street; a paved street or a sidewalk, in a factory. In fact, you can't even factory-build the hole under the backhouse.

The modern, ordinary comforts, conveniences and land—the essential nature of any American home — account for about ¼ of the cost of the house even though more and larger parts of the house are being factory fabricated and shipped.

Americans are no longer satisfied with 4 rooms and a path. That's why we have the highest standard of living in the world for the average citizen. In fact, 9 out of 10 of the world's bathtubs are in American homes, according to latest compiled international figures.

Your Home

By Frances Ainsworth

We've recently had the outside of our house painted with the new titanium dioxide paint and the improvement is simply amazing! We felt that we were very fortunate in having a close friend in the painting business, because there are many, many things that every home-maker should know about painting.

Do you know that the success of the paint-job on your house may rely on the way in which the surface is prepared before painting? That the surface must be clean, smooth and dry, and all nail holes, cracks and joints must be filled and smoothed with putty? If your house has not been painted for many years, it may be necessary to completely remove old paint. That's why it is so important not to let your painting go. Experts at the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company say that a good painting job will last about four years . . . and that poorly done work may look terrible in only a few months.

Two other factors in outdoor painting are also very important. The paint itself, of course, is something to consider carefully. The new paints made with titanium dioxide are best. A good quality paint also has plenty of oil, which is the life of the paint. In fact, Jim said without oil there is nothing to resist the elements except a thin coat of pigment. Then, too, the weather must be right for painting. Naturally, no one will paint in the rain . . . but it's important, too, that the wood be completely dry before painting after a rain. And freezing weather for painting is especially undesirable.

In addition to all these factors, is the necessity for a good, professional painter who will know how to prepare the surface, to mix the paint and correctly apply it . . . not just "slap" it on. Painting your house regularly is an investment, for a horse without this protective coating is at the mercy of the elements . . . and other repairs caused by lack of paint protection may become very costly indeed!

French cooks have a trick to make a baked souffle puff up beautifully. Using a straight-sided over-proof casserole, they wrap a waxed paper collar, about three inches wide, around the top of the dish just before putting it in the oven. The souffle will rise and cling to the paper with small chance of toppling over.

Ohio Law Protects Non-Game Birds

Each year on Arbor and Bird Day, designated this year as Friday, April 29, teachers and administrators are instructed by law to acquaint the children of the schools with the law which protects non-game birds in Ohio.

Programs planned for Conservation Week, April 25-29, and Bird Day in the schools will emphasize again this year the state law which reads: "No person shall catch, kill, injure, pursue or have in possession, either dead or alive, at any time, or purchase, expose for sale, transport or ship to a point within or without the state, or receive or deliver for transportation any bird other than a game bird, nor shall any part of the plumage, skin or body be had in possession, except as permitted in this chapter, nor shall any person disturb or destroy the eggs, nests or young of such birds; but nothing in this section shall prohibit the lawful taking, killing, pursuing or possession of any game bird during the open season for such bird, or the killing of any hawk or owl doing damage to property.

"European starlings, English sparrows and crows may be killed at any time, except Sunday, and their nests or eggs may be destroyed at any time. Blackbirds may be killed at any time, except Sunday, when doing damage to grain or other property or when they are found to have become a nuisance. Each bird or any part thereof taken or had in possession contrary to the provisions of this section shall constitute a separate offense."

Ohio Wildlife In Full Bloom

Outdoor loving people who get a kick out of just being out-of-doors in the springtime will find Ohio's wildlife in full "bloom" throughout April.

An early morning walk or drive along the roads and lanes leading off the highways will furnish an assortment of outdoor thrills. Cock pheasants strut proudly in full color keeping watch over "crowing areas" and seem little disturbed by human beings or cars. They can be seen without much heavy looking with their bright color against a background of greenery.

Rabbits, 'possum, raccoon, and other common small game and fur-bearers, enveloped in the serious business of raising a family, likewise seem little bothered by sight-seeing humans. They, too, are in full color, although not as outstanding as members of the bird families.

One of the great thrills of living comes from taking youngsters for a walk or a drive where they might observe wildlife in the springtime in the open fields, woodlands or along a stream or lake shore.

Tasty Recipes

Cottage cheese, a tasty food all by itself, intrigues the appetite when its creamy wholesomeness is added to fresh spring salads. Here are two suggestions from the Columbus Milk Council, you can try many more combinations using the plentiful fruits and vegetables now in season.

ORANGE CHEESE SALAD

1 Tablespoon gelatin
1/3 cup orange juice
½ cup heavy cream, whipped
2 large oranges, sectioned
2 cups cottage cheese
¾ teaspoon salt
Lettuce or other greens

Sprinkle gelatin over orange juice. Allow to stand 5 minutes. Dissolve over hot water. Combine whipped cream, oranges, cottage cheese and salt. Fold together. Add gelatin, stirring lightly. Pour into ring mold rinsed in cold water. Chill until firm. Unmold on greens. Serve with choice of dressings. If desired, garnish with additional orange sections. Eight servings.

COTTAGE COLE SLAW

3 cups shredded cabbage
1 cup well-drained cottage cheese
½ cup shredded raw carrot
¼ cup diced green pepper
1 teaspoon minced onion
½ cup mayonnaise, or cooked salad dressing
1 teaspoon sugar
1 Tablespoon cider vinegar
Salt & Pepper to taste
6 Lettuce cups

Shred cabbage fine and cut shreds into short lengths. Add cheese, carrot, green pepper and onion. Add to the salad dressing vinegar, sugar, and salt and pepper to taste, and thin to the desired consistency with a little cream. Toss together lightly with the cabbage mixture until the ingredients are well blended. Pile in lettuce cups and serve at once. Serves six.

Miss Cherie Harvey Is Wed To M. Kovach

The wedding of Miss Cherie E. Harvey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Harvey, 668 Moler St., and Mr. Michael P. Kovach, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kovach, 238 Woodrow Ave., was an event of January 8 at 9 a.m. in St. Leo's Church with the Rev. Fr. Richard Hoch of Ada, Ohio, officiating.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white satin gown with a net yoke edged with an off-shoulder bertha of Chantilly lace, fitted bodice and long full skirt trimmed in the back and around the edge of the train with Chantilly lace. Her fingertip veil of illusion was held in place by a tiara. She carried a bouquet of white gardenias and shattered carnations.

Miss Betty Kovach was maid of honor in a peach velvet dress. She carried gardenias with scattered blue carnations. Mrs. Juanita Mason wore blue velvet and carried white gardenias and pink carnations. The bridesmaids, Miss Charlotte Wells, Miss Pat Walsh, Miss Joy Givens, Miss Lois Clifford and Miss Marian Puckey wore blue velvet and carried white gardenias and pink carnations.

Mr. Tony Maricevitche was best man. Ushers were Mr. Roy Mason, Mr. Don Hilton, Mr. Tom La Court, Mr. Joe Kovach, Mr. Woodrow Kise, Mr. Richard Havrey and Mr. Rudy Dublin.

The bride attended South High School and is employed at the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. The bridegroom attended St. Mary's High School and is employed by Columbus Auto Parts.

Southwood P.T.A. Meeting

The April meeting of the Southwood School P.T.A. will be in the form of a Mother and Daughter Tea to be held Friday, April 22nd, at the school.

A children's program under the supervision of Miss Hazel Keenan will be presented. The meeting will start at 1:30.

Is This Slavery?

The National Small Business Men's Association has asked the heads of the AF of L and the CIO whether they consider the Taft-Hartley Act a "Slave Labor Law":

BECAUSE it prevents a union member from being fired from his job and kicked out of the union at the whim of a union official?

BECAUSE under this Law union officials cannot force union members to pay exorbitant dues and are unable to collect unreasonably large initiation fees?

BECAUSE this Law rules out violence, coercion and intimidation as a means of securing union members?

BECAUSE this Law outlaws the compulsory check off? It isn't enslavement is it, for the union to have to get the consent of the member before dipping into his pay envelope?

BECAUSE this Law protects the right of union members to a secret ballot?

BECAUSE money paid by union members and employers into union, health, welfare and vacation funds cannot be diverted by union officials to other uses?

BECAUSE this Law requires an itemized accounting by the union to its members?

BECAUSE union members now have the right to ask the National Labor Relations Board for a hearing on changing unions or not having any union, the issue being decided by secret ballot?

BECAUSE under this Law union members can go directly to the National Labor Relations Board for relief from any unfair labor practice by either the union or their employer?

BECAUSE it is no longer possible for the union to keep an individual worker from getting a job because he does not belong to the union?

BECAUSE this Law makes unions financially responsible for living up to their contracts and protects union members from being thrown out of work by jurisdictional strikes and secondary boycotts?

BECAUSE this Law guarantees the same freedom of speech to employers the unions have always had?

BECAUSE this Law outlaws the closed shop and requires both unions and employers to bargain in good faith?

BECAUSE under this Law employers are not required to pay for work not performed?

BECAUSE under this Law the public is assured that its interests must be considered in labor disputes and at the bargaining table?

News In The World Of Religion

By W. W. Reid

The presiding bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church, the Rt. Rev. Henry Knox Sherrill, of Boston Mass., in his annual Easter message to the people of America, says in part: "Many centuries ago a small pathetic group of disciples watched their Master die on the cross at Calvary. Discouraged, disillusioned, fearful, they were about to return to their homes when something happened which changed them completely and sent them out as apostles of overwhelming Good News. Their testimony as to this transforming event was that the Living Christ appeared to them. . . .'He is risen.' That is the clarion call which has brought courage and inspiration to many millions in succeeding centuries. Today in our disillusioned and fearful generation, we need to realize that our faith is not alone in a crucified Christ of long ago, but in a victorious, living Christ who gives men power and strength to follow him. Here once again in our time as it was of old is the faith which overcomes the world. God grant that Eastertide may make us in our turn courageous witnesses to the Living Christ."

Few men in the American pulpit have been more eagerly listened to on the Easter theme of immortality than has Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick, pastor emeritus of Riverside Church, New York. His volume, "The Assurance of Immortality," written in 1913, has long been a classic in the field of religious writing. Recently Dr. Fosdick said to a New York congregation: "Faith in immortality is not the child of human feebleness seeking an opiate; it springs from human strength pounding against the too narrow bars of our mortality. When we are strong, when the tides of life are mighty in us, when love is most beautiful and we crave the friends whom we have loved long since and lost a while, that is when we are at our best, and that we crave the chance of going on. . . .You do not really believe that this is so utterly irrational a universe that it keeps the physical forever and lets the spiritual go. Deeper than all your doubts is that invincible surmise that death somehow must be an open door thru which the eternal and unseen in us pass into life abiding."

Four Methodist ministers from Indiana are now in Germany as "goodwill ambassadors" between Methodist churches in their state and Methodist churches in the land to which only a few years ago they were sending soldier-sons. Under the leadership of Bishop Richard C. Raines, of Indianapolis, the Methodist churches of his area have undertaken a number of building and rehabilitation projects in Germany as a part of the "Advance for Christ and His Church" in 1949-52. These include assistance to the Martha-Mary Deaconess Hospital in Nuremberg; scholarships and building repairs at the Theological Seminary in Frankfort; re-establishment of the Methodist Publishing House in Bremen; assistance to churches in Hamburg, Munich, Frankfort, Nuremberg, and elsewhere. The Indiana pastors will visit the institutions, and preach in the churches; returning, they will tell Indiana churches about conditions. The four pastors are: the Revs. William N. Whear of Crawfordsville, Elmer L. Harvey of Jeffersonville, Donald E. Bailey of Goshen, and Samuel E. Garruth of Terre Haute.

"Home builders are world builders" is the theme of "Family Week," May 1 to 8, which is to be observed by special services and sermons in Protestant churches thruout the United States.

Ohio Ave., just north of Whittier
9:15 a.m. Sunday Church School with classes for all ages including Nursery for small children. Robert Hiatt, Supt., Donald Phillips, Assistant.
10:30 a.m. Worship Service. Sermon topic: "The Fellowship of Love."
Nursery for small children during the service.
1:45 p.m. Youth Fellowship will meet to go to Rising Park, Lancaster, for an outing and meeting with picnic lunch.
Wednesday 7:30 p.m. Mid-Week Service.

According to Dr. L. Foster Wood, of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ, which is urging the observance of the day "Removing war from the family is a step toward removing it from the world. Families are vital factors in building the goodwill and understanding which are the foundations of peace. Homes blessed by love and cooperation have incalculable power for good: homes of bitterness and prejudice create conflict and insecurity."

Mrs. Frank G. Brooks, of Mount Vernon, Iowa, national president of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist Church, announces goals of the organization for the next four years to add 1,000,000 new members; to have every member praying and working for "a world Christian community"; to enlist and commission 1,000 new deaconesses and missionaries; and to increase present giving by $3,000,000 for support of missionaries, and by $15,000,000 for building and equipment enterprises at home and overseas.

The Hymn Society of America, of which the Rev. Deane Edwards, of 297 Fourth Ave., New York City, is the president, has made an Easter gift to the Lambeth Mission, London, Eng., a church which was badly damaged by bombing during World War II. The gift is a pulpit Bible, a large cross, and two candlesticks for the altar. The gift is made in honor of the pastor, the Rev. Thomas Tiplady, former chaplain, who is one of England's best-known living hymn writers. A number of his hymns have been given large place in American hymnals as well as in British hymnals. The best-known in America is perhaps "Above the Hills of Time the Cross Is Greaming," written to be sung to the old Irish melody, "Londonderry."

To meet the needs of New York suburban areas which have rapidly expanded since the war, the Protestant Episcopal Diocese of New York, under the leadership of Bishop Charles K. Gilbert, plans the early erection of eight pre-engineered church structures. They will have steel arches, supporting corrugated asbestos roofs, and will be fire proof. They can also be moved from neighborhood to neighborhood as population comes and goes. One of the new structures will house an Episcopal congregation now meeting in the basement of a police station. Churchmen believe that this building enterprise—$150,000 for eight churches—may solve the long-known need for churches as "portable" as congregations.

Statistics recently furnished the International Council of Religious Education as to the growth in parochial schools of elementary and high school grade in the United States show the following: Roman Catholics, 10,188 schools with 2,606,000 pupils; Lutherans, 1,296 schools and 96,000 pupils; Seventh Day Adventists, 970 schools and 35,000 pupils; Reformed Churches, 120 schools and 21,000 pupils; Mennonites, 35 schools and 2,000 pupils. Other churches have fewer schools and smaller enrollments.

Dean O. Frederick Nolde, of the Graduate School of the Lutheran Seminary, Philadelphia, and associate general secretary of the World Council of Churches, questions the effects of the Atlantic Pact on world armament policies. "Assuming it will be signed and ratified by the U. S. Senate," he said recently, "is there any possibility in suggesting that prior to implementing the pact by military arrangements the signators sit down and see whether such a drastic arrangement is justified; or whether, by virtue of the increased bargaining power that we have gained through the success of the Marshall Plan and the cementing of relations of the western nations, we may not arrive at some concessions such as mutual inspection of armaments. Otherwise we are unquestionably setting the stage for an accelerated and aggravated arms race."

Bishop Z. T. Kaung, head of the Peiping area of the Methodist Church in China, has been elected chairman of the executive committee of the newly-formed North China Christian Federation. The Federation is an effort to join the various Protestant churches of North China into a united front in the fields of social service, evangelism and religious education. The Rev. P. H. Wang, a Peiping pastor of the Congregational Christian Church, has been chosen as the executive secretary.

The America Mission to Lepers (156 Fifth Ave., New York City) has been asked by its counterpart organization in Japan (Kosensha) to aid it in furnishing funds for the erection of five Christian chapels for government leper colonies in Japan. It is reported that there are five Christian groups, aggregavating 1250 persons, among the ten leproseria in Japan.

It is expected that 20,000 Protestants from the metropolitan area of New York City will fill Madison Square Garden, Manhattan, on the evening of May 10 when the "Christian World Mission Advance," begun in Columbus, Ohio, last October, will hold its final mass meeting. Dr. John Sutherland Bonnell, minister of the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church, New York City, is chairman of a committee of sixty pastors of sixteen Protestant denominations, working with the Foreign Missions Conference of North America, is holding the rally. Bishop Charles K. Gilbert, of the New York Diocese of the Protestant Episcopal Church, will preside. The list of speakers includes Congressman Walter H. Judd, of Minnesota, and Principal Sarah Chakko, of the famous Isabella Thoburn College, Lucknow, India. There will be a massed choir of more than one thousand voices. Altogether, church leaders say it will be the largest gathering of New York Protestants in several decades.

THE WORST THING THAT COULD HAPPEN

High and higher taxes increase the costs of keeping alive, and there is no prospect that they will be lowered.

Union labor strikes increase the cost of production and rotate down the line to lessen the incomes of strikers and employers. That raises the prices.

Politicians get scared out of their boots when the union labor Bosses threaten to vote "the other ticket" if the White House and Congress don't immediately change good labor laws for old-fashioned stuff. Why? Because FDR proved that the President could negotiate, palaver, arbitrate, commission, and finally win any kind of an old strike by pushing the Wagner Act off into a White House closet, and wearing employers down until they settled on the terms from the President.

And the Democrats in the Administration and in the Senate and House are scared stiff that they may lose the votes controlled by labor Bosses.

Strike troubles are brewing and that is a bad sympton.

The F.D.R. strike settlement plan might be used again if the Taft-Hartley law is repealed THAT WOULD BE THE WORST THING THAT COULD HAPPEN

RICH, SPICY ROLLS

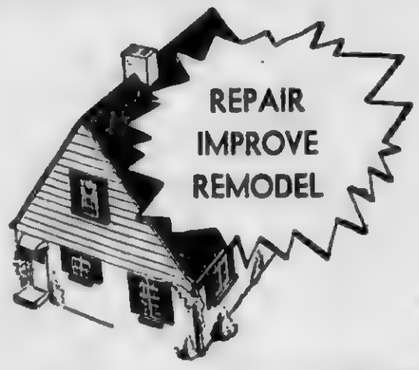
Rich, spicy cinnamon rolls will receive a "royal reception" at breakfast time.

By BETTY NEWTON

The scent of bread and rolls baking recalls to all of our minds the wonderful aroma from "mother's" kitchen! With our modern refrigerator and gas oven, homemade rolls and breads can be made with a twist of the wrist.

Sweet rolls may be made the day before and re-heated for breakfast. They make good-to-eat accompaniments with a salad at lunch time, or they're delicious for a late evening snack.

Sweet Roll Dough



1 C. milk, scalded
¼ C. sugar
¼ C. butter
1 tsp. salt
1 yeast cake
¼ C. lukewarm water
2 eggs
½ tsp. nutmeg or mace
5½ C. all-purpose flour

Pour milk over sugar, butter, and salt. When lukewarm add yeast softened in lukewarm water. Add well-beaten eggs, nutmeg and half of the flour. Beat until smooth. Add rest of flour and knead until smooth and elastic. Brush with melted butter, cover and let rise until light. Shape into rolls, brush with melted butter, cover and let rise until light. Bake at 425 degrees for 20 to 25 minutes. Follow this general procedure in the variations.

Cinnamon Buns: When sweet dough is light, punch down and divide into 2 equal portions. Roll into oblong pieces ¼ inch thick. Brush with melted butter and sprinkle with a mixture of 1½ C. brown sugar, 1 Tbsp. cinnamon, and 1 C. raisins. Roll up as for jelly roll and cut in 1 inch slices. Place cut side up, about 1 inch apart on greased baking sheet. Frost while still warm with plain icing after baking.

Plain Icing: Add 4 tsp. milk or warm water slowly to 1 C. sifted confectioner's sugar to make a smooth, fairly thick paste. Add ½ tsp. vanilla extract. Water will make a more transparent icing than milk.

Butterscotch Pecan Rolls: Into each muffin cup put ½ tsp. butter and 1 tsp. brown sugar. Sprinkle with ½ tsp. water. Arrange 3 or 4 pecan halves in each muffin cup. When dough is light, punch down and let rise for 10 minutes. Roll dough out to rectangular sheet ½ inch thick and 9 inches wide. Brush lightly with melted butter and sprinkle generously with brown sugar. Roll jelly roll fashion, sealing edges. Cut into 1 inch slices. Place slices cut side down into prepared muffin pans. Bake at 375 degrees for 20 to 25 minutes. Let rolls stand in pans 1 minute before turning out

WASHINGTON WEEK

By Charles L. Egenroad

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The financial ice which supports the Nation is getting pretty thin.

That is the consensus of both Republican and Democrat financial wizards on the Hill.

More and more the reasons are being brought forth in both Houses of Congress as the spenders continue to give evidence that President Truman's 1950 fiscal budget actually will be closer to $50 billion than the $42 billion demands he originally sent to Congress.

Here are some of the points being expressed in solemn tones by top-flight thinkers on the Hill:

(1) Government departments are softly releasing estimates showing an anticipated drop in national income—which, of course, means a drop in Government revenue.

(2) Official figures show unemployment reaching a dangerous level; dangerous because if we go beyond it the trend will be markedly toward recession rather than the "adjustment" some are wont to call the situation now.

(3) Continued demands for Government spending by administration sources to bolster the Democrat cause in the Congressional elections in 1950.

(4) Increased foreign aid as international pressure is stepped up.

INSIDERS REALLY WORRIED

And what lies behind these points and prompts the furrowing of brows when Mr. Truman and his administration advance pell-mell with new and costlier ideas?

Little or no hope is held by the experts for continuance of 60,000,000 employed at record salaries and wages.

Production was at capacity thru 1948 and can not be exceeded.

Record acreage was tilled with record crops at record prices in 1948.

All this made possible the $225 billion national income, highest in history.

NATION FACES DEFICIT

From this national income came federal revenues of $42 billion. This is about the amount of Mr. Truman's original budget for next year. A drop in income means a corresponding deficit.

Example: One expert foresees a national income in 1949 of no more than $195 billion, a drop of $30 billion. This would mean a drop of about $5,500,000,000 in revenue and about that much deficit—not counting the vast expenditures planned by the administration beyond the $42 billion budget.

Whatever the deficit—and Mr. Truman says we are going to have one this fiscal year despite the lush year of 1948—it will be an added load on the national debt which is now $252 billion.

Speaking of the national debt, in a recent radio discussion a "freshman" Democrat Senator said, "We must pay the debt, or take care of it by other means!"

You either pay a debt or default it! What did he have in mind?

Employment Bureau Needs Specialists

COLUMBUS, Ohio, April 7—The same types of specialists who were most in demand two years ago are still in demand today tho' the overall number of job openings is down considerably, the Ohio State Employment Service reported today.

The Employment Service, a Bureau of Unemployment Compensation Division, indicated that there had been a continuous need over the two-year period for nurses, machinists, draftsmen, stenographers, engineers, social workers and pharmacists among others. In almost every case, however, the openings today are fewer than they were two years ago or even one year ago.

At present, nurses are particularly in demand in Chillicothe though Dayton, Cincinnati and Warren also have openings. All nurses must be registered to qualify for these jobs. And salaries range from $2,400 to $3,000 per year.

Pharmacists are wanted in Akron, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Sandusky, Warren and Youngstown. Generally speaking, pharmacists are offered $60 a week and up. All are expected to have a degree and must be registered.

Draftsmen are needed in Akron, Canton and Mansfield. Salaries offered range up to $350 a month depending upon experience and the specific type of work the individual is required to do.

Electrical engineers are needed in Columbus, Akron and Toledo and wages offered range anywhere from $225 to $500 a month with experience being a major determining factor. There are openings for civil engineers in both Columbus and Akron and for design engineers in Lima.

Machinists are currently most in demand in Youngstown though both Cleveland and Canton have openings. The heaviest orders for stenographers have been placed by employers in Dayton and Cincinnati with clerk-typists also in demand in both cities.

Take Time To Drive Carefully!

R

Reeb's Principal, C. O. Callahan wishes to express his personal appreciation to the parents of the 6th grade pupils who permitted them to help in taking our school enumeration of 4-year and 5-year old children, last Tuesday. The boys and girls reported very courteous reception from the homes visited. This enumeration is quite important in making reorganization plans for next school year and in the purchasing of supplies by our Board of Education.

Plenty Of Cars In Czechoslovakia

There's no trouble in buying a car in Czechoslovakia, where the automobile industry has been nationalized and, like practically all other enterprise, is run by the state. All you have to do is walk into an agency and plunk down the money.

The only catch is the price. The available car, a two door sedan, costs more than 415,000 crowns, which is about $8,300. That sum represents 80 months of the average worker's pay. The car, according to an AP dispatch, is "considerably smaller than the 1933 Chevrolet." If you have a ration permit proving your need for a car, other than a desire to own one, you can get it for about $4,060.

That is an excellent example of how regimented economies, which have abolished all competition and all free enterprise, produce goods for the people. There is no need to improve quality or reduce prices—the customer takes what the government offers him or does without. Absolute monopoly prevails. Only the "elite" class or office holder has sufficient income or political pull to live beyond a subsistence level.

In this country, by contrast, every producer must face the competition of many other producers, every one of which is out to get more business. This can only be done by pleasing the customer. On the retail level, regardless of the kind of goods involved, the competition is particularly intense, with every merchant and dealer looking for new ways to bring the customers in. We get better goods, and a more varied selection. We get them at a price which competition holds to the lowest possible level. And these goods are within the reach of the millions, not of just the few.

Miss Viola Schmeilzl To Wed May 7th

Mr. and Mrs. John Schmeilzl, 290 Hinman-av, are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Viola, to Frederick Michael May, son of Mr. and Mrs. John May, of 600 Southwood-av.

The bride-elect and her fiance are graduates of South High School. Miss Schmeilzl is associated with the auto insurance accounting department of the Ohio Farm Bureau, and Mr. May is with the American Education Press, Inc.

The open church wedding will take place at 10:30 a.m., May 7, in St. Ladislaus Church.

"Command Decision" At Southland Theater

Clark Gable and John Hodiak are two of the principals in the all-star cast of "Command Decision," scheduled for the Southland Theatre screen on Sunday. Gable portrays an air corps general in the thrilling film version of the Broadway stage success. Van Johnson, Brian Donlevy, Walter Pidgeon and Charles Bickford also appear in "Command Decision." "Hatter's Castle" will be co-featured during the three-day engagement at the Southland Theatre.

Columbia Theater

The Columbia Theater presents Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday: "Road House" starring Ida Lupino. Here's a picture that has everything you like, hard-hitting drama and action, suspense and a love story that's completely new. The year's greatest romantic cast, in the story of a girl fought over by two men in a small town road house near the border. Also on the same bill is "Adventures of Gallant Bess." Youngsters will welcome the new adventures of Gallant Bess. The horse with the wonderful mind comes to grips with man-made evil, plenty of excitement with rodeo thrills and chills.

Sunday and Monday the Ideal Theater presents Adventure Island with Paul Kelly. All of the adventure and exotic romance of Robert Louis Stevenson is captured in this Technicolor drama of the Lawless South Seas. The picture is an adaption of Robert Louis Stevenson's Ebb Tide. Also on the program is Return of the Bad Man, with Randolph Scott and Gabby Hayes, plus News and cartoon.

Along Main St.

J. E. Jones

Washington, D. C., April—Half of the people in the United States are packed into crowded cities and suburbs. They assume to "know-it-all" and to prove it they round up the "leaders," whereupon pickets and hoodlums pull off sensational stunts that make news for radio commentators and headlines for the metropolitan press.

The other half—and the Big Half—live in small cities, villages, and in the open country connecting with Main Streets that extend from the Atlantic to the Pacific and from Canada to Mexico and the Gulf.

The "pressure" in Washington is the same, yesterday, today and tomorrow, and the disposition in the American capital favors all kinds of political bosses, labor bosses and socialistic schemes that dirty the face of Miss Democracy.

The President of the United States blasted the 80th Congress in unreasonable words. But he fumbled when he said that "during the last 16 years American people have been creating a society which offers new opportunities for every man to enjoy his share of the good things of life. . .

. . But we are forward-looking in protecting those values and principles and in extending their benefits." His political partners shuddered, but decided to play the game. The President calmed down and now he is getting along better with Congressmen. Some even seem to favor socialized and undemocratic suggestions, including taking over "medical science," National control of schools, and balky labor bosses. At the present moment it looks as though the White House and Congress will "kiss and make up."

The Big City politicians from New York across country thru Chicago and on to San Francisco are swallowing Presidential pills. The union Labor Bosses found it a little easier to call a ridiculous coal miners strike in protest of a nomination by the President of a man to a high Federal post.

There was no demand from America's Main Street for Congress to approve the President's recommendations to interfere with the credit at the banks; or to regulate commodity exchange to interfere in the field of transportation; to impose ceiling prices on scarce materials, or for Government loans to private industry.

Anyhow, most of these measures resembled pipe-dreams. The American Main Streets said "pooh!"

Looking at the whole question from another standpoint we find the political situation as bad as it was under the Roosevelt New Deal. How anybody can wade thru the recommendations and agree that it is a Fair Deal is almost beyond comprehension.

But the present Administration is bounding forth with speed that the taxpayers will have to pay for. Politics rule the roost in the metropolitan districts. At the same time Main Street is still thinking sensibly and sound.

The Nation as a whole is on the very peak of a crisis that can't be cured by the National Government taking over the affairs of the great medical profession, the local schools and a thousand other socialistic activities right here in the United States.

Main Street is safe and so are most of the State, city and town Governments.

But why should the National Government spend such monstrous, incalculable and senseless billions of dollars in peace-time that total above the expenses of war-time? That is an international problem and not concerned with the trend towards socialism and socialistic ideas that weakened and not strengthened the United States.

Sigmund Romberg At Memorial Hall

Sigmund Romberg, famous composer of the greatest operetta scores of our time, including The Student Prince, The Desert Song, New Moon, Blossom Time and many others, will appear in person with his concert orchestra and soloists in a program of light contemporary music including his own songs, at Memorial Hall, on Wednesday evening, April 27 at 8:30 o'clock under Hast-Amend auspices.

"Rommy," as he is known to his friends, has written more glorious melodies than almost any other living composer. Such haunting strains as Lover Come Back to Me, When I Grow Too Old to Dream, One Alone, Sweethearts, My Maryland, and the robust song, Stout Hearted Men, and the Drinking Song from the Student Prince are among the most beloved songs of our generation.

With Romberg will be the beautiful and gifted Jarmila Nevotna, of Metropolitan Opera fame, and the likewise glamorous and talented Victoria Sherry and Gene Marvey, tenor favorite of Columbus audiences, will be the soloists.

Tickets on sale at Heaton's Music Store.

One Sunday Afternoon At Russell Theater

Sunday and Monday the Russell Theater is showing One Sunday Afternoon, with Dennis Morgan and Dorothy Malone. This technicolor musical is delightfully fresh and deliriously different. The lilting, nostalgic story of life and love at the turn of the century plus the old familiar songs makes this a musical hit. Showing with this is Raw Deal with Dennis O'Keefe and Claire Trevor. News and Cartoon complete the play bill.

A GOOD IDEA

A cut of 10 per cent on the European Recovery Program has been suggested to Congress by Senator Taft. He says that the Congress would do well to apply the same slash to other Government outlays. Of course everybody knows that Taft is the Republican Leader. But, it is interesting to note that Senator George is a Democrat from the deep South and he rises to remark that increased spending and taxes will lead to a depression. Senator Connally, Democrat of Texas rises to protest that the proposal slash will "impair the European Recovery Program."

Something is wrong in the way in which Congress and the President increases the speed of spending plans. How long can we stand up under such mounting extravagance?

GOING UP!

The cost of Government rose from $3 billion dollars a year in 1913 to $55 billions a year in 1948.

Of course we had to spend heavily for the last World War. Now that the war is over we have hiked up on spending.

The Hoover Commission has issued a report that shows Federal, State and local taxation is doubled and trebled in the income brackets.

Two Cabinet officers, Acheson of State and Forrestal of Defense apparently didn't like to be exposed and they hastened to accuse Hoover with exceeding the powers of the Commission. Ex-President Hoover is serving the Government without pay. Congress asked the former President to do the job and told him to go the limit.

The staggering increase in the cost of Government—and in taxation—together with the tremendous infiltration of the Federal Government into State and local affairs, is spotlighted by the report, which bluntly poses the question how the American type of democracy can be maintained while the Federal bureaucracy provides "the service which people increasingly demand and which are necessary for the general welfare."

FIVE POLIO PRECAUTIONS ARE LISTED FOR PARENTS

Warning that the 1949 polio season is "just around the corner," the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis today issued a list of precautionary measures to be observed by those in charge of children during the epidemic danger period which usually runs from May through October, reaching its peak during the hot, mid-summer months. The five easy-to-follow health rules for children are:

1. Avoid crowds and places where close contact with other persons is likely.

2. Avoid over-fatigue caused by too active play or exercise, or irregular hours.

3. Avoid swimming in polluted water. Use only beaches or public pools declared safe by local health authorities.

4. Avoid sudden chilling. Remove wet shoes and clothing at once and keep extra blankets and heavier clothing handy for sudden weather changes.

5. Observe the golden rule of personal cleanliness. Keep food tightly covered and safe from flies or other insects. Garbage should be tightly covered and, if other disposal facilities are lacking, it should be buried or burned.

The National Foundation also listed the following symptoms of infantile paralysis: headache, nausea or upset stomach, muscle soreness or stiffness, and unexplained fever. Should polio strike in your family, call a doctor immediately. Early diagnosis and prompt treatment by qualified medical personnel often prevent serious crippling, the National Foundation pointed out.

The organization emphasized that fear and anxiety should be held to a minimum. A calm, confident attitude is conducive to health and recovery. Parents, it said, should remember that of all those stricken, 50 per cent or more recover completely, while another 25 per cent are left with only slight after effects.

If polio is actually diagnosed, contact the chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis serving your community. The chapter will pay that part of the cost of care and treatment which patient or family cannot meet.

Economic Highlights

At a time when many people talk almost glibly of the possibility of a third world war, it is wise to attempt to assess the cost of the last conflict. Nothing resembling an exact accounting can be made—there are too many imponderables and intangibles, which permit of only an informed guess. One of the most thoughtful efforts to arrive at the cost of World War II appears in Harper's Magazine for April. It is written by C. Hartley Grattan, who has long been a student of the economic implications of war.

Mr. Grattan concludes that, about 10,000,000 members of armed forces lost their lives. The last war was unique in that civilians suffered a heavier mortality than did men in uniform. The casualties from bombing; the planned extermination of whole categories of civilians; the terrible death rate among slave laborers; the losses in underground movements—these and other causes probably were responsible for 30,000,000 deaths. Thus, the total human cost of the war was 40,000,000.

To total the material cost brings the analyst to extremely difficult ground. The most obvious and easily-unearthed cost is the money actually spent for military purposes by victor and vanquished. This is recorded in national budgets. It came to more than a trillion dollars — $1,117,000,000,000. Next we must arrive at the cost of the physical damage which was done during the long course of the conflict. Factories, power plants, transportation systems and whole industrial regions were razed on a wholesale scale. Both sides concentrated on attacking dwelling areas—people who have no place to live especially in severe weather, are of small value as workers. Mr. Grattan arrives at the figure of $2,234,000,000,000 (over 2 trillion) to cover the cost of direct destruction.

But this is not all. There is another economic cost, which is the most difficult yet to estimate. That cost is found in the depletion of natural resources, the disorganization of economic systems, the value of labor and material seized and carted off by invaders, and so on. Mr. Grattan places this cost at $650,000,000,000. Adding all the costs up, we have a final, incredible figure of four trillion dollars—$4,000,000,000,000! And this, as he says, leaves out the moral cost of war, which is beyond statistics.

World War II was seven times as destructive as World War I. If World War III should come with the atom bomb there is every reason to believe that the costs would be beyond calculation and civilization wiped out.

Here is why the best minds in the world are now devoted to the task of maintaining the peace

The Wall Street Journal has published what it terms "American industry's report card." It is a comparison of 1948 earnings of 376 leading industrial concerns, in two dozen industries, with the earnings made in 1947. It makes very interesting reading for those who are concerned with the economic state of the nation.

The most obvious fact is that 1948 produced record dollar profits, running to well over $5,000,000,000 for the 376 companies. But, as any economist will tell you, dollar totals alone don't tell the whole story by a long shot. Other factors, tangible and intangible, enter the picture.

First of all, there were tremendous differences in the profit experience of various big industries last year. The oil companies did the best—about a 66 per cent gain for 18 companies listed in the report card. On the other hand, 5 principal moving picture producers had a stunning 64 per cent drop in earnings. The public utilities, whose rates are fixed by regulatory commissions, showed almost no change.

Furthermore, some industries with very high dollar earnings still had difficult financial problems to deal with. Oil was one. An extraordinarily high demand forced the most rapid expansion possible. Emergency measures, often costly, were employed to get products to consumers. New construction carried a price tag two to three times as great as before the war. Consequently, the larger part of the earnings had to go back into the plant and labor rather than to stockholders.

The depreciation problem also takes some of the brightness away from the profits total. Under our tax laws and policies, a concern is allowed to depreciate physical equipment by so much a year, and lay the money away for future replacement. However, replacement costs are now so high that the funds thus accumulated aren't adequate for the job. So more profits must be applied to that.

The question everyone is asking now is whether the rate of earnings will continue. The Journal says that "most corporate officials expect a good year, but you have to search long to find one who thinks profits will measure up to the 1948 reports." In the view of The Texas Company, a major oil concern, "A greater volume of sales will not be sufficient to offset price declines and continued high operating costs." In industry after industry tougher competition, plus, in some cases, a decline in consumer eagerness to buy, points to a slackening of the boom. This is indicated in dividends to stockholders. More and more firms, following a cautious policy, have recently been cutting them.

Tests conducted by the Ohio Department of Health show that health of school children is generally better when the school menu includes a glass of citrus fruit juice.

Tire Sale At B. F. Goodrich

The B. F. Goodrich Store, 1942 Parsons, corner Marion Road, is holding a tire sale that you cannot afford to miss. The sale, which ends this Saturday, April 30th, features B. F. Goodrich Defiance tires at the lowest price in the past 5 years. These tires are not seconds, not, retreads, but 1st grade tires, and as does every B. F. Goodrich tire, carries a lifetime guarantee. The B. F. Goodrich Defiance tire sells for only $9.95 plus tax in the 600x16 size and other sizes in this tire are also proportionately lowered. Summer driving is just around the corner, and if your car is in need of tires, you'll really save money by taking advantage of this sale. In addition to the B. F. Goodrich Store, the following dealers are also featuring the Defiance tire sale:

Holley and Harvey, Ga 0370, 2909 Lockbourne Rd.; Mathias Service, Ga 0182, 2071 Lockbourne Rd.; Steelton Motors, Ga 7775, 1984 Parsons Ave.; Johnson's Service, Ga 0231, 3390 So. High St.; Null's Garage, Ga 3664, 2625 Parsons Ave.; M. Tesi's Service, Ga 0205, 1572 Parsons Ave.

Stop in sometime before Saturday and equip your car with a new set of tires.

John Sabo Heads Fishing Contest

John Sabo is leading the fishing contest being sponsored by the Ideal Sportsman Club for its members. His prize catch to date is 2 large mouth bass, one measuring 15¼ inches and the other 15½ inches, both taken on night crawlers.

One member, a barber, and his son (also a barber) were fishing in Buckeye Lake last Wednesday afternoon. The son had quite a tussle but he finally brought it in —a big 5 gallon can. The next meeting is May 13th at the Ideal Sporting Goods, 1576 Parsons av.

Seagrave Donates To Stadium Fund

A gift of three hundred dollars has been contributed to the Stadium Improvement Fund of South High School by the Seagraves Corp. The gratuity of this concern serves as an expression of interest in the activities of the school.

Only $4,000 is needed to complete the drive for the improvement. Realizing that the business men of the South Side are always interested in the promotion of any project which will better the community, the trustees of the fund are confident that these boosters will make the completion of the drive a reality.

With The Bang Tails

Eugene W. Bury, Beulah Park's efficient racing secretary and track handicapper, has opened his office at the Grove City course and begun the task of registering all horses on the grounds and the equines as they arrive from the various winter courses.,

The opening of Bury's office was another harbinger of the nearness of the Beulah season, which opens May 7 for a total of 30 racing days.

One of the new barns being constructed in the Beulah Park annex has been roofed and Track Superintendent C. K. Keller says it will be completed by May 1.

The other new barn will be finished no later than opening day, Keller says. Each barn will house 54 stalls and will be of concrete-block construction. The two new barns, sorely needed, will do much to alleviate the actus stall situation at the Grove City course.

An innovation at Beulah this spring will be the publishing of the morning line of odds on the track program. The "morning price" on each horse will appear in a small block at the extreme right of the horse's name.

Jims "House Of Quality" Service Station

James W. Lindner, owner and operator of "Jim's House of Quality" Service Station, located at 1102 So. High Street, now offers the most unique service ever before attempted in this town. For the man whose car is essential during the day for business purposes, Jim offers a service by which the car can be left overnight to be serviced. On Thursday and Friday nights he will even give pick up and delivery service.

Jim's Service Station is open 24 hours, giving complete car service such as, washing, waxing, lubricating, tire, Battery and road service. All work is guaranteed.

In only one year of management, Jim through his ingenuity and hard work, now has one of the finest service stations in the city.

Jim is a South Sider, graduated from South High School and now resides with his wife and three children at 363 Sheldon Ave.

Kossuth - Jaeger Residents Protest Public Nuisance

Swarming into City Council last Monday night, 200 residents of the Jaeger-Whittier Sts. section presented 3 petitions to city council against the J. Fred Schmidt Packing Co., 253 Kossuth St. who they claim have been maintaining a public nuisance around and in their plant.

Mrs. Lorena Caldwell, speaking in behalf of her mother, who is a large property owner in the district, claimed that the Packing Co. was violating the health ordinance by keeping hogs in the neighborhood, by letting litter from the hogs accumulate, by fowl odors and other disagreeable odors and stenches.

Number two petition was for the suppression of soot and ashes which is dirtying paint about the houses. She also claimed that due to soot and ashes, clothes hung out to dry had to be washed from two to three times. They reminded City Council of the Smoke Ordinance.

Petition number three asked that the Police Department enforce the Traffic Laws and the anti noise Ordinance. She claimed that the Schmidt trucks were parked Satruday night, Sunday, both all day and night. Furthermore that the hogs squealed constantly day and night.

Residents of E. Kossuth claimed that trucks were backed across the street to unload hogs taking up the full width of the street and if the trucks were too long, they ran over their side walks, thereby breaking the side walks.

Residents of the district further said they had personally talked to J. Fred Schmidt, Jr. and that he had told them if they didn't like it they could move out of the neighborhood.

Several other residents of the district spoke including Mrs. Earl A. Becker, 284 E. Kossuth St. and Mrs. Ubbing, of 284 E. Kossuth St.

Residents of the District have formed the Kossuth-Jaeger Improvement Association.

Personally it should not be necessary for the residents of this district to have to petition City Council to make the J. Fred Schmidt Packing Co. observe the state and city laws because the duties of City Council are legislature.

The enforcement of the laws in this case should be up to the City Health Dept., the Smoke Dept. and the City's Police Dept.

It is hoped that city officials will see that the laws are obeyed in this case.

But one irate resident said "If they don't, we will go into Common Pleas Court and ask an injunction against the operation of this plant."

In An Alcoholic Home

You've heard the old old story
Of ships that pass in the night,
And of sailors winning glory
In some close decision fight,

Well Joe, you and I are winners
In a bout no one can scorn,
Like lots of other sinners
We fought John Barley corn.

Our Referee was there all right
His name is Robert Tone
He helped us do win our fight
"In The Alcoholic Home."

Now you are cured and on your way
While the rest of us stay here,
But come and see us any day
And bring us a little cheer.

We drink our coffee and we smoke
But we never are alone
There's always someone to crack a joke
"In The Alcoholic Home."

Never a moment that is dull
Dorothy Keeps us all alive
And if ever there is a lull
Another drunk will arrive.

He will want to fight or sing
Oh boy, What a wonderflu tone,
So come around Joe, give us a ring

On Saturday, May 7, there will be a bake sale at Krauss Hardware, 197 Thurman Ave., corner of Thurman & Jaeger. Orders will be taken until May 5th, by calling Wanda Fillinger, Ga 4003 or Elva Glenn at Ga 31512. The Bake Sale is sponsored by the South Gate Optimist Club.

Mother & Daughter Party

The May meeting of Dorcas Society of St. Pauls Evangelical and Reform Church will be held in the form of a Mother and Daughter Party May 4th at 6:30 p.m.

Good food, good entertainment and a good evening is planned for all. Make reservations by calling Dortha Dorn Ga 7634, no later than Monday, May 2.

Mrs. Nixten Presents Program

Mrs. Bess Nixten, 410 S. Ludlow St., Home-making Chairman of Women of The Moose Chapter 206, will present her Chapter Night program Thursday evening, April 28, at 8 p.m. at the Moose Home, 36 W. Sycamore St. The regular meeting followed with initiation will get under way immediately after the program with Mrs. Marie Hughes, 33 N. Eldon Ave., Sr. Regent, presiding.

Mrs. Emerson Heads Concordia Circle

Concordia Circle No. 4 of the United Ancient Order of Druids will install new officers Sunday, May 1st at 8 p.m. at Druid Hall, 964 S. High St.

Mrs. Alma Mueller, district deputy, will install the following officers:

Mrs. Florence Emerson, 658 Linwood Ave., arch druidess; Mrs. Bertha Dykes, past arch druidess; Mrs. Catherine Liess, first bardess; Mrs. Hilda Lowry, second bardess; Mrs. Emma Wilhelm, secretary; Mrs. Louise Wassmuth, treasurer; Mrs. Mildred Wilson, Mrs. Alice Schmucker, conductresses; Mrs. Rose Ray, Inside Guardian; Mr. Charles Dykes, Outside Guardian; Mrs. Elsie Stegmiller, chaplain; Mrs. Clara Schmitt, pianist.

Preceding the meeting, a casserole supper will be served at 6 p.m. Hostesses for the evening will be Mrs. Betty Breeze, Mrs. Marie Burchfield, Mrs. Katherine Bausch, Mrs. Lydia Culp and Mrs. Bernice Dykes.

Over the 20 years of its existance, Mrs. Donald Rowe, President of the Siebert School P.T.A., has been leading a valiant fight to have the school repaired and put in a safe condition. In every case, she and the P.T.A. have been refused by the Columbus Board of Education.

Only one member of the Board of Education lives in the South Side and her children either attend Heyl Ave. School or Roosevelt Junior High School, both of which are in good condition. It is reported she is very unsympathetic.

All members of the Board of Education live in districts where their children do not have to go to school in fire traps.

Twice the Siebert St. School has been inspected by either the Columbus Fire Prevention Bureau or the State Fire Marshals Office and each time has been pronounced unsafe. But according to information we have received, the janitor of the school had also received information that they were coming.

Certainly if they could not see the defects in this school, they were blind. Your Editor, with little experience, could see glaring fire hazards.

Evidently the Board of Education has forgotten that in 1938 the South Side voted down a bond issue because little or nothing was to be done for their schools.

When the protests first started, Siebert St. School was put third on the list for repairs. At that time it was scheduled for repairs in 1951. With the publicity coming out, it was dropped to the bottom of the list. This certainly sounds like spite work.

Four Hundred children attend the Siebert St. School without the benefit of even a fire escape.

The Steelton Merchants Ass'n, sent a committee to this meeting to investigate the condition of this school. One of the committee, a prominent South Side Contractor, said "My grandchild is scheduled to attend this school next year. Under no circumstances would I permit him to be in jeopardy from the fire hazards here."

The committee found the following fire hazards:—

1. Plaster Board nailed over furnaces in place of asbestos insulation against fires.

2. A wooden door in an air space between two furnaces.

3. Wooden open archways in the basement which would form perfect flues in case of a fire.

4. A thin coat of plaster over wood lath in the basement, the plaster badly cracked which is further fire hazard. Metal lath should be placed here with thick plaster.

5. Old stairways constructed of yellow pine which as any one knows are the finest kindling for a fire.

6. A monstrosity called a well on the second floor (used for observation to the first floor) over which is a sky-light, which would make a perfect flue for a fire.

The floor around this well is in a weakened condition.

7. Furnace radiator pipes on both the first and second floors encased in wooden frames. These frames run from the basement to the first and second floor. Another perfect flue.

8. No fire escapes for the protection of 400 children. If the stairways should go out in case of a fire, children would be trapped.

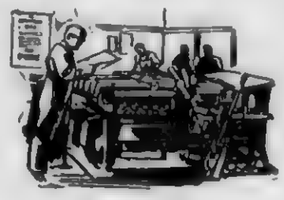
9. Old toilets for use of the children. These toilets are in a [illegible] where they flush automatically for the 8 or 10 toilets at one time.

10. Furnaces belching gas fumes from cracked domes. Naturally these fumes contain carbon monoxide gas.

11. Due to loose windows the rooms are so cold in extremely cold weather the children have to wear sweaters and leggings in school at [illegible] classes have to be held in [illegible] halls in cold weather.

Petitions are now being circulated to be presented to the Board of Education demanding an immediate repair of the Siebert St. School.

In our estimation it is about time that the Board of Education finds that the South Side is a part of the City of Columbus. That they are the city's best taxpayers and that they mean to get action in preventing a catastrophe which would certainly happen if this school took fire.



We want no Kenyon College or Effingham, Illinois, catastrophe here in the South Side.

The SOUTH SIDE BOOSTER

1542 PARSONS AVE. AT SOUTHWOOD

Economic Highlights

The recent shifts of key men within the Soviet government have stirred up an apparently endless discussion as to whether this may be the prelude to some dramatic new tangent in Kremlin policy. The iron curtain is so opaque that no one can answer that with certitude at this distance. However, the experts, after mulling over all the available facts and guesses, have generally come to the conclusion that the changes stem from perfectly logical reasons, which have a relatively small influence on the relations of Russia with the West.

The most important change was the supplementing of Molotov with Vishinsky as Foreign Minister. The easy conclusion was that Molotov was in disgrace, and would disappear from public life, as Litvinoff did years ago. But Molotov remains a member of the Politburo, which is infinitely more important than any cabinet post. So it can logically be argued that Stalin decided he could be of more value if kept at home. It wouldn't surprise the experts if he was made Premier before long.

The key to the whole business may be found in conditions within the Soviet Union and her satellite states. Things aren't going as well as the Communists want. The difficulties with Tito have provided the most publicized example of this. But what is happening in Yugoslavia is also happening, though in a different way and on a smaller scale, in Hungary, Bulgaria and elsewhere. The Soviet-dominated governments are experiencing special trouble in bringing the peasants into line.

Furthermore, it looks as if the Kremlin is far from satisfied with its own people's ideological fervor. U. S. News puts it this way: "The old idea was that the elite of the Communist Party, which has only 6,000,000 members in a country of about 210,000,000 people, would have faith in Communist ideology and execute the orders. Now the Politburo has ordered a tremendous campaign of missionary work that is designed to sell the idea of complete faith in the eventual triumph of Communism to the whole of the Russian people. That campaign is not the kind of thing that can be put across overnight."

What effect may all this have on the great issue of peace or war? It is clear, if these opinions are correct, that Russia is planning on a lengthy period of peace. At present, the lines in Europe seem to be pretty well established. Russia has expanded about as far as she can go. There is small chance of the West making any headway in breaking the orbit of countries which surround Russia and whose governments she dominates. So, to Stalin and other top men, this may appear to be the proper time for correcting grave internal weaknesses.

As the Wall Street Journal puts it, "Congressional and Treasury tax experts think the chances of some tax increase legislation in 1949 are good enough to justify painstaking spade-work on new levies." But, it goes on, whether or not Congress will favor tax boosts won't be known until May, when the annual budget resolution is passed and the lawmakers have a better idea of future income and outgo.

So far, Congress has turned a frowning face on all pleas for higher taxes. The recent downturn in business, with its adverse effect on employment, has tended to strengthen this attitude. A few of the lawmakers have said hopefully that it might even be possible to put modest tax reductions into effect. Senator George, the conservative chairman of the powerful Senate Finance Committee, is strongly opposed to digging deeper into the taxpayers' pockets. Representative Doughton, chairman of the equally powerful House Ways & Means Committee, also takes a dim view of higher taxes. But both these key figures, along with a majority of the members of House and Senate, are convinced that a balanced budget is necessary.

The hope is that Congress will trim its sails to the wind—that it will write a budget which can be met by the estimated revenues from present taxes. The voluminous reports of the Hoover Commission, covering every phase and branch of the Federal government, are designed to show specifically how the administrative cost of government can be substantially reduced, without in any way imperiling policies and functions. If the reports were accepted in toto, and their recommendations adopted, the annual saving would be about $3,000,000,000—more than enough to cover any conceivable present deficit. However, the reports have not been well received in all Congressional quarters. They would reduce patronage, log-rolling, and other popular practices. So it remains to be seen just how much action will result.

If taxes are increased, how will it be done? The ideas which are most in the limelight now include small increases in corporate profits, on individual incomes above the $5,500 level, and on estates and gifts. But, in each case, there is a wealth of opposition. The mood of the country, as a whole, seems to be that we're paying plenty as it is.

The plight of the taxpayer is made tougher by the fact that states and cities are also out for more money. Some municipalities have income taxes and others are considering them. The result is a growing overlapping of taxes at the expense of purchasing power.

May Sale and Ham Dinner

Wednesday, May 4, the Ladies' Aid Society will sponsor their annual May bazaar and Ham Dinner.

Fine hand embroidered pillow cases and various other kinds of fancy work, aprons, plain and fancy, miscellaneous articles, as well as home-baked goods and home-made candy will be featured.

The Bazaar will open at two o'clock, p.m. and the dinner, at one dollar per plate, will be served from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. The public is welcome.

Cinnamon "thins" are another variation for plain roll refrigerator dough. Roll risen dough out into a square one-fourth inch thick. Sprinkle with cinnamon and sugar. Roll up like a jelly roll and seal. With scissors, cut into sections one-third of an inch thick. Dip top of section in cinnamon and sugar mixture. Place cinnamon thins in greased pans and let rise until doubled (about one and one-half hours). Bake in moderately hot oven (425 degrees F.) 15 to 20 minutes.

Cardinal Approved As State Bird Of Ohio

Although the Cardinal was officially approved by the Ohio Legislature as the State Bird of Ohio on March 2, 1933, the story behind the actual selection is unknown.

Bird authorities of the State, however, agree that the selection of the Cardinal was a wise choice.

Edward S. Thomas, Curator of Natural History, Ohio State Museum, has this to say about it: It is not surprising that the Cardinal should be so great a favorite with Ohioans. It is one of the most beautiful of all North American birds. It does not desert us when cold weather approaches, but is with us throughout the year. It is one of our most accomplished bird musicians. One does not have to seek it in the remote wilderness; it lives in the midst of the large cities as well as in the country. And finally, its home life and food habits are above reproach.

Cardinals have a large selection of songs, all of them loud, clear, musical, cheerful. One of their favorite songs, indeed, sounds to me like, "What cheer! What cheer! What cheer! Cheer, cheer, cheer!" The female Cardinal sings sweetly on occasion, one of the few female birds to do so.

The nest, a bulky structure of straws, is built in shrubbery or a rose-trellis, sometimes on a ledge beneath our porches. The three or four eggs are bluish-white, heavily and handsomely speckled with brown.

Theater Productions Planning Play

Theater Productions, Inc., of Columbus presented excerpts from The Student Prince, Babes in Toyland, and Blossom Time, at the Columbus Maennerchor before members and their guests on Friday evening, April 22.

Soloists for the evening were: James Snyder, James McCafferty, Ann McClure, Jenny Hunter, Kent Camper, Janice Kraft, John Groff and Hortense Mohr.

Under the direction of D. Talmadge Crawshaw, the group is rehearsing Sigmund Romberg's Blossom Time, to be presented June 3, 4, and 5, at the Hartman Theater.

The accompanist was Gwen Duff.

REEB CALENDAR

Friday, April 29th, 9:10 a.m. Assembly Program. Miss Oelgoetz's Class leading.

Monday, May 2nd, 3:15 p.m. Report Cards to parents.

Tuesday, May 3rd, Educational Films: 1:30 p.m. Anyway To Get There; 2:10 p.m. Anyway To Get There; 2:35 p.m. Playtime At the Zoo.

Wednesday, May 4th, 9:30 a.m. Sale of Savings Bonds & Stamps.

The above calendar of events for the coming week is announced so that our parents and adult friends may plan to come to Reeb to visit us.

H

Miss Oelgoets' class will have charge of the Assembly Program on Friday, April 29th at 9:10 a.m. The Program will be a Bible verse by each child and songs by the group.

—R—

The girls and boys of the Special Class have been busy making rugs. The following children have made beautiful cotton roving rugs: Cottie Alexander, James Coleman, David Hill, Clyde Honaker, Eugene Jenkins, Franklin Mitchell, Milo Mitchell, Marion Moore, Walter Moore, Chester Wolfe, Phyllis Harrison, Ruth Henry and Ophelia Williams.

The Special Class has also been busy weaving table mats on a four harness loom. These children have completed their mats: Clyde Honaker, Eugene Jenkins, Cottie Alexander, Milo Mitchell, Chester Wolfe, and Marion Moore.

—R—

The boys and girls in Room 104 are watching for signs that tell them Spring Is Here!

The boys and girls in this room are going to plant some tomato and zinnia seeds and watch them grow

—R—

The first round of Reeb's marble tournament, between Rooms 101, 204, and 110, continues as follows: Earl Short won from David Hill; James Bohlen lost to Chester Wolfe; Walter Moore won from Eugene Jenkins; William Gillotte lost to Roger Hammond; Frankie Meadows won from Donald Fogle; Kenneth Miller won from Charles Malone; Dennis Blann lost to George Tittle; Jack Sutherland won from Gary Goodrich; James Branscome lost to Stanley McWilliams; and David Casto won from Edward Davis.

The following reports come from Reeb's first round of marbles in Rooms 201, 212, and 210: Ronald White won over Charles Bolin; and Louis McCann lost to Harold Short.

—R—

Only one more week 'til Reeb's annual CARNIVAL, which is to be held on Friday, May 6th from 6:00 to 9:00 p.m. We want all of our friends to know that the profits from this project finance our Parent-Teacher Association for the coming shcool year. It cannot be a success unless we continue to have the help of our parents and friends. Blanks will be distributed among our pupils asking for contributions of food and articles appropriate to sell. We will appreciate your prompt answers so that we may know exactly what to plan for.

The features of the CARNIVAL will be school-made pottery; two shows of human puppets; fortune telling; Fish pond; two magic shows; hot dogs; chilli; pop corn; soft drinks, ice cream; candy, cookies, side show; bazaar table; and beauty parlor. Our parent chairmen are doing their best to contact all parents who will be willing to help at some time during the evening. If you have not been approached, please call the school office, Ga 1326 so that we may be certain of your help.

—R—

Last week Reeb's 6th grade pupils did their best to call at every home in our school district to locate every 4 and 5-year-old child for the annual school enumeration. If there were any homes missed where there is a child to start to school during the next school year, please call Ga 1326 and we will be glad to send you the proper blanks. Remember that any child 5 years old on or before next Nov. 1st may start in our Kindergarten in Sept. If the child is 5 years of age on or before May 1, 1950, he may start in the Kindergarten in February, 1950. In order that vaccination against smallpox and immunization against diphtheria may be taken care of in plenty of time, now is the best time to register your child and take advantage of our free school nurse service. You may see Miss Malin, our school nurse, any Monday afternoon, between 1:15 and 3:15 and any Wednesday morning, between 9 and 12:00. If you wish to call for an appointment, we will be glad to help you save time from waiting.

Lake Grant Stocked With Bass

Lake Grant, a 200-acre body of water completed last year by the Ohio Division of Conservation on Sterling Run in Brown County, has been stocked with about 21,000 largemouth black bass but fishermen are advised not to expect too much during the present fishing season.

Fish management officials of the Ohio Division of Conservation, however, state that fishing is expected to improve toward fall.

The lake has all the characteristics of a good largemouth bass lake therefore stocking will be limited primarily to that specie.

Lake Grant is not included in the state's liberalized fishing water in which closed seasons, bag limits and minimum legal lengths have been removed, therefore the bass fishing season will be closed from May 1 thru June 15.

Altho' there is no public boat dock on the lake at this time, private owned boats are permitted properly licensed. No outboard motors are permitted.

Y Teens Hold Rainbow Prom

The Y-Teens over the Columbus area are ushering in the Spring with the excitement of their annual Rainbow Prom.

This year Joe Weiberg and his HIGH JINX orchestra will furnish the music for the Y-Teens. The dance will be held in the ballroom of the Y.W.C.A., April 30, 9-12 p.m. Admission is $2.00 per couple.

Marilyn Stauf of North High, is General Chairman.

Margie Whitt and Billie Wilson of Linden are in charge of tickets; Jane Murren and Carol Fisher of Arlington, will be in charge of the checkroom; Shirley Cooke of Bexley, is in charge of music; Jenny Richenbacher and Barbara Matheny of East, are planning the entertainment. Sally Rapstock, Darlene Richardson, and Mary Flowers are in charge of decorations.

South Side Nursery Mothers Club Meeting

The storm came up and lights went off at the South Side Day Nursery just at the appointed time for the April Mothers' Club Meeting.

Lighted candles were placed here and there so the Dentist, Dr. Binder, gave his very interesting talk by candle-light. Soon after he was finished, the lights came on, and that was really appreciated so the business could be well taken care of. There was a good attendance by Mothers who braved the storm.

Refreshments were served daintily, consisting of a Butterfly salad and nut bread sandwiches and coffee. We are all thoroughly enjoying our new coffee server which our Mother's Club purchased.

Economic Highlights

The recent shifts of key men within the Soviet government have stirred up an apparently endless discussion as to whether this may be the prelude to some dramatic new tangent in Kremlin policy. The iron curtain is so opaque that no one can answer that with certitude at this distance. However, the experts, after smiling over all the available facts and guesses, have generally come to the conclusion that the changes stem from perfectly logical reasons, which have a relatively small influence on the relations of Russia with the West.

The most important change was the supplementing of Molotov with Vishinsky as Foreign Minister. The easy conclusion was that Molotov was in disgrace, and would disappear from public life, as Litvinoff did years ago. But Molotov remains a member of the Politburo, which is infinitely more important than any cabinet post. So it can logically be argued that Stalin decided he could be of more value if kept at home. It wouldn't surprise the experts if he was made Premier before long.

The key to the whole business may be found in conditions within the Soviet Union and her satellite states. Things aren't going as well as the Communists want. The difficulties with Tito have provided the most publicized example of this. But what is happening in Yugoslavia is also happening, though in a different way and on a smaller scale, in Hungary, Bulgaria and elsewhere. The Soviet-dominated governments are experiencing special trouble in bringing the peasants into line.

Furthermore, it looks as if the Kremlin is far from satisfied with its own people's ideological fervor. U. S. News puts it this way: "The old idea was that the elite of the Communist Party, which has only 6,000,000 members in a country of about 210,000,000 people, would have faith in Communist ideology and execute the orders. Now the Politburo has ordered a tremendous campaign of missionary work that is designed to sell the idea of complete faith in the eventual triumph of Communism to the whole of the Russian people. That campaign is not the kind of thing that can be put across overnight."

What effect may all this have on the great issue of peace or war? It is clear, if those opinions are correct, that Russia is planning on a lengthy period of peace At present, the lines in Europe seem to be pretty well established. Russia has expanded about as far as she can go. There is small chance of the West making any headway in breaking the orbit of countries which surround Russia and whose governments she dominates. So, to Stalin and other top men, this may appear to be the proper time for correcting grave internal weaknesses.

As the Wall Street Journal puts it, "Congressional and Treasury tax experts think the chances of some tax increase legislation in 1949 are good enough to justify painstaking spade-work on new levies." But, it goes on, whether or not Congress will favor tax boosts won't be known until May, when the annual budget resolution is passed and the lawmakers have a better idea of future income and outgo.

So far, Congress has turned a frowning face on all pleas for higher taxes. The recent downturn in business, with its adverse effect on employment, has tended to strengthen this attitude. A few of the lawmakers have said hopefully that it might even be possible to put modest tax reductions into effect. Senator George, the conservative chairman of the powerful Senate Finance Committee, is strongly opposed to digging deeper into the taxpayers' pockets. Representative Doughton, chairman of the equally powerful House Ways & Means Committee, also takes a dim view of higher taxes. But both these key figures, along with a majority of the members of House and Senate, are convinced that a balanced budget is necessary.

The hope is that Congress will trim its sails to the wind—that it will write a budget which can be met by the estimated revenues from present taxes. The voluminous reports of the Hoover Commission, covering every phase and branch of the Federal government, are designed to show specifically how the administrative cost of government can be substantially reduced, without in any way imperiling policies and functions. If the reports were accepted in toto, and their recommendations adopted, the annual saving would be about $3,000,000,000—more than enough to cover any conceivable present deficit. However, the reports have not been well received in all Congressional quarters. They would reduce patronage, log-rolling, and other popular practices. So it remains to be seen just how much action will result.

If taxes are increased, how will it be done? The ideas which are most in the limelight now include small increases in corporate profits, on individual incomes above the $5,500 level, and on estates and gifts. But, in each case, there is a wealth of opposition. The mood of the country, as a whole, seems to be that we're paying plenty as it is.

The plight of the taxpayer is made tougher by the fact that states and cities are also out for more money. Some municipalities have income taxes and others are considering them. The result is a growing overlapping of taxes at the expense of purchasing power.

May Sale and Ham Dinner

Wednesday, May 4, the Ladies' Aid Society will sponsor their annual May bazaar and Ham Dinner.

Fine hand embroidered pillow cases and various other kinds of fancy work, aprons, plain and fancy, miscellaneous articles, as well as home-baked goods and home-made candy will be featured.

The Bazaar will open at two o'clock, p.m., and the dinner, at one dollar per plate, will be served from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. The public is welcome.

Cinnamon "thins" are another variation for plain roll refrigerator dough. Roll risen dough out into a square one-fourth inch thick. Sprinkle with cinnamon and sugar. Roll up like a jelly roll and seal. With scissors, cut into sections one-third of an inch thick. Dip top of section in cinnamon and sugar mixture. Place cinnamon thins in greased pans and let rise until doubled (about one and one-half hours). Bake in moderately hot oven (425 degrees F.) 15 to 20 minutes.

Cardinal Approved As State Bird Of Ohio

Although the Cardinal was officially approved by the Ohio Legislature as the State Bird of Ohio on March 2, 1933, the story behind the actual selection is not known.

Bird authorities of the State, however, agree that the selection of the Cardinal was a wise choice.

Edward S. Thomas, Curator of Natural History, Ohio State Museum, has this to say about it: It is not surprising that the Cardinal should be so great a favorite with Ohioans. It is one of the most beautiful of all North American birds. It does not desert us when cold weather approaches, but is with us throughout the year. It is one of our most accomplished bird musicians. One does not have to seek it in the remote wilderness; it lives in the midst of the large cities as well as in the country. And finally, its home life and food habits are above reproach.

Cardinals have a large selection of songs, all of them loud, clear, musical, cheerful. One of their favorite songs, indeed, sounds to me like, "What cheer! What cheer! What cheer! Cheer, cheer, cheer!" The female Cardinal sings sweetly on occasion, one of the few female birds to do so.

The nest, a bulky structure of straws, is built in shrubbery or a rose-trellis, sometimes on a ledge beneath our porches. The three or four eggs are bluish-white, heavily and handsomely speckled with brown.

Theater Productions Planning Play

Theater Productions, Inc., of Columbus presented excerpts from The Student Prince, Babes in Toyland, and Blossom Time, at the Columbus Maennerchor before members and their guests on Friday evening, April 22.

Soloists for the evening were: James Snyder, James McCafferty, Ann McClure, Jenny Hunter, Kent Camper, Janice Kraft, John Groff and Hortense Mohr.

Under the direction of D. Talmadge Crawshaw, the group is rehearsing Sigmund Romberg's Blossom Time, to be presented June 3, 4, and 5, at the Hartman Theater.

The accompanist was Gwen Duff.

Lucky 35 To Meet

Sunday, May 8th, the members of the Lucky 35 Club, Inc., will entertain their ladies at a Mothers Day Banquet and party in their club rooms, 822 Woodrow Ave. The men will prepare and serve a complete hot dinner even to some home-made pies. The banquet will be followed by games and a general good time so as to give the ladies a real treat for Mother's Day.

The committee, A. R. McDonald, William Weber and Walter Benker, ably assisted by Vice President V. Schleppi, are sparing no effort to put this over for the "gals."

Republican Club To Meet

The Woman's Republican Club of Ohio, Inc., will meet at the Deshler-Wallick Hotel, Friday evening, May 6, at eight o'clock.

Mrs. Maude Rumsey, president of the club, will presido at the business meeting.

Miss Margaret E. Baker of Springfield, Ohio, Committeewoman from the Seventh Congressional District, will be the guest speaker. Her subject will be, "Is Communist Infiltration a Real Danger?"

Mr. Nason Oldham, well known Columbus tenor, will be the guest soloist, playing his own accompaniment.

The public is invited to attend.

REEB CALENDAR

Friday, April 29th, 9:10 a.m. Assembly Program, Miss Oelgoetz's Class leading.

Monday, May 2nd, 3:15 p.m. Report Cards to parents.

Tuesday, May 3rd, Educational Films: 1:30 p.m. Anyway To Get There; 2:10 p.m. Anyway To Get There; 2:35 p.m. Playtime At the Zoo.

Wednesday, May 4th, 9:30 a.m. Sale of Savings Bonds & Stamps.

The above calendar of events for the coming week is announced so that our parents and adult friends may plan to come to Reeb to visit us.

R

Miss Oelgoets' class will have charge of the Assembly Program on Friday, April 29th at 9:10 a.m. The Program will be a Bible verse by each child and songs by the group.

—R—

The girls and boys of the Special Class have been busy making rugs. The following children have made beautiful cotton roving rugs: Cottie Alexander, James Coleman, David Hill, Clyde Honaker, Eugene Jenkins, Franklin Mitchell, Milo Mitchell, Marion Moore, Walter Moore, Chester Wolfe, Phyllis Harrison, Ruth Henry and Ophelia Williams.

The Special Class has also been busy weaving table mats on a four harness loom. These children have completed their mats: Clyde Honaker, Eugene Jenkins, Cottie Alexander, Milo Mitchell, Chester Wolfe, and Marion Moore.

—R—

The boys and girls in Room 104 are watching for signs that tell them Spring Is Here!

The boys and girls in this room are going to plant some tomato and zinnia seeds and watch them grow

—R—

The first round of Reeb's marble tournament, between Rooms 101, 204, and 110, continues as follows: Earl Short won from David Hill; James Bohlen lost to Chester Wolfe; Walter Moore won from Eugene Jenkins; William Gillotte lost to Roger Hammond; Frankie Meadows won from Donald Fogle; Kenneth Miller won from Charles Malone; Dennis Blann lost to George Tittle; Jack Sutherland won from Gary Goodrich; James Branscome lost to Stanley McWilliams; and David Casto won from Edward Davis.

The following reports come from Reeb's first round of marbles in Rooms 201, 212, and 210: Ronald White won over Charles Bolin; and Louis McCann lost to Harold Short.

—R—

Only one more week 'til Reeb's annual CARNIVAL, which is to be held on Friday, May 6th from 6:00 to 9:00 p.m. We want all of our friends to know that the profits from this project finance our Parent-Teacher Association for the coming shcool year. It cannot be a success unless we continue to have the help of our parents and friends. Blanks will be distributed among our pupils asking for contributions of food and articles appropriate to sell. We will appreciate your prompt answers so that we may know exactly what to plan for.

The features of the CARNIVAL will be school-made pottery; two shows of human puppets; fortune telling; Fish pond: two magic shows; hot dogs; chilli; pop corn; soft drinks, ice cream; candy, cookies, side show; bazaar table; and beauty parlor. Our parent chairmen are doing their best to contact all parents who will be willing to help at some time during the evening. If you have not been approached, please call the school office, Ga 1326 so that we may be certain of your help.

—R—

Last week Reeb's 6th grade pupils did their best to call at every home in our school district to locate every 4 and 5-year-old child for the annual school enumeration. If there were any homes missed where there is a child to start to school during the next school year, please call Ga 1326 and we will be glad to send you the proper blanks. Remember that any child 5 years old on or before next Nov. 1st may start in our Kindergarten in Sept. If the child is 5 years of age on or before May 1, 1950, he may start in the Kindergarten in February, 1950. In order that vaccination against smallpox and immunization against diphtheria may be taken care of in plenty of time, now is the best time to register your child and take advantage of our free school nurse service. You may see Miss Malin, our school nurse, any Monday afternoon, between 1:15 and 3:15 and any Wednesday morning, between 9 and 12:00. If you wish to call for an appointment, we will be glad to help you save time from waiting.

Lake Grant Stocked With Bass

Lake Grant, a 200-acre body of water completed last year by the Ohio Division of Conservation on Sterling Run in Brown County, has been stocked with about 21,000 largemouth black bass but fishermen are advised not to exepct too much during the present fishing season.

Fish management officials of the Ohio Division of Conservation, however, state that fishing is expected to improve toward fall.

The lake has all the characteristics of a good largemouth bass lake therefore stocking will be limited primarily to that specie.

Lake Grant is not included in the state's liberalized fishing water in which closed seasons, bag limits and minimum legal lengths have been removed, therefore the bass fishing season will be closed from May 1 thru June 15.

Altho' there is no public boat dock on the lake at this time, privats owned boats are permitted properly licensed. No outboard motors are permitted.

Y Teens Hold Rainbow Prom

The Y-Teens over the Columbus area are ushering in the Spring with the excitement of their annual Rainbow Prom.

This year Joe Weiberg and his HIGH JINX orchestra will furnish the music for the Y-Teens. The dance will be held in the ballroom of the Y.W.C.A., April 30, 9-12 p.m. Admission is $2.00 per couple.

Marilyn Stauf of North High, is General Chairman.

Margie Whitt and Billie Wilson of Linden are in charge of tickets; Jane Murren and Carol Fisher of Arlington, will be in charge of the checkroom; Shirley Cooke of Bexley, is in charge of music; Jenny Richenbacher and Barbara Matheny of East, are planning the entertainment. Sally Rapstock, Darlene Richardson, and Mary Flowers are in charge of decorations.

South Side Nursery Mothers Club Meeting

The storm came up and lights went off at the South Side Day Nursery just at the appointed time for the April Mothers' Club Meeting.

Lighted candles were placed here and there so the Dentist, Dr. Binder, gave his very interesting talk by candle-light. Soon after he was finished, the lights came on, and that was really appreciated so the business could be well taken care of. There was a good attendance by Mothers who braved the storm.

Refreshments were served daintily, consisting of a Butterfly salad and nut bread sandwiches and coffee. We are all thoroughly enjoying our new coffee server which our Mother's Club purchased.
